WATER POWER SITES TAKEN

Pendleton's Gravity System Plan Faces Unexpected Obstacle.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Pendleton, Or., Aug. 22.—The Wenaha Water & Power company, a corporation composed of A. J. Borle, T. J. Morris and Frank O. Rodgers, and capitalized at $10,000, last evening filed on three water and power sites on the Upper Umatilla river, comprising 10,000 inches of water. This monopolizes the entire water and power resources of the Umatilla river and leaves the city of Pendleton, which is now estimating the cost of a gravity system of city water, "out in the cold."

Unless the company permits the city to file on a water site, the gravity system of city water now contemplated will be impossible, unless a water supply can be found elsewhere. The object of the Wenaha company in filing on the water and power sites, it is said, is to generate electric power for the Wenaha Springs summer resort.

KRUTTSCHNITT CALLED

practically every state through which our lines run are clamoring. Just as Oregon is clamoring, for more rails."

Governor Returns.

Both Governor Chamberlain and Mr. Stanley, together with Mr. O'Brien, returned this morning enthusiastic over the result of the conference. If any doubt as to Harriman's intentions respecting central Oregon are entertained it is not in evidence.

"Harriman will build into central Oregon," declared Governor Chamberlain this morning. "He has given his absolute promise, flat-footed, definite and without equivocation. He has said immediately, means it, and hardly before we were out of his sight he started the wheels by summoning Mr. Kruttschnitt for a final conference before the line is definitely decided upon. Within 60 days at the outside work will be started on the long-delayed means of putting the interior on a rapidly-developing basis.

Was Intending to Build.

"There is little question," the governor continued, "but that Harriman fully intended to build this route last year. He told us that prior to the panic he had $88,000,000 in bonds just ready to float for construction work when the stringency came on. Of course that placed a quietus on every plan. The promise he has given us now, however, means a fulfillment without delay of his original intention."

That the construction of a road into the heart of a section rich in natural resources will prove a mighty stimulus to rapid development, settlement and production, is the view taken by Mr. Stanley, whose company has a segregation in Crook county of 300,000 acres of land, 100,000 of them under irrigation and upon which nearly $1,000,000 has already been expended.

"There is little question that Harriman intends building up the Deschutes canyon, coming onto the table land at the mouth of Trout creek so as to tap the wheat raising section of the Agency Plains, then into Madras and southward to Bend. He intimated as much and I think the conference with Mr. Kruttschnitt will result in a definite announcement.

Population Will Double.

"The line will probably be completed into Madras by next summer, then pushed on into the irrigated section to the objective point at Bend. With the commencement of actual construction, Crook county's population will soon double. There are scores of owners of irrigated tracts, non-residents, who will take up a permanent residence with their families as soon as they are assured of transportation facilities.

"The irrigation company will go ahead with its work on a larger scale and open the way for the great influx of settlers which has ever characterized any portion of the state. With unlimited resources at its command, the county will bound forward at a rapid and unbeckonable rate."

In reply to an inquiry relative to the farmer's railroad line, which the irrigation company was promoting through the aid of the business men and residents in Crook county, Mr. Stanley said that all the efforts being made thereto to construct a feeder road to gain an opening to outside markets would now be turned to help Harriman's project.

"We practically have the rights-of-way secured from Bend to Madras and I think there will be little difficulty in getting the grade made over that entire distance ready for the ties and rails, completing this work in time to turn it over to Harriman as soon as his construction forces have finished the north end of the line as far southward as Madras."

Governor Chamberlain and his party returned this morning from Medford, where they boarded the train after crossing the mountains from Pelican Lodge. The trip in was by auto from Shanlko and the distance covered by gasoline power measured practically 400 miles.

The trip from Crater lake to Medford was made Friday, a distance of 90 miles. Mr Harriman has returned to the Lodge where he will wait for Mr. Kruttschnitt, who leaves Portland today.

JAPAN INVESTIGATES HER ARMY AND NAVY

Tokio, Aug. 22.—The appointment of a commission to investigate charges of disloyalty and corruption in the army and navy was announced today. The personnel of the commission was not made public and the investigation will be conducted secretely. It is understood that the charges were recently laid before the mikado and that they are of the most serious nature, alleging that cliques have been formed and that corruption is thriving in both branches of the national defense. The charges of disloyalty particularly have aroused the mikado to immediate action, although the majority of the government officials discredit the allegations and indicate their belief that they came from unreliable sources.

It is reported that the investigating committee is composed of army and navy officers and that General Nogi is at its head. The methods to be pursued by the commission probably have not been determined, but nothing will be known of its action until the final report is made.

JAMES STEELE, State Bank Examiner.

TRIP BY BICYCLE TO TILLAMOOK COUNTY

There is only one county in the United States where the farmers have so many cattle that they can afford to kill hundreds of calves every year to reduce their herds, and throw the carcasses into the fields to decay. That is the county of Tillamook, Oregon where the cattle of a few hundred dairymen graze upon a thousand hills and multiply so rapidly that their owners are obliged to kill off every year a large proportion of the spring's calves in order to prevent them from destroying the grazing. It is a country of beautiful scenery, a delightful climate, undeveloped resources and untold possibilities.

C. S. Jackson, with his two sons Francis and Phillip, and A. F. Pratt have just returned from a bicycle trip through Tillamook and is very enthusiastic over the future which he predicts for that rich section of the state. "All Tillamook county needs," he says, "to become the peer of any county is the electric trolley and the iron horse and good roads."

The party went by rail to Forest Grove and then on bicycles over the Wilson river road to Tillamook. "The road was in splendid condition," says Mr. Jackson, "and is one of the most picturesque and sightly mountain roads in Oregon. In crossing the coast range to the west one goes over a hill five miles long, rising to a height of 2,000 feet. Beyond this a fairly good downhill grade is struck to Tillamook city and bay.

Lunch at Brown's.

"Leaving Forest Grove in the morning by team, the traveler reaches Brown's in time for lunch, and for supper a mountain resort rejoicing in the name of the White House, run by J. F. Keeher, where the best accommodations both of table and bed are to be found. Some of the best fishing in Oregon is to be found about here, and wonderfully cold mountain water. There is both hot and cold water in the house. Here is a typical mountain resort where one can spend a week or more with great delight. Mrs. Reeher being a most hospitable hostess.

"On the Wilson river route it is necessary to ford a tributary once and the river itself once, Tillamook county failing to bridge the streams at these particular crossings. From the ford of Wilson river to Tillamook is a distance of about five miles. There is really a first class road with a rock surface and smooth as a floor. We found little dust anywhere.

"Reaching Tillamook one finds a town of about 1,000 people, healthy and prosperous, having an abundance of tids world's goods in many forms. It is the dairyman's paradise, sure enough. There is neither any very hot nor any very cold weather. The Tillamook county people made and marketed last year $450,000 worth of cheese. There are six creameries in the county, handling from 2,000,000 to 3,500,000 pounds of milk each.

"One of the remarkable facts in this connection is that there are too many cattle in the county—so many that the farmers and dairymen are in the habit of killing the young stock and throwing the carcasses into the fields to decay because there is no way of shipping them out and to allow the cattle to increase and multiply would destroy the ranges. Many hundreds of young calves are thus butchered and the values lost. Here alone is reason enough why a railroad should be built into that country forthwith.

Much Standing Timber.

"It is said by those who are in a position to know that there are 30,000,000,000 feet of standing timber in Tillamook county. At the present time the county is having the timber cruised and valued with a view of taxing it to the very limit so that part of the unearned increment of timber growth may be gathered for the benefit of the county and state rather than allowing it all to go for the benefit of the timber speculators. This large fund is to be drawn upon liberally for still better roads all over Tillamook county. It is stated that as much as $50,000 will be available this year for good roads—and there are only about 6,000 people in the county of Tillamook.

"One railroad would soon put 20,000 people in that section and there is room for a quarter of a million or more.

"As a sample of the thoroughness with which dairying is carried on, I have but to refer to the report of a dairy herd owned by W. A. Alderman, whose lands are near Tillamook. This man had a herd of 21 cows. This herd brought him in a total for the year 1907 of $2,385.96, or an average per cow of $113.61. The total production of milk was 177,612 pounds, an average of 8,186 pounds per cow.

"Returning to Portland, part of our party embarked on the steamer Elmore to Astoria while the rest went by bicycle over the Sheridan road. On this road an automobile stage is operated by Raleigh Watson, formerly publisher of the Tillamook Herald. He makes the trip regularly and safely at a reasonable expense. He runs from McMinnville to Tillamook, and the fare is $5.

Off on the Steamer.

"On the steamer leaving Tillamook at 4 in the afternoon one proceeds down a narrow and crooked stream several miles in length to Bay City at the head of deep water of Tillamook bay. Here a pier more than half a mile in length puts out into the bay. Owing to the fog, the Elmore tied up at the wharf for the night. The next morning she proceeded to Hobsonville Landing, where there is a very large sawmill, and then to Garabaldi, almost on the edge of the ocean as well as of the bay and one of the oldest towns on the Oregon coast. There, on account of the fog, the steamer remained all of Wednesday and until Thursday morning at 5 o'clock, when she proceeded to Astoria. During the day and night spent at Garabaldi the passengers has an opportunity to stroll down the coast toward Nahelem.

"About two miles from Garabaldi one suddenly discovers the United States life saving station, which was finished last May. There is a very handsome cottage for the keeper and a lodge for the seven men under him; also a station for the boat and equipment. This is one of the most complete stations of the service. It has its own water works system, with a reservoir on the steep hill above, and is equipped with pipes and hose for fire purposes as well as domestic uses. The station is a quarter of a mile from the ocean in a beautiful little dale shut in by hills. Along the length of this little valley runs a chain of fresh water lakes fairly teeming with trout.

"Keeper Farley informed me that the station was completed last May and in June the first wreck occurred. The life savers rescued seven men. The beach is patrolled every hour of the day and night.

"The names of the keeper and crew of the Tillamook life saving crew are: Robert Farley, keeper; A. A. Eastlund, No. 1; R. E. Turk, No. 2; L. F. Goin, No. 3; A. E. Lloyd, No. 4; H. H. Sharp, No. 5; H. M. Todd, No. 6; J. W. Jennings, No. 7.

"There is a beautiful beach along here of eight or ten miles, and fine sites for cottages. The day will come when 5,000 or 10,000 people will visit this locality every summer, for there is every attraction to induce them—beautiful scenery, a good climate, excellent fishing and hunting and plenty of good things to eat.

"Tillamook county needs only the iron horse and the electric trolley and still better auto and wagon roads to become the peer of any county in the state.

THOUSANDS CHEER FOR DEMOCRACY

We elect a congress every two years and a president every four years, and the people can soon stop any policy if the results of that policy are not satisfactory. But we believe that the experience the people have had with "protection for protection's sake" has led them to favor a restoration of the tariff by gradual steps to a revenue basis, and we are convinced that the advantages following each step will be so pronounced and that the benefits will be so universally enjoyed that there will be no cessation in the progress toward a system under which the tariff will be levied for the purpose of revenue and limited to the needs of the government. The low tariff law of 1846 did not produce a panic, on the contrary, it was so satisfactory that when the Republican party wrote its first platform—twelve years afterward the protective principle was not indorsed.

The Democratic party has declared for an income tax as a part of the revenue system, and for a constitutional amendment as a means of securing this tax. Secretary Taft announces in his notification speech that he is in favor of an income tax whenever the revenues are so low as to require it, and expresses his belief that it is possible to secure such a tax without a constitutional amendment. If it is possible to frame a law which will avoid the objections raised to the income tax law of 1894 well and good, but that is uncertain. If an income tax is desirable, surely Secretary Taft cannot consistently oppose the submission of a constitutional amendment to the people. If the principle is right and the tax wise, Congress ought to have authority to levy and collect such a tax, and no supporter of Secretary Taft can oppose our position without dissenting from the Republican candidate.

The whole aim of our party is to secure justice in taxation. We believe that each individual should contribute to the support of the government in proportion to the benefits which he receives under the protection of the government. We believe that a revenue tariff, approached gradually, according to the plan laid down in our platform, will equalize the burdens of taxation, and that the addition of an income tax will make taxation still more equitable. If the Republican party is to have the support of those who find a pecuniary profit in the exercise of the taxing power, as a private asset in their business, we ought to have the support of that large majority of the people who produce the nation's wealth in time of peace, protect the nation's flag in time of war, and ask for nothing from the government but even-handed justice.

TILLAMOOK LINE

bles over the Sheridan route, but returned by team over the Wilson road as far as the summit, where they were met by their auto yesterday.

Thursday the party took a launch trip down the bay as far as Garabaldi, and stopped at Bay City to look at the rolling stock in storage at that place. Later they went to Nehalem, and also inspected the proposed route and other surveys in that locality. Thomas Coates of this city accompanied the party. Before leaving the party also inspected the work done in the vicinity of this city.

Although Mr. Lytle this morning declared that the reported sale of his road was incorrect, the silence of Mr. Kruttschnitt on the matter made some think that perhaps there might be more to the rumor than idle speculation.

It is certain that the Harriman system intends laying a line through from Hillsboro to Tillamook in the very near future, and if the Lytle road is not purchased, then Harriman may build a road of his own. He has had a corps of surveyors in the Tillamook country for some time preparing for the line. Mr. Lytle's road is now constructed about 26 miles west from Hillsboro and several miles east from Tillamook.

If You had Suffered as Mrs. Hathaway Suffered

You would be just as sick of the poisonous decoctions the villainously deceptive "dope" handed out to you in those secret, or latin, prescriptions, as this poor woman was, and

THIS IS WHAT SHE SAYS ABOUT IT:

"For 25 years I suffered from inflammation and those delicate troubles usual to my sex, and several times during the last 12 years was unable, for months, to be on my feet, and was in bed the greater part of the time for 18 months before I went to Dr. Fulton. At that time I had come to the conclusion that my kidneys were affected. When I began treatment with the doctor last May I was bloated, had throbbing pains in my head, and at times a severe pain in the region of my heart. I also was exceedingly nervous and my lower limbs seemed heavy and lifeless and very much swollen. After the first few Naturopathic treatments I was less nervous than I had been for years, and AT THE END OF FIVE WEEKS WAS A NEW WOMAN. Now I can do all kinds of work, and lately WALKED FIVE MILES IN ONE DAY.

"MRS. SARAH HATHAWAY."

SHE HAD SUFFERED 25 YEARS AND NATUROPATHY CURED HER IN FIVE WEEKS.

This is the record I have made and am making in Portland. There are hundreds of others, men and women, who can tell the same kind of a story. I never print a name without permission, but scores have kindly permitted me to refer any sufferer to them, and their names and addresses may be had at my office.

YOU MAY BE CURED JUST AS SOUNDLY AS I CURED MRS. HATHAWAY—IF YOU'LL LET ME.

WEBB ATTACKS AMENDMENT 14

Because It Permits Chinese and Japanese to Become Citizens.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Denver, Colo., Aug. 22.—That the 14th amendment to the constitution should be repealed because it permits Chinese and Japanese born in this country to attain citizenship is the gist of a speech made at the closing session of the National Association of Attorneys General here today by Attorney-General Ulysses S. Webb of California.

Speaking of conditions in California, Attorney-General Webb said the federal government had taken advantage of the 14th amendment and a treaty with Japan to force Japanese into the San Francisco schools, against a law that had long been effective in California. Webb expressed the belief that the 14th amendment would be repealed sometime.

The convention elected the following officers: R. V. Fletcher of Mississippi, president; U. S. Webb of California, vice-president; W. S. Jackson of Colorado, secretary-treasurer. The next meeting place is to be selected by a committee appointed by the president.

Work has been temporarily abandoned on it.

It was stated at the Harriman headquarters today that Mr. Kruttschnitt had been instructed to leave for Pelican Lodge tonight and that he will make a report on the Tillamook line to Harriman himself.

FUGITIVE TRIES TO WORK CREDITORS

San Francisco, Aug. 22.—It became known today that Robert Brent Mitchell, the fugitive stockbroker whose failure and subsequent flight to Honduras in December, 1905, was a sensation, is negotiating with his creditors in this city to allow him to return to San Francisco. Mitchell is said to fear that the secret extradition treaty now being negotiated between the United States and Honduras will make it necessary for him to return anchow, and has offered 10 per cent to his creditors in return for their promise not to prosecute him if he should return to this city.

One of the creditors is standing out for 100 cents on the dollar and the negotiations are at a standstill.

WHY DRUGS MUST GO

Physician Tells How Nature's Remedy Will Supplant the Present System of Drugging.

His 100-Page Illustrated Book Telling How to Cure Yourself Without Medicine Given Free to All.

"Drugs have had their day," said Dr. Hall in his office yesterday. "They belong to the mystery and superstition of the past.

"You know that the old practice of drugging was originated by savages. When a man got sick they thought he was inhabited by some evil spirit, which must be driven out, so the rankest poisons were concocted by the native doctors for this purpose. The patient had either to get well or die—in most cases death was the result.

No Improvement

"Civilized doctors have made but very little improvement over the methods of the savage. They have learned that disease is not caused by evil spirits. They have learned how to administer poison in smaller doses and produce different effects upon the various organs of the body, without killing a man outright, but they have not learned how to prevent poison from doing harm.

The Danger In Drugs

"Nearly all the drugs you buy are doped with poison of some kind. The base of the doctor's prescription is poison. He uses it in nearly every case he treats. Without poison doctors who use drugs could not ease pain for a moment, because it is poison that stops pain, temporarily, by stupefying the nerves.

Act Like Whiskey

"The action of drugs is like that of whiskey. Whiskey will cause a man to 'brace up,' feel strong and [illegible] a few hours, but when the effect of the alcohol passes away the old stupid feeling returns worse than ever.

"Now, drugs will give you relief for a time, too, but the trouble returns as soon as the drug has ceased to act. Every minute that drugs give relief they are busy [illegible] in doing harm. They destroy the delicate lining of the stomach and weaken the nerves. They mix with the digestive juices, causing poor digestion and constipation. Every part of your vitals that is affected by drugs is weakened by them.

"There's only one way to cure any ailment. That way is to assist Nature. Drugs won't do it. Nature is the best doctor, and sometimes will [illegible] cure in spite of drugs. Then drugs will get the credit for what Nature alone did.

What Nature Wants

"The help Nature needs is electricity. It's the power that runs the machinery of your body, and most all ailments are due to the failure or breaking down of some vital part, the stomach, liver, kidneys, heart or nerves. The reason any organ fails to work properly is because it hasn't the power—electricity. Restore this force where it is needed and pain and sickness will disappear. That's Nature's way of curing. That's the way Electro-Vigor cures.

"Electro-Vigor is an electric body battery, applied while you sleep. It pumps a stream of electric life into every nerve and tissue of the body, building up vitality and strength and removing the cause of disease.

"Electro-Vigor does not shock or blister. The only sensation is a soothing glow.

"Electro-Vigor is not an electric belt. It never needs charging, for it makes its own power continuously.

"Electro-Vigor is a great success. It has cured people all over the West whom drugs had failed to benefit."

The Best Doctor

Dr. Osler, of Oxford University, in a recent address at Philadelphia, said: "I believe the best doctor is the one who knows the worthlessness of drugs."

Every doctor on earth knows almost as well as Osler the worthlessness of drugs, yet there are but few that acknowledge it. Some day they will have to, because the time is near when the antiquated system of drugging will be abandoned for the natural treatment—electricity.
