Alaska Potato Demand in Sight.

Oregon will be prepared this season to take much better care of the huge northern demand for potatoes than ever before. The crop of potatoes is not only liberal, but the early production is the greatest ever shown here. Some inquiries are already being received from Alaska regarding the supplies that Oregon will have during the time of the northern call, and dealers all agree that we will be able to take care of practically all business offered us. There is no doubt at this time that Oregon potato men have learned quite well the lessons of good sorting of potatoes, for their experience during the past season is not one that can easily be forgotten even by the most absent-minded. It was due to the most unusual good packing that almost all of Oregon's big crop, as well as those of Idaho and Washington, were cleaned up the past season. It was a case of quality all the way through, and the growers will undoubtedly repeat their good packing this year.

Excellent Tone in Chickens.

There is a most excellent tone in the chicken market at this time. The demand is the greatest in recent months. While the receipts a week ago were far more liberal than the trade had anticipated, there was scarcely sufficient supplies to go around, and in consequence a higher range of values is ruling. For the general run of chickens the trade is easily obtaining prices that range between 13½@14c a pound, and it takes a poor crop to bring the former figure. For springers the trade seems almost famished, so good a price is being obtained. While last week's arrivals of hens and mixed coops were more liberal, there was a scarcity of springers, and today's market is very firm around 20c a pound. There is quite a good demand for spring ducks and geese around 13@15c for the former and 10@12½c for the latter, but in neither line is there much call for old stock at lower prices.

Egg Market Is Steady.

In the egg market a steady tone is ruling along Front street, the same values as on Saturday being generally obtained. Receipts of first-class stock are very scanty, and this may force an advance in that line, but a large per cent. of the arrivals are in poor shape and may sell lower.

Cheese market is firm, but Front street handlers have as yet made no move toward advancing their figures.

Creamery butter market is holding unchanged with weakness increasing in off grades.

Lambert Cherries Better.

Better quality is shown in late arrivals of both the Bing and Lambert cherries, and a greater increase in quality is promised by the leading growers as the season advances. Locally the trade in cherries is not very brisk because of quite heavy supplies now coming, but shippers are finding a very good call.

Four cars of watermelons arrived in today and the price dropped rapidly to 1½@1¾c a pound.

While greater shipments of cantaloupes are shown, the market is firmer because of the greater call, and prices are generally ruling at $2.50.

Early harvest apples from Mosier are coming in fine shape, but the demand is not very brisk as yet because of the loads of other fruit.

Brief Notes of the Trade.

Tomatoes are in very heavy arrival from California, and as local supplies are coming faster the price is again lower.

Peach market is fractionally lower with more liberal supplies. Crawfords generally selling at 85c a box, with other grades lower.

Loganberries are still quite weak along the street, and prices range easy between 75@85c a crate.

There is practically nothing doing in the hop market at the moment, and crop prospects are better. Weather is against spread of vermin.

Front street sells at the following prices. Those paid shippers are less regular commissions:

INVENTS EGG TESTER AND EXPECTS FORTUNE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Klamath Falls, Or., July 20.—P. B. Southworth of this city has invented an egg tester and J. F. Goeller, local millman, has secured the sole manufacture of it in the United States. The invention is a very simple one, consisting of a small wooden box, with a slot for light and plate glass on the bottom.

Mr. Southworth has sold his rights in Oregon, Washington and Idaho to E. E. La Barr, commission man of Spokane, for $6,000. Patent was granted in February, 1904, and Mr. Southworth expects to make a fortune from his invention. Special machinery will be installed in the Goeller mill to turn out the egg-testers.

Latest News of Oregon Crops

NORTHWEST WEATHER FORECAST.

Oregon—Probably showers tonight or Tuesday; not so warm interior west portion Tuesday; westerly winds.

Washington—Fair tonight and Tuesday; continued warm; westerly winds.

Idaho—Fair tonight; warmer southeast portion. Tuesday fair and continued warm.

Albany, Or., July 20.—Crops in Linn county are the best of any late year. Immense yields are reported from every section of the county in horticulture and agriculture. The biggest crop of hay ever harvested is being cared for, and even now the busy hum of the binder as it cuts its way through the ripened grain can be heard on all sides. A better year for the farmer could hardly be asked. A general feeling of optimism prevails and Linn county and the Willamette valley does not fear a panic or look forward to any shortage in crops. The prune crop, which was thought to have been practically destroyed, will now make a good crop in this section, as a close investigation has revealed more than half a crop. As to hops, while the price is not encouraging, the yield promises to be heavy and all indications point to the development of hops of the finest possible quality.

A general change has taken place in Linn county as to farming methods. A few years ago practically no clover at all was being raised and grown in the county—now on all sides of the principal highways leading through the valley can be seen hundreds of acres of this crop. Alsyke and red clover are the two kinds generally grown. Most of the clover is now grown for seed as it brings fancy prices in the eastern markets. As high as $8 per bushel has been paid for the seed in this city. A local firm last season shipped carload after carload of the seed to Chicago and the centers of the east and realized immense returns for their enterprise. This new industry bids well to spread through the entire valley, as a change is being made from grain raising to stock and the dairying business.

The apple crop is immense and the trees are fairly groaning beneath the weight of the developing fruit. Linn county is increasing her acreage in all horticultural lines so rapidly as to make her a positive competitor for the honor of being the county with the largest fruit acreage in the state of Oregon.

Klamath Falls, Or., July 20.—Fruit Inspector O. A. Stearns reports a fair fruit crop in Klamath county this year. The frosts in the spring did considerable damage here, as elsewhere, but there will be a large berry crop and a fair crop of apples.

He reports the trees on which the blossoms were destroyed in the spring as now putting out a second bloom, an unusual occurrence.

Better Wool Market.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Butte, Mont., July 20. — A fraction over 18¼ cents for wool was paid at Miles City, Saturday, for a clip of some 60,000 pounds. This is the top price of the season thus far. Sales for two days at Miles City aggregate several hundred thousand pounds.

Klamath Cattle Shipments.

Klamath Falls, Or., July 20.—The first shipment of beef cattle from Klamath county this season will start this week from the Horton ranch for the Oakland market. Cattle are looking fine in this section, especially in Wood River valley.

Portland Union Stockyards, July 20.—In every line of the local livestock market a firmer tone is ruling today. Receipts are small in comparison with the demand in sheep, cattle and hogs and the tone in the former is the latest to show a betterment with a consequent advance of 25c in best wethers, which are now quoted firmly at $3.50 instead of at $3.25@3.50 as during the past week.

Hogs show the firmest tone with no arrivals since Thursday night. Weather conditions are too warm to bring shipments from Nebraska, and this is forcing killers to hustle in order to get closer to their requirements.

Cattle market is also quoted with a better trading disposition by local receivers, and while no price changes are noted for the day the market looks higher.

Today 10 horses were among the arrivals.

The higher price of hogs of late and the scarcity in supplies even at advanced quotations today caused an advance of ½c in hams and the same sum in breakfast bacon. Short clear backs are up 1c a pound, kettle rendered and standard lard ½c and cheaper grade ¾c a pound. There was also an advance of 2c a pound in smoked dried beef sets.

A year ago today all lines were steady with a slight tendency among values to stiffen a trifle with no change in prices.

Official stockyard prices today:

Hogs—Best stuff, $6.50@6.75; blockers and China fats, $6.00@6.25; stockers and feeders, $5.25@5.50.

Cattle—Best eastern Oregon steers, $4.00; medium steers, $3.50@3.75; prime fat cows, $3.00; medium cows, $2.50; stags, $2.50; bulls, $2.00@2.50.

Sheep—Best wethers, $3.50; spring lambs, $4.50@4.75; straight ewes, $3.00@3.25; mixed lots, $3.25@3.50.

Big Sturgeon Caught.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Astoria, Or., July 20. — A sturgeon weighing 438 pounds was yesterday caught in a net by a fisherman and sold to the Lindenberger cold storage. The meat will be salted and smoked and the eggs, of which there are about 200 pounds, will be made into caviar and shipped.

REBELS HELD UP MILITARY TRAIN

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Vienna, July 20.—Word has been received here that a mob of Macedonian rebels under mutinous Turkish soldiers held up a military train en route from Salonica to Uskub this afternoon, killed the train crew and military escort and captured the supplies of ammunition on board. The Macedonian troops have been in revolt for some weeks because the sultan has been behind in their pay and when they were ordered to Salonica last night they refused to go. They threatened their officer with death if he attempted to interfere with them and then went to the yards and awaited the arrival of the military train.

It is not thought that eastern Macedonia will be affected by the uprising.

The plan of the proposed Henry Hudson memorial bridge at New York calls for a reinforced concrete span of 710 feet and represents one of the boldest engineering projects of the time.
