BEAVERS SNATCH DOUBLE-HEADER

Groom and Johnson Hang Indian Sign on Pesky Seals Both Games.

BASSEY'S HOMER IS LONGEST YET MADE

Batting Rally in Sixth Allows Northerners to Cinch Matinee, Silvers Henley Being Hit for Four-Bagger, Two Doubles and Brace of Singles.

San Francisco, July 4.—The Beavers would appear to like work and lots of it. Unable to win on the days on which only one game was played, they came through today with flying colors in a double-header, with the Seals. Bobby Groom twirled near his form in the morning affair at Freeman's Park and succeeded in shutting out the team that had chased him from the mound a few days previous.

In the afternoon Ote Johnson surprised the fans by holding the Seals down in rare style. Henley was bumped good and hard. There were a number of costly errors behind the lanky pitcher that did not help any. The batting rally by the Beavers in the sixth was of the kind that is always expected of those players, but which has not been showing up lately. A home run, two doubles and two singles were stacked up before the bombardment came to an end.

As in so many other games the Seals were the first to score. Mohler got as far as second through Cooney's high throw to first and went to third on a wild pitch. After Hildebrand flew out, Zeider bingled and Mohler galloped to the plate. Rolly did not have to steal second, as the second wild pitch of the inning sent him there. On Williams' out Zeider advanced to third. Melchoir walked and immediately stole second. Curtis rapped the ball hard and Casey made a great stop, just having time to recover and throw the fleet-footed Seal out. The stop saved two runs.

Seals Busy in Third.

In the third the Seals got busy again. Zeider was safe on Casey booting the ball and went to third on Williams' bingle. Melchoir then drove one through Danzig that was too hot to handle, and Zeider and Williams scored. A second later Melchoir tried to steal and was easily put out. That was all for the Seals.

McCredie and his men did not get to going until the fifth. Bassey was safe on Mohler's error, stole second, reached third on Danzig's out and scored on Madden's out.

The game did not look to be the Beavers, but Henley made the mistake of tossing the ball to Ryan, the first up. Buddy did not fail to take advantage of the lob and smashed the ball hard to center. Henley tried to put some steam on the pellet. Raftery scored Ryan with a two-bagger to left. McCredie made a perfect bunt. Curtis made a wide throw to first, Williams missed and Raftery finished the circuit.

Bassey's Hit Longest Yet.

Bassey, the little fellow that wields the mighty bat, then made the longest hit of the season. The ball went sailing over the fence between center and right. McCredie waited for Bassey and the two Beavers trotted to the plate together. Danzig and Madden were easy outs and Johnson tried to start the bombardment all over with a double, but it was no go, Casey being an easy out, making the third.

In the seventh the northerners took a breathing spell. Their sixth and last came in the eighth on a single by Danzig and another by Johnson. In the morning engagement, two innings, the sixth and seventh, were disastrous for the Seals. Cooney's two-bagger, an error by Mohler and Ryan's single accounted for one in the sixth. In the seventh, with two out Madden walked, Groom doubled and Casey did the same, the combination working out with two tallies. Groom held the Seals down in every round, and there was never much of a promise of scoring. The scores:

ANGELS CLEAN UP THAT GREEK BAND

Business College Pitcher Puts Kibosh on Bunch From Across Bay.

Los Angeles, July 4.—Los Angeles cleaned up Ooakland in both the morning and afternoon games today. In the forenoon the Angels won a snappy game by a 3 to 1 score, but the afternoon seance proved to be a walk away in which the blossoms knocked both Dellar and Hopkins out of the box and scored 14 runs on 18 hits. Oakland scored but twice.

Oakland had the opportunity of the season to wallop the Angels in the afternoon game, as Dillon tried out a curly-haired youngster from a local business college team. This was Briswalter, who was given a short trial by Oakland early in the week. The busher held the Greeks down to seven hits and two runs, and although he got into some tight places, was well supported and managed to get away with it every time. Briswalter also endeared himself to the Fourth of July fans by scoring the first Los Angeles runs in the second inning. The youngster overlooked no opportunities to make himself a hero. Oakland had one run and the Loo Loos had two men on bases when Briswalter stepped to the pan, his first time at bat. He planted the ball in right field and Jud Smith and Ellis both scored.

As a game the afternoon mixup had no class at all. The blossoms would come to bat, get several hits and several runs and then go back out in the field to retire Oakland in one, two, three order.

Finally it got so bad that after the seventh inning Van Haltren changed the positions of three of his players, sending W. Hogan in to pitch and putting Cook on first base, with the badly battered Hopkins in left field. This did not help matters much, however, as the Angels piled up seven more runs in that inning. Scores:

Old Wheeler Morning Phantom.

Oakland gave up to Los Angeles in the morning game without a struggle. George Wheeler pitched and with a weird mixture of curves and slow balls kept the Greeks down to two ineffectual hits. The Angels, on the contrary, slammed Wright for 10 safe ones. Hosp played in right field for the home boys and distinguished himself by making a phenomenal catch and knocking out two hits, one of them a two-sacker.

The game was fast and snappy and the nine innings were run off in quick time. The score:

PRESIDENT SENT YACHTS ON RACE

Crack Sailing Racers Off for Long Trip to the Hawaiian Islands.

San Pedro, Cal., July 4.—President Roosevelt, in the office of his summer residence at Oyster Bay, today pressed a telegraph key that sent a current of electricity pulsating across the continent and fired a cannon mounted on the waterfront here. This was the signal for the starting of the great trans-Pacific yacht race to Honolulu.

As the beautiful little craft broke out their massive sails and began the 2,200-knot race across the Pacific ocean, the vast crowd of people that had congregated to see the boats cross the line broke into enthusiastic cheers and thousands of giant firecrackers and other explosives were set off in celebration of the event.

The boats that started in the long race were:

Lurline, schooner, entered from Los Angeles.

Gwendolyn II, yawl, of Seattle.

Lady Maude, yawl, of San Diego.

Hawaii, schooner, of Honolulu.

Heavy storms are sure to be encountered at this season of the year and it will require the best seamanship to bring the racers safe into the tropical harbor of Honolulu. The crews of all the boats are on their mettle, however, and while the yachts were jockeying for positions before crossing the starting line there was the keenest rivalry and each tried every trick of the sailor to outmaneuver the other.

The time allowances are as follows, the allowance being taken on the basis of half an hour for each foot:

Lurline, scratch.

Lady Maude, 8 hours 9 minutes.

Hawaii, 8 hours 37 minutes.

Gwendolyn II, 17 hours 30 minutes.

It is expected that between 12 and 15 days will be required to complete the voyage.

The race is the biggest affair in Pacific yachting circles and is attracting great interest all over the world.

JOCKEY STICKNOTT IS KILLED AT ANACORTES

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Anacortes, Wash., July 4.—Gloom was cast over the celebration in this town last night by the death of William Sticknott, a jockey, who was billed to ride in the races yesterday and today. He was killed by a fall from the back of the animal on which he was mounted.

Sticknott, who was supposed to be a skilled jockey, evidently was not prepared for the signal to start the race, and was thrown from the animal's back when the pistol shot was fired and the horse made a sudden move forward in an effort to secure first place. Sticknott fell backward on his head on the hard turf and suffered a fractured skull. Last night at 12 o'clock he died.

VANCOUVER TAKES TWO.

Vancouver took two games from the St. Johns Apostles yesterday, capturing the first game by the score of 8 to 2, and the second, five innings in length, 4 to 1. The games were played at Vancouver.

Vancouver outplayed her opponents in both games, both in fielding and on the bases. Pender and Concannon both pitched well, Pender allowing but one hit in the second game, while Concannon kept the six hits which the Apostles secured off him well scattered. Brown of the Apostles deserves especial mention for his fielding, while Hatch of Vancouver pulled off a catch in the first game which was well worthy of praise. The scores:

First game—	R.	H.	E.
Vancouver	8	6	2
St. Johns	2	6	3

Batteries—Concannon and Shea; Hoover and Kelt.

Second game—	R.	H.	E.
Vancouver	4	6	3
St. Johns	0	1	1

Batteries—Pender and Shea; Keeler and Kelt. Umpire—Giles.

THE WOLFF WINS MOTOR BOAT RACE

Local Racer Finishes Ahead of Aries II—Sinking Boathouse Catches Women.

Racing over the 19-mile course at a frenzied clip, the new Wolff turned the trick with an easy lead over the Aries II on the Willamette yesterday afternoon in the races of the Willamette Motor Boat club. The contest between these two boats, both new to the water, had aroused much interest.

The Wolff's time was 44:16, while its Roesch rival made the distance in 45:15, giving The Wolff 59 seconds the best of it on official time. The actual lead was not so great, for the Aries II was a full 12 seconds slow in getting over the line at the start. Nevertheless, it made a pretty race, and the splendid turn it made at the end of the first lap aroused the enthusiasm of the spectators. At the end of the first lap it was half a minute behind, showing the boats ran evenly nearly all the way.

From the standpoint of the spectators the second handicap race, won by the Sterling, was most enjoyed. There was a close finish between three of the boats, with the Vixen first over, but it was disqualified for exceeding its allowance on time allowed under the handicap rules. The West Butte owned by the Driscoll Boat company of Astoria, was second in this race, and the Sappho third.

The Happy Heine, guided by Otto Ranft, had an easy time in the free-for-all scratch over a course from the foot of Ellsworth street twice around the steel bridge. It completed the job in 22:22. The Alamo, which was counted on to make things interesting, developed engine trouble and went slow all the way down, finally coming in in 27:55. The West Butte was a poor third in 29:56.

The first race was a handicap affair for boats under 10 miles per hour, going once around the pier of the Morrison bridge. Silver Heels, Allen Burdick's skimmer, won in 18:43 with a 2:13 handicap, the actual time being 16:30. Ruth was second in 18:59. It was the scratch boat. Third came Black Beauty in 19:12. It was handicapped 1:25, making 17:47 actual time. Rohame came in last. Lonesome entered, but failed to make the turn. O. Y. C. did not go in.

Swan Unfortunate.

Roesch's Swan had an unfortunate day. It was expected to perform well in the second handicap, but it ranked among the tail-enders. The Van also dropped well to the rear. Floedha failed to finish and Artisan did not start. The most of the spectators supposed the Vixen, another Wolff boat, had won this race. It did make the best time, but the judges held it disqualified under the rules.

It was given in at 14 minutes on its trials, and through misunderstanding of the starting guns it was far away from the line when the time came for its getaway. But the judges found it disqualified in counting either from the gun start or on the actual time in running over the course. By the gun start it was marked 13:30 and the other way 12:25. It was allowed 25.2 seconds excess, but showed 30 seconds excess, even from the gun start. This left first place to H. J. Kahlin's Sterling, West Butte second and Dr. Spencer's Sappho third.

The Swan was also to have entered against Happy Heine in the scratch race for all boats, but the engine bucked and it failed to go. Ranft did so well in this race that he was urged to enter in the special scratch with the Wolff and the Aries II, but he had sprained a coil. He did canter along for awhile to test the mettle of the other boats, but drew out before reaching the first bridge.

Club House Sinks.

It was a good afternoon's sport, with only one marring incident. This was the sinking of the boat club's house at the foot of Ellsworth street. It was overcrowded with spectators and, without warning, careened slightly forward and began to fill rapidly. There was a rush for the plank leading to a float alongside, but only a few made the landing without a soaking.

More than a dozen women were guests on the boat house and every one of them was caught by the water, some to the ankles and others to the knees. Fortunately all were rescued from their perilous positions before the house settled to the roof. Swimmers then entered the house and rescued the articles of wearing apparel and other valuable property left inside, including the Jaeger trophy won by the Happy Heine a few weeks ago.

The races were looked after by Commodore George J. Kelly, assisted by James B. Welch, manager and treasurer of the club. The rear-commodore is E. Von de Vert. Dr. F. Dammasch acted as starter; L. M. Myers, timekeeper; Gus Fleming, fleet captain, and Carson, Kinnear and Davey, judges.

CLEVELAND MAY TAKE GROOM FROM M'CREDIE

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, July 4.—Lanky Bobby Groom of the Beavers is a pitcher on whom that scout, Tom O'Brien of the Cleveland Americans, is keeping close tab. The big league scout has seen nearly all of the coast league twirlers work, and Groom has impressed him the most favorably. O'Brien was quick to see that the tall sycamore was not at his best during the week on account of too hard a grind lately. The Portland team is up against it in the matter of pitching talent, and Groom has been compelled to work out of his turn.

O'Brien is anxious to see Groom at his best, and on his trip north will probably have the chance. Groom, even though he pitches again today, will have quite a rest before going in at Portland. O'Brien will then have a chance to see just how good Groom may be. O'Brien leaves for the north on Wednesday.

Hal Danzig notes the generosity of the Los Angeles scorers to the Angel players. Everything down there is a hit for their players. Babe says if Los Angeles played at home all season they would be the finest lot of hitters and the worst fielders in the league, meaning that the scratch hits the other teams got would be called miscues.

They are praising Danny Shay to the skies in the State league. Danny has been keeping himself in good shape since he shook New York and is now said to be playing the fastest game of his career. FRAKES CAPTURE HOLIDAY AFFAIR

Hits and Errors in Three Innings Allow Milliners to Score.

Hits, bunched with errors in three innings of yesterday's baseball game at Twenty-fourth and Vaughn streets, gave the West Portland team eight runs and the decision over the East Portland Commuters, 8 to 1. Where the west siders hammered Hurlburt when hits meant the big ones on the score board, the Commuters were unable to touch Olney until the last three innings and then good fielding on the part of his teammates kept them away from the plate.

The Frakes got after Hurlburt in the third, after the east siders scored one in the second on a three-bagger by Meyers and an error by Robideaux. In their half of the third Robideaux led off with a base on balls. On Kennedy's error Robideaux moved up to third and Olney reached first. Olney stole second and Kirby Drennan came through with a single to center, scoring Robideaux. Drennan stole second. Hinkle sent a short single into left field, on which Olney scored. Magness tried to catch Drennan going into third, but threw wild, allowing Hinkle to get to second. Brock recovered quickly, holding Drennan at third.

Antoine sent a long fly to center on which Drennan scored, and Hinkle went to third, scoring a moment later on Rich Parrott's well placed single. Day then hit to short and was safe when Meyers' throw was wild. Kennedy threw to second, hoping to catch Parrott napping, but hit the runner and both men moved up a peg. Arch Parrott's foul fly was trapped by Tauscher, and Schmeer ended things by hitting to the pitcher.

Only three men batted in any inning for three innings after this slaughter, but in the seventh and the eighth the Frakes got four runs, two in each inning. Two hits and a base on balls aided by a sacrifice scoring the two runs in the seventh, and two more hits, a base on balls and a couple of infield outs turning the trick in the eighth.

Day, the Frakes third baseman, was badly spiked by Lerch in the sixth inning, but after being bandaged up was able to continue playing. The same teams will play this afternoon, starting at 2:30 o'clock. Nelson will probably pitch for the east siders, while "Soldier" Howard will occupy the hill for the Frakes.

FROM THE MEN WHO WERE IN PRIZE RING

By Jack Welsh.

San Francisco, July 4.—I have refereed by last fight. I came to this decision today early in the battle. This was one of the best fights that I have had the privilege of passing on in my career in the ring. Nelson fought a great battle from beginning to end. He was always strong and at all times on top of the former champion. After the eleventh round Gans had no chance whatever and it was only a matter of time, in my opinion, when he would have to go down for the count.

My decision to quit the ring is partly due to the criticism heaped upon me by the spectators. The men outside the ring always are biased in their opinions as a majority of them are betting on a contest of this kind and imagine a great many things that a man in an official position like my own cannot overlook. There was not a blow in the fight that I did not watch closely and my only excuse for not hearing the count of ten when the official timekeeper counted Gans out, was due to the howling of the crowd at the ringside. It was a great battle and simply goes to prove what Gans himself states—he went into the ring once too often and like all other champions his day had come.

By Joe Gans:

I have no excuses to make and no criticisms to pass upon the style of Nelson's fighting. I guess I went into the ring once too often and the Dane was too strong for me. It was his severe body punches that finally winded me. I was game enough but lacked the strength to go on. I guess I'm through with the fighting game.

By Battling Nelson:

My one ambition in life has been to become lightweight champion of the world. I now hold that title and I think that I have proved that I have defeated Joe Gans fairly, squarely and decisively. I don't care now if I never put on a glove again. I have plenty of money, a comfortable income and do not need to take up the fighting game as a profession. I have no plans for the future and whether or not I will meet McFarland or Welsh is a matter to be decided upon at some future date.

Fight Receipts.

The total receipts of the fight were $32,104. Of this sum seventy per cent went to the fighters, divided sixty per cent to the winner and forty per cent to the loser.

Salem and Woodburn Even.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Salem, Or., July 4.—Salem and Woodburn broke even in a double header played here this afternoon. Salem won the first game, 1 to 6. The second, a five-inning game, was won by Woodburn, 5 to 1. Bowen pitched the first game for Woodburn and the Capitols landed on him for 11 hits, one of which was over the fence. The whole Woodburn aggregation was up in the air. Newell's bad throw to first saved the game from being a shutout. Jerman played wonderful ball for Salem. Not only did he pitch an almost scoreless game, but he went up to bat five times and got three hits. Two were two-baggers. He walked once and fanned once. Meyers threw the second game away for Salem. Polen pitched for Woodburn.

Ham Hyatt of Vancouver has been recommended to the Cincinnati team of the National league. Manager Dickson may sell him in order to get more money for his find.
