DEMS LOOK FOR TROUBLE

Storm Clouds Hover Over the State Convention at Wallace, Idaho—Possibility That Factions Will Separate.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Wallace, Idaho, Aug. 1.—There is every indication that tomorrow will see two separate Democratic state conventions under way at Wallace. Trouble will probably be precipitated this afternoon when the state central committee passes on the credentials.

The Kootenai delegation has arrived and expect to be joined by the bolters of the Twin Falls convention.

The other delegates declare they will not stand for this; that similar action with regard to the anti-DuBois delegates from other counties will be likewise resented.

The anti-DuBois control by disqualifying enough of the alleged bolters at Twin Falls to achieve the purpose. The anti-DuBois men claim they control the convention, and have therefore the right to nominate the ticket.

The other party is equally bitter, so that hopes for any sort of compromise are practically gone. A special train with the southern delegations is expected this afternoon.

LOCATE MISSING DEPUTY IN CROOK

In Camp on Deschutes When Wife-Beating Warrant Is Served.

L. T. Terry, a deputy United States marshal, against whom his wife recently swore out a warrant on a charge of assault and battery, has been traced to Pringle Falls, Crook county, and the sheriff of that county has been notified by the Portland police to arrest Terry.

The warrant was made out several weeks ago, following the complaint of the deputy's wife, but Terry promptly left town and has never been arrested. He is familiar with the Crook county region and apparently made for Pringle Falls, in the upper Deschutes district, without delay. When located by Sheriff Elkins he was camping at the fishtrap at the falls with two women and another man and enjoying the fishing to the uttermost.

Terry has been in the government service for a number of years, both in Oregon and in Alaska.

PRINCESS TO HUNT AT QUEER CASTLE

Potsdam, Aug. 3.—Crown Prince Wilhelm and the Crown Princess Cecelie have invited a number of their friends to hunt with them in their new domain in Bergenzer Wald near Lake Suabia. The rendezvous is "Crazy" Mound's castle, which has been bought by the crown prince.

"Crazy" Mound was the nickname given to an eccentric Englishman who built the castle and formerly owned the hunting grounds. He had made his money in the Transvaal and spent it royally on nightly entertainments with his friends, men from all parts of the world whom he had met in Africa and who visited him from time to time. Some of them stayed for days only, others for weeks and months, while half a dozen or more never left the neighborhood, allowing "Crazy" Mound to provide them with food and lodging.

The people of the forest district saw little of "Crazy" Mound, for he never hunted in the daytime. In the dark hours of the night he used to set out with a large cavalcade preceded by torchbearers, while an army of "beaters in," likewise provided with torches, drove the game before their rifles.

"Crazy" Mound died several years ago, and his castle, thought in the neighborhood to be haunted, was long in the market without finding a purchaser.

Consequently, the crown prince got his newest hunting box, a rather extensive building, by the way, at a very cheap price. Part of the domain is mountainous and famed for mountain sheep and eagles.

The crown princess is very eager to shoot an eagle, and that was one of the reasons why Wilhelm bought "Crazy" Mound's castle and hunting grounds.

OREGON TROOPS LEAVE FOR BATTLE GROUND AT AMERICAN LAKE CHEERED ON BY THOUSANDS OF ADMIRING FRIENDS

With band playing and flags flying 20 companies of the Oregon National Guard, numbering about 1,000 soldier boys, bade farewell this morning to their admiring sweethearts and departed for the front at American Lake, Washington, where they will remain in camp for 10 days maneuvering in the manuals of war and fighting foes of their own stripe with deadly blank cartridges.

The soldiers made a noble array as they filed out of the big Armory building at Tenth and Davis streets and swung down the streets to the union depot with martial stride to board the special trains that had been prepared for them. The first detachment left for the seat of war at 7 o'clock, and the second followed at 9:30. The third section left at 11 o'clock.

Accompanying the first section were the headquarters, the band and companies E, K, H and C, Third regiment, companies B, I and E of the Fourth, and companies D, B, F and G of the Third, occupied the second section with the hospital corps. Companies A, I, L and M of the Third, and companies A, C, F, H and G of the Fourth regiment were in the last section. While the troops were destined for Murray, Wash., all mail should be addressed to them care of Camp David S. Stanley, Tacoma, Wash. Express matter should be addressed care Camp David S. Stanley, Murray, Wash.

General Finzer estimates that there will be 5,000 men in the camp, including regulars from Fort Lawton, Vancouver, Fort Wright and Fort Walla Walla. National guardsmen will represent Oregon, Washington, Montana, Idaho and North Dakota. The Oregon boys will be in camp at the same time the national guardsmen from Washington are in attendance. When they leave on August 12 they will be succeeded by the national guard from Montana, Idaho and North Dakota. The regulars will remain in camp for 20 days.

The armory presented a busy scene this morning, for early in the day the soldier boys commenced gathering to pack their kits and accoutrements. They went to the work like veterans and had everything prepared in true military style long before the orders were given to fall in line.

They were called into regimental formation with Colonel C. E. MacDonell in command and after a brief speech in which the commanding officer explained to them the object of the encampment and the benefits that were to be derived the soldiers marched out of the armory and to the Union depot behind the inspiring music of the regimental band.

There was no delay or halting at the depot. The trains were ready and the men clambored aboard in time to be whisked away at the appointed hour. Military precision marked every movement and the citizens who cheered them on their way noted the action of the soldiers with satisfaction. To those who have followed the development of the national guard in Oregon the sight presented this morning caused them to form the opinion that never before had the state been so well represented in a military way than by the troops which left today for American Lake.

Waiting for Turn to Board the Train.

COMPANY E OF COTTAGE GROVE NOW ENROUTE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Cottage Grove, Or., Aug. 3.—Company E, Fourth regiment Oregon National Guard, Cottage Grove, Captain J. C. Johnson and Lieutenants Harry C. Metcalf and H. H. Petrie, commanding, left for American Lake at 2 o'clock this morning. The company is expected to make an excellent showing. It has been organized about two years.

J. C. Johnson, Captain of Company E, Fourth O. N. G., Cottage Grove, Which Left This Morning for the Big Encampment at American Lake.

Captain Johnson served about [illegible] months at Manila during the Spanish-American war as sergeant in company M [illegible].

Lieutenant Metcalf enlisted in Battery B, but was held at Portland and honorably discharged when peace was declared.

The company will send three crack marksmen to the national rifle shoot to be held at Camp Perry, Ohio: Sergeant Frank Snodgrass, Corporal James Potts and Private R. Mooney.

The noncommissioned officers of Company E are: Sergeants L. P. Bennett, Frank Snodgrass, Horace Cochran, M. Scovill; Quartermaster Sergeant Lester Hutchinson; corporals W. Sherwood, F. Bartell, A. Powell, J. Potts, E. Smeral.

FORTY-SIX OF COMPANY F ARE ENROUTE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

McMinnville, Or., Aug. 3.—Company F, Fourth regiment, O. N. G., McMinnville, left at 7:45 this a. m. for Camp David S. Stanley at American Lake. The total strength of the company is 46 men. It will be officered as follows: Captain F. A. Mead, lieutenants V. E. [illegible] and H. R. Stout Jr.; sergeants J. McKee, L. S. Hopfield, J. C. [illegible], N. O. Terry, L. V. Henderson, [illegible] Michelbook; corporals F. C. [illegible], A. Hopfield, K. P. Loop, A. C. Arthur; musicians L. A. Arthur and A. Johnson. Private Booth of Company F was transferred to the Third Regiment band for the encampment.

EUGENE SENDS TWO COMPANIES TO ENCAMPMENT

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Eugene, Or., Aug. 3.—Nearly 125 men left on this morning's early train for

ROBBERS' SWAG FIFTY THOUSAND

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Terrorizing the postmasters of northern Michigan for ten years and stealing more than $50,000 from the government, George Ross and Frank Roach are under arrest today. The bandits were captured by Postal Inspectors Frasier and Clark in a hut in the woods near Escanaba. When they were captured Ross and Roach had $10,000 worth of stamps and postal orders in their possession.

RICH COPPER MINE IS SOLD

La Grande, Or., Aug. 3.—The Eclipse copper mine in Union county has been sold for $75,000 to Utah mining men. This mine is situated about 35 miles east of La Grande on Copper creek, and contains one of the largest and richest bodies of copper in that mineral district. The mine was owned entirely by La Grande people, of whom the following were the heaviest stockholders: D. A. McAllister, H. C. Cotner, W. B. Sargent, J. M. Hilts, John McAllister and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Williamson.

American Lake to participate in the army maneuvers there during the next 10 days. There are two companies, A and C, of the Fourth regiment, besides Colonel Yoran and his staff, which numbers 10 or 12 men.

Company A is officered by Captain A. Babb and Lieutenants W. G. White and W. W. Branstetter; Company C by Captain G. F. Willoughby and Lieutenants H. H. Hunter and Lawrence Jensen. The staff officers are: Colonel George O. Yoran, Lieutenant Colonel John M. Williams, Captain Frank E. Taylor, regimental adjutant; Captain Frank L. Chambers, regimental quartermaster; Captain Waldo L. Cheshire, regimental surgeon; Major Creed C. Hammond; Lieutenant Willard L. Coppernoll, battalion quartermaster and commissary.

COMPANY G PULLS OUT FOR CAMP

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Oregon City, Aug. 3.—Company G, Third regiment, O. N. G., left on a special car at 8 o'clock this morning for American lake.

Captain Franklin A. Loomis and Lieutenants W. R. Logus and C. E. Burns Jr., are in command, and the following non-commissioned officers and privates comprise the list of those who will bivouac at Camp David S. Stanley: Sergeants R. Hidy, J. C. Spagle, A. L. Kuehl, W. E. Kuehl, G. Godfrey, L. C. Miller, corporals, J. Miller, C. S. Moore, Eldon Blanchard, R. C. Woodward, L. C. Barnes; J. T. Dellar, cook, musicians Blanchard and Young; privates, Andrews, Berry, Bowen, Creitser, Greene, Harris, Brown, Bruce, Crandall, Cornell, Gillette, Ketchum, King, Kellogg, Meade, McDonald, McLoughlin, Nelson, Ream, Rettinger, Shupe, Scripture, Shaw, Sumner, Shannon, Sinnott, White, Wink and Truscott.

Before boarding the car every member of the company was examined by Surgeon Carll, as to his physical fitness for the campaign, and all were found to be up to the standard.

BOY SWALLOWS FROG BUT DOES NOT SUFFER

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Redlands, Cal., Aug. 3.—Physicians are today attempting to extract a live frog from the stomach of Baynum Elliott, a 12-year-old boy, who swallowed it while drinking from a hose. The prank of some playmates caused young Elliott's predicament. Members of a crowd of boys with whom he was playing offered Elliott a drink. The frog was caught by the sudden rush of water and forced down the boy's throat. He felt a strange sensation and the boys explained what they had done.

An examination by physicians proved that the frog was still alive, and although they have made several attempts they can not force the boy to eject it. The doctors say the frog can not live long, and they do not believe it will seriously injure Elliott.

HIGH SCHOOL PLANS TO BE PUT ON EXHIBIT

The Architectural club will hold an interesting session at 8 o'clock next Tuesday evening at the Worcester building. The competitive plans for the Albina high school will be shown that the architects may themselves make their comparisons. A contest was conducted some time ago by the school board for the architectural plans of the building, and the plans of Whitehouse & Honeyman were selected. There has been a good deal of discussion concerning the matter, and the architects have been eager to see all the plans submitted.

SUFFRAGETTES IN CHINKLAND

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Canton, Aug. 3.—China today has a full fledged suffragette movement sweeping over her coast cities as a result of enlisting women in the anti-Japanese boycott movement.

Participation in the boycott revealed to the women their latent political power and they have followed up the advantage with a demand for equal rights, participation in public affairs and a greater share in public life generally. So active have they become that the boycott leaders regret that they ever invited the women to assist in stirring up sentiment against the use of Japanese goods. Eighty complaints have been made to the police of Canton representing that wives and sisters have deserted their homes rather than endure the old time slavery to which Chinese women have been subjected for centuries.

The extent to which wife selling is carried on among the Chinese is revealed by the court proceedings to get back these deserters, the husbands basing their claims on the ground that they are entitled to that for which they have paid. The average price is found to be about $2 per head.

OREGON GRANGES TO HONOR AGED CHAPLAIN

To do honor to the Rev. Oscar Eaton, who for years has been chaplain of the state grange, the Oswego grange and as many of the granges around the vicinity of Portland as possible will gather in Oswego next Saturday to celebrate the 58th birthday anniversary of Mr. Eaton.

Owing to the affection in which the Rev. Eaton is held by the members of the state grange the meeting promises to be a particularly enjoyable one. In addition to the birthday celebration the day is the regular meeting of the Oswego grange, of which Dr. Eaton is chaplain, and many important grange matters will be taken up.

Plans are being made by the Russellville grange for a three days' field meeting early in September in some grove near Russellville. It is planned to have the Agricultural college staff and the State university staff present at the field meeting, which would be of particular importance to the farmers of Multnomah county.

Much interest is also being taken in the Gresham fair and it is probable that all the granges instead of holding fairs of their own, will unite to make that at Gresham a success. The Evening Star grange, which met Saturday evening in Mount Tabor, practically decided that the granges of eastern Multnomah county should attempt to unite and make the Gresham fair a big success from every standpoint.

CHINKS TOO QUICK FOR RAIDING SLEUTHS

With big iron sledges under their coats, Detectives Smith, Tichenor and Howell dashed into 82 Second street, almost directly opposite the police station, in an attempt to make a noontime capture of Chinese gamblers, today.

Evidently a buzzer sounded in time, as the lookouts seldom take their eyes off a detective when he appears near the outside door, for though the sleuths searched every part of the basement where the games were believed to be in progress, both the players and the apparatus had disappeared.

DAIRYING EXHIBIT TO BE MADE FEATURE

An immense dairying exhibit will be the feature of the coming Oregon State fair in September if plans of the dairy association officers are carried out. These plans now promise to be more than fulfilled.

Mrs. S. A. Yoakam, vice-president of the association, who has been touring the Willamette valley in the interest of the exhibit, came to Portland today from Salem and departed for Tillamook county. She is said to be doing much good in arousing the enthusiasm of dairy cow owners.

WADED INTO WADE; WADE WADED OUT

Three arms of the law, the police, the district attorney's office and the constabulary, are today searching for R. A. Wade, the man who called himself a lawyer and against whom warrants have been sworn out charging him with obtaining money under false pretenses.

Wade was in the city Saturday. That much is known, but since then no definite news of his movements have been received. S. V. Davison alleges that Wade, representing himself to be an attorney, obtained $160 from him. Frank Kubik has even more serious charge, and in addition to these charges it is understood that a misunderstanding regarding the signature of a check will play an important part in the case against Wade. The accused man was never admitted to the Oregon bar, but called himself an attorney at law.

CROWD UNITED ROAD TO COAST

Electric Line Completed to Hillsboro at Once, Thence Westward.

Thomas L. Greenough, president of the United Railways company, accompanied by Moritz Thomsen, one of the directors, came to Portland today to make an inspection of the construction work under way between this city and Linnton. They went out to Linnton during the morning and continued the trip over a part of the line to Hillsboro.

This road will be built via Linnton and Forest Grove immediately, and from Forest Grove it will be continued westward. The promoters do not say positively what route will be taken. Mr. Greenough has already said to The Journal that the ultimate destination of the line is Tillamook. It is believed the Wilson river route has been selected.

A large force of men and teams are at work between Portland and Linnton. From that point the Cornelius pass will admit them to a series of rolling valleys west of Portland, and they will run through a rich country of farming, fruit raising and dairying the entire distance to Forest Grove. West from that point the country is well settled for miles, and when the line reaches the timber it will open up a vast lumber manufacturing region that will furnish all the tonnage the road can handle.

All through the Tillamook country there are large stock and dairy ranches, scattered through the hills and valleys. With the advent of the railroads these industries will rapidly increase. The soil is rich and deep, and the country will rank with the richest agricultural parts of Oregon as soon as the valleys are denuded of their timber.

LUCKY BOY IS ORDERED SOLD

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Eugene, Or., Aug. 3.—The Lucky Boy mining property in the Blue river district, Lane county, owned principally by Louis Zimmerman of Portland, has been ordered sold by Circuit Judge L. T. Harris to satisfy judgments against the property. The decree states that Grant Phegley is entitled to $354.50 as expenses as receiver of the company, which shall act as a superior lien and shall be the first paid out of the proceeds of the sale. Other liens are:

J. W. Shumate, $354.40 and costs; H. A. Block, $1,103.75 and costs; Erik Johnson, $182.35 and costs; Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing company, $90.17 and costs. The court orders that these four shall be subordinate only to the lien of the receiver.

YOUTHS CAUSE OF BAY FIRE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Marshfield, Or., Aug. 3.—Small boys, matches and a hornet's nest are responsible for the forest fire which has held Coos bay people in an agony of suspense for 48 hours.

The youths resorted to matches Friday to drive out a colony of the insects which had settled in one of the trees in the forest at plat D, some miles north of Marshfield. The fire found ready fuel among the dry undergrowth and trees, until it struck the green timber and stump land.

At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon it appears that the fire will smolder out.

BOILING ASPHALTUM BITES TO THE BONE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

San Francisco, Aug. 3.—With his body almost completely covered with a seething mass of boiling asphaltum, thrown upon him by the explosion of a pot in which he was heating the material, Peter Com, a street worker, was carried to the hospital today in terrible agony. He is not expected to live more than a few hours. The fiery bitumen seared Com's flesh, burning it on his shoulders to the bone. He was rendered unconscious by the agonizing pain. The man was working on a street contract, and a boiling pot which he was watching became overheated and exploded.

BODY OF AN OLD MAN FOUND IN THE HILLS

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Mecca, Cal., Aug. 3.—Evidence of what is believed to be a murder was revealed today when the decomposed body of an aged man with gray hair and beard was discovered in the clay hills six miles northeast of here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Corwin of Thermal, who made the discovery while riding through the hills, found an envelope in the man's pocket. The address was nearly obliterated, but faint traces of the name indicate that it was Thomas. Efforts are being made to learn whether any man of that name has disappeared recently.

DR. DAVIS AND LOOMIS SAY THEY ARE GUILTY

Dr. William H. Davis of Albany and Clarke E. Loomis pleaded guilty in the United States court this afternoon to having conspired together in company with several others to defraud the United States out of government land. In the case of Loomis Judge Becker asked the court to suspend sentence because of the fact that the guilty man would in all probability be a witness in land fraud cases yet to come. Mr. Davis was fined $500 by the court, upon the motion of Judge Becker that the fine be placed at a nominal sum.

Loomis is an ex-special agent and was one of the men who was used by the Puter land ring to aid in the fraudulent acquisition of government land. Using his official position corruptly he passed favorably on many claims which he knew to be fraudulent.

Dr. Davis is one of the well-known citizens of Albany and was at one time mayor of the city. He was indicted with the others for conspiracy and an additional indictment for perjury was returned against him. This indictment was dismissed today upon motion of Judge Becker.

In discussing the case of Dr. Davis Judge Becker said that he considered that the defendant had acted hastily rather than corruptly in the matters with which he was charged. It seemed to Mr. Heney, Judge Becker said, that the government had been mistaken in part by some of the evidence used against the defendant in securing his indictment. In view of the good character of the defendant previous to the time of his indictment and the fact that this was the only thing ever charged against him, Judge Becker suggested that the defendant had suffered. He said Dr. Davis had been the victim of hard luck, and because Mr. Heney considered that there was doubt that the defendant had ever intended to do wrong suggested that the fine be nominal.

In passing sentence Judge Wolverton was visibly affected. He stated that the duty before him was a most unpleasant one; that he had known Dr. Davis for many years, during which he had always borne a good reputation for honesty and good character. The plea of guilty showed, however, the court said, that the defendant had made a mistake.

The court took it, however, that it was a mistake and not indicative of the character of the defendant. He placed the fine at $500.

Elbert Brown and his wife, Nellie Brown, also associated in the same case, were dismissed from further taint from the indictment, it being explained by Judge Becker that there was no evidence to connect them with the charge.

CORNERSTONE OF I. O. O. F. TEMPLE

With impressive ceremonies the cornerstone to the temple of Orient lodge No. 17, I. O. O. F., was laid yesterday afternoon on the southeast corner of East Sixth and East Alder streets. Thousands of people were present, many of them members of the order.

Grand lodge officers escorted by chevaliers of Canton lodge No. 1, in brilliant uniforms, and members of Orient lodge, marched from the hall on Grand avenue and East Pine streets to the scene of the ceremonies. The Oregon Male quartet opened with a song and following came the introductory remarks by Grand Master Edward Hostetler of The Dalles. He explained the significance of the ceremony and the principles of Oddfellowship, which are friendship, love and truth. He expressed the hope that the temple of the Orient lodge would stand as a monument always of these principles. Dr.

Hon. M. C. George.

S. A. Star, deputy grand chaplain, invoked the divine blessing. Then followed the regular rituals of the order.

In an opening in the concrete wall at the northeast corner of the temple was placed a copper box containing a picture of J. Jeroleman, surviving charter member of the lodge, records of the lodge, copies of Portland newspapers, personal cards and small coins. It was sealed by Architect Francis J. Berndt.

Grand Master Hostetler sprinkled the wall with water, which is significant of friendship; roses were strewn about, representing love, and grains of wheat were scattered, symbolic of truth. The grand master's ceremony was concluded with a ritualistic address.

Judge M. C. George delivered an eloquent oration. It was brief and full of noble thoughts. He pointed to the fact that the world over Oddfellowship is known and its influence felt. A patriotic song by the quartet followed Judge George's oration, and then Grand Chaplain Star pronounced the benediction.

Grand Master Hostetler was assisted by Deputy Grand Master Robert Andrews, Deputy Grand Marshal N. P. Tomlinson, Grand Warden Thomas F. Ryan, Oregon City; Grand Treasurer O. D. Doane, The Dalles; Grand Secretary E. E. Sharon, Deputy Grand Chaplain S. A. Star, Grand Conductor A. K. Currier and Grand Inside Guardian S. V. Van Meter. A number of members of Rebekah lodges also witnessed the ceremonies.

The temple is expected to be ready for occupancy by October 1. It will be built of reenforced concrete throughout with concrete floors and will have a floor space of 50x100 feet, the size of the lot. The building will be three stories in height, the ground floor to be devoted to stores, the second to lodge rooms and the top to a finely appointed banquet hall with capacity for seating 300 people.

The cost of the temple will be about $40,000, including the ground. Deputy Grand Master Robert Andrews is chairman of the building committee.

HOMES THREATENED BY GRASS FIRE

Several houses in the vicinity of East Fourteenth and Fremont streets are endangered by the burning of two acres of grass this afternoon. The fire was started in some unknown way and at noon engine company 11 was called out to save the houses in the neighborhood from the flames. The grass is very dry and the fire was spreading rapidly at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Hose company No. 2 was called out this morning to fight a stubborn sawdust fire at the foot of Mill street, near the plant of the Portland Lumber company. It took more than an hour to extinguish the fire.

ATHLETE FUND GROWS RAPIDLY

That athletic hero fund has grown beyond the fondest dreams of the promoters and the rapidity with which the proposition has spread over the state is remarkable. Already letters have been received by the committee asking if contributions will be received, and answers forwarded stating that it is a statewide enterprise and that all the money not needed for actual expenses will be devoted to exploiting Oregon in the east.

This morning there was somewhat of a lull in the collection work, and time was devoted to enlarging the canvassing committee and mapping out its work more thoroughly. While there was some soliciting this morning, it was more of a desultory nature and the returns were not given to the chairman early this afternoon.

Several large local concerns have intimated to the members that they intend making handsome donations, which, added to the individual fraternal, and club contributions, will bring the sum total above the $2,000 mark.

At the meeting to be held Thursday night the moneys in the hands of the various committees will be announced, plans for bringing the athletes across the continent laid before the general committee and the reception arrangement perfected. The athletes are expected to return to America by the last of the month and the intervening time will be disposed of in adding to the entertainment fund.

CHAUFFEUR HURT WHEN AUTO HITS CAR

In a collision between a big automobile owned by M. E. Lee, a wealthy real estate man with offices in the Corbett building, and an "S" car at Third and Lincoln streets yesterday afternoon, Jack Bennett, the Lee's chauffeur, was severely injured and Mr. Lee and his guest, L. O. Tingley, suffered a narrow escape from death. The machine, a new one, was almost completely wrecked.

Mr. Lee, with Tingley and the chauffeur, were out trying the car, a new Royal tourist, which Mr. Lee has had less than a week. At Third and Lincoln streets the machine man saw an "S" car coming at what the occupants of the automobile declare to have been a speed of 25 miles an hour.

The chauffeur saw the car about 60 feet away and turned his machine to avoid it. The front collided with the car, however, and was smashed into match wood. Bennett was caught in the wreck and his leg was crushed. The others escaped without serious injury. The damage to the machine amounts to $3,500.

WALTON'S ATTORNEYS GIVEN MORE TIME

For the first time since Friday justice was again set in motion in the circuit court this afternoon when Judge Cleland mounted the bench and heard a variety of legal matters after a short vacation. Attorneys for Charles W. Walton, now serving time for shooting Policeman Nelson during a street car holdup, were granted additional time in which to file transcript on appeal. The matters will be in court not later than September 1. Judge Cleland this afternoon is also hearing some of the fine points of the "Needlecraft" injunction argument.

MAN DROWNS IN PAYETTE RIVER

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Payette, Idaho, Aug. 3.—A man whose name is believed to be John R. Brannin was drowned in the Payette river at this place today while he was in swimming. He was with a bunch of five hoboes, whom he joined this morning in their camp on the river bank. This afternoon they were intoxicated when Brannin went into the water. The others saw him go down but could not aid him.

BOY IS DROWNED IN THE COLUMBIA

Astoria, Or., Aug. 3.—Charles Peterson, the 14-year-old son of John Peterson, the blacksmith of the Knappton Lumber mill, was drowned at noon today while playing with two companions, through falling off a log boom. The body was almost immediately recovered, but all efforts to resuscitate it proved futile. The funeral will take place at Knappton tomorrow.
