

BLOWS FOR WOMEN WHO WOULD VOTE

Bobby 'As 'Is Bloomin' And Full, With Suffragettes Attempting to Rescue Their Sisters From a Jail Wagon.

Sequel to Demonstration in London Last Night, When 29 Were Arrested—Of These 8 Play the Martyr—Worse Coming.

(United Press Leased Wire.) London, July 1.—Bleeding from gashes cut by the clubs of policemen, with disheveled hair and torn dresses, after a night of demonstration, more than a thousand suffragettes made a desperate attempt today to rescue 28 of their members, who were arrested last night and were being taken from the court to jail.

The prisoners were placed in a big police van in the court yard. The women outside were waiting for it to appear and as soon as the gates were flung open, they charged.

The army of furious women, half insane and wild from the effects of the sustained enthusiasm in their continued demonstrations, seized the horses and surrounded the van. Some of them climbed upon the wheels and tried to get up to the driver's seat, but they were mercilessly beaten back.

The force of the female mob was so great that it was sweeping the van and horses out of the roadway and probably would have turned the wagon over, if the reserves had not arrived.

One hundred police had been stationed within the courtyard in anticipation of the attack. The bluecoats rushed out and fell on the crowd of women, using their clubs and their hands to force them back. The women offered resistance, but after many of their number had received rough treatment, they retreated. It was the bloodiest encounter the London police have yet had with the suffragettes.

Twenty-nine were arrested last night. When arraigned today they were given the option of signing bonds to keep the peace, ranging from $20 to $250, or going to prison for terms of from one to three months. All but one chose the prison sentences, preferring to play the role of the martyr.

Five thousand extra police have been ordered to prepare to control tonight's demonstration, which is expected to exceed all previous displays.

London, July 1.—Mary Leith, a suffragette, when sentenced to prison for two months today on the charge of breaking windows in the house of Prime Minister Asquith, exclaimed in court:

"I throw stones this time, but the next time it will be bombs!" Her outcry caused a big demonstration in the courtroom and the judge threatened to increase her punishment. Several attendants seized her and she staggered out, as she vowed vengeance.

Great excitement prevails in the ranks of the suffragettes this evening and the authorities are using every possible means to preserve order.

CAPTURE OR DEATH

be quietly slipped away, and was out of sight before the searchers began from Rogers that he was the other kidnaper.

Adolph Domengine, father of the girl, today announced that he would give a reward of $5,000 to the four men who led the attack on Rogers and rescued the girl. This is the full amount of the ransom demanded by the kidnapers.

Miss Domengine is the object of sympathy from everyone in this section, and was the recipient of many presents and delicacies today from women friends. She stood the ordeal bravely, and was able to give a clear account of the wild trip, part of which she was forced to take thrown over a horse's back like a sack of meat, she suffered most from the stones, which cut her bare feet.

The beautiful girl is a graduate of Holy Cross college at Santa Cruz, and has many attainments and sweet traits of character which have endeared her to the community.

The kidnapers knew well that she was the pride of her father's life.

SAVE FOURTH SAY INDIANS

War Whoops, War Bonnets, War Yells—And Water Everywhere.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Pendleton, Or., July 1.—"Heap much" war paint, war bonnet and war whoop, but never a bit of "fire-water"—nay, "fire-water" why, not even the most remote suggestion of license will be permitted to waft itself over Cayuse from July 1 to July 6.

Today the Umatilla Indians will be assembled in the first campmeeting ever held by that tribe. Several well-known white preachers have been secured for the program. On July 4 a celebration will be held, replete with the beloved regalia and customs of the Indian but minus the traditional "good cheer." The Umatilla, through Pomeroy, the Indian race horse king of Oregon, have notified the public that the coming Fourth will be safe and sane. Following is the letter sent by Pomeroy to the East Oregonian. Due allowance must be made for the rhetoric.

"Cayuse, Or., June 24, 1908.—To the editor of the East Oregonian: I hereby state and introduce to the whites our encampment will be located at Cayuse. While people are welcome but we don't want any discreditable same with an Indians we visit white people celebration of any kind. And we are preparing for the race and same there shall be no discrimination. Also we are glad there will be no intoxication on the reservation while the saloons will be shut up. Same as people red, white, are well acquainted on this reservation and in city of Pendleton and we will have some officers elected. We want insecurity and influence. This is all I state of our coming celebration. Affectionately yours, "POKER JIM."

The remains were interred in Eagle Creek cemetery.

First Street Booming and Merchants Preparing for Big Fall Trade.

The large brick building at the corner of First and Taylor streets is going to be remodeled. The old front will be torn down and a new one with all the latest improvements will be installed. The store will have large modern windows and a double entrance. The contract has been let to the well-known contractor, Mr. Brantley. The manager of the store states that he will have one of the largest, most modern, and best lighted stores in that locality, and this is a change he has been contemplating for a long time. The Red Front has built up a very large business and are forced to enlarge their present quarters to accommodate the trade. The management further states that the Red Front is one of the high rent districts and though the prices charged are high, they are lower than other stores. The remodeling of the store, they will be forced to sell merchandise at still lower prices than ever as the carpenter will need plenty of room and every effort will be made to sell off as much of their stock of high-grade shoes, shoes, hats and furnishings as possible.

that they will startle the entire country. Both "Raymond" and the woman bore the appearance of aristocratic breeding. From the appearance of the room the police believe Raymond fearfully tortured the woman, kicking and beating her, before he finally took her life. It is believed he hesitated and gagged her then tormented her for hours, before strangling her life out with the cord found twisted about her beautiful throat. Complaints of adjoining apartments say they heard no unusual sounds in the room and that Raymond must have surprised and gagged the woman before she could make an outcry.

Discovery of the jewelry precludes the possibility that the murder was committed for the purpose of robbery and the tragedy is shrouded in deep mystery. The police are at a loss to assign a motive for the deed and are groping blindly for some clue which will lead to the discovery of Raymond's whereabouts.

HONOLULU KOREANS WELCOME THE FLEET

(United Press Leased Wire.) Honolulu, July 1.—One of the unique features of the celebration here when the Asiatic fleet casts anchor in the harbor will be the Korean celebration. The local colony of Koreans today decided to throw open their "compound" at Beretaria, avenue and Punchbowl streets, in the oriental section of the city, to the boys of the fleet during the stay of the battlehips here.

The Koreans have voted a fund for the entertainment of the jockies in their quarters and the place will be decorated with arches and bunting in Korean style. Korean women dressed in native attire will serve refreshments to the sailors. The Koreans say they wish to show their appreciation to Uncle Sam, of the liberties that they enjoy in Hawaii.

G. F. JOHNSON.

PIANO PROSPERITY

Policy of Management of General Manager G. F. Johnson.

"It has often been said, and truly, that Portland is the headquarters of more corporations having branch houses than any other city of the northwest." was the observation of a prominent member of the Commercial club in a recent public address. One of the notable examples of this is the Sherman-Clay & Co. organization, of which G. F. Johnson is general manager. As announced in the greeting of the firm to the public today it has been two years since Sherman, Clay & Co. purchased the piano business of the Allen & Gilbert-Ramakor Co. Under Mr. Johnson's management the magnitude of the business has grown, prosperous branch houses being maintained in Seattle, Spokane, Tacoma, Everett and Bellingham. The managers of these branches met with General Manager Johnson a few weeks ago and the reports of accomplishments and the forecasts for the future spoke eloquently of the splendid organization. The growth of the business, beyond expectation during the past two years, indicates that the institution merits an enviable share of the good will and patronage of the public. To have prospered and have patrons always carry away with them good impressions is the commendable feature of the management. It is the opinion of Mr. Johnson that the policy of a "square deal" of "the price is all" and "An honest piano at an honest price," will become known in time and a universal public opinion and public sentiment will place the house of Sherman, Clay & Co. just where it belongs in the estimation of every one.

CORONER'S JURY RETURNS VERDICT

(United Press Leased Wire.) Salem, Or., July 1.—The coroner's jury yesterday afternoon returned a verdict of accidental death in the case of John Lindstrom, millionaire ship-builder of Aberdeen, Wash. and Everett, Cal., whose body was found on the pavement in front of the Wilmette hotel early yesterday morning. It is thought that Lindstrom, who had been drinking, leaned out of the window of his room and fell to his death. The ledge from which he fell is wide and he had almost to crawl out on it before he would fall from its edge.

Mrs. Bee Deery Aine Wakes Up Quick and Wants Those Words Unsaid.

(United Press Leased Wire.) San Francisco, July 1.—Mrs. Bee Deery Aine is consulting her lawyers today trying to solve the problem as to how she may once more become Miss Bee Deery, having repented her marriage to a man 31 years her senior, within 24 hours after the nuptial knot was tied.

The unhappy bride claims that her husband deceived her as to the extent of his worldly possessions. Mrs. Aine was employed as a waitress at Oakland for several months. She formerly lived at Point Richmond, where she met Mr. Aine. Monday she resigned her position and a few hours later was married.

Yesterday she appeared at the office of the justice who performed the wedding ceremony, and asked him to nullify it. He was unable to comply with her request.

COLTON MANSION UNDER THE HAMMER

Estate Worth Millions, but Spoliation Has Reduced the Ready Cash.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Washington, July 1.—Financially embarrassed by the embezzlement of $285,000 by W. J. Barnett and J. Dalzell Brown, the trustees of the estate of Mrs. Ella M. Colton are going to sell her palatial residence, 1617 Connecticut avenue, Washington.

Although the estate is worth millions of dollars the loss of the securities reduced the ready cash to such a point that thousands of dollars in debts and taxes remain unpaid.

Trustees at San Francisco of J. Dalzell Brown and W. J. Barnett of embezzling the Colton securities made it impossible for the estate to secure judgment against the defunct California Safe Deposit & Trust company, the matter having been made personal. A "square deal" of its officers as individuals freed the bank from liability. Conrad P. Syme and R. G. Donnellson have been appointed trustees of the Colton estate and instructed by the court to sell the mansion. The trustees are authorized to raise a levy of $50,000 pending the sale of the property.

WOMAN CONFESSES HER FATHER'S CRIME

(United Press Leased Wire.) Woodland, Cal., July 1.—Authorities of Napa county today are investigating the sensational story told by Mrs. George Babcock, who has signed an affidavit accusing her father, James L. Shroyer, of complicity in the murder of John Woodapple, whose body was found in the embers of his burned cabin February 11 of this year.

Mrs. Babcock accuses Lawrence Lund, Shroyer's employee of the actual commission of the crime. According to the woman's story, Shroyer and Lund, who were neighbors of Woodapple in Malarkey canyon in the Napa mountains, were prompted by avarice. Woodapple was supposed to keep his savings in a mysterious box, which Mrs. Babcock says her father and Lund stole after the rancher had been struck down by a neckyoke and his cabin set on fire.
