STATEMENT 1 LINE WILL NOT SHOW

Attempt to Organize Either House or Senate in Next Legislature Is Already Doomed to Defeat—Cannot Prevent Caucus.

Matter of Choosing Senatorial Candidate Settled and Cannot Enter as Factor in Organizing Either Branch of Body.

Any attempt to organize the next legislature, either in the senate or in the house, along Statement No. 1 lines is already doomed to failure, in the opinion of different members of the legilature including several of those who are pledged to Statement No. 1 and their belief is based not on surmise but on existent facts.

Chief among the reasons why the fight to organize either or both of the houses by the Statement No. 1 members is slated for failure is that in order to win, the Statement No. 1 men must avoid a caucus, and this cannot be done either in the senate or in the house.

Many members of the legislature both in the senate and the house, pledged to Statement No. 1 have expressed themselves as believing that the senatorial question has already been settled and now has no part in the organization.

Senatorial Question Settled.

"When the time comes" these men say, "for the election of a United States senator by the legislature, it will be the duty of all men pledged to Statement No. 1 to cast their ballots for George E. Chamberlain. When that time comes Statement No. 1 will enter into the legislature, will accomplish its work, and will pass out again for the remainder of the session. It is not necessary to put Statement No. 1 men in the chairs of the two houses to secure the observance of the Statement No. 1 pledges."

Continuing, these men contend that since they are Republicans they believe that the Republicans of each house should go into caucus, select some qualified member of their respective houses as their nominee, stand behind him and elect him.

Added to this fundamental reason militating against the Statement No. 1 organization is another, Jonathan Bourne. The belief is gaining ground that the effort to organize the legislature on Statement No. 1 lines is a Bourne movement. There are, both in the senate and the house, Statement No. 1 men, who are not Bourne men and who will dodge into any caucus rather than stand in with a Bourne organization scheme.

There are also men who believe that it is unwise to bring the Statement No. 1 and the anti-Statement No. 1 question into the organization because of its 40-day effect on the legislative work of the session.

In the senate there are 11 anti-Statement No. 1 Republicans, all of whom will go into the caucus. There are 23 Republicans out of a membership of 30 in the senate, not counting Senator Norton, who is classed as an independent. Counting Norton, however, as a Republican makes the total 24, and the caucus majority 13. With this nucleus of 11 votes it requires but five additions to elect the president.

Some Will Go in Caucus.

Men who know the members of the senate contend confidently and say they know that from five to seven Statement No. 1 senators will go into the caucus. They are confident, therefore, that the caucus question, so far as the senate is concerned, is settled and that the organization fight will be settled in that way.

There are 13 statement No. 1 Republicans in the senate and six Democrats. Not more than three Statement No. 1 men could go into the caucus, therefore, and allow the Statement No. 1 forces to organize the senate, supposing that all the remaining Statement No. 1 men would stand firm and that the Democrats could be drawn into a fusion.

In the house it is just about the same. There are 27 anti-Statement No. 1 Republicans. There are 52 Republicans on the roll, out of a membership of 60. It requires, therefore, only 27 votes to control the Republican caucus. The anti-statement men have a majority of the Republican vote to start with. To organize the house they need four votes as the house majority is 31. They have those four votes out of Multnomah county alone, so it is claimed, while to make good measure representatives from outside counties, pledged to Statement No. 1, will go into a caucus.

There are 25 Statement No. 1 Republicans and eight Democrats in the house. If these could all be held together it would give 33 votes for speaker or two more than enough to elect. As a damper to this, however, two members of the Multnomah delegation have openly said that they will go into caucus, while one of these says he knows of at least four men from the county who will accept the caucus verdict.

In the face of these conditions then, it is believed by those who have studied the situation, that an attempt to organize either house of the legislature on a statement No. 1 basis will fail.

NEW STEEL BRIDGE FOR MILTON CREEK

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

St. Helens, Or., Aug. 7.—The county court let the contract for a steel bridge across Milton creek, one and a half miles west of St. Helens, to S. S. Long of Houlton. The bridge material will be furnished by the Illinois Bridge company of Chicago and will weigh 452 pounds to the running foot. This will be the first steel bridge to be placed in Columbia county and will be a great improvement over the ones now in use.

"There's a Reason"

CUPID SHIES AT TELLING HEART BREAKING TALES TO NEW JUDGE

Circuit Judge R. G. Morrow was disappointed this morning. So was Clerk T. S. Wells, who is wielding the mighty pen during the absence of J. H. Bush on vacation. So were the newspaper reporters, who had assembled to hear the latest versions of man's inhumanity to woman from the lips of the woman herself. So were several spectators, who came to hear whatever was racy and to gaze on summer millinery and merry widow hats. But Cupid laughed.

This is divorce day, but there were no cases ready for trial. It was also to have been "breaking in day" for Judge Morrow, who qualified only a few days ago, and who was to have been given his first experience on the bench in listening to the pent-up tales of forlorn wives and the mismated of all descriptions. Last Friday there were nine cases for Judge O'Day, and it was not expected that the divorce market would drop to zero so soon.

Judge Morrow took his seat beside Presiding Judge Cleland while ex parte business was heard. There was precious little of it, and in about three minutes Judge Cleland called for the unhappy ones. When the clerk announced that there were no cases for trial the two judges exchanged significant glances, the faces of the spectators lengthened, the official stenographer looked solemn and the reporters collapsed. Then everybody fled.

REARRESTED AT PRISON'S DOORS

William Schmidt Brought From McNeil's to Face Second Charge.

When William Schmidt of Portland walked out through the prison gate at McNeil's island yesterday he thought that he was a free man again. He had just served a sentence of 20 months for passing raised postal money orders.

Instead of being at liberty he found a deputy United States marshal awaiting him. He was rearrested and brought to Portland this morning.

Schmidt was in the United States district court this morning and pleaded guilty to the second indictment against him. He was indicted in May, 1906, by a federal grand jury for forging certain money orders belonging to the government. He admitted having passed the orders, but contended that another man had done the work of raising the figures. Schmidt gave the authorities the name and a description of the person who, he claimed, assisted him, but he was never caught.

Clerk Cannon read the second charge against the prisoner and asked him if he were guilty or not guilty.

"Yes," he said, "I am guilty. But if your honor please, I would like to make a statement."

"Sentence will be imposed tomorrow morning," said the court.

"But I have something to say," said the prisoner further, as he sort of weakened and seemed paler than ever as the circumstances seemed to point to another term in the prison he had just left.

"You can make your statement tomorrow morning," interposed Walter H. Evans, assistant United States attorney.

And then Schmidt was ushered out of the courtroom by a deputy and on to the county jail to await his fate at the hands of the court tomorrow.

TWO DEMOCRATIC TICKETS IN IDAHO

Anti-Dubois Faction Bolts and Sets Up Separate Convention.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Wallace, Idaho, Aug. 7.—Following a riotous bolt yesterday on the part of the anti-Dubois faction in the Democratic state convention, in session here, each faction last night nominated electoral, congressional and state tickets. The split came with the adoption of the report of the committee on credentials.

At the conclusion of the nominating of the ticket by the anti-Dubois faction last night a collection was taken among the delegates for a fund to defray the expenses of an appeal to the courts and $825 was pledged immediately. This action is to be commenced at once and the decision of the supreme court as to which of the factions is entitled to the name "Democratic party" will be accepted by the antis.

The anti-Dubois convention then held a rally at Eagles hall, which was attended by all the delegates of that faction and a large number of speeches were made. Several hundred people also attended.

For this faction there also have been named a committee to draft a statement to the public containing in detail their reasons for severance from the Dubois interest.

Still another split is threatened in the Dubois faction as to whether or not a prohibition or local option plank ought to be adopted in the platform. On this question the Dubois counties were evenly divided, but ultimately decided on local option, with the result that several delegates, especially from the northern counties, deserted.

All the delegates left Wallace this morning by special train. A committee of Wallace men headed by Mayor Toole gave them a rousing send-off.

Dubois Ticket.

The ticket of the Dubois faction follows:

Presidential electors—Henry Heitfelt, Nez Perce, Harry L. Day, Shoshone, and H. W. Lockhart, Bannock.

Congressman—Frank Harris, Washington.

Governor—W. C. Whitwell, Lemhi.

Lieutenant Governor—William Hunter, Latah.

Secretary of state—Jesse Walling, Canyon.

State auditor—Frank J. McBride, Bonner.

State treasurer—William W. Brown, Idaho county.

Attorney general — Edwin McBee, Kootenai county.

State superintendent of public instruction—Miss Edna Gillespie, Bingham.

Inspector of mines—John Pressley, Shoshone.

Justice of supreme court—John M. Flynn, Kootenai.

United States senator—William W. Woods, Shoshone.

Anti-Dubois Ticket.

The anti-Dubois men made nominations as follows:

Presidential electors—J. C. Rice, of Canyon; J. H. Mills, of Nez Perce, and Thomas Galloway, of Washington.

United States senator—C. O. Stockslager, Blaine.

Congressman—J. L. McClear, Kootenai.

Governor—M. Alexander, Ada.

Lieutenant-governor — C. A. Boyd, Bannock.

Secretary of state—W. W. Snell, Canyon.

Attorney-general—Frank Moore, Latah.

Auditor—J. A. Bradbury, Oneida.

Superintendent of schools—Miss Gertrude Noble, Boise.

Treasurer—D. L. Evans, Oneida.

Mine inspector—Harry A. Moore, Shoshone.

Now He Understands.

An actor who recently was "taken" while on the stage by a cinematograph was greatly pleased with the result. Talking about it to a prominent dramatic critic, he said:

"It was the most extraordinary experience I ever went through—actually to see myself acting."

"Now," replied the critic, "you will understand what we have to put up with."

SUIT TO FOLLOW PAVING WORK

East Taylor Street Residents Will Take Matter Into the Courts.

Ralph C. Duniway as attorney for the property holders was present last night at the meeting at George H. Beazan's home of the residents on East Taylor street. Further discussion ensued concerning the unsatisfactory street improvements and the exorbitant assessments and Mr. Duniway expressed the opinion that the property holders have a clear case for complaint though he said further investigation would be necessary before he could decide on what grounds to commence a suit.

The enthusiasm has in no way died down since the first meeting and there was a larger attendance last night than before. Mr. Giebisch of the contracting firm was unable to be present as he had intended but he sent the plans and specifications as the firm had received them for examination. The meeting decided that the work had not come up to the stated terms, although the contractors have been working hard the last two days to bring the work up to the required standard. However, the residents have been made so indignant by the whole affair that they have decided they will not accept the compromise. A complete list of the land owners in the improved section was made and committees appointed to see those not present to obtain their signatures to the agreement to share the cost of litigation.

STREET PARADE BIG FEATURE OF CIRCUS

When the Barnum and Bailey greatest show on earth visits Portland, Tuesday and Wednesday, August 25 and 26, it will be with the street parade reestablished after four years' omission. It will be a parade vastly superior to any ever given in America, being entirely the origination and execution of European artists, designers and property builders.

It is the policy of the management never to repeat itself, and some seasons ago when it seemed it had exhibited everything new under the sun, the parade was dropped until such a time as more original ideas might be created and new wonders sought out from remote lands. For two years day and night artists, artisans, designers and property builders have been toiling at the foreign work shops of the circus, Stock on Trent, England, building the parade which this season is delighting the public.

Not in its slightest detail does this parade resemble anything ever seen on the streets before. It fairly glistens with newness and the million dollars invested in it shows itself in gorgeous floats of burnished gold made by oriental workmen, tapestry and throne rugs from Persia and Turkey, costumes made in France, lace, scarfs, flags and banners from Chinese looms, mythological statuary from Italian studios, band and orchestra wagons of bronze and animal dens built in Germany. War engines of savage lands and wealthy nations, the graven images and idols of heathen tribes, the crude vehicles of barbarian chieftains and the carriages of state of potentates are displayed.

Every type of man is seen in his native dress and a great menagerie of recently found animals is shown in open cages. The parade is three times the length of former street displays and represents 10 times the outlay of money.

The performance, as well, has undergone its changes, having been bettered by the addition of recent new acts which have appeared in Europe and Asia. The long bill begins with a spectacle more ornate and interesting than those of the past and employs a cast of more than 1,000 persons.

As a fitting climactic finish to such an excellent program something new in the way of sensations is introduced under the name of "Autos that Pass in the Air." It is more than a thriller; it is a "paralyzer." The act is just what the name says—the passing of two automobiles high in air. The cars are shot down a steep incline and projected into space by a sharp upward terminal of the track. The machine which was in the rear at the start completely encircles the other, landing directly in front of it on a ground platform. The autos are managed by two mere girls.

The act gives the most intense suspense and thrilling interest. It has no precedent to compare with it. It requires all the courage of an audience to watch the act.

LINEMAN INSTANTLY KILLED AT SALEM

Bert Goss Receives 2,000 Volts While Working on Top of Pole in City's Business District.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)

Salem, Or., Aug. 7.—Bert Goss, a lineman, in the employ of the Portland Railwaq, Light & Power company at Salem, received about 2,200 volts while at work on a pole in the heart of the business district yesterday afternoon and was instantly killed. The shock threw the body across the wires where it hung until fellow workmen extricated it.

Mr. Goss was about 30 years old and leaves a wife and small daughter. He was a resident of Salem and had been working for the Salem branch of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company but a few days. At the time of his death he was engaged in moving wires from an old pole to a new one which had been erected alongside to replace the old pole.

CRAZED BY DEATH OF HER CHILDREN

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Minneapolis, Aug. 7.—Mrs. J. Lindberg became violently insane today when she returned to her home to see it in ashes and be told that her three children had been burned to death. The house caught fire during her absence and the children were unable to escape. Mrs. Lindberg became greatly excited when she saw the crowd about her house, and ran to the scene. Her mind was wrecked by the shock and she had to be taken into custody.

RUNS AUTO INTO CAR TO SAVE WOMAN

Preferring to let his car be struck by a streetcar rather than run over a woman directly in his path, the driver of an auto numbered Oregon 809, at the west end of the Morrison street bridge last evening felt his machine collide with the car.

The police have witnesses who declare that the car was running at a high rate of speed. It belonged to the Sunnyside line. The damage done the automobile was slight and the owners have as yet made no complaint.

PORTLAND FIRM'S BID IS ACCEPTED

Pendleton, Or., Aug. 7.—The Umatilla county court last evening accepted the bid of Glass & Prudhomme of Portland for vault fixtures for the county clerk's office to the amount of $2,185. Four firms bid, this being the lowest. The fixtures will double the capacity of the document files of the clerk's office vault and will be installed in 90 days. Growing county business made the new fixtures necessary.
