NO WAY TO CHECK CITY HAY FIELDS

Ordinance Faulty Giving City Power to Trim Residents' Tall Grass.

In an opinion filed with City Auditor Harbor this morning, Deputy City Attorney Frank S. Grant held that the ordinance recently passed by the city council requiring property owners to cut and remove grass and weeds exceeding 10 inches in height from all property within 120 feet of an improved street, cannot be enforced.

His opinion was made at the request of the police committee of the city executive board. According to the estimate of the police committee the city would have to spend about $10,000 each year to carry out the provisions of the ordinance. The opinion follows:

"I have your favor enclosing the report of the committee on police and ordinance No. 18,098, together with a communication from the chief of police, all relating to the cutting and removal of weeds and grass from private property and making the cost of removal a lien on the property.

"After a careful consideration of this ordinance I find several serious objections to it. The first objection is that the cost of cutting the grass and weeds is to be paid in the first instance by the city, not the property owner. The second objection is that no notice is required to be given to the property owner and I am of the opinion that the ordinance is unconstitutional in that respect. It could place a lien upon the property for the cutting of grass and weeds should first require a notice of some kind to be given to the property owner. The next objection is that the ordinance provides that a lien against any lot shall be entered, having been certified eligible by the civil service commission, and when so docketed shall be collected in the same manner as assessments for street improvements are collected, or the same may be collected in any other manner as the council of the city of Portland may direct.

"I am of the opinion that the ordinance should provide a definite method of enforcing the collection of a lien and not, as the ordinance now provides, that the ordinance itself and leave it to the council to prescribe another method. In other words, one method of enforcement should be prescribed. Another objection is that no provision is made aff-fecting non-resident property owners, and it is necessary that the ordinance should read not only resident owners, but non-resident property owners. You are advised that in my opinion the ordinance in its present condition could not be enforced.

"Ordinances of this character have been held unconstitutional as a proper exercise of the police power and under the provisions of our charter there is ample authority for the council to pass this ordinance. In fact it is made the duty of municipal corporations by the law of the state to exterminate certain kinds of weeds."

Proof of the Superiority of Meat over all other Foods

Many people try to delude themselves into believing that there is more nutrition and wholesomeness in a meatless diet.

That this is a false theory is proven by the way these people will work, plan and scheme to find something that will take the place of meat.

PURE MEAT HAS NO SUBSTITUTES.

It is easily digested and is all nutrition.

Notice persons that have lived for years on a meatless diet and you will see that they are, as a rule, colorless, lack nerve strength, and have very little real endurance.

The only danger is in buying impure meats, and this can easily be avoided by always insisting on being sold meat that is stamped:

A New Departure

The cost of interments has been greatly reduced by the Holman Undertaking company.

Heretofore it has been the custom of funeral directors to make charges for all interments connected with a funeral. The Edward Holman Undertaking company, the leading funeral directors of Portland, have departed from that custom. When asked is furnished by us we make no extra charges for embalming, hearse to cemetery, outside box or any services that may be required of us, except clothing, casket and burials, thus effecting a saving of $25 to $75 on each funeral.

The Oregon Agricultural Experiment station has just issued four new bulletins which are of much interest to the farmer and horticulturist of the state. Bulletin No. 99, emanating from the station's department of horticulture is an "Annual Survey of Oregon County" circular bulletin No. 2 contains "Hints for Eastern Farmers." The department of bacteriology issued Bulletin No. 98, "Preventing Wild Mushrooms," and bulletin No. 97, by the department of chemistry, is entitled "Comments Upon State Fertilizer Law." These bulletins are sent free by the experiment station at Corvallis to all residents of Oregon who request them.

The remains of Rev. E. C. Baker, who died at Salt Lake City on August 7, were interred yesterday afternoon in Lone Fir cemetery. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. John Finn, a pioneer minister of the Mission church, who married him seven years ago at Vancouver. Mr. Parker was pastor for two years at Ilwaco, Wash., and was called to Ilwaco about months ago. One of his sisters is Mrs. B. L. Turner of 186 East Twelfth street.

Portland people are greatly gratified at the steadily increasing interest being taken in the gold dredging industry throughout different parts of the state. The Western Exploration & Dredging company have had a steady inquiry for their stock all through the state following the financial inquiry of last fall. There is now but little more of their stock that can be had at 40c per share, and the price will probably soon make a sharp advance without notice.

At a recent meeting of the North Alina Push club the property-owners on Killingsworth avenue decided to petition for the widening of the thoroughfare from 50 to 60 feet, and a delegation from the club was at the city engineer's office yesterday to see what arrangements could be made in regard to establishing the grade. The property owners want the present grade changed so that the height of the center of the street over the curb line will not be so great.

W. L. Buckner has begun suit in the circuit court against Rose Hathaway and the Multnomah Land company on a mechanic's lien for $241 for material and labor on a dwelling and five lots in Astor Lodge on the peninsula. The latest addition to the United East Side Push clubs is the Mount Scott Improvement association, which at its last meeting voted to join the general organization. The officers of the club are: E. J. Marshall, E. F. Shaugnessy and W. P. Hays. They were chosen delegates to represent the association in the united club.

Accused by the Portland Railway, Light & Power company, for which he worked as conductor of retaining about $21 worth of tickets, S. H. Blinn was arrested last night. He will be heard before Justice Bell next week. He declares to fully intended to turn in the tickets when he returned to work.

The Shepherds of America, second degree Foresters, will give a moonlight picnic tonight on the river. Two steamers and a diving barge have been chartered for the occasion and a grand time is expected. The party will leave the Stark street dock at 8 o'clock.

Allowing a minor to remain in his bedroom cost F. M. Dittmer a fine of $10 in the municipal court today. Frank Ditty was rounded up yesterday for driving a horse with painful sore spots. Today he paid the city $10 as penalty.

Claiming twice the amount in damages that he paid for an automobile to Mitchell, Lewis & Staver, George H. Elkerstedt has begun suit in the circuit court for $1,800. He says he bought a machine from the defendant company in June for $750, but it was not as rep-
