

MEET TO FIGHT TUBERCULOSIS

Eminent European Specialists Interested in Washington Convention.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
 Washington, July 21.—The keen interest that the European nations are manifesting in the international congress on tuberculosis to be held in this city early in October is highly gratifying to the local committee. The foreign representation at the congress promises to surpass all of the early expectations. England, France, Germany, Sweden, Switzerland and several other European countries will send elaborate delegations for the exhibition to be held in connection with the congress.

Eminent scientists will be in attendance from nearly all the countries of Europe and from Canada, Newfoundland, South Africa, Mexico, Australia and several of the republics of South and Central America.

Among those who recently have notified the local committee of their intention to be present at the congress are Professor L. Landouzy of the faculty of medicine at the University of Paris; Dr. Maurice H. Nieuwenhuis, representing the Mediterranean Medical Society; Dr. S. S. Steriopolis of Moscow, representing the Russian Tuberculosis Commission; Professor B. Bang, an eminent medical authority of Denmark; Dr. Ramon y Cajal of Madrid, the winner of the Nobel medical prize awarded in 1906; Dr. Camilo Calleja of Madrid, representing the government of Spain; and K. J. Kallgren of Helsingfors, representing the Baltic Veterinary Society.

The new national museum, in which the congress and the exhibition are to be housed, will not be finished by the time the congress convenes. The first and second floors, however, will be put into such a state as to house the congress and the exhibits conveniently. The opening of the congress has been fixed for September 20 and the sessions will continue until October 12.

INDIAN WARWHOOPS HAVE ECHOED OVER ALBANY COLLEGE SUMMER SCHOOL SITE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
 Albany, Or., July 21.—The beauty of the general surroundings and the ideal location of the Albany college summer school is a matter of general comment. In the midst of tall firs and wide spreading maples are the tents and classes of the summer school. Daily classes are being carried on and interest is daily becoming more intense. In addition to study of the subjects assigned sport and recreation of various kinds are being planned. The school is located on a sort of peninsula at the confluence of the Calapooia and Willamette rivers. Near here to be found waterfalls, running streams of all kinds and the finest place for canoeing in the state. The grounds form a natural amphitheatre.

In addition to these advantages, large pasture fields lie between the Calapooia and Willamette rivers, forming an excellent golf links. Excellent bass fishing can be found in the waters of the river that flows almost at the feet of those attending the Bible school.

In early days the grounds were a wilderness, penetrable only by means of old Indian trails, practically overgrown on account of long disuse. The so-called island was the rendezvous of the Calapooia Indians in the early days. War dances and other weird incantations have held sway in this newly utilized place of educational meeting.

John Cadin, generally known as "Warm Spring Johnny," furnished a vivid description of life on the island in early days. When a boy this old Indian scout was captured and carried away to the camps of the redmen and thereby lost his identity. He was forced to adopt their customs and become one of them. At that time one "Calapooia Pete," a noted Indian medicine man, practiced weird descriptions on the credulity of his fellows.

RATE ON CARLOAD HARDER TO GET

Western Classification Committee to Make the Shipper's Road Rougher.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
 Manitou, Colo., July 21.—Members of the western classification committee found nearly 500 subjects docketed for their consideration when they assembled here today for their semi-annual meeting. Among the most important subjects to receive attention is that of minimum carload weights. A proposition has been made to make the minimum weight on freight rated third-class or higher 24,000 pounds and to reduce it to lower than third class 36,000 pounds, and the committee will consider proposed changes in minimum on a large number of specific commodities.

Another subject scheduled for discussion and action is a proposed requirement of minimum weight for packages. The subject of getting increased revenue from perishable freight also will be discussed. It is proposed to amend existing rules so as to provide that in order to secure the carload rate the quantity of freight required under the rules must be delivered at the forwarding station in one working day by one consignee for one consignor and destination, except that when freight is loaded in cars by the consignee it will be subject to the car service rules and charges of the forwarding railroad.

GRAFT METHODS IN STATE BANK

Allegations Made by Receiver of Nevada Concern Astound That State.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 Carson City, July 21.—The entire state is aroused today over a report made by Receiver Wilder of the defunct State Bank & Trust company, in which T. B. Riskey, president of the defunct bank, and others formerly prominent in the state are charged with deliberate fraud to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars. "The people are today urging that the cases against these men, who were indicted several weeks ago, be pushed with renewed vigor."

The report charges that Riskey was aided by the directors of the bank, intentionally or otherwise, in the fraud. Receiver Wilder charges that President Riskey and other officials of the bank carried large blocks of mining stock in consideration of loans made to them out of the funds of the bank.

One of the causes of the wrecking of the bank, says the report, is an overdraft of $287,000 by the Sullivan Trust company.

In discussing the method by which the alleged frauds were kept secret, Wilder charges that the officers of the bank carried large accounts in their own names to cover up the losses. While the bank was really losing money, Wilder says, losses were made to appear on the books as profits, and dividends were declared.

QUERY: WHEN IS A DIRECTOIRE?

Army Society at Presidio Discusses Gown's Chief Feature.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 San Francisco, July 21.—How long must the silt at the side of a woman's gown be so that the garment may be classed as a directoire? This is the all-absorbing topic of discussion among the smart matrons of the army set today. Mrs. P. W. Beck, wife of Lieutenant Beck at the Presidio, one of the higher set, says the silt must extend to the knee at least, and that the gown she wore to a recent ball at the army post cannot therefore be classed as a directoire.

But the other army matrons take a different view, and this is why there is so much gossip over the teacups at Presidio heights.

Mrs. Beck said today that she went home from the ball early because her husband was ill, and that criticism of her gown and nothing to do with her early departure.

She indignantly denied that she had been called into aid to close the "little silt" before the ball was over.

FALLS 125 FEET BUT WILL LIVE

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 San Francisco, July 21.—Doctors at the German hospital here say now that little Charles Honigbaum, the 4-year-old son of Lewis H. Honigbaum, who Sunday night fell 125 feet over a cliff, will live.

The little fellow fell over the edge of an abandoned quarry and his mother, fearing he had met instant death, became frantic and had to be placed under the care of a physician. The little fellow had one leg broken, his hip crushed and his head wounded, but doctors say he will live, as his bones are soft enough to easily knit together.

GUN-MAN'S CASE INTERESTS SALEM

Youthful Admirer of Mrs. Emma Reece on Trial for Shooting.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)
 Salem, Or., July 21.—Great interest is being taken here in the trial of Ben Stanton for assault with intent to kill. The alleged assault was committed about two months ago on Councilman J. F. Goode, who was trying to protect his family from the drink-crazed youth Ben Stanton went to Goode's home and demanded to see a niece, Mrs. Emma Reece, who lives in Heppner, but who was visiting in Salem at the time. The councilman went to the phone to summon the police and was shot three times by Stanton.

The shooting occurred in the vestibule of the O. A. R. hall about 10 o'clock in the evening, where was situated the telephone booth. A meeting in the hall at the time and the people there were thrown into a panic when the three shots rang out.

The aged man was found lying in a pool of blood. He was shot through both cheeks and there were also two slight wounds on other parts of his body. Stanton was taken into custody early the next morning at the home of his brother.

The trial began yesterday afternoon before Circuit Judge Burnett and is being continued today before a large crowd of interested spectators. Young Stanton and Mrs. Reece grew up together in Salem. It is said he would not allow her to live with another. She since was married to Mr. Reece and that is supposed to have aroused the jealousy of Stanton.
