A petition is being circulated here in behalf of Sir Colin George MacRae of Edinburg, Scotland, who is seeking to establish his claim to the chieftainship of the clan. A claim has been made by Major MacRae Gilstrap to the effect that no such clan ever existed and that the MacRaes were only a minor sept of the Seaforths, and in consequence never had a chieftain. The petition recites that the Clan MacRae is and has always been a separate and distinct clan and that it was ruled by the family of Inverinate, of which Sir Colin claims to be a lineal descendant. The petition is in the hands of W. G. MacRae, 432 Chamber of Commerce building, where it may be seen and signed by any member of the family living in Oregon. The city directory shows 14 families of that name residing in Portland.

Superintendent R. L. Robinson has issued a notice for teachers' examinations for the county. They will commence Wednesday, August 12, at 9 o'clock. One examination will be for state licenses, and the following subjects will be handled by the prospective teachers: Wednesday — Penmanship, spelling, history, physical geography and reading psychology; Thursday—Written arithmetic, theory of teaching, grammar, bookkeeping, physics and civil government; Friday—Physiology, geography, composition, algebra and English literature; Saturday—Botany, plane geometry, general history and school law. The examination for the county papers will include about the same subjects, but will close Friday instead of Saturday.

In an attempt to lighten the death rate from diphtheria among the pupils of the public schools of this city, the city board of health yesterday authorized City Health Officer Dr. Esther C. Pohl, to ask the city council for an appropriation that will enable the employment of two inspectors and a school nurse for the coming year. The records of the health department show that about three school children per month, or 30 per year, die from this disease, and it is estimated that an appropriation of $3,000 will enable the board to lessen or perhaps eliminate this disease. Several members of the city council have expressed themselves in favor of this step and the appropriation will undoubtedly be made.

Hy Eilers, head and front of Eilers Piano House, returned to Portland last Thursday, after an absence of several weeks in San Francisco. Although the big piano organization which he founded little more than a decade ago has developed to vast proportions, with branch houses in all the principal cities of the Pacific coast, he still prefers to spend most of his time in Portland, where he made his start in business. While other cities have shown great appreciation of the Eilers organization, Mr. Eilers has cause to feel the most flattered over the favor accorded the piano house which bears his name, in what he is proud to call his home town.

Alleging that the Southern Pacific was so slow in providing for a shipment of wheat to the City of Mexico that orders for four cars had to be canceled, Kerr, Gifford & Co. have begun suit in the circuit court for $809 damages. It is alleged that sufficient cars were to have been furnished by May 24, 1906, so the wheat might be delivered to the Mexican Central at Ciudad Jaurez by June 30, but that some of the cars were not furnished until the middle of June. The same company has other suits pending for large sums for failure to deliver cars for shipping to the east the big wheat crop of 1905.

Mary Bell, the 15-year-old girl who turned hobo for a week, stood before Judge Van Zante in the municipal court yesterday afternoon, was closely questioned and then heard a short sentence suspended pending her good behavior. She had been brought back from Roseburg because she had taken some clothing from the only friend she seems to have in the city, Miss Lottie Gray, 449 East Yamhill street. Miss Gray did not press the charge against the girl, being only anxious to get her back to Portland and under the care of her friends again.

The Realty Associates have moved their offices from the Dekum building into the Columbia building, corner of West Park and Washington streets. The Columbia building is one of Portland's most modern and handsome office buildings. It was recently purchased by the Realty associates for $210,000 and represents the fourth purchase of business property made by the Associates in the past 16 months.

At the direction of the city board of health, Mrs. Sarah A. Evans will ask the city council to pass an ordinance regulating the size of crates to be used for the shipment of chickens to this market, and also specifying the number of fowls that may be shipped in one crate. It is stated that under the present method of shipment the great number that are crowded into one crate and the length of time that they are confined there tends to render them unfit for food.

Professor A. R. Vejar, who has been for some time the acting consul for Chile, has been appointed consul for Peru at this port. Professor Vejar will attempt to have all shipments of merchandise from the United States made by way of Portland on account of the more satisfactory service that can be obtained by that route. This applies particularly to shipments of lumber, shingles and flour.

Rembrandt Studio—I have secured a temporary location at room 220 Sherlock building, 83½ Third street, between Stark and Oak. There has been a rumor circulated that I am connected with another studio in the city and they were doing my work. This is not true. All expired tickets will be accepted. Studio will be open for business August 3. Rowena M. Hogan.

W. R. Rutherford, 603 Corbett building, says he was relieved of a roll of bills amounting to $100. He thinks the robbery was committed on the streetcar while he was en route to the ball game. F. E. Dupre also reported the loss of a wallet containing $55 in gold and a draft for $100 on the Washington Trust company of Seattle.

A. H. Johnson Estate—The county court has made an order for the sale on and after August 10, 1908, of the property of said estate in Multnomah, Washington, and Yamhill counties. For details apply to W. M. Ladd, administrator, First and Stark streets.

CALIFORNIA IS PROSPEROUS

The California promotion committee says:

Evidence of the development of the state is given in the reports for the fiscal year of the county assessors to the state controller. Impressive gains are recorded in most counties over the figures of a year ago and the sum total will show a gain of many millions in the taxable property in the state.

Bond elections have been held in a number of cities and towns and in every case the voters have declared for civic improvements.

Unabated activity marks railroad extension progress throughout California. Of especial moment is the application for franchises, and the assurance of prompt prosecution of the work, for the electrification of the Alameda suburban service in connection with the ferry to San Francisco, a work that will involve the expenditure of over two million dollars. Almost at San Francisco's gates is the new transcontinental railroad, which has now reached San Leandro, Alameda county. That little known county of Modoc, one of immense productive potentiality, will be brought within better reach of markets for its products through the connection of its county seat, Alturas, with the main line. On this extension, work has been progressing steadily.

During the past month early sessions of a number of influential national and international conventions have been invited and have been secured for San Francisco and Los Angeles. These will bring thousands of visitors to the state, which will derive much good as a result of their sojourn.

Uncle Sam has been doing his share for the upbuilding of California as indicated in reports received by the California promotion committee. Material improvements are under way at the various forts and reservations around San Francisco bay. On Angel Island the new immigration station is approaching completion. Equipped in most modern manner, advantage has been taken of past experience at similar stations at other ports to avoid mistakes.

As the season advances the earlier predictions of bumper crops in all lines hold good. The exceptions are the prune crop (which was not heavy) and the raisin crop, which was, to a slight extent in some districts, damaged by warm weather.

The following summary shows California conditions for the month running from June 29 to July 28, inclusive:

San Francisco building permits	$ 2,324,033.00
San Francisco building permits since the fire	110,119,922.00
Los Angeles building permits	1,321,369.00
San Francisco real estate sales, 670, value	4,190,000.00
San Francisco custom receipts	458,359.29
San Francisco bank clearings	166,996,784.17
Oakland bank clearings	6,838,675.19
Oakland building permits	501,606.25
Sacramento bank clearings	3,596,848.66
Stockton bank clearings	2,677,111.78
Fresno bank clearings	1,826,588.31
San Jose bank clearings	1,782,922.33

ALL COUNTIES AT GOOD ROADS MEET

Nearly every county in Oregon will be represented at the good roads conference to be held in Portland, August 11. Among the most distant will be Lake county, which will send delegates to counsel with the men from eastern and western Oregon on the best remedies for existing road conditions.

County Judge B. Daly of Lakeview has written to the Portland Commercial club, assuring the management that his county will be represented. He said:

"We have not been saying much, but we have been up and doing until we now have 300 miles of as good roads in Lake county as can be found in any county in Oregon. Lake county, with its 5,000 acres of land to every voter, has already a per capita income of over $250 per man from the livestock industry alone. When we get railroad facilities to ship to the markets the splendid products of our orchards, farms, mines and forests, then watch Lake county grow."

CHARGES HUSBAND BEAT HER SENSELESS

Charging that Arthur W. Cox beat her until her body was black and blue, leaving her almost unconscious and scarcely able to move, Mrs. Flora Cox has begun suit for divorce in the circuit court. She says this beating, the last of a series described in her complaint, took place on April 18, and she has not lived with him since.

Mrs. Cox recounts several other occasions on which she was struck by her husband's too handy fists. Once, she alleges, he bumped her head against the wall and repeatedly while in bad temper he cursed her. They were married in Portland in May, 1902, and have lived for a part of the time in Lincoln county.

Mrs. Cox says that she and her husband by joint effort have acquired 160 acres of land in Lincoln county worth $1,600 and four lots in Vernon valued at $900. She asks for one third of the property. Cox is employed as a teamster.

REDMEN BAR OUT ALL LIQUOR DEALERS

Oregon Red Men have joined the 17 other state organizations of the order who have declared against admitting any one connected with the manufacture or sale of spirituous liquors into their ranks, and at the great council, which has just completed its sessions in Medford, followed the advice of the great council of the United States and passed a law to that effect. The law bars from membership any who are in any way connected with the liquor trade. The law does not affect those who are already in the order, merely referring to future candidates for admission. It is expected that the Washington council, in session at Everett today, will enact a similar law.

A TALK ON REAL ESTATE

Why People Should Buy Portland Real Estate—and Why They Should Buy It From Charles K. Henry & Son.

It has been noted during the past few weeks that Charles K. Henry & Son have made some of the heaviets sales of real estate that have ever been made in the city of Portland—the purchases being made by well-known, far-seeing, capable business men, who now realize the fact that Oregon is the greatest section of the United States, about to secure adequate railroad and other transportation facilities through the advent of the Hill and other railroads, as well as the many lines of electric roads being built throughout the state—the concerted efforts being made to get open-river transportation, the immense amount of irrigation land projects being put in the state, both by the United States and local enterprises, all tending to develop the entire state of Oregon, and all of which tends to the upbuilding of the city of Portland.

Business men, capitalists, investors and managers of estates throughout the United States realize that there is no investment so safe and certain as good inside property in a growing city such as Portland is proving herself to be. The man with $10,000, as well as the man with $100,000 or larger sums to invest, cannot make a mistake in rightfully buying properties in the city of Portland. Any person who will pause, consider and reflect upon the fact that the Hill roads have built freight warehouses and are now building grain warehouses more than doubling the capacity of that heretofore supplied to the city—everyone must see that this portends increased business in the city of Portland. The cities that receive aid from the railroad companies grow very rapidly. We should cease ill-considered harping at the transportation companies, but enlist their good aid and offices in building up our city.

Any person who will take a map of the state of Oregon, showing our area of 96,000 square miles, with about 20,000 miles of Washington and Idaho tributary to it, being about half the total area of Germany, which supports a population of 65,000,000, while Oregon, with her salubrious climate, her very much more fertile soil, having less than 600,000, must certainly gain great population, and the city of Portland grow with it. The state of Washington and the cities therein have grown very rapidly, because they have had the impetus given by the great Northern Pacific Railroad company, that being now withdrawn, or at least lessened, as the company has about sold all its land. The state of Oregon, and consequently Portland, now about to receive the aid and impetus now about to follow from the advent of these railroads, will move forward very rapidly, and Portland properties will increase in value accordingly. As long as the United States continues to grow, and grow they will, Portland city properties will prove a sure and profitable investment.

Charles K. Henry & Son, who deal exclusively in inside properties, have been in the business for 20 years in the city of Portland, dealing solely in inside properties, not running a department store, not doing an abstract business or an insurance business, but we do sell real estate and sell the very best of real estate—Portland real estate, and selling only on the commission basis, whereby the owner of property knows that he is not being speculated upon, and the buyer of the property knows that the price quoted is the price of the owner, thereby insuring absolute fair dealing, are fully qualified to give investors the very best aid and assistance in selecting bargains in Portland city property. They have sold many of the most prominent and largest properties in the city, and respectfully refer the investing public to any bank or business house in the city of Portland, and to their numerous clients.

Bankers, investors, executors of estates, living out of Portland, wanting Portland real estate, are cordially invited to call upon or write to Charles K. Henry & Son, 250 Stark street.

BAND CONCERTS SOON THING OF THE PAST

Today's Recital Next to Last Under the Present Arrangements.

The free park concerts will soon come to a close unless those having the matter in hand decide to extend the season. Today's concert at City park will be next to the last Sunday concert under present arrangements.

The concerts are drawing larger crowds than ever, thousands of people going miles to hear them. How many people visit City park Sunday afternoons to hear the music would be difficult to say, but it is estimated that the number often exceeds the 15,000 mark. Thursday evening's concert at the Plaza block was attended by a record-breaking crowd and Holladay park and the East Side concerts draw fully as large crowds as those on the west side.

Sig. DeCaprio has prepared the following program to be rendered at City park this afternoon, the concert to begin at 2:30 o'clock:

March—"Slave" ....Tschaikowsky
Mexican "Kisses Habaneras"....Roberts
Overture—"Tannhauser" ....Wagner
"La Carita," sacred chorus......Rossini
"Invitation a la Valse" ....Weber
Intermission.
Grand selection—"Gerusalemme"....Verdi
Intermezzo—"Passacaille" ....Gregh
Baritone solo—"Concerto".....DeCaprio
Sig. DeCaprio.
Ballet music from "Faust".....Gounod
1. Waltz for corps de ballet. 2. Ensemble of Helen and her maid and Cleopatra and her Nubian slaves. 3. Entry of Nubian slaves. 4. Pas Seul of Cleopatra. 5. Entry of Trojan maidens. 6. Pas seul of Helen. 7. Bacchanale and entry of Phryne.

Summer Music.

Talking machines for summer days, and more especially for summer evenings. What is a summer vacation without music? In the country or the mountains, at the seashore, in camp, the instrument that can be depended upon at all times is the talking machine. For all-around pleasure-giving under usual summer conditions, no other instrument can be compared with it. It will be your singer, your jester, your piano, orchestra or full band, at your pleasure, and here you have all the best ones to select from—Edison, Columbia, Victor and thousands upon thousands of records—all the latest at all times will be found at Eilers talking machine parlors, 353 Washington street.

Peanuts and Olive Oil.

The probabilities are that with a little scientific attention, it would be quite easy to develop an American peanut yielding well in oil and possessing the excellent taste of the present types. A nut must be developed that will give 32 to 33 per cent of its weight in oil.

It is true that African peanuts yield a very high grade oil, but not equal to pure olive oil (which remains and probably will remain the highest priced and most perfect of all salad oils). However, peanut oil is a very acceptable substitute for olive oil and susceptible of being sold on its own merits as a superior article.

The best, or edible, grades of Marseilles peanut oil always command higher prices than any other oils except olive, and were quoted on May 8 at $17.37 to $19.30 per 220 pounds (100 kilos), while the best American prime summer yellow cotton oil was quoted at $12.93 per 220 pounds. These figures give the present measure of popular appreciation of the relative qualities of the two oils. Both peanut and cotton oils are sold straight, and are also used for mixing purposes.

If All Wives Were as Sensible!

From Chicago Record Herald.

"Does your husband play poker?"

"I don't know. When he comes home broke I always feel that it is necessary for him to be able to sit down and think undisturbed, and when he seems to be flush I consider it foolish to ask embarrassing questions."

"So," remarked the boyhood friend, "you are in the swim."

"Mother and the girls think I am," answered Mr. Cumrox. "But my personal feelings are those of a man who has fallen overboard and ought to be hollering for help."—Washington Star.

LOVAGE ROOT HAS BUT LITTLE VALUE

Recently some samples of roots were sent by J. S. Arnett of Selma in southern Oregon, for identification. They had been mistaken there for licorice root. They have a strong aroma something similar to that of licorice. The drug expert of the Blumauer-Frank Drug company identified them as lovage roots—a plant that grows abundantly in that section of the country. They have but small commercial value, though they are sometimes sold as botanical roots, but they enter very slightly into the composition of medicines.

The leaves are valued at 23 cents a pound retail, and the roots at about 20 cents. The root would ordinarily sell to drug firms at the low price of 12 or 15 cents, because there is practically no demand for it.
