DRASTIC CHANGE IN CONDUCT OF FUNERALS

E. E. Ericson, President Oregon Undertakers' Association.

A. L. Finley, Secretary Oregon Undertakers' Association.

Evolutions in funeral services, including putting themselves on record as being opposed to Sunday burials, are promised by members of the fourth annual convention of the Oregon State Funeral Directors' association, which has been in session at McMinnville this week. Before any of the new rulings are put into effect, however, the undertakers will confer with the members of the ministerial association.

A resolution in which the association voices itself as being opposed to two fares as is now charged by the railroad companies for the transportation of bodies was unanimously adopted. The undertakers believe that one fare is all that should be demanded in such cases. The association members are also opposed to burials at sea and to members of the profession conducting burial services themselves at any time. A resolution to this effect was passed and members who have been making this a practice will be requested not to do so in the future. Neither are the undertakers in favor of funerals on the Sabbath, and this, too, will be taken up with the ministerial members at a meeting to be held in Portland.

Let Family Hire Carriages.

The undertakers are in favor of their patrons hiring carriages of livery company proprietors instead of through the efforts of the funeral director, as is often done.

Officers of the association were elected as follows: E. E. Ericson, Portland, president; V. H. Limber, Forest Grove, vice-president; F. W. Morgan, Baker City, vice-president; A. L. Finlay, Portland, secretary, and C. Tilbury, McMinnville, treasurer.

Following is the board of directors: M. T. Macy, McMinnville; M. A. Rader, Pendleton; J. J. Simmons, North Yamhill; A. R. Hemstock, Portland; J. McEntee, Portland.

A. L. Finley of Portland and M. A. Rader of Pendleton were chosen as delegates to represent the Oregon organization at the annual meeting of the National Funeral Directors' association, which meets in Indianapolis, October 6, 7 and 8.

Get Convention West.

The undertakers of Oregon and Washington have combined efforts to raise $10,000 for the entertainment of the national association members in the event that it is decided to accept the invitation to hold the convention of 1909 in Seattle during the Yukon-Pacific exposition.

The Oregon members have agreed to assist the Washington delegates to Indianapolis in every way possible. The entertainment fund to be subscribed by both associations will be used in showing the national convention delegates of next year parts of Washington and Portland and other places of interest in Oregon as well.

One of the interesting papers read at the McMinnville meeting was that of Dr. Charles L. Williams on the relationship between the doctor and the undertaker.

Minister Makes Suggestions.

"Some Needed Funeral Reforms," was the subject of an address delivered by Rev. A. M. Williams, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in McMinnville.

"The funeral service, as I see it from first to last, is a combination of three elements—the physical, the esthetic and the religious," said Rev. Williams. "The minister has very little to do with the first two, but the undertaker is concerned with them all.

"There are some bodies which ought not to be viewed for reasons that are well known. But tyranny of custom is mighty. Who will rise to dispute its sway? There are some persons in every funeral crowd who for reasons known to us all should not be allowed to look upon even a good-looking corpse. Let the body lie in state certain hours for all who care to see it. And let the 'last look' be taken only by those who have a right to see—the family of the deceased."

Let Funerals Move Faster.

Dr. Williams is in favor of increasing the speed of funeral processions on the way to the cemetery, and which view will be heartily supported by all who have spent tiresome hours on such an unpleasant journey. Dr. Williams says it is a crime against the living to compel persons in a long cortege to face the cold or chew the dust for twice or thrice as long as necessary. Dr. Williams is not in favor of standing with uncovered heads at graves when the mercury is hovering about the zero point.

Funerals, as a rule, the minister contends, are usually too long and there is too much singing. It is a mercy to the living, he says, to shorten them. He is in favor of shortening the minister's remarks at funerals to a very great extent. Sunday funerals, except when absolutely necessary, are not in favor, according to Dr. Williams' remarks.

Rev. Mr. Williams' address was highly complimented by the undertakers and others of those who heard it.

AID PROMISED FOR NURSES STRICKEN WHILE SAVING LIVES

Interest in the plan for a cottage where nurses affected by tuberculosis may be treated at the Open Air sanitarium, is to be generated throughout the state by the Visiting Nurses' association, whose members are scattered in many towns and will be urged to help along the movement, begun here a few days ago. A subscription list has been started, and many physicians and others who know the need of the proposed building are only waiting to be called on to furnish substantial aid.

That the faithful band of women who brave the death chamber and spend long hours to alleviate suffering are entitled to the best attention themselves when seized by one of the most dread enemies of the race, tuberculosis, is a fact that will appeal strongly to the public when the movement is fully understood. The plan is to construct in a quiet, restful place, a convenient cottage where nurses suffering from tubercular troubles may go and be cared for to the best advantage.

The cost of such a building is not large, but it must be met by subscription. The nurses cannot be expected to stand such an expense, for they have battles of their own to fight. Seven hundred and fifty dollars will build a fairly convenient cottage, but $1,000 will build a better one. No limit has yet been fixed, but the plans will be worked out in detail as soon as the raising of the money is assured.

Subscriptions for this worthy cause will be received at The Journal office and credit promptly given, so that all may know the progress that is being made. A start has been made, as follows:

GAS COMPANY FIGHTS SAN FRANCISCO RATE

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, July 10.—The San Francisco Gas & Electric corporation has filed suit in the federal courts praying for an injunction to prevent the city from collecting the 85-cent gas rate fixed by the board of supervisors. The complaint charges that the income of the gas company will not permit it to serve gas for this legal rate. This is in line with the recent suit of the Spring Valley Water company in the water rate dispute. And none of San Francisco's householders will know what they are paying for gas or water until the federal courts have settled the suits.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Sioux Falls, S. D., July 10.—Everything is in readiness for the opening of the "At-o-Kad" summer assembly here tomorrow, preparations for which have been going forward for several months. With Governor Johnson of Minnesota as the first speaker on the program it is expected that the crowd at the opening will be one of record-breaking proportions. The assembly will continue eight days. In addition to Governor Johnson the speakers and lecturers will include Judge Willis Brown, Dr. William A. Colledge, Dr. John Marrite Driver, and several others of prominence.

STOLE THINGS HE COULDN'T TOTE AWAY

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, July 10.—After ransacking the residence of Mrs. K. Turner and discovering that there was nothing of value which he could carry away unaided, Joseph Reid, who is now under arrest, hired an express wagon to assist him in looting the place. Reid placed a couch and two mattresses in the wagon and had them hauled to a second-hand store, where he readily disposed of them. The police secured a description of Reid from the expressman and arrested him a short time later.

MORMONS IN MEXICO ACT AGAINST REBELS

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Salt Lake, July 10.—A letter received at the office of President Smith of the Mormon church from the Mormon authorities at Juarez, Mex., states that the Mormons there are cooperating with the Mexican government in putting down the uprising. A Mormon posse arrested 35 revolutionists at Casas Grandes and Dublan.

DALLAS READY TO GREET ELKS

Forty Thousand Guests Expected—Parade Will Break Records.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Dallas, Texas, July 10.—The first of the visitors to the annual convention and reunion of Elks which begins in this city next week put in an appearance today. Accommodations have been reserved for 20,000 visitors and it is expected the total attendance will reach twice that figure. Delegates will be present from every part of the United States, and from Canada, Mexico, Hawaii and the Philippine islands.

The formal opening of the grand lodge will take place Monday, and sessions will be held daily throughout the impressive and beautiful. The speakers will include Grand Exalted Ruler Tener of Pennsylvania, Governor Campbell and Senator Culberson. The music will be furnished by an orchestra of 50 pieces and a grand chorus of 200 voices.

The entertainment of the Elks will be on a scale never before attempted in this section of the country. A liberal donation from the city of Dallas has been augmented by a $100,000 subscription of the citizens. Beginning with next Sunday and continuing through the week without a break there will be something doing every hour of the day and evening.

Twenty Thousand in Parade.

The entertainment program provides for balls, barbecues, dinners, garden parties, band contests, competitive drills and pyrotechnic displays. One of the most novel features will be the Mexican dinner planned for next Tuesday. Forty thousand visitors are expected at this mammoth feast, which will be served in the commodious fair grounds.

The big parade, the principal feature of the annual gathering, is set down for Friday morning. This will eclipse in splendor and spectacular effect any of the pageants ever witnessed in America. Twenty thousand men will be in line, the majority of them in rich and picturesque costumes. There will also be a multitude of bands, among them some of the finest organizations of their kind in the United States.

The work of decorating the city is now nearing completion. The decorative and electrical display will surpass anything of the kind ever seen before in the southwest. The center of the electrical display will be the great court of honor at the intersection of Main and Akard streets. The chief feature is a large and handsome arch made brilliant at night by thousands of electric lights. All the hotels, public buildings and business houses will have electrical displays on a large scale, and throughout the residential section there is a liberal display of flags and the purple and white of the Elks.

UNIVERSAL PURE FOOD MOVEMENT POSSIBLE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Paris, July 10.—The international congress of the Refrigerating Industries being organized under the patronage of the French ministers of agriculture, commerce and industry, colonies, and marine, is holding its sessions in the Grand Palais, the principal exposition building of Paris. The congress has attracted leading experts and representatives of the principal industries and enterprises of all countries in which refrigeration is used as an agent for facilitating the preservation and transportation of food materials by land or sea.

It is hoped that out of this international conference may grow a more intelligent and effective system of food preservation and transportation, and as a collateral result, a basis of determined facts and principles upon which can be subsequently built up what is recognized as an urgent need, a system of harmonious and uniform laws and regulations governing the exchange of pure food products between the leading commercial nations.

SLAYER OF PRIEST HANGS NEXT WEEK

Unless Unexpected Reprieve Is Granted Guiseppe Alia Must Die.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Denver, Colo., July 10.—Unless there is an unexpected reprieve, Giuseppe Alia, the murderer of Father Leo Heinrichs, will be executed during the coming week. Preparations for the hanging are now being made at the state prison at Canon City.

The crime for which Alia is to pay the death penalty was committed in St. Elizabeth's Roman Catholic church in this city at early mass Sunday morning, February 23, the time being about 6 o'clock. Alia knelt with the worshippers at the foot of the altar and Father Heinrichs placed the sacred wafer of the communion on his tongue. As he did so Alia gave an exclamation and drew a revolver from his hip pocket. Placing the muzzle of the revolver close to the priest's robe, Alia pulled the trigger. As the shot rang through the church Father Heinrichs staggered and then fell between two women, on one side of the murderer.

"My God, my God, to thee I commend my soul," cried the stricken priest as he fell. He had been pierced through the heart by the bullet and died almost instantly.

Waving the revolver above his head, Alia started down the main aisle to the church door. There was confusion in the congregation, and the Italian might have escaped but for Daniel Crinin, a police patrolman, who threw himself on the assassin. Others came to the patrolman's rescue and Alia was quickly overpowered. He was hurried to the police station and then to the county jail. A few hours later, when popular indignation became so manifest that it was feared Alia would be lynched, he was put aboard a train and locked up in Colorado Springs. Within two weeks of the commission of his crime the Italian was tried and convicted and given a death sentence.

SAYS PANIC WAS NOT HAND-MADE

Br'er Henry Declares Even the Octopus Could Not Sink So Low.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Vancouver, B. C., July 10.—"It is placing too low an estimate on humanity to suppose that any panic such as that of last year would be brought on by the men at the head of the great commercial and industrial interests of the United States."

Thus Henry W. Taft replied to a question put to him on his arrival here from Seattle.

"Is there any truth in the rumor that the critical financial conditions were artificially precipitated?" he was asked by a United Press representative. Mr. Taft said:

"I can only express my individual opinion on that question. So far as I know—and I am in a position to know—there could be no element in human nature so base as to produce such a condition as prevailed in money circles for a time all over the United States. It would be difficult to describe the apprehension which prevailed for a time among business and financial concerns.

"No, there was no political object in view."

Mr. Taft voiced his view that a steady recovery from the financial depression was in progress.

The Taft party has left for the mountains.
