LIVELY GYNX IS AFTER BEAVERS

Oakland Wins Second Game by Hitting Garrett in Timely Fashion.

By R. A. C. A gynx sat in the grandstand. Three full sheets in the breeze. And jollied our own home rosters. Now wouldn't that make you seasick?

It used to be that a gynx was an omnipresent wealth of unseemly qualities, but in Portland it is in the quick. Two days ago there appeared in Vaughn park grandstand a stranger. Whether it came or with whom, is uncertain. There is a suspicion "Pop" Van Haltron brought it north from Oakland. Others hold it blew in with the last high wind and has just located the bull park. Anyhow it's here, and its unseemly, demagogic, even satirical "A-h-a-a" has sent the chills scrambling up our spines.

But whether the gynx is responsible or not, the Beavers have been getting the big profit from the Greek willeto. Two games to the tailenders is bad business. Little Joss Garrett was off color in the last high wind and teammates failed to wield the big stick behind him as they should. "Slim" Nelson, the state leaguer, who was being ginned to be hooked upon as a josh among the conators retrieved himself yesterday. The attenuated snoutpaw, who has been baited out every time he started, found things congenial and kept the home guard down to five scattered bingles.

Portland's lone tally came in the third inning. Cooney was poked in the fifth vertebra. Ryan moved him to second on the clever sacrifice and Phillip sprinted homeward when Tom Hartney drove the ball into right for three bags. Tom, however, died at Hogans habitant when Ote Johnson fell victim to three elusive slants from the Nelson smooth bore.

Table with columns: AB, R, H, PO, A, E. Rows for Cooney, Ryan, Hartney, Hogan, Dunlap, McCredie, Hassey, Williams, Garrett.

CROWNING EVENT IS COMING TOMORROW

Famous Marathon Race Virtually Closes London's Olympic Games.

London, July 23.—The Olympic games will be virtually concluded tomorrow with the Marathon race. So far as the general public is concerned this is the most attractive event of the entire program and, as might be expected, the interest manifested in the race is of the keenest sort. The race will start at the royal borough of Windsor and finish with a circuit of the running track in the stadium at Shepherd's Bush. The distance is 26 miles. While the course is generally satisfactory it is not expected that any record-breaking time will be made. It is in good condition and arrangements have been made to keep it clear of traffic, especially near the finish, where enormous crowds are expected to congregate. About 60 of the long-winded runners are expected to make the start. The large field and the further fact that the entrants represent various countries and have never before met in competition, makes it almost absurd to venture a prediction of the result of the great contest. So far as the London press is concerned no two critics seem to agree on the probable winner. Some are of the opinion that Great Britain is certain to capture the coveted trophy, while others are equally sure that the entrants represent various countries and have never before met in competition, makes it almost absurd to venture a prediction of the result of the great contest.

America does not seem to be much of a favorite as far as the Marathon race is concerned, though the chances of Canada in the long-distance event have received some attention. Among the masses of the public, however, the general idea that the race will go to a runner wearing the colors of some continental country, probably Greece, though there does not appear to be any better reason than pure sentiment for making Greece the favorite.

NORTHWESTERN LEAGUE

Butte 2; Spokane 1. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Spokane, Wash., July 23.—Killey developed a streak of wildness in the first of the ninth inning here yesterday and allowed Butte to score the winning run of the game. Outside of this inning both pitchers were in beautiful form. The score:

Aberdeen 6; Seattle 0. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Aberdeen, Wash., July 23.—It was all Starkell in yesterday's game here, for he had the Siwashers baffled from start to finish. Heinrich did fairly well for Seattle but Brunstine could not stop the locals when they got on bases.

Vancouver 4; Tacoma 3. Vancouver, B. C., July 23.—Vancouver won from the Tigers yesterday by the score of 4 to 3. Both teams played good ball and better work on the bases won for the Beavers.

This Date in Sport Annals. 1843—At Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Joshua Ward defeated James Hamilton in sculling match for championship and $1,000. 1865—At Lake Quinsigamond, Mass. MADMAN SCARES NEW YORK SCOUT

Phil Cooney Puts Up Job and Visitors Run for Their Lives.

Max Stein, the scout for the New York Americans, who watched the Portland-Los Angeles game all last week, and who left for California Tuesday night was the victim of one of the greatest jokes ever perpetrated by a bunch of ball players. Incidentally, Thorsen of the Angel team had a scare thrown into him that he will long remember.

It happened this way. Max and several members of the Angel team were regaled with stories of the wonderful steel cages in the county jail and advised to see them. Marquis Bassey and Tom Raftery consented to guide the cautious Angels toward the county bastille. Sheriff Tom Stevens, an ardent fan and admirer of the team, stood for the skilful examination showed them Bassey and Raftery fed the visitors with stories of a violent insane patient in one of the wards awaiting removal to Salem.

The gullest scout and the Angels were led through the corridors. A stop was made before one of the cells. A raving maniac howled and danced within. He was pointed at fearfully as the one dangerous lunatic confined in the jail. The New Yorker gazed curiously. The inmate hurled himself in a frenzy at the bars of the cell. Extending one leg he thrust through the madman tried to grasp the scout, who ducked backward. Then, to the horror of the whole party, the madman, strange to say, seemed to have been unlocked.

"Get out of the way," yelled somebody, and the madman sprang from the corridor toward a nearby door. Thorsen tried to beat him to the aperture, and they both wedged in at the same time. Yelling demagogically the lunatic approached. The victims struggled fiercely. Thorsen got away and jumped the fence, the desperado fired continuously. A pair of cold, clammy hands grasped Stein's throat, while a fierce voice yelled in his ear: "Don't you know me, Max? I'm Cooney." The little Yiddisher in his fantastic garb and hideous painted face was enough to scare anybody.

Scout Stein made his way quietly into Portland and Los Angeles. He was much impressed with Johnson's playing and thinks that Ote could make good if he were given a chance to work regularly in any one position. He likes the Viking's underhand throw. The players who bayer not been connected with big league managers, Stein likes Oakes, the Angel centerfielder, and he would recommend him to the New York management. He wants a couple of pitchers more than anything else.

Pop Van Haltron is certainly clouting the ball these days, and when one takes into consideration the age of the Oakland pitcher, it is not surprising that his eyes wider than they were last week. He rattled well in the south, but in the two games he has pitched, the Oakland one has made six safe hits out of nine times up. Three were off Garrett, too.

It transpires that Danny Long paid Portland's Fred Book the Bloomington outfielder, and the Bloomington manager has given out that he is not another Henderson. Heck will make his first appearance in the city of Portland on Monday at Mober at this place. This moon that Curtis is to be benched, but not parted with, however, what Danny says about the new fielder.

Heck is a six-footer, bats left-handed and has been hitting .300 in that league. In the same league he hit only .240 last year and Carlisle .296. It is a tough league to hit in, for they are good as good as pitchers. Leonon Wright, who has been with Bloomington three seasons, I think I have picked up a dandy hitter.

The Oakland club signed another pitcher, Secretary McFarland has announced the release of Christian, who had been bought from the Gascon club of the Texas league. Last year Christian won 52 of his games and his team he has been pitching winning ball at Galveston. He is right-handed, and Sutor, who pitched under him last year, recommended him highly to Oakland. Christian will arrive in time to pitch for Oakland next week.

Miller, the new Greek shortstop, is not an impressive fielder. So far he has had one or two terrific chances. He let an easy grounder slip through his hands yesterday and appeared awkward in going after the other. He threw a ball with a distinction of throwing three men out at the bat Tuesday he got three hits, including a homer and two baggers. Yesterday he hit once for three bags.

Michigan Golf Starts. (United Press Leased Wire.) Detroit, Mich., July 23.—With the golfing talent of Michigan represented by the state champion, the tournament had an auspicious opening today at the Detroit club. A number of prominent golfers from other states and from abroad are expected to be here also and are taking part in the tournament, which is to last three days.

Mount Scott Protest Dies. (Salem Bureau of The Journal.) Salem, Or., July 23.—Complaint of the Mount Scott Improvement association brought against the Portland Railway, Light & Power company because of the alleged poor service in the Mount Scott district maintained by the Portland street railway company, has been dismissed by the railroad commission because of lack of prosecution on the part of the suburban push club.

Yanhill Tax Case TO SUPREME COURT. (Salem Bureau of The Journal.) Salem, Or., July 23.—Transcripts on appeal in the Yanhill county tax case have been filed in the office of the clerk of the supreme court and it is expected that the case will be set for hearing immediately on account of its important bearing. The case is one that was brought by the county of Yanhill to enjoin its treasurer from paying more taxes to the state treasurer than would be determined by the proportionate distribution of assessed values in the different counties. The case was tried in the lower court before Judge Galloway and Yanhill county won. The constitution provides that each county shall pay taxes proportionately determined by the assessed value of property in the different counties. The legislature has enacted a law, however, which has been in use for some time, by general consent, that computes the proportion of taxation on the expenses of the counties, instead of on the assessed value of property in the counties. The former system was adopted because it encouraged higher assessed valuations and put the burden on the most prosperous counties and those therefore most able to pay.

FALLS SNAPPING AN EMPTY GUN

Desperado Pierced With 20 Bullets—Hunt for His Two Companions.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Boston, July 23.—With one desperado dead, his body riddled with bullets from a posse, an innocent man captured after being surrounded and barely escaping a similar fate, the search of 300 police for two others engaged in the terrorizing of citizens last night, when the slain man was killed and wounded, continues today attended with the greatest excitement.

The man-hunters surrounded two men in Forest Hill cemetery during the night and waited for dawn. When daylight broke they closed in. The leaders gave the police orders to shoot on sight, as it was believed the men could not be taken alive. One of the hunted men, much larger than the other, sprang from behind a tree and darted toward the forest, snapping an empty revolver at the officers. A cursory examination showed he had not gone more than 300 yards before he was hemmed in. He fell under a general fire from his pursuers. A cursory examination showed that he was struck by at least 20 bullets.

Innocent Man Released. The smaller man, supposed to be the companion of the big desperado, was found a little later. He surrendered without any attempt at violence. The officers leading the pursuit had great difficulty in preventing the men from shooting him down. When the police station was reached the men told the police that he was not a member of the gang but a spectator. He had been separated from the crowd in the assault and concealed himself, fearing that in the darkness he would be shot either by the police or by the bandits. He was released.

Three Shot Up the Town. After the saloon robbery it is thought the men hid in Calvary cemetery and departed last night. They were emboldened by the advance of night, they proceeded forth to shoot up the town. They appeared together in the streets of Jamaica Plains and began shooting right and left. A mob soon formed and gave chase. As they ran the desperado fired continuously. Mrs. Fallon was shot as she stood in her doorway, with a baby in her arms, and her condition today is critical. Most of whom received bullets in their legs and arms, are doing well.

When the police night watchman at Forest Hill cemetery, died from an injury similar to that sustained by McMahon. The police have little knowledge of the men except that they appeared to be Italians. It is thought they started out on a wild rampage while drunk, and being convinced they would be executed if captured, decided to go to the limit of desperation. The desperado who accompanied the big man into the cemetery are thought to be still in hiding and if found they probably will suffer a similar fate.

CAME HOME WITH ARM-BREAK JAG

Wife of Wealthy San Jose Clubman Charges Incredible Brutality.

(United Press Leased Wire.) San Jose, Cal., July 23.—Accused of brutally beating his wife, breaking her arm and then tearing bandages from it, Hugh O'Neill, manager of the Monarch and Excelsior oil plants and wealthy clubman of this city, occupies a cell at the county jail today.

He has given up an attempt to secure his freedom under bail, on discovering that his wife's attorney intends to have him arrested on a new charge when he is released. Mrs. O'Neill has filed suit for divorce.

O'Neill's assault on his wife is described in her complaint for divorce. She declares that her husband arrived at home in an intoxicated condition about 6 o'clock Saturday evening and knocked her down, breaking her arm. An hour later men from the Monarch oil works, across the street, summoned a physician. At 10 o'clock that evening, she alleges, O'Neill returned home, and knocking her down the second time, stripped the bandages from her arm.

Neighbors hearing the woman's screams rushed to her assistance and the police were summoned. O'Neill was arrested and sent to jail. He was released on bail yesterday, but re-arrested on a new charge a few hours later. Today he decided to abandon his attempt to gain his liberty in that way when he was notified that he would be arrested every time he was released.

S.S.S. MAKES A LASTING CURE. There are certain mineral medicines which will remove the external symptoms of Contagious Blood Poison, and shut the disease up in the system for awhile, but when the treatment is left off the disease will surely return. Then the loathsome symptoms of ulcerated mouth and throat, copper-colored spots, falling hair, sores and ulcers, etc., are usually worse because the disease has made rapid progress on the internal members, and weakened the constitution and general health of the sufferer. S. S. S. is the only remedy that can be used with perfect safety in the treatment of Contagious Blood Poison, and with the assurance that a lasting cure will result. This medicine, made entirely of roots and herbs of recognized curative and tonic value, antidotes and destroys the powerful virus of the disease, and by purifying the blood of every particle of the poison and enriching and strengthening the circulation, removes every symptom of the trouble. S. S. S. does not hide or cover up the disease in any way, but drives it entirely out from the blood, leaving not the slightest trace for future outbreaks.
