Chehalls, Wash., Aug. 7 - James Bennett, the 15-year-old son of C. M. Bennett, living seven miles east of this city, was faially injured this morning hy a vicious 5-year-old dehorned bull. Young Bennett had gone to the barn to Young Bennett had gone to the barn to attend to his chores and taken a pitch-fork with him. As soon as the boy entered the barn the built rushed him against the wail, crushed in his breast and inflicting other injuries which resulted in his death.

Mrs. Bennett was near at the time of the accident and went to the boy's assistance, beating off the built and rescuing her son from further attack. When a physician arrived, the boy was beyond medical aid. The built had been known to be dangerous for some time, and had been dehorned to prevent it from doing injury.

Monsters Often Caught.

From the Washington Herald.

"One of Honolulu's most exciting pastimes is shark fishing," said George T. Wilson, planter of Honolulu, "Large sharks abound off Honolulu harbor, and fishermen may usually count on bringing back one or two sea monsters from eight to 14 feet long by going three or four miles from shore. The fish may either be harpooned or hooked, the latter method being the easier. The harpeoning is more dangerous and more difficult.

possing is more dangerous and more difficult.

"The shark fishers need a small launch, a dead horse, some harpoons or hooks and some large calibre rifles. The horse is sometimes killed a day or two before the expedition, as sharks are supposed to like their horse ment high." The horse is tied at the end of a rope and left to float about 60 fect away from the hunch, and then the wait for the sharks begins.

"A shark will usually show up in a very short time. At a distance of 60 feet he is a long green object of indefine outline. He approaches the dead horse slowly until a few feet way sast then veers off to one side and disappears. But he always returns. Over and over again, sometimes for an hour, he will circle about the dead animal, seeming to be as sustimes. Over times for an hour, he will circle anomatine dead animal, seeming to be as suspicious as any fox. While the shark is making these repeated investigations the leaft is slowly drawn toward the boat. When inrpooning is to be done the bait is drawn gradually closer the shark comes right up to the to be awards should prompt students to put all their energy tensity of the proceedings, the losers appropriate the pencil and do a little harvesting of their own. If they have held a majority of court cards in the trump suit, they may count themselves twice the value of the trump suit. If they have held four court cards, they get five times the value of the trump, and if they have held five, they get five times its value. That ought to be enough, but it isn't. To show that the game was invented by a firm believer in monopoly, it is possible, if you held four court cards in one hand to count yourself eight times the value of the trumps walve.

Thus it will readily be seen that.
