WAR AGAINST MONOPOLY WILL BE RESUMED

"FIGHT JUST BEGUN" SAYS PROSECUTOR SIMS

Attorney General Bonaparte Orders Further Prosecution of Standard Oil Monopoly—Big Advance in Stock Follows News of John D.'s Victory.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Chicago, July 23.—United States District Attorney Sims today gave out the following announcement: "The government will file a petition for a rehearing in the Standard Oil case before the circuit court of appeals within 30 days. If that petition is denied, the government will push the prosecution of all the cases against the Standard Oil company. The fight has just begun."

It is supposed that Sims received his instructions from Attorney General Bonaparte, as he announced yesterday that he could make no statement until he had conferred with Bonaparte. The first new cases to be taken up will be those in Tennessee. The trials will be held at Jackson, in that state, November 5. These cases involve 1,500 counts and will be prosecuted by Special Counsel James H. Wilkerson. The action will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible.

Attorney General Bonaparte today wired District Attorney Sims as follows: "I feel that you and your assistants have done everything possible to protect the interests of the government and promote justice. I will write to you fully on the subject as soon as the opinion comes to hand."

COURT OF APPEALS IGNORED VITAL FACTS

San Francisco, July 23.—The Call this morning expresses the opinion that the United States circuit court of appeals took too narrow a view of its responsibility to the people when it reversed Judge Landis' fine in the Standard Oil case. It says: "The United States circuit court of appeals has disappointed expectation by reversing the judgment of Judge Landis imposing a fine of $25,240,000 on the Standard Oil company of Indiana. It is a narrow and purely technical point, and ignores altogether the law of agency that makes a principal responsible for the act of his agent. This is not a criminal case in the ordinary sense whose responsibility might not attach to a principal, but rather an assessment of damages against the parent company. If it be regarded strictly in the light of a criminal prosecution, then the oil trust was assuredly an accessory before the crime."

The Chronicle's comment is brief. It says: "The opinion was freely expressed some time ago that Judge Landis had made a blunder in piling up the amount, and it is sustained by the decision, which holds that he erred in determining the number of offenses by the number of carload lots, instead of by the number of transactions." The Hearst paper is silent on the decision.

STANDARD OIL STOCK SCORES BIG ADVANCE

New York, July 23.—Stockholders of Standard Oil company and John D. Rockefeller in particular have good grounds for elation in the reversal of Judge Landis' decision. "Today each and every stockholder of the big New Jersey corporation is richer by $25 a share than before the decision of yesterday. Yesterday the oil stock was quoted on the curb at $84.0 a share but today the price jumped to $62 a share but none was offered under $60.0 or within $20 a share of the highest price the stock ever brought. That was in 1906. It is during the financial depression Standard Oil stock was hard hit. It dropped to $20 a share from its high point in 1906, of $310 a share. Its advance from the low point means $272 a share additional to shareholders."

WORDS OF PEACE TO BRITAINIA

Vice-President Fairbanks As Representative of United States, Addresses Prince of Wales at Quebec Celebration.

Points to a Boundary Line With No Fort on Land Nor Ship on Lake or Stream, and Prays It May Be Ever Thus.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Quebec, July 23.—Vice-President Charles Warren Fairbanks today delivered an address of good will and neighborly friendship from the United States, to Prince George Frederick of Wales, heir apparent to the throne of Great Britain, at the tercentenary celebration exercises before the Champlain monument. He spoke in part as follows: "Your royal highness, it is with unusual pleasure that I bring the greetings of the president and the people of the United States, who rejoice with you in the wonderful progress made by the Dominion of Canada."

"We cordially believe that the United States and Canada each is destined to play a large and worthy part in the western continent. We have no rivalry except in ways of peace. Neither covets the other's territories. "We covet only each other's neighborly esteem. There are no fortifications on our frontier. There are no battleships on the waters dividing us. We believe and fervently hope that there will never be need of any defensive preparation between us. May we not, on this theatre of past conflicts, surrounded now by the impressive monuments of peace, venture to hope for a widespread movement seeking to bring the maintenance of peace among the nations. May we not venture to hope that at no distant day it will become prominent as part of the fixed policies of nations to advocate measures for the maintenance of international tranquility and to resist any attempt without any evidence of decay in the courageous manhood of the nations but with proclamations of the great truth that modern civilization is not a failure."

"We have no reason to fear that the relations between the United States and Great Britain will ever be disturbed. "I beg to thank your royal highness for the gracious welcome and hospitable reception you have tendered to me as the representative of the United States. I wish your country and your people the continuance of the blessings of peace, progress and prosperity."

The prince of Wales was cheered by many thousands today as, surrounded by a escort of the Northwest Mounted Police, he drove from the citadel, where his quarters are, to return the visits of the officers of the British, French and American warships.

Field Marshal Lord Roberts was given a great ovation when he was recognized by the crowds. The visits to the warships took up the prince's time until luncheon.

The second and third sections combined were won by Ray Ewry of America, who jumped five feet one inch, which is three and one fourth inches under his Olympic record. Holmes of America, who jumped five feet, won first place in the fourth, fifth and sixth sections which were combined in the standing high jump. Irons of America and Mallwitz of Germany tied at four feet nine inches for second place.

Kerr of Canada fulfilled the predictions of his friends by winning first place in the final heat of the 200-meter race. His time being 32 2-5 seconds. Toughen of America took second place and Cartmill of America finished third.

Ray Ewry added another five points to the American score today by winning first place in the standing high jump in which he made a leap of five feet two inches. J. A. Biller of America and Taciliras of Greece tied for second place, both making a mark of five feet one inch. Holmes of America, who jumped five feet in this event, was given a certificate of credit.

FRANK EVANS FULL OF OLD BOB'S BLOOD

Honolulu Sends It Out That He Struck Lieutenant Commander J. F. Carter, His Superior Officer, in Personal Altercation.

Lands at First Swing, Almost Knocking Carter Down—Officers Interfere—Court Martial the Natural Sequence.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Honolulu, July 23.—The principal topic of conversation today is a story to the effect that Lieutenant Frank T. Evans, son of Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, struck Lieutenant-Commander J. F. Carter of the battleship Georgia in the face in an altercation on board the battleship Tuesday night. It is stated that a court-martial will follow. Every effort was made to keep the story quiet, but it became known last evening just before the departure of the fleet. It was stated by the sailors who witnessed the affair that Evans had the better of the encounter and would have injured his opponent seriously had not other officers interfered and separated the two men.

The incident happened just after Carter had gone aboard his ship after appearing in court to answer to the charge of attacking E. B. Moore, a Honolulu newspaper man. It is thought the quarrel between Evans and his superior officer had something to do with the incident.

The two men talked a little while and then Evans, who was known to be a stinging blow in the face, almost knocking him down.

NO MORE NOODLE JOINTS--COTTEL

Chairman of Liquor License Committee Gives Ultimatum on Restaurants.

Councilman Cattel, chairman of the liquor license committee of the city council delivered an ultimatum this morning to the effect that no more licenses would be issued to restaurants so long as they do not appear in the present form and intend to show a desire that they really want the restaurant equipped to furnish liquor to its patrons.

Cattel was warm around the collar this morning in regard to the fight that took place in the council yesterday on the various liquor questions and said that he, for one, was tired of the present methods and intended to see that they were not used in the future if he could prevent it.

"No more of these noodle joints," declared the councilman, "shall have liquor licenses if I can prevent it. I have voted for the last one unless the people show a desire that they really want it. There has been so much squabbling about these places, so many complaints and so many times they have made life a burden and I am not going to stand for it any longer."

"When a man comes in and asks for a liquor license to sell beer and whiskey in his restaurant he will have to show me, for months we have been wrangling over these propositions and I am going to do my utmost to pass the ordinance that was referred back to the liquor license committee."

WOMEN RESCUE DROWNING MEN

Two Go to Save One and Then the Women Get the Three Ashore.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Sausalito, Cal., July 23.—The bravery of Mrs. H. Beauregard and Mrs. Julius Gabel of San Francisco is the main topic of conversation in Sausalito today since their daring rescue from drowning of three men who were adrift in small boats off shore here yesterday.

S. Jacobson, M. Morrison and G. Takashi, a Japanese, were the three men saved by the plucky women. The Japanese, who is employed in Morrison and Jacobson's household, started for a row in a small boat on Richardson's bay. A heavy wind lashed the bay with such fury that the cook lost control of his boat and called for help. Securing another rowboat, Morrison and Jacobson started to the rescue. The gale had attained such fury by that time that they were unable to make any headway against it and attempting to reach shore they discovered that they were being swept to sea.

Hearing the shouts of the frightened men, Mrs. Beauregard and Mrs. Gabel boarded a gasoline launch and, with the latter at the wheel, picked up the half-drowned men. The rescue was made just in time to prevent a tragedy. As the launch reached the rowboats they were rapidly filling with water.

Elder, at Echo, at 9:45 o'clock this morning. Storrie had been going with the Kennison girl since July 4. Entering the room where the girl and an 8-year-old neighbor girl were this morning, he shot her in the mouth, the ball from the 25-calibre revolver passing entirely through her head and out the whole screen. She was killed instantly. Storrie then ran out of the house, threw the pistol in a raking chair in the yard and ran over the hills north of Echo, armed with an automatic pistol, to defend himself. He was seen to leave the Elder house on the run and a posse was instantly formed which is now in search and expects a capture before night. The entire community is shocked. The girl was highly respected. She graduated from Echo high school last spring. She had been working for the Kennison step-father for some time. He is 34 years of age.
