DEEDS OF ANNIS ACHIEVED IN COURT

HANDCUFFED TOGETHER BROTHERS LED TO JAIL

Magistrate Orders an Adjudgment Until Next Monday, Which Hains Brothers Meet With Calm Indifference—Great Interest in Case—Prosecutor Confident

New York, Aug. 17.—Ashen pale, with white lips, but without the slightest other outward sign of nervousness or excitement, Captain Peter C. Hains Jr., U. S. A., and his brother, T. Jenkins Hains, were arraigned in the Long Island City police court today on the charge of murdering William E. Annis, advertising manager of Recreation and the Burr McIntosh Magazine, whom Captain Hains shot to death Saturday on the float of the Bayside Yacht club.

The brothers, who belong to one of the most prominent families of the army, were brought into the courtroom manacled together. The handcuffs were removed after they were in the courtroom. Hundreds of persons had gathered to witness the arraignment, and the crowd was so great the officers had trouble making way for the prisoners to enter.

The hearing came to a sudden termination after a whispered conference between Ira G. Darrin, district attorney of Queens county, and W. E. Percy, who appeared as counsel for the defendants.

Adjourn Until Monday. The magistrate ordered an adjournment until next Monday. The brothers then were handcuffed again and led back to jail. All the principals decline to talk.

The proceedings were brief. The Hains brothers seemed grimly determined to face the consequences of the shooting, which they consider was necessary to uphold the honor of the family.

District Attorney Darrin today declared that he had sought murder indictments against both the brothers and that in his opinion both should be tried on the charge of murder in the first degree.

Captain Hains believed Annis had been the cause of the trouble between him and Mrs. Hains. The brothers, with drawn revolvers, crowded while Captain Hains killed Annis. The district attorney holds that under the law they are equally guilty.

On account of the prominence of all participants the case has aroused the greatest interest, and it is believed the trial will be dramatic as well as sensational.

Premeditated Crime. The Hains brothers evidently considered well before they decided upon killing Annis. They have accepted their incarceration as if they fully expected it. They flinched today at the idea of being handcuffed but only momentarily, and they walked with their heads high in the air and their jaws set.

Goldman has any court even. They are entirely convinced of the justice of their cause and are confident of their success. They are facing the charge for which the penalty is death and they have in being handcuffed based their case upon the unwritten law, they are calm and cool.

It is understood that Mrs. Peter C. Hains, wife of the captain, is in New York with her mother, Mrs. Charles H. Libbey of Winthrop, Mass., but all efforts to find her have failed. It is thought she is in hiding and will attempt to avoid notoriety in connection with the case.

Captain Hains recently filed suit for divorce from her, naming Annis as co-defendant.

LOCAL MAN SAYS HAINS WAS HERO

T. Jenkins Hains, the magazine writer who stood guard and prevented interference while his brother, Captain Hains, shot the man, was today declared a hero by a local man.

BARNUM-BAIKEY TRAIN DITCHED

Passenger and Commissary Sections Derailed—Menagerie Escapes.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 17.—Eight men were seriously injured and several others slightly hurt when section No. 1 of Barnum and Baikey's circus special was derailed near Port Kells yesterday afternoon. The injured: W. H. McKeen, Rochester, N. Y., spine injured; Andrew McLean, wounded in head; may not recover.

Following are in the hospital at New Westminster: F. Wallace, New York city; F. B. Linger, Calumet, Mich.; Swanson, Valley City, N. D.; W. Morrison, Sioux City, Mich.; H. J. Hollister, Chicago.

The wreck was due to spreading of the rails. It occurred when half of the heavy section had passed over. Seven wagons of the commissary department were derailed and two of them smashed to splinters. By a lucky chance the passenger section was not derailed. The other three parts of the train were stopped in time to prevent a rear-end smash.

The Great Northern line to Vancouver was tied up until 5 o'clock this morning.

VENGEANCE CAMPAIGN WILL OPEN AT HEILIG

Stern Purpose to Bring to Account Springfield Rioters—Many of Those Most Bloodthirsty Are Quietly Sneaking.

One of Fiercest in Mob Was a Russian Jew—City Quiet, Troops in Control and the Grand Jury Will Do the Rest.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Springfield, Ill., Aug. 17.—The rioters who had this city under a reign of terror since Friday night in a bloody race war, and were only checked by the presence of more than 3,000 soldiers, are thoroughly awed today at the prospect of swift and rigid punishment for the leaders. The realization that some one must pay for the lawlessness and crime struck home with a sudden jolt, and some of the most vicious in their attacks upon the blacks today are slipping out of town in much the same haste as the negroes, who are convinced they can never live here again.

The soldiers are in complete charge of the city and no disorder was reported this morning except in outlying districts, and this was not of importance.

Acting under the direction of Governor Deneen, Judge James A. Creighton of the circuit court today ordered a special grand jury to convene tomorrow morning at 7:15 o'clock, when he will be met by the reception committee, consisting of F. V. Holman, chairman; C. K. Henry, Hon. John M. Gearin, Hon. J. E. Hedger of Oregon City, S. M. Garland of Lebanon, L. Blyden of Eugene and Thomas G. Greene.

Will Meet at Depot. The reception committee will meet at the Portland at 6:45 and go to the Union depot in a body. With Judge Parker will be Delancy Nichol of New York, a prominent attorney. The notable guests will be taken directly to the Hotel Portland, where rooms have been engaged for them. Preparations for their entertainment, including luncheon at the Commercial club and an automobile drive about the city.

State Chairman Alex Swock of this Democratic convention this morning received a telegram from Theodore A. Bell, dated Seattle, in which he says that he regrets that he will be unable to present tomorrow evening. This is a disappointment to the entertainment committee who had expected to include Mr. Bell in their arrangements.

Principal Speakers. The principal speaker tomorrow night will be Judge Parker. He will be introduced by W. H. Hedger of Salem, the prominent attorney and Democratic leader. A large delegation from eastern Oregon is expected and other shining lights from all parts of the state will be gathered to hear the first guns fired.

ARKANSANS DRAW THE COLOR DEADLINE

(United Press Leased Wire.) Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 17.—Serious trouble is expected today at Truman, Poinsett county, Arkansas, over the importation of 12 negroes to work in the yards of the Springfield Lumber company. Last night the white element of the town declared they would not permit the blacks to live among them and declared they would burn the camp where the negroes were stationed, but the latter fled.

Miss Eleanor Pindall has been asked to send troops to the scene and is in communication with the local authorities.

COURT SUMMONS GRAND JURY TO MEET TOMORROW

(United Press Leased Wire.) Springfield, Ill., Aug. 17.—The investigation of the riots here will be a real investigation. There will be no whitewashing or shaming. This became known today and fear is widespread among the whites who took part in the mob. The houses of the negroes seem to be being searched by agents of Sheriff Werner in an effort to find evidence of participation in the destruction. The sheriff said today that he would not be the best of men for only those who would be fearless in their action.

Pittsburg Heiress Weds Mr. O. Shigetoshi Majima in Japan.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 17.—Pittsburg society was surprised today at the announcement that Miss Edna May Poeschl, an heiress of this city, was married to O. Shigetoshi Majima, a Japanese, at a small village near Tokio last Saturday evening. The announcement of the wedding came in a cablegram to Mrs. J. Falston Livingstone, of Springfield, an aunt of the bride.

Majima comes from a prominent Japanese family. He was educated in Notre Dame, Ind., and married Miss Poeschl here from three years ago. He moved in the best society of Boston and Cambridge and met Miss Poeschl, who was attending school at Boston.

The young people became engaged and Majima followed by fiancée to this city, accompanied by his uncle, Lieutenant Commander Shigetoshi Takahira of the Japanese army. The Livingstone family entertained the Japanese while they were here.

Miss Poeschl started on an European trip last fall and the announcement that she was married near Tokio was the first intimation that her friends had that she had gone to Japan. Her relatives are understood to be far from pleased.

(United Press Leased Wire.) San Francisco, Aug. 17.—District Attorney Langdon today was presented with a copy of a resolution adopted by the depositors of the Market Street bank at a meeting yesterday, calling upon him to immediately begin the prosecution of the officials and directors of the suspended institution.

DOES ANY PERSON KNOW THIS MAN OF MYSTERY?

Here is the Man of Mystery.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 17.—Housed in the detention hospital of this city is an unknown man awaiting identification. His case is full of the dramatic and pathetic. His memory is shattered and he cannot remember his name or his home nor can he give any hint that might lead to his identification.

He claims that the last thing he can remember was being in the thick of the fray on the football field. He was playing the position of quarterback for his college. He thinks he was kicked in the head. The next incident remembered was awakening in a hospital, but where it was has completely passed out of his mind. A lapse of some months must have intervened during which time his memory is a complete blank.

Doctors who have investigated the case claim it is one of the most unusual cases they have ever known. His mind seems to be clear in many respects, yet when it comes to remembering names, either of people or places, it is absolutely blank. His memory seems to be subject to power of suggestion, for instance, when he entered the detention hospital last Saturday night it was necessary to give him a name and the attendant suggested a list of eight or

10 names without result until the name Frank was suggested, and he immediately brightened up with the reply, "That's it, Frank."

Talks Incoherently. A representative of this paper today called on this man of mystery and interested in all kinds of sport, though unable to take the initiative on anything of this nature. As a question to draw him out he was asked if he knew a football player named "Yost." He thought a minute in a dazed fashion. "Why, Yost isn't a football player; he is a trainer," showing he had some remnants of his memory left. He was asked in regard to many universities and colleges, most of which he said he had heard of, and several he claims to have been at during his football career and other times. He has a distinct recollection of having been at Cornell and at Princeton, and of having witnessed the boat races at Foughkeepsie, though this information was only obtained after he had been asked definitely regarding them.

His seems to be exceedingly well educated and writes a good hand. He realizes his own condition and sits hours at a time thinking and trying to remember some name which will lead to his salvation.

A most pathetic incident occurred this afternoon which shows more clearly than words his mental condition, his education and his feelings. While talking with him, a magazine was noticed on the table and he had written these words in a clear hand while thinking of his situation: "Where are the friends of yesterday, gone with the dead things of—"

The police are bending every effort to locate his friends and relatives.

LENSES MADE BY THE GYROSCOPE

Johns Hopkins Stargazer Invents High Power With No Cost to Grind.

New York, Aug. 17.—Scientists here are interested today in the announcement that Professor Wood of Johns Hopkins university is soon to produce a new type of reflecting telescope that will make the great Lick and Yerkes telescope look like pigmies.

The builders of the Yerkes and Lick instruments are at work on what Professor Wood calls a small model of his new invention, but the model is half the size of the famous tubes. Professor Wood expects to mount the model in his private observatory at East Hampton, L. I., and if it proves successful, a full instrument will be erected.

The new instrument consists of a flat circular basin filled with mercury and set in motion by an electric motor. The varying speed of the motor determines the focal length of the telescope.

CRACK SAFE OF CUDAHY COMPANY

Burglars Do Not Reach Inner Compartment of the Strong Box and Fail to Obtain Any Loot on the East Side.

Windows in the Building Are Shattered by Force of the Explosion—Outer Steel Door of the Safe Is Twisted by Nitroglycerin.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Chicago, Aug. 17.—Vincent Crapo, alias Cipicorelli, a Sicilian, 44 years of age, who recently came here from New Orleans, alleged by the police to be the leader of the Mafia in this country, was arrested here today in the act of getting a bond suspended to contain him from being under a sidewalk, where it had been placed by Benedetto Carro, a wealthy Carro informed the police some time ago that he had received threatening letters from the Black Hand society demanding $1,000 under pain of being thrown under a sidewalk. The letter demanded that the money be placed under a sidewalk by midnight last night.

The police instructed Carro to put the money under the sidewalk and they waited until they had arrested the man who was supposed to contain him from appearing in court.

Crapo was captured as he was returning for the bond. The police believe he is a member of the Mafia.

Shock Smashes Windows. The explosion was evidently of nitroglycerin and was of great force. Windows throughout the building were broken and many of the panes in the glass partition just back of where the safe stands were blown out. One of the heavy outer doors of the safe, which was a substantial steel affair, was blown almost entirely off its hinges and is twisted and torn into shreds by the force of the explosion. Even the frame work of the door was twisted and bent.

Haskett is extremely reticent in discussing the affair, stating that it is contrary to the policy of his company to tell the public anything about such happenings. However, he says the safe was empty and that the burglars confined their attention to it, nothing else in the office being disturbed except by the explosion.

The attempt to blow open the safe was made at 2:35 o'clock this morning. The explosion was heard by Fireman Goldstone of the fire box station, which is only about a block away at the end of the street. He says he was sitting in the station with the door open, being on watch, when at 2:35 he heard a muffled noise as if someone had thrown a bomb into the office and let it fall. He went out to see what it was but could see nothing. About the quietest of minutes later he heard the patrol wagon coming across the
