TWO NEW CRAFT ADDED TO LIST

Portland to Ship Enormous Quantity of Wheat This Season.

VESSELS HEAD FOR THIS PORT DAILY

Three Times as Many Vessels Are Heading for Portland as for the Puget Sound Ports Under Engagement to Carry Wheat to Europe.

Two more graincarriers have been added to the list of vessels en route to this port. They are the German barks Magdalene and Alexander Isenberg, the former of 2,686 tons net register and the latter registering 1,639 tons net.

The Magdalene left Newcastle, N. S. W., for Acapulco, June 29, with a cargo of coal and can hardly be here before late in the fall. She was in the river a few years ago and took wheat to Europe. She is one of the larger windjammers tramping about the world, her net register being considerably above the average.

The Alexander Isenberg will make her first visit here this fall. The Paul Isenberg of the same line has been here several times, however. The vessel is now on the way from Hamburg to Honolulu with general cargo.

It is also announced that possibly the French bark Ville de Havre will come here to carry wheat to Europe. Her charter calls for Portland loading with option of Tacoma. At first when the deal was closed it was understood that the bark would be sent to Puget sound, but it now develops that in all probability the cargo will be placed on board here.

That by far the largest bulk of the grain crop of the Pacific northwest will be shipped from Portland this season is already apparent from the lists of grain carriers en route for the respective ports. While vessels available for grain heading for Portland today represent 90,000 tons net register the combined Puget sound ports can show only 80,000 net tons, thus giving Portland two thirds greater prestige in the wheat shipping line over the combined competitors on the sound.

Despite the fact that crops are not as heavy as last year, Portland is expected to export a great deal more wheat this season than any time before. During the year closed with the end of last month there was set afloat about 16,000,000 bushels of wheat, including flour reduced to wheat, from Portland wharves, and it is estimated that during the season now about to begin in earnest the shipments will aggregate at least 25,000,000 bushels.

The first craft to take out the new crop of wheat will probably be the British steamer Braemount which was chartered a week ago yesterday by Kerr, Gifford & Co. to load for Italy. She is to begin loading on the 15th of next month and it is said to be doubtful in view of the backward season if there will be enough wheat at tidewater by that time to give the craft quick dispatch.

The British ship Crown of India, which was chartered several weeks ago to carry wheat to Europe, will not begin loading until September 15, although she is here now lying idle at Columbia dock No. 1.

With the arrival of the French bark Eugene Fautrel there are now three disengaged windjammers in the river, the other two being the British ships Leyland Brothers and Ilonia Francesca. The last named is at Astoria and the Leyland Brothers will go to the drydock next Tuesday for a general overhauling. She is at present at the O. W. P. dock.

INSPECT POWER BOATS.

Customs Officials Keep Close Tab on Small Pleasure Craft.

Half a dozen customs inspectors were out along the waterfront yesterday afternoon inspecting launches to see if they are properly equipped with lights and other paraphernalia in accordance with the rules of the government regulations.

A number of boats were found wanting and their owners were instructed to immediately comply with the rules or stand the chance of having the boats seized. Stricter inspection is being made this year than ever before and it will be made periodically so that indifferent owners will have no opportunity of failing to keep up the equipment.

CEMENT CARRIER ARRIVES.

French Bark Eugene Fautrell Makes Good Run From Antwerp.

After a fairly quick voyage, the French bark Eugene Fautrel reached the Columbia river yesterday afternoon from Antwerp via Hobart, Tasmania. She brings a full cargo of general merchandise and cement, consigned to Balfour, Guthrie & Co.

So far as known here the bark is still on the disengaged list for outward business. She has arrived at a time, however, when grain carriers are in demand and will therefore likely not remain disengaged very long after having discharged her inward cargo.

ALONG THE WATERFRONT.

The steamer Alliance, Captain Olson, sailed for Coos bay last night.

The steam schooner Washington, Captain Nason, went to Rainier last night to take on a deckload of lumber for San Francisco.

The steamer State of California, Captain Nopander, left for San Francisco yesterday morning with 300 passengers and a full cargo of freight.

The British ship Largiemore shifted to the North Pacific Lumber company's mill yesterday afternoon to begin loading lumber for South Africa.

The oriental liner Nicomedia leaves for Hongkong and way ports next Tuesday morning. George Hallett, a longshoreman, was injured yesterday while assisting in loading lumber. A piece struck him on the head and knocked him unconscious. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital.

The Ideal President.

(Inspired by a careful reading of Mr. Bryan's article on what sort of a man the president should be.)

Now listen and I'll tell to you
Just what a president should do.
I will describe with perfect taste
The way a president should act
And, too, I'll point out, by your leave,
Precisely what he should achieve.
And then I'll set down, one by one,
The things which he should leave undone.
Likewise I'll tell, and never shrink,
The sort of thoughts he ought to think.
I'd go still further and reveal
Just how a president should feel.
I'll let you know how he should talk
And write and breathe and eat and walk.
On all these things I'll briefly dwell,
For on the subject I've thought well.
The thing to me is very real,
And so I've built up my ideal
Of what a president should be—
But what's the use? Just look at me!
—N. A. J.

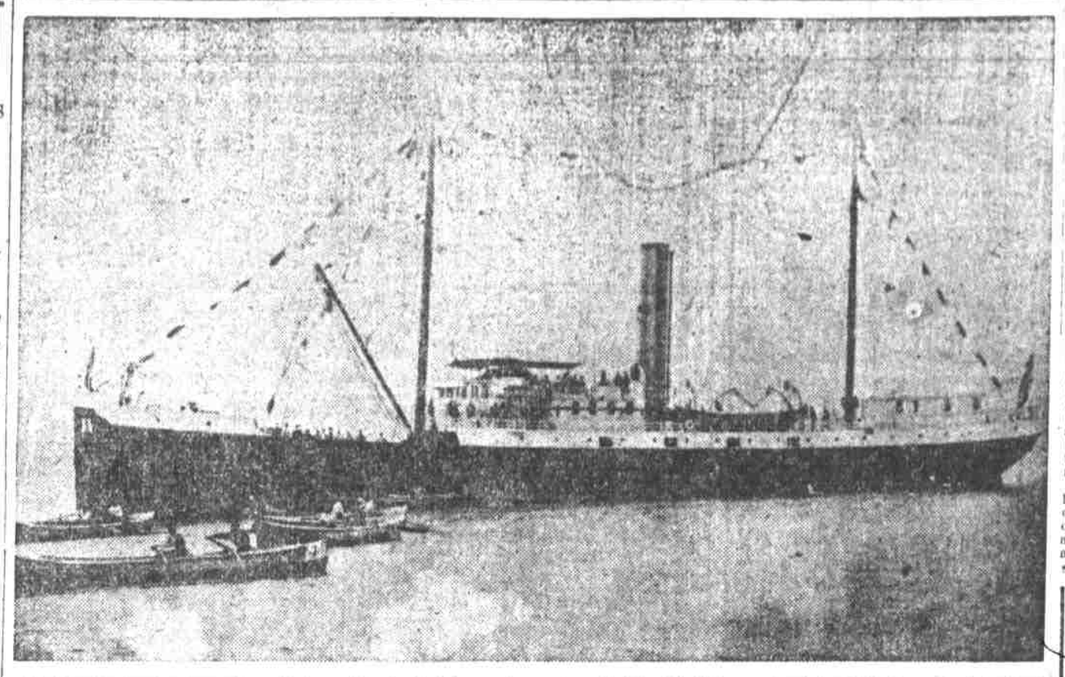
TENDER ARMERIA WHICH SAILS FOR ARCTIC



Lighthouse tender Armeria, which arrived yesterday at Astoria from Quartermaster Harbor, will carry Captain Pond, lighthouse inspector of this district, into the Arctic on his annual inspection of the coast line under his jurisdiction, which extends to the farthermost point of Alaska. Captain Pond will start about the first of August and expects to be gone two months. Captain Gregory is master of the Armeria.

$20,000 IN CASH PRIZES FOR LIVESTOCK EXHIBIT

Premiums for the livestock exhibits at the Pacific national meet which will take place in Portland the last week of September, aggregating $20,000 will be announced in detail by the Country club and Livestock association before the present week is over. This is the largest list of cash prizes, cups and trophies ever offered for any amusement, sporting, entertainment or other competitive celebration ever held in the northwest. For the past six weeks the various committees and superintendents in charge of the different divisions which will have place in the grand meet, have been in correspondence with other cities which have conducted similar expositions, and eastern expositions have been largely relied upon for advice and suggestions in the matter. Classifications as arranged by the local people have been approved by the men behind the international at Chicago and other livestock fairs and upon this basis the awards will be made.

There will be more than 100 classes and 500 subdivisions included in the eight main divisions in the livestock show in which there will be a series of firsts, seconds and thirds and special prizes offered.

Divisions for Premiums.

The divisions in which premium ratings are being made are as follows: A, horses; B, cattle; C, sheep; D, swine; E, poultry; F, pigeons; G, goats; H, special premiums.

These divisions are subdivided into classes so clearly drawn that the $20,000 in premiums will be divided among not under 2,000 winners, for in each division the greatest care has been taken to make the classifications broad enough to include every entry that would possibly be eligible to a prize.

In the horse division there will be the coachers, the draft horses, breeding stock and others, totalling 12 classes in all.

In the cattle division the premiums to be announced will cover beef and dairy and dual purpose stock, 14 classes all told.

There will be 16 classes of sheep shown, and six classes of swine.

The poultry show which will be an independent exposition, although held in connection with and under the auspices of the County club and Livestock association, will have its own premium lists prepared by officers of the State Poultry association, which has guaranteed an exhibition of at least 1,000 fowls and with cash prizes and premiums aggregating close to $500.

This show will be held in a huge tent inside the race track and will serve as a preliminary to the last midwinter show that will be held. At the last meeting of the directors of the Country club, the poultrymen agreed that if they were allowed to hold a poultry show in the fall in connection with the races and livestock show they would abandon after next January the regular annual shows and would make their expositions a permanent feature of the livestock meet in the fall.

Largest Ever Offered.

Other divisions are as carefully subdivided as any of those mentioned heretofore and in each division, class and subdivision the trophies offered are of a higher class and of greater value than any ever hung up in the northwest before.

By actual measurement the nine livestock barns which are now nearing completion out at the Country club tract will house a greater number of exhibits than any state fair or similar exposition in the west. And each of the nine structures is being built along the most approved modern lines, looking to the most economic caretaking of the entries, conveniences of feeding, watering and for display and exercising. Plans and specifications follow faithfully those of the buildings at Chicago and Toronto where the leading shows of the country are held.

In addition to the $20,000 premium list which will be hung up by the association, there will be scores of cups and other trophies donated by local mercantile and industrial establishments for the purpose of arousing greater interest in the livestock trade hereafter. There will be "specials" for the sweepstake, champions and grand champions in addition to the regular prize winners, both in cash and in trophies.

India Miner's Diamond Superstition.

From the New Orleans Times-Democrat.

"The diamond mines of India fail to pay mainly on account of a queer belief on the part of the native miners," said a jeweler.

"The miners believe that diamonds grow, sometimes slowly, sometimes quickly. Hence, if they dug over a piece of promising clay last year, like as not this year they give it another digging over, lest they miss some stones that have sprouted in the meantime.

"Thus half the labor is waste labor, and hence the diamond miners of India don't get on at all."

Woman Built a Bungalow.

From the Los Angeles Times.

A neat little bungalow located in the outskirts of Long Beach, built by a pretty little woman, is attracting attention. The builder is Mrs. Frank Nottingham, who is a prominent worker in the Y. W. C. A.

Miss Gertrude Gilbert, matron for the Y. W. C. A., wanted a home, owned a lot and had about $120 with which to erect a house. She knew this would be impossible if she were compelled to hire carpenters at $3 a day. Mrs. Nottingham talked the matter over with her and finally said she would undertake to build it and would not charge her a penny for her labor.

Though she had never built so much as a chicken house before, the plucky woman was confident. Armed with a rusty saw, hatchet, plane and level, she started to work. She devoted exactly 100 hours to the undertaking, and a short time ago turned the house over to its owner. The bungalow is 18 by 20 feet in dimensions and contains seven windows and two doors. Mrs. Nottingham had no assistance, placing the big heavy rafters alone and performing feats a carpenter would shun.

"My mother was handy with a hammer," said Mrs. Nottingham, "but other than this I cannot explain my ability to drive a nail."

Women of Paraguay.

From the Boston Transcript.

Paraguay is rich in local color. The picturesque character of the native population with their quaint Indian features and habits of everyday life are interesting to anybody fond of observing strange phases of human life. By nature these people are patient and gentle, seldom complaining, chattering and laughing from sunrise to sunset and taking small thought of what the morrow may have in store for them.

It is hard to imagine how Lopez could have drilled them into fighting material of strength enough to keep in check the combined forces of Argentina, Brazil and Uruguay for five long weary years, and it speaks volumes for the indomitable energy of the man that he was able to sustain his position for so protracted a time.

Clothing is very much of a superfluity in Paraguay. The attire of the women is a cotton chemise with a long sheetlike shawl, or manta, passed over the head and around the body in Moorish fashion. The dress of the men is equally simple, consisting only of cotton shirt and trousers. Both sexes are guiltless of foot covering. At times an almost uncanny feeling rises when a group of these white robed, dark haired maidens pass suddenly with the silent tread of unshod feet.

Of a morning in the market places the women folk flock to sell their wares, carrying on their heads the baskets containing the few cents' worth of native produce they have been able to gather together for disposal in the towns. The soft Guarani language, the common tongue of the Paraguayans, adds further charm to the scene.

Big Pennsylvania Oak.

From the Philadelphia Record.

A monster rock oak tree was recently cut in Juniata township, Huntingdon county. Its dimensions were as follows after having been cut down and peeled: The circumference of the butt was 12 feet 7 inches, or a diameter of about 4 feet; the diameter at the end of the last log, or 62 feet from the butt, was 22 inches; no limbs were on the tree within 60 feet of the ground.

The logs were measured and the amount of lumber that can be made is 2,190 feet board measure, and 12 cross-ties can be made from the limbs. The bark will amount to from one and one-half to one and three-quarter cords.

MEN'S DISEASES

SCIENTIFIC TREATMENT
My success has come as a reward of ability and honest, earnest and scientific application of thorough understanding

ORIGINAL METHODS
I depend upon nobody's theories, but treat my patients in the light of my own knowledge and experience

$10 My Fee In Any Uncomplicated Disorder
Not a Dollar Need Be Paid Until Cured

There is not another physician or specialist anywhere who treats men's diseases as I treat them. This is a fact that should be duly considered by those who have repeatedly been disappointed in their efforts to obtain a cure. In no other branch of practice has medical science so lagged and the forms of treatment now commonly employed among the profession are largely based upon theories that have been handed down through generations of doctors. An evidence of this is the prevalent inability to successfully cope with several of those ailments peculiar to men.

MEN ONLY

DR. TAYLOR
The Leading Specialist.

I have learned Nature's laws applying to their cause and cure. Through this knowledge I have perfected forms of treatment wholly original and distinctive. Every requirement for a thorough cure is scientifically met, and as a result I am able to completely master cases commonly regarded as incurable. I especially invite those who have been long afflicted to consult me. My success in curing difficult cases has brought my marvelous growth of practice and made me the foremost specialist treating men's diseases.

All medicines are prepared in my own private laboratory and are absolutely fresh and pure.

My equipment for X-Ray work enables me to make a most thorough and scientific diagnosis.

"WEAKNESS"
I am confident that I have cured more cases of so-called "weakness" than any other physician. There may be doctors in the large eastern cities who have treated more cases than I, but they cling to the old and ineffective practice of dosing with tonics. "Weakness" is merely a symptom of local disorder that requires local treatment. This is a truth that I have discovered, and that has been fully established by my success in effecting permanent cures. My method is original with myself and is employed by no other physician.

FREE CONSULTATION
To judge my ability without personal consultation may be an injustice to yourself that will cost a lifetime of suffering. Consultation is free and confidential and you place yourself under no obligation to me whatever by coming to talk with me about your case.

VARICOCELE
Under my treatment the most aggravated cases of varicocele are cured in a few days' time. There is no pain, and it is seldom necessary that the patient be detained from his occupation. Normal circulation is at once restored throughout all the organs and their natural processes of waste and repair are again established. If you are afflicted with varicocele, consult me at once. Delay can but bring on aggravated conditions and nervous complications that will impair the vital functions and involve the general health.

No other physician employs a like treatment, and so thorough is my work that there need not be the slightest fear of a relapse into old conditions.

CONTRACTED DISORDERS
To but partially cure a contracted disease is almost as dangerous as to allow it to go untreated. Unless every particle of infection and inflammation is removed, the probability exists that the disease will gradually work its way into the general system. Still greater is the danger of the prostate gland becoming chronically inflamed, which always brings partial or complete loss of power. Perhaps twenty-five per cent of the cases of so-called "weakness" are a direct result of some improperly treated contracted disease. During the past five years I have treated thousands of cases of contracted disorders and have effected an absolutely thorough and safe cure in each instance. There have been no relapses or undesirable developments whatever, and my patients have been cured in less time than other and less thorough forms of treatment require in producing even doubtful results.
