The text of the platform as reported and adopted is as follows:
We, the representatives of the Democracy of the United States in national convention assembled, reaffirm our belief in and pledge our Toyalty to the principles of the party.
We rejoice at the increasing signs of an awakening throughout the country. The various investigations have traced graft and political corruption to the representatives of predatory wealth and laid bare the unscruptions methods by representatives of presentory wealth ameliald bare the unscrupulous methods by which they have debauched elections and preyed upon a defenseless public through the subservient officials whom they have raised to place and power.

Denver, July 10.—Following is the speech of ex-United States Senator Gearin of Oregon seconding the nomination of Bryan, in part:

"Oregon seconds the nomination of William J. Bryan and, Joining with her sisters of the Pacific pledge him the vote of the runited delegation. In seconding his nomination I am voicing the mainimous sentiment of the Democracy of the Facific coast. From the Sierras to the sea there is but one man mentioned—Bryan, Bryan—everywhere.

"People out on the sunset shore of the Republic say to you, Give us Bryan today, and we'll give you the solid electoral vote of the Pacific in November."

"Our people on the coast look to Bryan as the one striking figure in American public life, whose voice, silver-torbed and deflant, and ringing everture to the key, has been heard everywhere in advocacy of the rights of inbor against the wrongs perpetuated or threatened against labor. Lincoln, Neb., July 10.—All roads lend to Fairview today. Headed by a band of 30 pieces, 2,000 Lincoln citizens parado the streets this morning and then made the trip by streetcar and private conveyance to Bryan's home. By sighting across a post one could see that the convention had moved in 24 hours. Wednesday temporary organization was only a day oft. Vesterday it was two days old. And what with the two-day sessions and one long night the temporary organization succeeded in petting the report of the committee on credentials adopted and then with much speech-making it passed gently into the permanent organization.

Good Words for Commoner From Prominent Democratic Speakers.

Denver, July 10 .- Jerry Sullivan or Iowa in seconding the nomination of Bryan said that there never was a time in the life of the Lemocratic party when it was as much of a necessity to the country as at this hour. He declared that for more than half a century the great political contests had waged in the eastern half of the country, but that now the field had changed and the great middle west will be the territory in which the contest of 1908 will take place, where will be fought an Auster-litz or Waterloo.

O. W. Powers of Utah said that Bryan is the very incarnation of Jeffer-son's principles, and is the fittest man in the country to be the chief magis-trate of a nation holding 80,000,000 of Ollie James, the big Kentucky con-gressman, called Bryan the knightliest gladiator Democracy has ever known. He declared that Jefferson had the cour-age to write in front of a tyrant and his army the immortal words, "That governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed," and that Bryan raised in front of the mightiest army of predatory tyrans the world ever saw the commandment, "Thou shalt not steal."

Augustus Thomas of New York, speaking for Missouri, said that Missouri was the first state in the union to put her house in order following Bryan's question, "What is the matter with the country?" He spoke of Bryan as the people's candidate, and called Taft the hothouse candidate from the executive nurseries.

Ex-Congressman trying Handy of Deliaware presented the name of Judge George Gray, and said in part: Because of the maturity of his deignment, because of his devotion to true Isomocratic principles, because of the widely and depth of his experience in governmental affairs, and because of his devotion to justice and to the constitution, the man who is best fitted to perform the duties of president of the United States is George Gray.

FIRE SAYS WHITE

Being weary of its labor, the convention listened to the speech of Permanent Chairman Clayton, thought of the cool mountain breezes and the babbling brooks of the Rockles a few minutes out of Denver, arose forms racy always seems to do its most important convention work at night sessions. So the session has night had the best precedent for promise of importance.

Bession Wearisome.

But yesterday's seeden was unuterably wearisome. It lacked fire: It lacked striking spisode, and as it was hot in the big hall, the guileries did not protest when the convention adjourned. They failed to get into step with Chairman Clayton's cistion note. They listened to his arrangement of Roosevelt with scarcely a ripple of apphases during the reading. Raymond Robbins livened them for a moment, so did Martin Littleton, but after that the call of the mountains got into their hearts, all otter mountains got into their hearts, all of the mountains got into their hearts, all of the mountains got into their hearts, all without protest.

The vice-presidential guessing contest them narrowed down to Folk and Gray. Folk might take it, and they say Bryan is anxious to have him, in order to settle the factional disputes for the Missouri senatorship between Folk and Stone. Gray, on the other hand, is not even receptive.

But no man ever refused a vice-presidential nomination, with a faint chance of election, and the conservative element of the Immourary may persuade him to allow his name to go before the convention. Bession Wearisome.
