Eastern Oragon boasts of a number of good schools, among which Pendleton academy is a leader in several direcacademy is a leader in several directions. Established primarily as a college preparatory school and still laying stress upon this part of its work, it has added new courses, thus keeping up with the demands of the public. Two years ago a course in domestic science and amother in instrumental music were added, which have proven very satisfactory and attracted numbers of deserving students. This year an additional course is offered in vocal music, under one of the most accomplished vocalists in Oregon. Parents who have children for whom they are seeking a proper schoel for higher education should consult with the principal, Rev. W. H. Bleskney, Pendleton, Or.

Patrolman C. F. King, one of the oldest members of the police force, may lose the use of one leg as the result of lose the use of one leg as the result of an accidental shot from his own revolver. King has the park blocks in North Portland as a part of his beat. Last evening he took off his holstered revolver when entering the waiting-room at the corner of Park and Davis streets. In picking it up again the revolver slipped in some way from the bench and falling upon the floor was discharged. The builet entered the left leg, shattering the bone. Patrolman Hirsch and Harms heard his cries for help and sent him to his home at 586 Jefferson.

This morning a company of people This morning a company of people old enough to have known better, as the police were informed, started a fire in the woods just behind her home. When the householder protested they declared they wished to cook their breakfast and would be very careful. The land owner, however, had her home to protect, and had too vivid a recollection of the vast foest fires started by people who intended to be very careful, and so she called to mind the city ordinance and the state law both forbidding the building of fires in the woods at this time of the year. The picnickers moved on to a spot a little farther away and bulit their fire, and the woman notified the police.

Place to Amuse Himself in the Rose City.

"What Portland needs is a good bowling alley. Really, I was surprised not to find an alley in Portland except that at the Multnomah club which would carry a bail smoothly. Bowling is one of the most fascinating sports in the eastern pleasure resorts just now and during the winter it is one of the athletic rages of the metropolis. Portland should have better alleys and finer balls in her public alleys than those I find here now."

oals in her public alleys than those I find here now."

This was the statement made this morning by Frank L. Edwards, a New York bowling alley man, who is visiting friends in the city. Mr. Edwards made the rounds of the alleys several days ago and finds things in poor condition, especially in the public alleys.

"You can't get people to go to a place where the alleys resemble a corduroy road and the balls resemble the much joked about lemon. People soon get tried of this. Portland is too good a town for the very poor public alleys here. There is a splendid field for an enterprising man. I know of a number of eastern men who would come to Portland if they could get a location. Think I'll send one out before early fail.

"Women love to bowl, and a clean healthy place would draw acores of feminine bowlers. There ought to be two sections to a bowling alley, one for the ladies and their escorts and the other for the men. Then it could be made attractive. With salcons in close proximity added to the poorly equipped places, you can never hope to give your patrons what they expect when they pay out their good money for amusement.
