Summer Visitors at the Seashore.

SEASIDE, Or., Aug. 1.—The beginning of the choice month of the beach season is here. August has always been the best time for vacations and trips to the seashore. Although most of the families who have cottages come early in July and stay the full season, there are many who rent their cottages for all of the season except a part of this month. It is the time when families who have but a week or two to stay at the coast come down and rest at the summer hotels. The month is the record-breaker for excursions, and those who have but a few days out of the busy year to spend for recreation select this time to come to the ocean side and recruit their health and strength from the cool sea breezes. It is the month when the cottagers entertain visitors and when the busy head of the family spends a week of recreation with his wife and children. Everybody at the beach gets ready for August, and it is the great month of outings and pleasure.

The beginning of August finds Seaside a thriving resort. Most of the cottages are open, but some will open for this select part of the season alone. Most of the hotels are full and accommodations are being engaged in advance. Every day hundreds throng the streets of the little town and promenade up and down the board walk. There is activity among the cottages and the guests at the hotels. Every day there are trips around the Tillamook Head, to Elk Creek and to the wrecked Gallena. In the evening there are card parties, bonfires and dances.

Visiting between Clatsop and North Beach is becoming very popular. There has been a new rate made for August and it is now possible to make the round trip from Seaside to North Beach points for $1.75.

The new postoffice has been opened at Seaside. It is in the new Gilbert building and of sufficient size to accommodate all of the summer traffic. The new office has some 600 private boxes and modern equipment of all kind.

Bids have been opened for a bridge across the mouth of the Necanicum on the ocean front. When the bridge is built it will make it much more convenient in getting from Seaside to Gearhart.

There is music in the Hotel Moore dining-room.

Cannon Beach a Coming Resort

Next season a new and charming summer resort will be opened to outing lovers through the promised electric line from Astoria and Seaside to Tillamook. The distance of Cannon beach from Seaside is about eight miles and the present road leads over a steep mountain incline and is a hard one to travel.

But there are Portlanders who have not cared to wait for the coming of the electric line and who have pioneered the way for the cottagers. One of these is Charles Kirchner, who owns "Kirchanno Lodge," pictures of which accompany this article. The lodge is situated so as to command a view of Cannon beach and is nestled among the trees at the edge of a great forest. Mr. Kirchner declares that within twelve months there will be innumerable cottages in this charming locality and those who have seen the beach know that his prophecy will come true.

NORTH SHORE RESORTS

North Beach, Wash., Aug. 1.—The week past has been a particularly enjoyable one at the North Beach resorts. The clear weather and cool ocean breezes have put life in everybody and all of the amusements have been followed with enthusiasm. There have been a great many new arrivals and the registration at the hotels is the highest that has been reached during the season.

For the past three weeks there has been a contest going on between the guests of the Sea Croft and Salt Air hotels at the game of five hundred. W. E. Hutchinson is the landlord of the latter and his wife is the happy hostess of the former. On Monday night the guests of Salt Air came down to Sea Croft to struggle for new honors. They found Mrs. Hutchinson and her guests already entrenched and ready for battle. The result of the evening's contest was victory for both houses. One of the victorious couples came down from Salt Air and the other from Sea Croft. Henry Jennings made the highest score of the evening.

On Monday night a number of young people at Sea View enjoyed a bonfire in front of the resort. Miss Nellie Evers, Miss Rose Schacht, Miss Bertha Schacht, Miss Margaret Schacht, Alfred Stone, Charles Roy, Ed Anderson and Mrs. Martin Schacht were present.

The new tennis courts have been completed at the Breakers and the game is being played with enthusiasm. In the near future a tournament will be arranged.

Harvest Home guests enjoyed a bonfire on the beach Saturday night.
