Two years ago, when Gearhart Park was platted, we sold lots from $50 to $100. Some of the same lots have been resold from $100 to $500, proving the good investment. With all modern improvements which we promised two years ago and fulfilled, we can safely state that prices you will pay for a lot today will double in a short time. We sell you a lot today on easy terms from $100 to $500 in one of the most favorite spots in Oregon, and if you build, where you can enjoy the ocean breezes, meadows, park-like woods, besides living in a cottage with all modern improvements. We invite you to our office, 203 Corbett Building, to show you our plat and photographic views of Gearhart Park and to tell you of our inducement to buyers of Gearhart Park lots.

LAST RITES SAID FOR LATE REV. WRIGHT

Funeral Services Conducted This Morning Over Remains of Pastor.

Funeral services in memory of the late Rev. Williamson Swift Wright, one of the well known Presbyterian ministers of the city, were held this morning at 10 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church. Dr. A. J. Montgomery, Dr. H. W. Foulkes and Dr. E. M. Sharp conducted the services. In the death of Dr. Wright Portland loses one of its most earnest and best known church workers and citizens. For 17 years he has been an active worker in the upbuilding of the city, especially of the Sellwood district, where he made his home. He was called to take charge of the Sellwood Presbyterian church 17 years ago and until recently filled the pulpit there. He was also moderator of the presbytery for one year. Dr. Wright comes of a family of preachers, his ancestors having been active in church and missionary work from the early days of the United States. He was a lineal descendant of the apostle to the Indians, John Eliot, who lived between the years 1641 and 1690 and was sent out by the colonies

HEARST FOLLOWERS LEAVE FOR CHICAGO

Eighteen Independence league hostess, representing the Oregon and Washington delegations to the national convention to be held in Chicago, will leave tonight at 6 o'clock in a special car for the convention city. Of the number Washington is represented by 19 men, while the Oregon delegation is composed of eight delegates. The Washington delegation will reach the city at 4 o'clock this afternoon from Seattle, and will be taken to dinner at Watson's restaurant. As soon as the dinner is over the delegation will return to their car, where they will be joined by the members of the Oregon delegation. The two delegations will travel in the same car as far as Salt Lake, where they will be joined by the California and Idaho delegations, and all will go together from there to Chicago. The tickets and Pullman accommodations have been furnished to the delegation by the national committee of the Independence league, of which William Randolph Hearst is chairman, and are good for 90 days. The majority of the Oregon delegates will spend the greater part of the time allowed in visiting some of the larger eastern cities before returning to their homes.

PORTLAND ELKS GO TO HELP BRAND CENTRALIA FAWNS

A band of 20 Elks headed by Chief Gus C. Moser will leave Portland Saturday morning for Centralia to take part in the dedication of the new Elks hall and club rooms there. The committee in charge of the local herd who will trek to Centralia are Gus C. Moser, H. P. Griffin and H. C. McAllister. The programs sent over to Portland by the Washington Elks say that the lodge has the finest quarters in the state and that the membership has increased from 85, when it was first instituted less than a year ago, to 221. A universal invitation to all Elksdom is extended to attend the exercises there. Each visitor will be provided with a cake of ice and a fan and will be afforded rare opportunity of branding some 20 fawns which will be led to the Centralia Elk corral for initiation. "Satisfaction guaranteed or your time refunded," is the epigrammatic announcement on page two of the program. Among the features promised are a grand parade of 77 Elks, a banquet with much feast and little talk and the pleasure of participating in a hospital service for crippled Elks Sunday morning. The resolution is a reaffirmation of past declarations of the federation and was introduced in response to a radical resolution offered by the opponents of Moser and the present officers.

INDUSTRIAL UNIONISM INDORSED BY W. F. M.
United Press (Special Wire).
Denver, July 22.—At yesterday's session of the Western Federation of Miners the tie was passed freely between delegates J. C. Lowrey and Angus McLeod, leaders in an acrimonious debate which started over the discussion of differences in the Butte, Mont., local unions concerning the machinists' strike there. It wound up with each calling the other a liar on the floor of the convention. The convention adopted the following resolution: "We, the Western Federation of Miners, in convention assembled, reaffirm our allegiance to the principles of in-

PARK BOARD PLAYS WITH FIRE AND WATER

Argue Futilely for 10 Minutes Over Insurance and Sprinkling.
Only two questions occupied the time of the park board yesterday and action was taken on but one of these. One was in regard to insuring the buildings controlled by the park department and the other was in respect to sprinkling the lawns. After debating the risks of fire, the members decided to insure all the buildings, including the forestry building, the park lodge and the freethat. Mayor Lane was opposed to putting money into insurance premiums and said that the risks of fire at the forestry building and the baths were very small and that he considered the money spent for insurance as a waste of money. Mayor Lane also opposed sprinkling lawns twice every day and said that it worked no special benefit to the lawn. He contended for sprinkling but once every other day and was supported by Parkkeeper Michael J. Lane, a member of the board, took the opposite view and the three debated the question for about 10 minutes without coming to an agreement.
