AT NEWPORT Newport, Or., July 16.—The season at the beach here is rather late in beginning this year, although many permanent residents are now coming in slowly, there are not nearly so many of them as there were this time last year. The lateness of the season throughout the state is probably accountable for this. Last Sunday the season of boats came down from Portland and the water in the bay was so low that the boats could not get up, while this evening 61 came in. The hot weather outside, it is believed, will have the effect of filling the town up before long. HOF BRAU OPENING. Messrs. Strobel and Barenstecher Open a Pine Cafe and Grill Room. Fritz Strobel and Charles Barenstecher, formerly of the Irving have taken the old Commercial club headquarters at Sixth and Alder streets and fitted up one of the finest restaurants in the northwest, one that would do credit to the large capitals of the east. The tap water of the city is piped into the kitchen works of art that will make this grill and cafe commented upon far and wide. The kitchen is one of the finest on the whole coast and will be presided over by the chef, who has been fully equipped with everything that is most modern, appliances for cleaning dishes, electric and gas, and a heating purposes an up-to-date electric plant, separate cold storage for vegetables, cold storage for the wine room and cold storage for domestic and imported beers that connect by pipes directly with the cafe. The proprietors appreciate the wines at Newport, which are kept in refrigerators that taste just right and it is not only to experienced caterers. Victor Tarbell will be steward and look after the catering in the finest restaurant on the coast. Strobel and Barenstecher have gone to an enormous expense in fitting up this place and they are confident that they will be greatly pleased and delighted that they now have an establishment of this character. Today and Monday will be positively the last days for discount on east side. PORTLAND GAS CO.
