

HUGE FIR TREE OBSERVATORY TO TOWER HIGH IN AIR ABOVE COUNCIL CREST

Rainier, 14,556, 103 Miles.

St. Helens, 10,000 Feet, 53 Miles. Adams, 12,470, 75 Miles.

Hood, 11,225 Feet, 51 Miles.

How the High Spot on the Heights Will Look After Contemplated Improvements Have Been Made.

The evolution of Council Crest into a veritable fairland, making it one of the finest amusement resorts in the world, is promised within the next year or two.

At the base this tree will be 16 feet in diameter and 10 feet through at the top. It will be cut into rings and hollowed out in the forest and transferred to Portland in sections.

In building the tower reinforced concrete will be used on the inside, making the main support. The rings will be put over the concrete work in their respective places just as they stood in the forest, giving it the appearance of being a great tree standing alone.

At the top there will be a platform 23 feet in diameter. Mr. Duchamp also plans a tavern on the rustic design, a large dining pavilion, an automobile road leading from the city to the crest and a scenic park surrounding the grounds.

Coos and Clatsop counties, and that he will have the selection of the best of them all for this great tower, which will be the pride of the west.

ENGINE HITS STREETCAR

Conductor and Motorman Hurt in Collision on Fourth Street—Both Are Penned in Overturned Coach and Dragged.

Running into a Fifth street car at Fourth and Sherman streets, turning the car over on its side and showing it along the street for five or six feet with the motorman and conductor helplessly imprisoned in the wreckage, was the last latest trick performed by a southern Pacific railway engine operating on Fourth street.

The accident occurred yesterday afternoon at 3:16, and fortunately there were no passengers aboard. The motorman, H. Bowman, received a gash six inches long in his right forearm and another wound on his forehead.

Engine Struck Car. According to Motorman H. Bowman, who was operating the car and who has worked for the street railway company for 18 years, he stepped his car before crossing the Southern Pacific track, but seeing no train or engine, nor hearing an engine bell, started his car across the track. When it was late he saw the engine, which struck the car a little to the rear of the middle.

There is a tree at the corner which would obstruct the view of the motorman and probably was the cause of the collision. Bowman, however, insists that he heard no rail ringing, and said that after taking the precaution to stop the car and seeing no engine, he thought he was warranted in proceeding.

According to the crew on the engine, they saw the streetcar coming and applied the air brakes. They say that when they saw the streetcar stop they released the air, thinking the street car would wait until the engine had passed. When the engineer saw the streetcar crossing the tracks across the track he again applied the air, but the supply was so weak from the heavy draught placed upon the engine that it was unable to again stop the engine before it struck the car.

Miraculous Escape of Crew. Both Bowman and Schultz were able to get to the office of the streetcar company, where they made a report of the collision to Superintendent Boynton. Several articles were taken in Bowman's arm. How either Bowman or Schultz escaped death is the wonder of the company officials, who are congratulating themselves on the fact that the car was empty of passengers when the accident occurred. The streetcar was badly wrecked.

Bowman resides at 645 East Taylor and Schultz at 748 Broadway. The engine crew says that the boiler was swinging and that the engine was traveling at the rate of about five miles an hour. They say the accident was due to the street car and to the fact that Bowman was unable to see the engine because of the tree.

He Was Prepared. From the Oregon News. The lawyer was doing a cross-examining story.

"Now let me ask you, were you from the accused when he fired the shot?" "Thirteen feet seven and three-quarter inches across the chest, the lawyer then came back, said the lawyer, "how can you tell the fraction of an inch?"

"I knew some feet would ask me," replied the other, "so I measured it."

"Just this way, sir," said the court clerk in the railroad ticket office. "Let me show you some summer guides entitled, 'Where to Go' and 'When to Go.' The man with the modest income shook his head. "They don't interest me," he sighed. "What I want to know is 'How to Go.'"—Chicago Daily News.

MONA WILKES AND SIR JOHN S. COMPARED

(Herald News by Longest Leased Wire.) San Francisco, July 25.—Will Mona Wilkes, 2,96½, the fast pacing mare owned by James W. Marshall, of Dixon, Cal., be able to beat the great Diabla stallion, Sir John S., 2,94½, a heat or two at Oakland on Saturday, August 8, when they meet in the 2:05 class?

This question is being debated pro and con by the harness horsemen all over the coast. It is admitted by the admirers of the mare that Sir John S. has little more speed than she and that he likes a long race, but the fact that he has made a heavy season in the stud and has not been "kicked up" to a very fast mile is a little against him. The mare has been given stiff work and it is known her owner is very desirous of her getting the very lowest record possible this year.

Arabs Outlive Esquimaux. From the Army and Navy Journal. While it may be true that the white man loses in intellectual and bodily power in the tropics, Dr. Lotze Sambon maintains, as a result of recent researches, that the average Arab lives 55 years longer than the average Esquimaux; that the coast people of South America are longer lived than the mountain people; that old age is much commoner in the southern countries of Europe than in the northern countries; and that Spain, with a population smaller by 2,000,000, has 401 centenarians to England's 146.
