The great Fortuna indulgence having been granted by the pope to the Church of the Holy Cross at University Park, under the direction of the Holy cross of Columbia, untruly, on Sunday, August 2, being the feast of the Fortuna, a plenary indulgence may be gained, which is made to the church, as often, in fact, as anyone who has been to confession and communion visits the church and prays for the intentions of the pope. The indulgence may be gained at any time from Saturday afternoon until sunset on Sunday evening. The indulgence need not necessarily be made in this church. The indulgence can only be gained once for one's self, but it may be gained for another person, which particularly recommends the devotion to lovers of the souls in purgatory. The first mass on Sunday will be at 6 o'clock, the second at 8:30 and the solemn high mass at 10:30. The festival will close with solemn benediction at 7:30.

Through the munificence of two eastern Oregon pioneers, J. H. Koontz of Echo and W. W. Brown of Paulina, Pendleton, during the past few years have been able to add to its equipment two buildings, a girls' dormitory and a boys' dormitory, donated by the Koontz family. These two buildings have become a veritable home for the boys and girls coming from a distance. Plans for the hall are under the immediate supervision of members of the faculty, thus giving such students personal attention and securing to them the benefits and culture of home training. If you are seeking a school in which to place your boy or girl, you will do well to secure a catalog of this academy. Address Rev. W. H. Bleakney, Ph. D., Pendleton, Or.

Sparks from the furnace or hot iron clippings are held responsible for the blaze found in the Columbia Wire & Iron Works, 370 East Washington, at 12:49 this morning. John McCoy saw smoke issuing from the shop and ran to the front door. He saw a fire in the awning on the second floor of the Good-nough building, Fifth and Yamhill streets, caught fire by blowing from a gas pipe. The fire was extinguished by the fire department. It is supposed, but only the awning was damaged.

Residents of the Marquam hill vicinity are demanding that the brush surrounding the trail leading up from the Wood street stairway be cut away, that the road become safer at night for women. Frequent complaints have been made to the police of women being accosted by strange men on this trail, the night before last. The police have an offender in this instance was a stout man in a dark blue suit and wearing a hat whose brim drooped on all sides.

Well-informed engineers say that the installation of water meters is the only solution for the water problem in the Irvington-Holladay and Multnomah districts. The water supply from the Mount Tabor reservoir is enough for the reasonable use of a population of 35,000, but the people all over the city are leaving their faucets open and thousands of gallons are wasted. Meters would prevent this waste and save the situation, say the engineers.

Residents of Tillamook street met last night at the Irvington Tennis club to consider the matter of street improvements. It was decided that the widening of the street should be uniform throughout its length. The thoroughfare to be paved, a petition for bitulithic pavement has already been made, and it was the sentiment of the meeting that the improvement be rushed through.

Song and story marked the celebration of the 30th anniversary of the founding of George Wright post, G. A. R., of Portland, last night at the hall of the veterans. Second and Morrison streets. Two young ladies, the young campaigners of the stirring days of war listened to stories of bygone battles or fought in the near distant past, that cheered the boys on to fight in the 60's.
