MEN WHO HEAD PROHIBITION TICKET

Both the presidential and vice-presidential nominees of the Prohibition party have long been political factors and strong advocates of prohibition. Eugene W. Chafin of Chicago was one of the two men on the Illinois primary ticket for governor. His nomination for the presidency of the United States leaves the nomination for governor to Daniel R. Sheen. Mr. Chafin lives at Edison Park. He is a practicing attorney and has been the Prohibition nominee for judge of the supreme court. His running mate, the Rev. Aaron S. Watkins of the Ohio Northern university at Ada, Ohio, ran for governor on the Prohibition ticket three years ago.

QUEEN MARIA IS MUCH LOVED

She Who Successfully Guided Destinies of Spain 50 Years of Age.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Madrid, July 25.—Queen Maria Christiana, who successfully guided the destinies of Spain during the 16 years between the death of her husband and the coming of age of her son, the present king, celebrated her fiftieth birthday this week. The love and esteem in which she is held by all classes was evidenced by the fact that the anniversary of her birth was kept as a general holiday.

Maria Christina is perhaps the happiest of all the royal widows in Europe. Her affection for her son and her daughter-in-law, as well as her patriotic devotion to the welfare of her adopted country, long ago won the hearts of the impulsive Spaniards, and in this fact, as well as in the constant performance of acts of charity and benevolence, she finds perfect contentment and enjoyment. The poor are especially attached to Maria Christina. They love her for her deeds of kindness among them.

From the time she came to Spain in 1879 as the bride of the disreputable Alfonso XII, the conduct of Maria Christina in all things has been worthy of any queen or woman. Gifted with great intelligence and uncommon tact, she escaped all political pitfalls and fulfilled the duties of her high position without partisanship. Aided by a sound judgment and a noble character she was able to discharge her royal duties as regent in a simple, honorable way that won the praise ow all Europe.

When she assumed the functions of queen regent the general impression in Europe was that Spain had again entered on an era of revolutionary agitation, but Europe was mistaken. There were some troubles in Madrid and military insurrection broke out at some points in the provinces, and, judging by the previous history of Spain, these might have caused the downfall of the monarchy, had not the queen regent been liberal as well as wise.

Maria Christina has one principal hobby, the collecting of playing cards. She possesses a large number of curious packs, many of which have no little historical interest. One set, made of ivory, is believed to have belonged to Prince Eugene, who fought with the great Duke of Marlborough, and to have accompanied him in all his campaigns. The collection also contains some exceedingly rare cards of Egyptian, Arabian, French and Spanish manufacture.

PUBLIC ANGRY OVER DECISION

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Chicago, July 25.—Denunciations of Judge Peter S. Grosscup, of the United States circuit court of appeals for his decision setting aside the $29,240,000 fine imposed upon the Standard Oil company of Indiana by Judge Landis have become so frequent in the mails that the postal officials have begun an investigation which may result in the punishment of some of the offenders.

Communications now in the hands of Inspector Stuart fairly sizzle with criticism, and impute to the court, particularly Judge Grosscup, ulterior motives in rendering the decision which was handed down last Tuesday.

It was decided that a thorough inspection of all mail addressed to Judge Grosscup be instituted, and the investigation uncovered several suspicious communications, which were turned over to Judge Grosscup's secretary to be opened.

More than 100,000 railway employes in England are working at a wage of less than $5 a week. Only about 11 per cent get more than $7.50 a week.

New and Speaking Likeness of an American Cardinal

(Copyright by Weldon Fawcett.)

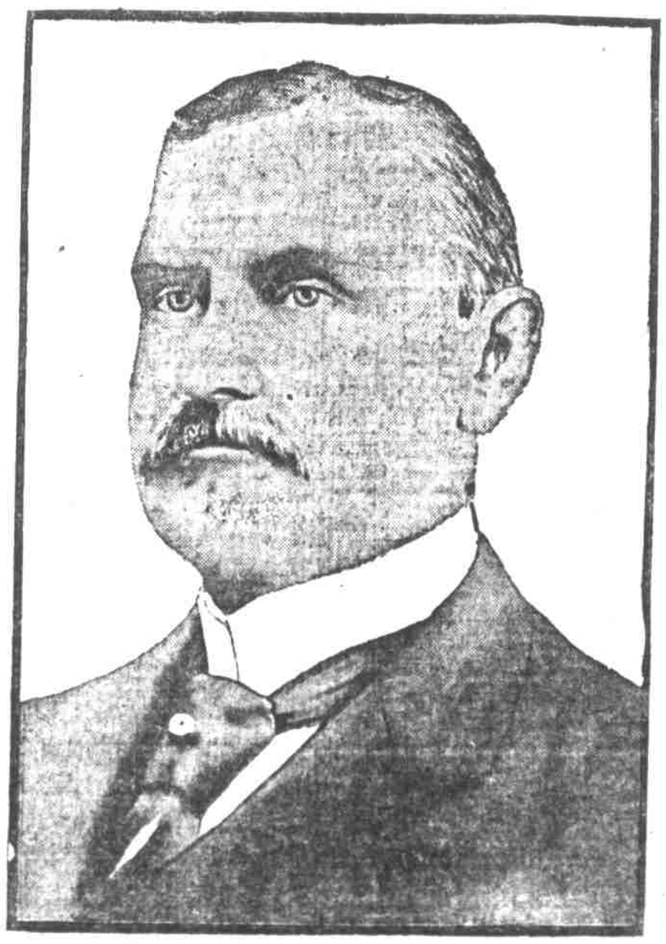
On Thursday, July 23, Cardinal Gibbons, the most beloved prince of the Catholic church, celebrated the seventy-fourth anniversary of his birth. Cardinal Gibbons is an American prelate was born in America and has a wholesome sense of American humor. In his seventy-fourth year the cardinal is still a young possessing wonderful energy. His keen interest in public affairs was again demonstrated when, as he was leaving New York to sail for Europe, he gave his opinion regarding politics and morality. He said: "There is no good politics without morality; there is no morality without religion and without religion there is no God." He said that none but Christians should hold office.

Cardinal Gibbons stated he would discuss with the pope the question of creating a new cardinal in the United States, but was uncertain as to whether it would be done. Cardinal Gibbons, it is said, will advocate the selection of a western prelate for the honor.

Cardinal Gibbons' business life in his spacious home in Baltimore is well systematized and his study appears more like a business office than the home of the head of the American church. Every morning he arises promptly at 6 o'clock and breakfasts after an hour's work in his study. His day is divided into many systematically arranged periods, devoting time to every department. After breakfast his mail, then a consultation with aides and people in need of his advice, and then a walk. After lunch an hour's conversation with a friend, usually on national topics.

In the afternoon he finishes up his business receives any callers that may come by appointment and takes another long walk, usually a mile or two in length. This walk the cardinal insists upon is his only means of exercise and recreation. He seldom receives callers in the evening and is very apt to be attending some banquet or gathering as the principal speaker, for Cardinal Gibbons is one of the most popular after-dinner speakers in America. The world, Protestant and Catholic alike, unite in wishing the cardinal a long life and continued usefulness.

RYAN, WALL STREET KING



Thomas F. Ryan, King of Wall Street.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

New York, July 25.—No more startling disclosure has been made to the financial world of recent times than came to light with the deposing of August Belmont from the control of the Interborough-Metropolitan Traction lines and the establishing of Thomas F. Ryan in his place. This means that Thomas F. Ryan absolutely controls practically all of the traction lines in New York city, including the subways, which were August Belmont's pet scheme, the elevated lines and the surface lines. He is king of the passenger traffic in this great metropolis. The system of high finance by which Ryan ousted August Belmont and his followers may never become public reading, but it is assured, however, that there is no greater master at high finance than Thomas F. Ryan. His methods do not include as varied an assortment of enterprises as J. P. Morgan, nor is he generally conceded the wonderful ability accredited to Morgan, but this securing control of the entire traction business in Greater New York establishes him more firmly as one of the great financiers. With the entrance of Ryan and his manager, Theodore Shonts, comes a radical eruption in the offices of the Interborough-Metropolitan company, which has already deposed Edward F. Bryan, president of the Interborough Rapid Transit company, who was given a check for $35,000, a year's salary, in advance, and informed that his services were no longer needed.

H. H. Vreeland, president of the Metropolitan Securities company and drawing $25,000 a year from the New York Railway company, and $15,000 from various surface lines, while others do his work under a receivership, is expected soon to resign. Theodore Shonts presides over the big merger of the Interborough Rapid Transit company.

Wall street says Ryan has been ably assisted in bringing about the elimination of Belmont by Paul Morton, who is paid $50,000 a year to run the Equitable Life Assurance company.

August Belmont is the man who financed the building of the subway as a favorite project, and it was declared that it is with no degree of joyfulness that he is forced, as a minority stockholder, out of his position.
