

ALL ABOARD FOR RIVER

Washington Newspapermen Entertained on Trip on Columbia — Governor Mead One of Guests—Addresses by Prominent Men

With handkerchiefs fluttering, hats waving and band playing, the steamer Batley Gatzert drew away from the dock at Vancouver this morning for its trip up the Columbia with some two hundred newspaper men, their wives and families and a number of notable guests including among them Governor Mead and Lieutenant-Governor Coon of Washington.

On the way up the river to Stevenson and back the Washington State Press association will continue its convention program on board the steamer. E. E. Beard, chairman of the Vancouver reception committee, arranged the novel trip to combine business with pleasure. A program of addresses will be given by Eva Emery Dye, author of McLoughlin and Old Oregon; R. E. Gosselle of the Victoria (B. C.) Colonist; Honor L. Wilhelm of the Coast Magazine, Seattle, and Judge Milo A. Root of the Washington state supreme court. After luncheon at 12:30 Governor Mead will address the convention and on the return of the excursion a number of timely addresses will be given in the Auditorium at Vancouver. Among those who will take part are Attorney-General John D. Atkinson, who will make a strong attack on the section of the direct primary law which prohibits political advertising, and John L. Wilson of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

President Dellinger.
President Dellinger of the Oregon State Press association came up from Astoria to deliver an address to the Washington convention at the state school for the deaf at Vancouver last night. Mr. Dellinger took occasion to explain why the Oregon newspaper men had not combined with those of Washington in their annual convention. The two State Press associations had agreed to hold their annual convention together this year, but the Oregon association could not arrange to do this without endangering the success of their effort to secure a uniform rate of advertising throughout the state, so the convention was postponed.

William J. Clarke of Salem also made an address. Superintendent T. H. Clarke of the Washington state school for the deaf entertained the delegates at a banquet yesterday evening and a dance was given afterward in Mead hall, adjoining the school.

President Best, Toastmaster.
President Best acted as toastmaster of the banquet. Mayor Green of Vancouver made the address of welcome and Albert Johnson of the Seattle Times responded. Rev. W. C. Sheppard of Vancouver, but formerly a famous newspaper man of Providence, R. I., spoke wittily and briefly to a delighted audience of appreciative listeners. Frank E. Cole of the Coast Lumberman and E. E. Beard also made short speeches.

The program for tomorrow and this evening:

Friday evening at the auditorium, 8 p. m.—Address, "Suggestions for Betterment of Relations Between Publishers and Advertisers and Advertising Agencies," by Charles H. Fuller, president of the Charles H. Fuller company, Chicago; address, "Political Advertising Under the New Direct Primary Law," by the State Interests and Restated in a Simplified Code Form," by Attorney-General John D. Atkinson; address, "Poetry for the Country Weekly," by Albert Johnson.

ANNUAL SHOOT BEGINS MONDAY

Every Company in the State Militia Will Be Represented at Salem.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)

Salem, Or., July 17.—The Willamette rifle range across the river from Salem, in Polk county, will open for practice tomorrow morning, preceding the annual shoot that will begin Monday, July 20, lasting five days. Teams are already arriving and it is expected by Saturday evening the entire number of contestants will be on the range.

During the past week Captain L. H. Knapp, camp quartermaster, and Captain C. A. Murphy, camp commissary, have been on the ground arranging for the camps. A force of men has also improved the range by leveling the ground and deepening the pits. Two years ago, when the shoot was held at Salem, Roseburg won the chief prize, a silver cup worth $100. Last year the shoot was held at Roseburg, and Company K of Portland was the winning company. Three years ago the trophy was held by a Salem company.

The highest scores for the shoot at Salem next week will compose the team of 15 men which will represent Oregon at Camp Perry, Ohio, at the time of the national rifle match. There are 30 companies in the state and with the officers there will be about 175 O. N. G. men in Salem next week. Each company sends a team of five men, besides the officers. Brigadier-General W. E. Finzer has appointed the following officers to positions during the shoot: Major Frank S. Baker, Third Infantry, chief range officer; Major Creed C. Hammond, Fourth Infantry, as range officer; Captain L. H. Knapp, quartermaster of the O. N. G. camp; Captain C. A. Murphy, Third Infantry, camp commissary; Captain C. J. Johnson, Fourth Infantry, statistical officer; First Lieutenant R. W. Holman, Third Infantry, camp adjutant; First Lieutenant A. E. Jenkins, Third Infantry, range officer; First Lieutenant Eugene Moshberger, Third Infantry, range officer; First Lieutenant Z. N. Ages, Fourth Infantry, range officer; First Lieutenant R. A. McCauley, Third Infantry, assistant statistical officer.

Aside from these officers and teams there will be musicians, cooks, and privates for camp duty. The Illihee club and other organizations are preparing to extend a hearty welcome to the soldier boys.

ONE HOUR EARLIER
For the Potter's Saturday Trip to North Beach.
The steamer Potter will leave Portland, Asti street dock, at 1 p. m. on Saturday next, July 18, and on succeeding Saturdays throughout the season, instead of 2 p. m., as originally arranged. The published schedules, thus giving passengers the benefit of the entire river trip by daylight, and landing them at the beach one hour earlier. Don't forget that baggage should reach the dock at least a half hour before departure.

SUCCESS CROWNS THE CHERRY FAIR

Salem Is Thronged With Visitors—Fruit Exhibits Break All Records.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)

Salem, Or., July 17.—Salem's second annual cherry fair is a success. Those who have taken a leading part in bringing about the event in an creditable manner have been showered with congratulations. The exhibitions of fine fruit were never before excelled. The pleasant weather and amusements have all lent toward a great show.

The cherry exhibition, which is the main attraction, is in four long aisles of boxes and cartons in a narrow bowler. The bower is about 400 feet long and extends along the paved sidewalk just in front of the Marion county courthouse.

Visitors from all parts of the state are in the city. There are a number of counties contesting for the $150 county trophy offered by Marion county to the other counties in the state. It is being competed for by Yamhill, Washington, Polk, Linn, Lane, Clackamas and Wasco. Marion has barred herself from competition.

Though the carnies have given out that the cherry crop in Marion does not come up to other years, yet fruit experts visiting today declare the present exhibit the finest ever prepared. Cherry fairs are not common events and the present is probably the largest and finest exhibit of purely cherries ever gathered together.

Today has been one of rest and preparation for tomorrow, which is Portland day, and the big day of the three. It will close the fair and Salem has undertaken to display a hospitality to Portland business men that has not been offered by any town in the state. An excursion on the Southern Pacific will bring the visitors.

The train will arrive at 11 o'clock and an opportunity will be given the business men of the metropolis to see a country not so well known as the Rosedale fruit district, through which the entire body will be taken in automobiles. It is but recently that the Rosedale district has been recognized of even Salemites and Marion county believes it has in this district a surprise for the world.

KNOTTY PROBLEM CONFRONTS REGENTS
U. of O. Must Have More Land but There Is None to Purchase.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
University of Oregon, Eugene, July 17.—The board of regents which meets here July 25, will have a difficult problem to solve—the extending of the campus. The 27 acres now comprising the campus are entirely inadequate. The option on Kincaid football field expires during next year.

The plot of land known as the Kincaid tract, just south of the university, is considered the best piece of property for extension, but the estimated price, $25,000, is considered too high. There is a little over 20 acres in the tract. Adjoining the field on the south is the Masonic cemetery, which bars further acquisition of land in that direction. To the east all the land is residence district, owned by individuals. But this land is not so desirable, for it is much lower than the campus.

AFFINITY'S BUSINESS ONLY TO STEAL MEN
That Mrs. Holmes Has Made the Stealing Cost Her $200,000 Is Mrs. Dunn's Claim.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Atlantic City, N. J., July 17.—Mrs. Sarah Rodenbaum Rogers Dunn, wife of James P. Dunn, who charged her husband and his alleged "affinity" across the continent and tried to attack Mrs. L. H. Holmes on the board walk Tuesday, was bound over yesterday to answer to the charge of assault. Her bail was fixed at $500.

Mrs. Dunn has started a counter suit against her husband's "affinity." When Mrs. Dunn appeared in court she wore an old rose shaded hat, an immense Merry Widow hat, bedecked with plumes. She told the court that her husband had secured $200,000 from her and then left their home in San Francisco with "the other woman." She talked excitedly and very rapidly. Before her attorney could stop her she said she had been following the pair since last Christmas.

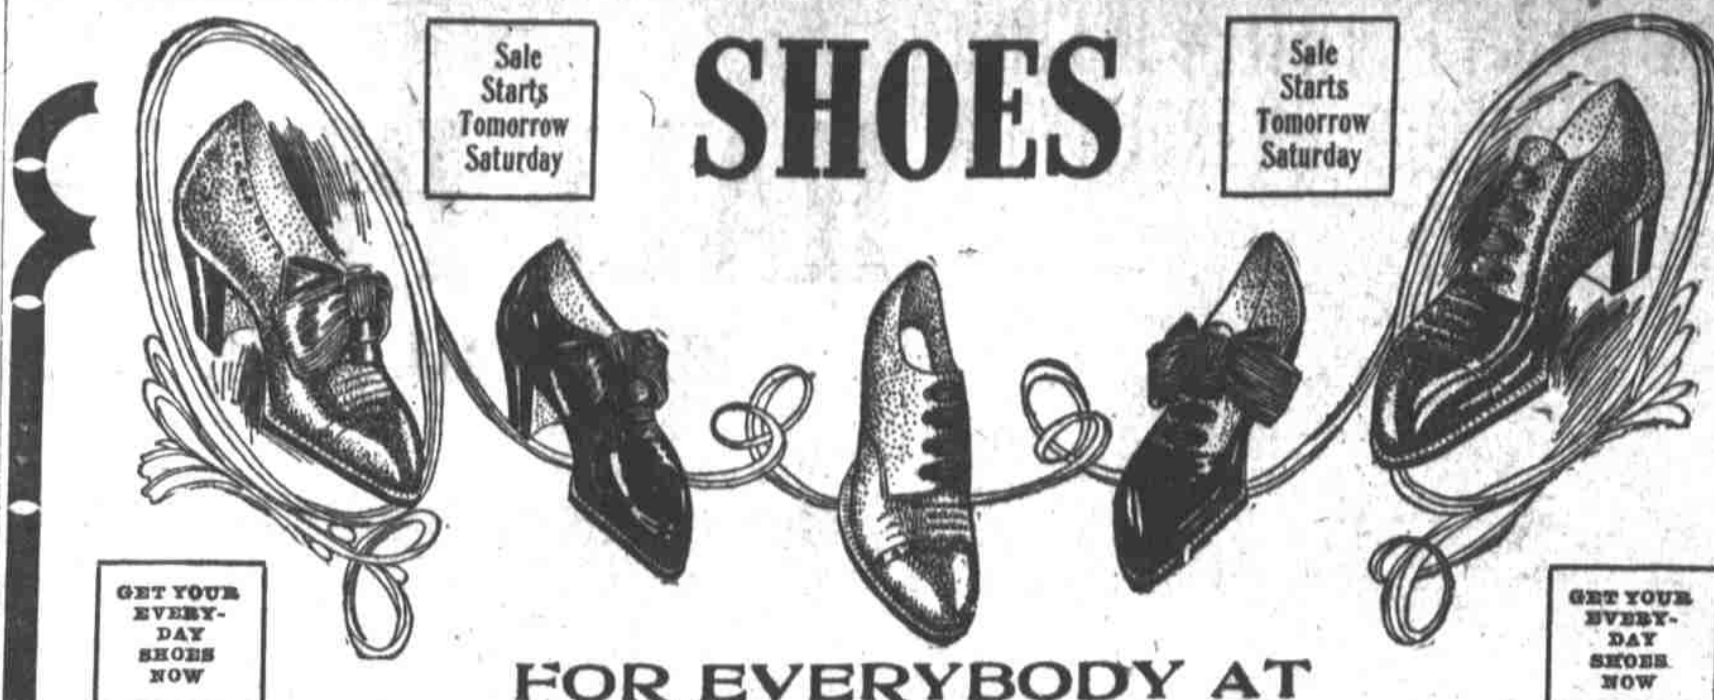

"Mrs. Holmes has been doing nothing but stealing men for years," she cried.

STATE DENTAL BOARD IN HANDS RECEIVER
(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Olympia, Wash., July 17.—The state board of dental examiners must remain in the hands of a receiver, according to a decision handed down by the supreme court, uniting a judgment in favor of Samuel R. Stern of Spokane of $1,424 is paid. The proceeding is without precedent.

Stern is a lawyer who was employed by the board to assist in prosecutions of violations of the dental laws. The board has money which has been derived from fees from the examination of applicants for certificates. Such money constitutes a fund from which the board members are paid a per diem and expenses. In no event does the money ever go to the state.

In defending the action for the receiver the board claimed that the suit was against the state and that the board did not have the capacity to be sued, and that the authority of the board to employ private counsel was dependent upon the consent of the prosecuting attorneys in the counties where the prosecutions were instituted. The supreme court holds against the board in both particulars.
