

BIG DOINGS ON LABOR DAY NEXT

Committee Holds Meeting and Decides on Some Attractive Features.

Something new in the way of Labor Day celebrations is planned by the committee having the arrangements in charge. There was a meeting of the committee yesterday afternoon in Drew hall, at which the details of the celebration were discussed and preliminary arrangements made.

Labor Day this year comes on September 7. The celebration will be held at the Lewis & Clark fair grounds and promises are made that it will be the biggest thing of the kind that the labor unions have yet undertaken.

Among other features of the day will be a thrilling "slide for life" by Professor Welles, who will slide down a wire from the top of the Agricultural building to the ground. There is also to be a balloon ascension by a woman, who before leaping out with her parachute will throw out a number of envelopes entitling those who get them to premiums.

There are to be contests of mechanical skill, such as nail driving, joint wiping, door hanger, hole boring, line throwing and shingle weaving. In the parade will be a float on which a crew of carpenters will erect a house complete while the float is being drawn through the streets.

The parade will be a big one and all the various labor organizations will be in line. A $50 prize is offered for the best disciplined organization in the parade; $20 for the best uniformed; $15 for the best feature or float and $5 for the most grotesque individual.

The exercises are to be held in the Oriental building beginning at 2 o'clock. Among those who will deliver addresses are Governor Chamberlain, Mayor Lane, C. O. Young, national organizer for the American Federation of Labor; E. J. Lewis, D. A. White, and W. S. U'Ren. Mrs. Ella Holberg Tripp will render several vocal numbers.

The celebration will be under the direction of J. D. M. Crockwell, assisted by the committees from the building trades, federated trades, iron trades, waterfront trades, iron trades council and Allied printing trades.

LIVELY MONTH FOR THE JOURNAL CONTESTANTS

As schools will not open till September 14 there is still another month for students to devote to the work of securing subscriptions for The Oregon Journal which will determine the winner of the valuable scholarships and cash awards. A month will not be long in passing and those who kill time now will wake up later only to discover that more wide-awake students took advantage of all the available time at their disposal.

It is an indifferent student indeed who would allow such a golden opportunity as the present one to pass by without seizing it. Bright, ambitious boys or girls could start in now and easily secure enough subscriptions for The Journal to entitle them to a valuable scholarship. All it requires is the determination and close application to the work. With the will, augmented by untiring energy young people can accomplish difficult things which to the indifferent boys and girls seem impossible. Obstacles are no barriers to success. They only make success more secure. Success achieved without strenuous efforts is not appreciated.

Boys and girls competing for scholarships cannot very easily win without devoting their time to the work. Their friends and the public will help those who show a determined effort to help themselves. Students are admired for their ambition and those who show the most ambition are those who will get the most support. Every day lost is a slip in the cogwheel of progress. Perpetual motion is what is required.

Anyone solving this problem will be successful beyond all conception. Millions of dollars await such an inventor. Students who have the perpetual motion idea can develop it to advantage in contest work. By keeping everlastingly at it it will bring success and may be the means of developing greater ideas through valuable scholarships won in the contest. Remember the old adage, "Out of sight, out of mind." If you are not in sight your friends will forget you. Circulate among them and your enthusiasm will induce your friends to use their influence in gaining votes for you. Time and tide will wait for no one.

Now is the time to work. Tomorrow may offer the same or bigger obstacles. The thing to do is to brush away the little impediments of progress today and those popping up tomorrow will be insignificant. If you allow them to accumulate they will obstruct your way. Make up your mind—this means you—to secure more votes for the next score than you have for the past, and if you keep up the same winning spirit throughout the contest you will be a winner.

FINAL BAND CONCERT OF SEASON BRINGS LARGE CROWD TO PARK

Sig. De Caprio's band delighted a large audience at city park yesterday afternoon with high-class and popular music. It was the last concert in the park for the season, a fact much regretted by the music-loving public, since there is reason to believe that fine weather will prevail yet awhile.

Yesterday the weather was ideal. Better could not have been wished for. Thousands of people had to stand up because of there not being benches enough to accommodate the crowds. This evil, it is hoped, will be remedied by next season. Many mild complaints have been heard because of the lack of benches to accommodate at least the greater portion of an ordinary audience. Under existing conditions only a very small portion of the thousands who attend the concerts are able to get seats.

Yesterday's program was splendidly rendered from the lightest to the heaviest number. The heavier numbers were Verdi's "I Lombardi," and the "Count of Essex" overture and the andante from Beethoven's First symphony. Sig. De Caprio played one of his popular baritone solos, "Cavatina" from "Attila," and for an encore gave La Napolitan Tarantella. A brilliant number composed by Sig. De Caprio's father, a composer of note in Italy. The most successful season will close Wednesday night with a concert at Holladay park, East Twelfth street and Holladay avenue.

CHERRY NUMBER OF NOBODY'S IS OUT

The Eugene Commercial club has published its August number of "Nobody's Magazine," which teems with humor and satirical reading matter judiciously mixed. It is called the cherry number, and some excellent pictures of cherries all photographed with little girls in delighted attitudes serve to show Lane

Service Uninterrupted.

The local office of the Canadian Pacific is in receipt of advice to the effect that the machinists' strike is not interfering with the train service. All transcontinental trains arriving on time.

county's prides.

A few strawberry pictures imply that Hood River is not the only strawberry country in the state. Aside from information about the cherry output in Eugene and Lane county, there are given the postoffice receipts of Eugene, some weather statistics and many interesting inquiries from correspondents. The little publication is full of life and enthusiasm, and depicts well the spirit that is making the town forge ahead so rapidly.
