

BREWERS SHOW HAND

Liquor Interests Have Reason for Restriction of Liquor-Selling District—Ordinance Would Increase Value of Privileges.

That the brewers have more than a civic interest in the passage of the ordinance restricting the district in which saloons can be located, was the opinion expressed by Councilman Cellars at yesterday's meeting of the committee on judiciary and elections, when the members refused to recommend the ordinance for passage.

Paul Wessinger appeared in behalf of the brewers and said that if the council passed the ordinance the people would rest easier. Councilman Cellars said that he saw no reason for passing the ordinance because the council has no intention of granting saloon licenses in the residence districts.

Mr. Cellars went further and said that if the district was restricted the value of the licenses would increase and that the brewers would be able to realize on the increase because they own about one fourth of the saloon licenses in the city. Mr. Wessinger attempted to belittle the argument by saying that the licenses are worth about $50 at present. He admitted, however, that if the ordinance passes that the price would reach about $100. Mr. Wessinger also said that in Los Angeles, where the number of saloons is restricted to 200, the licenses are worth between $4,000 and $5,000 a piece.

There are 425 licenses in Portland but the value has not become exorbitant, but Cellars thinks that by restricting the saloons to the present district no good would be accomplished and therefore refused to vote for the ordinance. His opinion was concurred in by Councilman Bennett and the committee refused to take action.

TELEGRAPH LINKS PELICAN BAY WITH WALL STREET

Harriman's Chief Hunter and Dogs.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Klamath Falls, Or., Aug. 12.—Though 3,000 miles from the seat of the country's financial center, E. H. Harriman still keeps his touch on the pulse of Wall street. Over a fragile wire, strung from Klamath Falls, through 30 miles of primeval wild, to Pelican bay, nestled in the heart of Klamath county's mountainous forest country, there is a never-ceasing hum of messages. In an office in Pelican Bay lodge sits Harriman's secretary, dictating throughout the day to the telegrapher who sits at the key. All the messages are in a private code.

Roland and Averell Harriman have gone to the mountains with Gus Melhase, the guide.

The Harriman Juniors.

Roland and Averell are fine types of American boys of 15 and 14 years respectively. Roland is less robust than Averell, and the latter seems more truly an American boy.

Some one in Klamath Falls told Mr. Harriman his boys looked like Oregonians, and he replied with a laugh that they had the feet.

Carl Wright, one of the boys in this city noted as an Izank Walton, goes to Pelican Bay this week to show the boys how to catch trout. Carl can catch fish when no one else has a bite.

Melhase a Born Hunter.

Melhase is a famous hunter of this section. He has had a beautiful camping spot selected for days for the chief hunting trip. It is a two days' horse-back ride from the lodge, high up in the hills, almost inaccessible and known but to a few. A grassy meadow with a mountain stream flowing through makes it an ideal camping spot. Last week on Melhase's trip he secured six very fine deer and two bucks in the meadow—with bear signs on the nearby hills.

Melhase is not the usual type of mountain guide. He is a rich, retired rancher of Wood River valley, and owns an interest in a bank at Klamath Falls. He is a hunter by instinct. He is more fond of fishing than of hunting, and the trout at Pelican bay furnish him rare sport.

The ladies of the party arrived Tuesday, and there will be a trip to Crater lake for them and it is expected to give the Harriman boys a taste of real mountain life.

ALBINA WINS HARD FIGHT

After Two Years of Sweating in Effort to Secure Fire Hydrants, the Water Board Finally Acts—Test of Material Made Today.

After allowing the fire hydrants ordered June 22, 1907, to lie about the city for more than a year the city water board yesterday voted to have them tested and put in position at once. Today a crew of men under the supervision of Chief Campbell is conducting the test at Fourth and Market streets and the hydrants will either be accepted or rejected in a few days.

The action of the board was due to the strong fight waged by the members of the North Albina Push club. For more than two years the club has been trying to have hydrants installed in their part of the city, and they attended yesterday's meeting with blood in their eyes. J. H. Nolte acted as spokesman and gave the members an inkling of what was coming when he said:

"We have visited every committee, board and official in the city with the exception of the municipal judge and dog catcher in an effort to secure hydrants."

"We'll send for them if you want them," interposed Mayor Lane.

Nolte resumed after the laughter died down and said that his committee finally found themselves with the water board behind closed doors and stated that he would like to see the matter settled once for all.

"The doors are closed and maybe locked for all I know, but even if they are that does not make any difference because we have no more taxes left anyway," replied Nolte.

There was no doubt left as to the desire of the board to have final action taken in the question of fire hydrants and after a short discussion ordered the hydrants tested this morning and placed as soon as possible.

R. R. CONNECTION FOR KLAMATH

Line From Dorris Expected to Be Completed This Coming Spring.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Klamath Falls, Or., Aug. 12.—Steam shovels will be at work at Klamath Falls, on the railroad grade, within a few weeks. The contract has been let to Erickson & Peterson to build the road from Dorris to this city, including the tunnel at Dorris. The first work here will be on the bridge over the government canal, and the cut north of town to furnish material for the fill in the railroad yards.

Mr. Harriman's statement that the road will be completed to this city by spring is given added weight by the letting of this contract.

TROOPS ARRIVE HOME TODAY

Trains Scheduled to Reach Portland Some Time This Afternoon.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
American Lake, Wash., Camp David S. Stanley, Aug. 12.—The Oregon troops will arrive in Portland this morning. Shortly after 8 o'clock this morning the troops of the Third and Fourth Oregon passed in review before General Brush and his staff. The review was informal and took place as the men were en route to the train.

The first section of the troop train bearing the members of the Fourth Oregon left at 7 o'clock, the second section carrying a portion of the Third de-

CARLOAD RATE BEATS TON RATE

San Francisco Shippers Present Switching Question to State Commission.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, Aug. 12.—A group of San Francisco shippers today made formal protest before the state railroad commission, in session here against the new plan established by the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railroads for switching charges for placing carloads of freight on private spurs.

The commission yesterday endorsed the new method by which the transportation companies charge a rate of 25 cents a ton on all freight deposited on private sidings. The former rule was to charge $5 a car for this service, but recently this was amended to the present plan. The commissioners yesterday stated that the new rule is more equitable than the old. In this opinion some shippers do not concur and they laid their objections before the commission today.

Their chief protest is that the tonnage capacity of freight cars is continually being increased and that the rate of 25 cents a ton amounts to more than $5 a car previously charged.

The matter was taken under advisement by the commission.

BOY'S HEAD BLOWN OFF WITH SHOTGUN

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
St. Helens, Or., Aug. 12.—Seth Garfield Brinn, 12 years old, son of James Nicholas Brinn, Yankton, was instantly killed while hunting yesterday. He was shooting birds and stood on a log to load the shotgun. He slipped and the left barrel was discharged. The entire side of his head was blown off. He was killed instantly.

CITY MAY BUY WATERWORKS PLANT

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Grants Pass, Or., Aug. 12.—The Grants Pass Water company wants to sell its plant to the city, and wants to sell bad. It offered the plant two months ago for $110,000. The city council refused to consider the offer, so the company has dropped its price to $94,000. The council has agreed to bring the matter before the taxpayers and let it be decided by election. There is much difference in opinion, even among expert engineers, as to the probable worth of the plant.

The water company's engineer in his report placed the value of the plant at $130,000. The city employed a competent man, and he placed a value of $80,000. The company, through its attorneys, now comes forward and offers to "split the difference."

MOSES TO ATTEND SCIENTIFIC CONGRESS

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Berkeley, Cal., Aug. 12.—Professor Bernard Moses, head of the department of political science at the University of California, was notified today by the board of regents of the university that he will be allowed a year's leave of absence without pay to attend the American scientific congress to be held at Santiago, Chile, in December. Professor Moses was recently appointed United States commissioner to the congress and will be the official representative of the government in the deliberations of the body. The appointment was made in recognition of his services as Philippine commissioner under President McKinley.

Pretty Good Convention Town.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Waterloo, Iowa, Aug. 12.—Waterloo is entering the season of the year with five separate conventions of county officers. The meetings are those of the state associations of county clerks, recorders, auditors, treasurers, and boards of supervisors. Added to the list is a state convention for the promotion of good roads movement, which will be participated in by the various county officers. Elaborate plans have been made for the suitable entertainment of the large number of visitors.

Keep Your Blood Cool

by Right Kind of Food and Enjoy Warm Weather

It's largely a matter of selecting the hot weather diet with reason. Summer is Nature's season of activity—seed-time, growing-time, harvest-time—a time of expansion, energy—and Man is influenced to do his part—to put forth greater effort because activity is in the very air.

BUT—caution is necessary to avoid excessive heat from combustion (digestion) of heavy, greasy food (Nature's way of generating body-heat in winter), in addition to the heat of the summer atmosphere.

Grape=Nuts

Is the Ideal Food for Hot Weather, because being largely predigested (and concentrated) in the making at the factory, it is quickly absorbed, a small quantity affording great endurance with little effort in digesting it.

Grape-Nuts, made of Whole Wheat and Barley, contains only the natural elements of these cereals, including the phosphate of potash grown in the grain for rebuilding waste cells, especially of brain and nerves.

Try for breakfast, lunch or supper:—

A Little Fruit; A Soft Boiled Egg; Saucer of Grape Nuts and Cream; Slice of Crisp Toast, and a Cup of Postum, hot—or iced, with Sugar and Lemon

Surprising how cool yet full of healthy energy and "go" one feels on such a meal, no matter what the weather.

"There's a Reason"

Postum Cereal Company, Limited, Battle Creek, Mich., U. S. A.

parted at 8 o'clock, and at 9 o'clock the last of the Third, together with the baggage, quartermaster's department and horses, got under way.

Throughout their stay at Camp Stan, the Oregon regiments have been the subject of many complimentary remarks by the officers of the regular army and an inspection of their portion of the camp today after the tentage had been removed, only added to their reputation as soldiers. Everything was left in ship shape.

The decision of the umpire regarding yesterday's battle was not made public until last night, and while they gave the day to the Blue army they readily agreed that the first day's engagement went in favor of the Brown forces. Consequently Colonel McIsbell was the recipient of many congratulations.

STOCKHOLDERS OF GRANGE FAIR MEET

Permanent Organization Is Perfect—Association Will Be Incorporated in a Short Time.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Gresham, Or., Aug. 12.—The stockholders of the Grange Fair association held a preliminary meeting yesterday and completed the perfecting of the organization. The next meeting will be held August 18, when the association will be incorporated.

The following committee was appointed to assist the incorporation committee: E. Colman of Sandy, W. A. Proctor of Pleasant Home, H. W. Bushnell of Sycamore, John Townsend of Fairview and H. A. Darnell of Gresham.

Mrs. William Folsom.

Pendleton, Or., Aug. 12.—Mrs. William Folsom, a pioneer of Umatilla county and wife of Ex-County Recorder William Folsom, died at Medical Lake, Wash. Sunday and the remains were interred at Pilot Rock where the family formerly resided, last evening under the auspices of the Rebecca lodge of Pendleton, of which she was a member. The family left this city for Kennewick, where they have resided for a year.
