MONSTER SHARKS FOLLOW SALMON

Steam Schooner Northland Runs Close to School of Maneaters.

SEVERAL COASTERS REACH THE HARBOR

Steamer Homer Brings General Freight and Will Load Wheat for San Francisco—Shoshone Takes General Cargo for Regular Line.

The steam schooners Northland, Shoshone and Homer and the oil tank steamer Colonel E. Drake reached the harbor last night and this morning, all of them bringing more or less cargo. The Northland came in full from San Francisco, the freight consisting of general merchandise, gunnies, paints and hardware. She also brought a full list of passengers. Six of them were left behind on the dock when the craft pulled out from Astoria last night, but they were discovered and Captain Erickson put back for them.

Second Officer Bostrom of the Northland says the sea is full of monster sharks in the vicinity of the Columbia river. Dozens of them were seen from the deck of the Northland yesterday and they were chasing schools of salmon. There were many whales, too, but they attracted less attention because there are always a number of them sighted on a voyage along the coast. Sharks, on the contrary, are seldom seen in this latitude, declares Officer Bostrom.

"I have seen many sharks in my days," said Bostrom, "but those we ran close to off the river yesterday beat anything. One of them was fully 25 feet long and had a head at least four feet wide across the top. I would have hated to fallen overboard about that time. I suppose they have come north to feed on the salmon entering the river, but it seems they have missed their latitude."

The Northland is discharging freight at Couch street dock today, but will probably shift to Oceanic dock tomorrow to load wheat for a return cargo.

The Homer reached Couch street dock at 10 o'clock this morning about 15 hours late from San Francisco via Coos bay because of dense fogs along the coast. Captain Dorris reports having been detained half a day at Coos bay by fog. He put in there to pick up some passengers. The craft brought 110 tons of freight and will leave tomorrow for San Pedro via San Francisco tomorrow night with wheat and passengers.

The steam schooner Shoshone, Captain Anderson, is at Ainsworth dock loading general cargo for San Francisco for the San Francisco & Portland Steamship company. She will take a full cargo or about 900 tons, which will help a great deal to relieve the freight congestion.

The tank steamer Colonel E. Drake went to Portsmouth to discharge the oil cargo from San Francisco.

BOYS GIVE TROUBLE.

Launch Owners Will Probably Appeal to Police for Protection.

Numerous complaints are being made of boys damaging property along the waterfront in carrying on their pranks. They are accused of boarding launches to examine the machinery, and several cases have been reported where they have gotten it out of working order.

Yesterday two boys were caught in the act of taking a launch out for a ride. They saw the owner as he came towards the dock, and in the hurry to escape one missed his footing and fell into the river. He scrambled out, however, without much difficulty. He would probably have been turned over to the police but for the fact that the owner of the boat thought the ducking enough punishment.

It is said that the police will be appealed to unless the boys cease interfering with other people's properties.

BIG PACK UP NORTH.

Salmon Run Heavy at Bristol Bay This Season.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Astoria, Or., July 15.—A message has been received here by the Alaska Fishermen's Packing company from P. A. Berglund, superintendent of the cannery at Nushagak river, Bristol bay, Alaska, stating that more salmon had been packed up to July 3 than ever before. The message also stated that the prospects are extremely good for a large pack. This is the first news received from Bristol bay since fishing opened.

ALONG THE WATERFRONT.

The Open River association will soon award the contract for the construction of two boats for the upper river.

The oriental liner Nicomedia is discharging freight at Alaska dock. Captain Wagemann is entertaining a few friends this afternoon at dinner.

The steamer Alliance, Captain Olson, will be at Couch street dock some time tonight with a lot of freight for the east and a full list of passengers, according to a dispatch received from Coos Bay this morning.

The steamer City of Panama will leave Oak street dock tonight for Coos Bay, in command of Captain Fraser, with Captain Macgenn as pilot. The Breakwater will soon be back on the run.

The lighthoue tender Armeria will be ready to go into commission again next week, after having undergone complete repairs on Puget sound.

The sailing schooner Oliver J. Olson is returning to Portland from San Francisco for another cargo of wheat.

The German steamer Eva, which is now on Puget sound loading for the orient, will come here to complete her cargo.

MARINE NOTES.

Falmouth, July 14.—Arrived, French bark Bougainville, from Portland.

HAD CHARMING RIDE.

A moonlight ride on the river was enjoyed last night by the Swedish Singing Club Columbia, and about 75 invited guests. The trip was made on the steamer Columbia.

After going up the Willamette half way to Oregon City, the steamer was taken down the Willamette, and a short distance on the Columbia. The club entertained with a number of selections, and luncheon was served by wives and young women friends of the singers.

Salmon for Propogation.

Astoria, Or., July 15.—Deputy Fish Commissioner L. G. Burton of Washington has left for Bakers bay, where he will drive a trap to be used in catching salmon for propagating purposes at the chinook hatchery. He was granted permission to place the trap outside the regular line.

WEATHER REPORT

A small disturbance is central this morning over western North Dakota, and the barometer is generally below normal in California and the Rocky Mountain states. The disturbance noted yesterday as passing to sea off the New England coast has remained nearly stationary. The barometer is rising over Oregon and Washington, and a ridge of high pressure extends from the upper lake region south to the gulf states. During the last 24 hours light showers have fallen in the north Pacific states, and showers, heavy in places, have occurred generally throughout the Rocky Mountain states and also in the Missouri valley, the Ohio valley, the lower lake region and in the Atlantic states from Maine to Florida. It is cooler in eastern Oregon, eastern Washington and Idaho and slightly warmer in the interior of California.

The indications are for fair and warmer weather in this district Thursday.
