AROUND THE CORNERS AND SQUARES

By Jim Howe. Governor Chamberlain has no fear of a newspaper reporter and his notebook. Experienced interviewers make the claim that many great men in public life have no hesitancy in talking to a reporter as he would talk to any other man...

nothing new. She answered. It was the same old, old response--the same old, old story.

nothing new. She answered. It was the same old, old response--the same old, old story. Then the fog came in. They knew it not. Curd had both hearts in his grasp. Next day the dream was repeated.

Next winter the two will recollect the scenes of summer--and think what chumps they were. "If you must dance," said one short girl to another short girl the other day.

This is a story to illustrate what fools some dogs are. An east side man has a thoroughbred setter pup which he brought with him from the other day. Setters are always looking for a chance to point. The setter pup spied a picture of a goose in a display window in Morrison street and immediately began to point. Before the owner could break the spell the setter had to be brought up and carried away. Moral: Be sure to see the dog before you buy it--that even the thoroughbreds, sports or otherwise, are fooled sometimes.

The sun was setting--in the west. The two sat by the sea shore--in the sand. He held her hand--in his. It was glorious--the setting sun. Both said at once: "I could just do this forever. Both their thoughts were back in Portland. They were thinking of the time when they would have to come back to work when not on his vacation he sells shoes--in a shoe store. When not on an outing she sells ribbons--behind a ribbon counter.

Just the way she was washing the glasses--undulating like. Then he said something about love and being lonesome. And the real was all the same--

Best the World Affords. It gives me unbounded pleasure to recommend Bucklin's Arnica Emulsion. It is J. W. Jenkins of Chapel Hill, N. C. "I am convinced it is the best salve for the world affords. It cured a felon on my thumb and it never fails to heal every sore, burn or wound to which it is applied. 15c, at Skidmore Drug Co. drug store."

story that the Chinese acquired the habit of walking along the streets in single file in order to keep an eye on their wives. "Mayor" Chung says it is just as natural for Chinamen to go one after the other along the streets as it is for a dog to turn around four or five times before lying down.

Chung says all members of his race form this habit when children in their native land, where the streets of the cities are so narrow that they are compelled to go in single file to get along the walks.

So when the Chinese come to this country, or go to any other land, where the streets are wide, it makes no difference, and when they walk about in crowds they always go one after the other, in Indian fashion. The Indians acquired the habit on account of the narrow trails--the Chinese owing to the narrow streets in China.

Chung Jung says that Chinamen never have to watch their wives--says that those who have acquired the habit since coming to this country.

The Y. M. C. A. is conducting two meetings for men this afternoon. One will be in the association building, on Fourth and Yamhill streets, at 2:30 o'clock. The address will be given by H. J. Rines, an evangelist from New York. The subject is "Missing the Target."

Mr. Rines is in the west on his vacation hunting, fishing and having a good time. He believes that the Christian life is one of joy and happiness, and shows it by every word and act. It will be a rare treat to hear him.

J. C. Kilpack of this city will give a special solo entitled "May Our Walk Be a Blessing to God." The singing will be in the park on Felling street, between Williams and Union avenues, at 4 o'clock. A number of boxes have already been made to hold a meeting outdoors for men, and if it is well attended it will probably be continued through the month of August.

ENGAGING BOXES FOR HORSE SHOW. That the nation horse show is to be a big society affair is already being demonstrated by the number of boxes that have been ordered and the plans for entertaining which are being formulated in smart circles. President McLaughlin of the Hunt club states that a number of boxes have already been bought locally and that there are applications coming in from Seattle, Spokane and other points.

The Khedive as a Poet. From the London Globe. "This is not generally known that the khedive of Egypt is a poet of no mean order--in Arabic, of course. Those who have read his verses speak of them with enthusiasm. Abbas Hilmi's poetry is melodious, lofty in theme and full of allegory, as are most Arabian poems. In the course of a former visit to England the khedive sent the late Queen Victoria a magnificent bouquet with one of his poems. Here is a rough para-
