

COURTHOUSE TOO SMALL NOW FOR JUVENILE COURT

Because the present accommodations for the juvenile court are inconvenient, and the room occupied by its officers is needed for other purposes, it is expected that the juvenile court will join the list of county offices housed outside the courthouse before the fall term of court commences.

Judge C. U. Gantwein, who presides in the juvenile court, has talked the matter over with the county commissioners and will have a further conference during the coming week when a decision will be reached. Meantime a preliminary search for new quarters makes it not unlikely that the rooms formerly occupied by Justice Reid in the Alsworth building may be chosen. A courtroom of moderate size is required for the hearing of juvenile cases, besides a private consultation room and an office for the probation officers. At the courthouse even since Judge L. A. Frazer inaugurated the juvenile court, the office of the court has been cramped, a three-cornered cubby-hole has been used as a consultation room, and one of the regular rooms of the circuit court of the office itself used for the hearing of cases.

To remedy these conditions and at the same time to give Judge Gantwein a department No. 1 the space he needs for his chambers, the only thing that can be done is to put outside rooms. The renting of a cottage near the courthouse has been suggested, and the erection of a possible building in one corner of the courthouse yard has also been urged, but there are objections to both of these plans, and the location of the court seems likely to go to the downtown district.

This condition gives another argument for a new courthouse. As the business of the county grows the county officials crowd each other more and more into the market house, the district attorney's office, the sheriff's office, the justice of the peace and constables are in the downtown district. The business of the circuit court is becoming so congested that it will soon be necessary to provide for one or two new departments, and there is no place to put them. A new courthouse seems to be the only solution for this increasing problem.

STREETS PAVED; LOT VALUES JUMP

Hard-Surfacing of Thoroughfares Has Immediate Effect on Property.

That permanent improvement of a street is immediately followed by an increase in the market value of the property on that street much more than the cost of the pavement is plainly shown by the experience of Albina property-owners.

No man condemned to a ride over the bumpy plank road that was called Williams avenue three years ago could wonder that realty values were not higher on that thoroughfare. At the present day on the other hand, no one traveling over Williams avenue can be surprised that prices on both sides of Russell street have more than doubled since the pavement was laid.

Street Awfully Pavement.

It is of course true that in the past three years there has been a strong advance in property values all over the city, but Williams avenue was simply awaiting a hard-surface pavement before becoming the important street it is now, a street that it is a pleasure to trot a horse or motor over.

There is lot 58x125 feet on Williams avenue, near Sellwood, which changed hands shortly before the pavement was completed for a price of $2,500. It is now held at $5,000, for Williams avenue is on the better-street list of Portland and the values have risen in proportion. This is one of the most conservative instances of the increase in value.

"All the property along this street has just about doubled since we got the pavement," said J. F. Wilson, of Fryer & Wilson, one of the pioneer realty firms of Albina. "I rather hard to give present values because there is very little being offered for sale along Williams avenue."

What Happened on Russell.

Mr. Wilson was asked about Russell street, whose intersection with Williams avenue forms the busiest corner in Albina. "Russell street property was held very low before we got the pavement there," said he, "but though the pavement has been down only about one year there has certainly been a big increase in the values along the street." The property, 40x100 feet on Russell, between Rodney and Union avenues, occupied by the Woodmen building, was sold for $1,100 a short time before the hard-surface pavement was laid. The ground is held to be worth $4,000 at a conservative estimate. The pavement was completed a year ago.

Aside from the pavement there have been few changes in the things that make for the desirability of a street, but that piece of property gained in market value $2,900 in the course of one year. For Russell street is one of

STODDER WILL JUDGE CATTLE

Nation - Known Stockman to Make Awards at Fall Livestock Exhibit.

Following out its policy of securing only such judges as have had nationwide experience and success in making awards in the various divisions and classes they handle, the Country Club and Livestock association has received the acceptance of the position as judge of the beef breeds at the coming livestock show from J. F. Stodder of Burden, Kan. Stodder has been a familiar figure at the leading fat stock shows of the country for a number of years, and is regarded as a most capable official in every way. His interest in the development of the livestock industry on the coast persuaded him to cancel other engagements for September in order to come out here and see what Oregon has done since his last visit. It is understood that he will officiate at the state fair at Salem also.

The committee on general management of the entire program for the fair met last night and will hold almost daily sessions this week, and will make an important report at the directors' meeting next Monday. Chairman F. O. Downing says that the committee has made good progress in stripping away a lot of details and will get right down to business next week. The handling of concessions has proved to be a most difficult but not a most important part of the program. It is expected that the concession run will be well into the hundreds, and include everything from popcorn and oranges up to a locomotive collision. The classification of these and showing the figures submitted on some comparative basis has been taken up by the committee at two sessions so far, and the list has not been checked up entirely as yet. It is highly probable in view of the wide range in the character of the spectacular and feature attractions offered that a regular "first" midway "spike," or something of that sort will be arranged for, and all concessionaries will be turned loose in there on a percentage basis. Other classes of concessions are likely to be given an "open" field, as many as care to accept the terms fixed by the Association being allowed to operate on the grounds.

To show the extreme lengths to which concessionaries go, one man has made a case offer for the best cream, soda, popcorn, pop, peanuts, gum, candies, cigars, lemonade, privilege for grandstand pavilion, stable, horse, racing stables, for the next five years, to cover every day of the year which any attractions are given. He will probably not get them.

HIKERS TO HIKE TO CRATER LAKE

A party of about 15 men will start tonight for a walking trip to Crater Lake and the Klamath region under the conduct of A. M. Gritley, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. Leaving on the 7:45 train tonight they will reach Medford tomorrow morning at 10:35, where they will be met by a committee from the Medford Chamber of Commerce and entertained while in the city, having a drive about that region in autos and a dinner.

The camp wagons will leave for the camping ground and will strike camp while the party of vacationists takes autos to the first camping place. The rest of the journey will be made on foot, the men spending two or three days in the vicinity of Crater Lake, and going thence to Klamath Falls, where they will again be entertained by the chamber of commerce. They expect to be back in Portland August 24. Those

MORE HALF PRICE BARGAINS

YESTERDAY WAS A BUSY DAY AT EILERS DOLLAR-A-WEEK SALE OF FINE PIANOS.

Regardless of Former Prices, Regardless of Actual Values, the Pianos Are Marked Down, Down, Down, and Five Dollars Sends One Home.

Customers who attended the stock-piling and clearance sale of pianos yesterday and so far today found ripe "plums" all over the store, and it will be the same now and tomorrow. Pianos on all styles—$250 pianos and $500 pianos—then there are others that sell in this or any other city for $350, $400 and $450, and here they are going at an average of a half less—you save that much and, if not convenient to pay all cash, take 'em at a dollar a week after a first payment of only five dollars—piano will be sent home at once with a first class to market.

If you're any judge of piano value, come to this sale today or tomorrow—make your selection from an assortment of well-known, dependable makes—our salesman will help you—give you reliable information and advice about each instrument and we will guarantee absolute and lasting satisfaction.

YOUR MONEY BACK

If not satisfied, in our broad and assuring guarantee with every purchase—we know the instruments, every one in this sale, are reliable—also we would gladly offer to sell them on such a basis of before terms of a dollar a week and with our guarantee. It only costs a little thinking to realize the confidence we have in the pianos and in you. So come and prove to yourself that our statements made in our announcements are carried out to the letter at our store.

Emphatically this is the most extraordinary sale of pianos Portland has ever had, you will admit it if you come. The time and circumstances are not ordinary, else we'd hesitate to sacrifice so greatly. Original values have been utterly disregarded in pricing the pianos for today's selling, and when the doors of this store close this evening we expect not less than twenty-five more houses will be furnished pianos.

No store could afford to give such bargains as these we tell of—such a claim would be preposterous—we can give them only until one hundred are sold—no more—and they are going fast, because now the news of this great sale has spread and the country around is beginning to buy and when the get started the lot will soon be sold.

We are losing in profits, but we are gaining in the good will of our customers—a friend and our best advertisement.

There's tremendous interest in the above statement of facts to every man or woman who has a piano to buy.

Come today or tomorrow for big Friday and Saturday bargains. Eilers Piano House, 353 Washington st.

In the party are A. M. Gritley, Fred Nelson, Fred Johannsen, Amandus Tennet, W. W. Belcher, E. B. Harney, E. L. McIntyre, E. A. Schin, Z. H. Marjris, James Ashburnot, J. Rhodes, Will Bloomenshine, W. J. Collins and H. S. Wilson.

Off for the East.

J. Lanterstein leaves today for New York and Chicago to purchase new fall stock for his stores, the Ideal and J. X. L. clothing establishments, situated on the corner of Third and Davis streets. Mr. Lanterstein will be absent for about five weeks, and during that time will make a thorough examination of the market. He aims to pick up many bargains to please the Portland trade.

Blisters, pimples, eruptions, rashes, irritated by Satis skin cream soon disappear.
