

INSTITUTE WILL FIND NO LUMBER OPEN TOMORROW TRUST ON COAST

Noted Catholic Educators to Be Heard Here This Week.

With high mass at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning the second annual institute of the Catholic Educational Institute of Oregon will be opened. Mass will be celebrated in St. Mary's cathedral while the institute proper will have its sessions in the West Side high school.

Some minor changes in the institute program have been made by Father O'Hara, president of the association. Instead of the address by Miss Armenta Kaiser scheduled for tomorrow afternoon, Rev. Father Ford, S. J., director of studies in St. Ignatius college, San Francisco, will speak on "Leading Factors in English Literature" while Sunday afternoon Archbishop Christie will speak on "Liturgy in the Teaching of Religion," instead of the Rev. George Thompson.

Among the well-known educators who will address the institute are Miss Julia Beth Farrell, instructor in expressive reading and dramatic training in Northwestern university, Father Dominic, the national authority on church music and M. P. Conway of Dartmouth, who will have charge of the grammar department.

Department work of the institute will be confined to the morning sessions, the afternoon general sessions being open to the public.

The program for tomorrow, the first day of the institute, is: 8 a. m., solemn high mass, celebrated by Right Rev. James Beauv. V. G. St. Mary's cathedral, Fifth and Duane streets; sermon, Right Rev. Albert Thomas, O. S. B., 10:30 a. m., registration, West Side high school, 11:00 a. m., president's address, assembly room (third floor) 2 p. m., general session, assembly room, musical numbers under direction of F. W. Goodrich, 2:15 p. m., address, "Leading Factors in English Literature," Rev. Father Ford, S. J., director of studies St. Ignatius college, San Francisco, 3 p. m., address, "Principles of Classification," Frank Hitler, discussion.

Chance for All.

Opportunity is emphasized by the showing made by the business chance announcement of today's Journal. For example, the classified columns show for May 1908: Light manufacturing business—Own or has more work than he can attend to; wants reliable man as city salesman and invest $1,000; salary $100 a month. 25-room neatly furnished rooming house, hot and cold water in every room, rent $125, including heat and hot water; near depot, big money-maker.

For the Business Exchange as follows: Must sell immediately; $1,000, half cash, 50 rooms, one floor, all light, clean, etc. good furniture; new modern brick building, two-year lease at $100 monthly; money talks. See Pacific Business Exchange, 202 1/2 Washington st., $2,500, $1,500 cash, 30 rooms, 15 office rooms (no work to do), clear about $200 monthly.

For Devlin & Firebaugh the following: How does this sound? 72 rooms, well furnished throughout with high-grade carpets and furniture, arranged in apartments. Attractive lease at $200 per month, including steam heat, splendid location. Clears $250 per month above all expenses. Price, $5,500.

A little dandy, 24 rooms, modern apartment house, private baths, splendid corner location, elegantly furnished, good lease, with very reasonable rent, clears over $100 per month above expenses. See this before buying. Price, $2,500.

Rose City Realty and Investment Co. announce as follows: 42 rooms, 81 housekeeping, $1,500. 12 rooms, in center of city, $300.

There are many other splendid opportunities. See the complete ads under heading "Business Chances."

GOOD WORK GOES ON.

How the Y. M. C. A. Has Been Extended in Australia.

Five years ago the Y. M. C. A., outside of two or three cities, was an inconspicuous movement in Australia. There were only three men giving their time to its supervision, but two buildings were owned, and these debt-ridden, and the membership was so small as to be scarcely worth considering. The all-around work which characterizes the American organization was preparing the way for the invitation of the leading Australian association, of which James J. Virgin, The Sunday of Australia, was secretary. International organizing secretaries were invited to the country in 1903. Christian leaders of Australia and prepare the way for larger things. The efficient secretary of the Montreal association made tours of the country in 1904 and 1905, thus preparing the way for Lyman L. Pierce, then secretary at Washington, D. C., to spend two years in the country as organizing secretary. Now the associations are passing out of the small rooms and inconspicuous positions into new buildings and larger influence. Nearly $600,000 has been pledged for buildings during the last two years.

A national organization has been established, traveling secretaries engaged, efficient young Christian business men have been secured as secretaries, and American physical directors have been called to fill positions where they will lead the physical department force and train native leaders as soon as possible. Australia will soon take its place in the forefront among the association movements of the world.

The Parson—Always speak well of your neighbors. Mrs. Ned Door—I do. And yet I assure you she is one of the most detestable creatures on earth.

FIND NO LUMBER TRUST ON COAST

Federal Investigation Fails to Reveal Combine to Fix Prices.

There is no lumber trust on the Pacific coast, at least not in Oregon, so far as government officials employed to ferret it out have discovered. After months of investigation they have come upon no evidence tending to indicate that any body of men or manufacturers are banded together for the purpose of maintaining fixed prices on lumber. Still the investigation is being pursued in a quiet way.

An expression to this effect was made yesterday by C. E. Edgerton, special agent of the bureau of corporations, who is here for the purpose of investigating the supply of standing timber. The department with which he is connected, as the name implies, was created by resolution passed by congress for the purpose of bringing from cover that body referred to as the lumber trust. But the trust has not been discovered and now the greater part of the force is directing its attention to securing data by which an idea might be gained as to the amount of standing timber in the United States.

Mr. Edgerton says the southern states have been thoroughly canvassed and for the present 16 special agents are at work on this coast. It is a most difficult and tedious undertaking, this gathering of lumber statistics, and about the only way to secure the information is to get it from the holders of lands.

Mr. Edgerton will remain here several days and then go to Seattle to return again in a few weeks to resume his work.

COUNTY JAIL BEDLAM OF CRIES OF INSANE

Patients Waiting Transfer to Salem Make Air Reverberate.

Curses, not loud, but deep; whimpers, frenzied fancies that came suddenly, and suddenly went away; threats, maniacal fury, utter helplessness and imbecility—all of these were manifested by patients held on insanity charges at the county jail yesterday afternoon. Jailer Hunter often remarks the fact that insanity cases come in bunches, and yesterday there were five of them.

One of the insane men came from Hillsboro, being confined here between trains on the way to Salem. Another was a boy of 13, named Lloyd Frank, Louis Marchel was filled with fears of imaginary foes. John Slucky was inclined to violence and violent language, and a man named White was stretched in helplessness on a cot. Besides all these was Albert L. Ames, who is in jail on a charge preferred by his wife that he threatened to kill her. He was arrested several weeks ago and pronounced not insane, and this time he is in on a criminal charge.

Late last evening the men were started for the asylum and Jailer Hunter drew a breath of relief over the removal of the chaos of sound that disturbed the corridors.

What She Really Wanted.

The Widow—I want a man to do odd jobs about the house, run on errands, and never answer to my name, and is always ready to do my bidding. Applicant—That's a husband you want, ma'am.

stables off the ground floor. I think no. At least there are several stables in Portland where horses are kept on the second floors and where in case of fire they would all be corralled like rats in a trap. Why shouldn't fire escapes be put in for horses? Why shouldn't man's best friend be trained and taught to use these escapes in case of fire? Livery stable keepers naturally prefer to keep horses on the second floor for various reasons. Usually the only entrance or exit to this part of the stables is through the ground floor. Here it is that most of the livery stable fires are discovered. When such is the case the horses are shut off from all possibility of escape, even though persons are able to make an effort to rescue them. ONE INTERESTED IN HUMANE WORK

MANY WOMEN IN BROOKLYN PARTY

A telegram from W. C. Seachrott, general agent of the New York Central line, who met the Brooklyn tourist party's special train at Ashland yesterday, says there are 140 people on board. Of the total number 80 are women. They will arrive in Portland this morning at 7:30 o'clock. It is said that owing to the large number of women, only a part of the excursionists will go on the Columbia river trip, and the remainder will put in the day seeing the sights in and about Portland.
