MISS FRANCES CAROLINE BRADFORD, FIANCEE OF RICHARD WILDER

Photograph by C. Elmore Grove.

THE August quiet continues but already talk of the fall activities has begun. Preparations are being made for the early fall weddings which will number the marriages of a number of social favorites. The first to be announced is that of Miss Bradford and Richard Wilder which will be celebrated early in September.

The early horse show in Seattle this year is hastening the talk, and interest in our own horse show which will take place in mid-October. A number of local horse fanciers are to enter their horses in the Seattle show and the completment will be returned in October. Many are planning to go over to the sound to attend the festivities there.

Mr. and Mrs. James Muckle and their daughter, Miss Agnes, returned Friday from their trip through Europe. Mrs. Muckle and Miss Muckle left a year ago and visited Egypt, Palestine, Turkey, Greece, Italy, Spain and France, and in May they went to England, where they were met by Mr. Muckle, who toured the British Isles with them. On their return trip they met in New York Mrs. Muckle's sister, Mrs. J. D. Young and her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Young, who were en route to Berlin, where they will spend the next five years, for Miss Young's musical training. Mrs. Muckle and Miss Muckle expect to return to Europe in the spring to tour Germany, Holland and Switzerland. They are now at their home on E. 1 a street, which during their absence was occupied by Mrs. Young, who opened her home on Portland Heights. Upon their return home Mrs. Muckle was met by her son Walter, who had just returned from a year spent in Alaska.

The chief event of interest even to people remaining in Portland the past week was the tennis tournament at Long Beach. A party went down from here and a large number of summer outers went over from Seaside. The social functions that attended the tourney were well attended and much enjoyed. Chief among them was the costume ball given at the Hotel Breakers. Parsons' orchestra from Portland played for dancing and the scene was one of gaiety and variety. There were a number of incidental entertainments and refreshments were served at [illegible] courts every day by prominent women who interested themselves in the success of the undertaking. To the latter the tournament has been recognized the N. National Lawn Tennis association. It was become an annual affair.

The marriage of Mrs. Susan Campbell Church and President P. L. Campbell of the University of Oregon was celebrated Thursday evening at Grand Rapids. They are enjoying a honeymoon trip to Sulphur Springs and will return early next month to Eugene. The bride is no less popular in Eugene than is Oregon's president. She has been there for several years, first as matron of the men's dormitory and later as hostess and in both capacities she endeared herself to the entire student body. They will take up their residence in the president's house on the campus, which is being remodeled. Heretofore Mrs. Zieber, the president's mother-in-law, has assumed the duties of the hostess of the president's home but she has gone to Seattle to live with her son.

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. S. Lipman was celebrated with elaborate detail last Tuesday. Many friends and relatives sent in congratulatory messages and gifts and flowers and many attended the reception given for them at the Portland in the evening. Only the immediate relatives of the family were in attendance at the elaborate dinner served earlier in the evening. Full details of the elaborate [illegible] were given in a daily issue of this paper. Among the gifts received was a [illegible] illuminated manuscript sent by the employes of Lipman, Wolfe & Co. [illegible] their good wishes and [illegible]

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dunning and their son, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Dunning, of Portland, arrived at Waldport [illegible] in two large touring cars. [illegible] were the first automobiles to arrive at Waldport. The trip in was a hard one and with a small [illegible] of work the roads could be made [illegible] travel. The conditions of the famous Digger mountain, where the party really expected trouble, was found to be exceptionally good. About two weeks were spent in the Alsea valley where trout fishing and hunting was enjoyed. Monday night the party camped at the Keady spring, just west of town, and proceeded down the beach to Yachats Tuesday morning. Mr. Dunning invited the Waldport people to ride with him and both autos were kept busy on the beach for some time. After an outing at Yachats the party will return to Portland by way of Newport.

Dr. and Mrs. S. J. Barber and their daughters, Miss Fanny and Miss Helen, left last Saturday for Berkeley, Cal., for a week to attend the wedding of Miss Lucy Lombardi, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Lombardi, to Lieutenant Alvin Barton Barber. The wedding was celebrated Thursday and Mr. and Mrs. Barber will come north immediately to sail from Seattle for the Philippines, where the lieutenant is stationed. The bride formerly lived here with her parents and was one of the most popular and prominent of the younger set. She was graduated from the Portland Academy and later from Bryn Mawr, where she took high honors in her class and was awarded a graduate scholarship. She will be remembered as the one who played so charmingly the leading part in "The Foresters," the first al fresco play given by the Collegiate Alumnae association. Mr. Barber is the second son of Dr. and Mrs. S. J. Barber and was a popular student both at Portland academy and at West Point, where he was graduated in the honor rank into the engineer corps of the army. A year ago he was stationed in the Islands.

One of the early fall weddings will be that of Miss Frances Caroline Bradford and Richard Wilder, which will be celebrated Thursday, September 3, at Trinity chapel. The ceremony will be a quiet one with only the bride's sister, Mrs. James E. McGowan, as attendant. Miss Bradford is a charming brunette, who is most popular with the Irvington set. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bradford of Irvington. Mr. Wilder is a brother of Mrs. Percy Blyth, who has been spending the spring and summer in England and who is expected home soon.

Miss Henrietta H. Failing was hostess at a pretty tea yesterday afternoon in compliment to Mrs. Wall of New York, who formerly lived here. A number of her friends were asked to meet her. Mrs. Wall is a charming woman, who has traveled much and is exceedingly well informed, especially on art, in which she is a connoisseur. Mrs. Frank Vincent Du Mond of New York and Miss Howe, who is visiting Mrs. W. L. Brewster, poured tea and Miss Isabella Gauld, Miss Arcline Webster, Miss Kate Failing, Miss Katherine Failing and Miss Olive Failing assisted.

A small colony of Portland people have collected at Hotel Empress in Victoria and have assisted in making the summer weeks pleasant for one another. Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ayer have apartments there and have been entertaining Mrs. C. E. S. Wood as their guest. The Allen Lewises and the William MacMasters with their several daughters and Mrs. Banks and her son are others staying there.

Miss Virginia Borup, who has been prominently connected with the children's work at the People's Institute, leaves this week for her home in St. Paul, to prepare for her wedding in October. Her engagement to Richard Holder was announced some time ago. She will return to make her home here after her marriage.

Miss Ruth Honeyman is the guest of her cousin, Miss Cunningham, of Seattle, whose bridesmaid she will be early in September. Prior to her departure from Tacoma her hostess, Miss Marion Blakeley, who has been so charmingly entertained here, gave a luncheon of 12 covers in her honor.

A good deal of pleasurable expectation is centered in the coming studio tea and exhibit to be given by Miss Lillis V. O'Ryan, whose miniature and portrait work has attracted much favorable comment.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Warren went down last week to visit Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hart at their cottage at Gearhart Park. Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Alvord joined the party yesterday.

Dick Jones spent last week at Seaside as the guest of Henry Wessinger. Miss Melda Hart is also being entertained at the Wessinger cottage by Miss Milla Wessinger.

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Fuller and their daughter, Miss Frances, and Mrs. Frank B. Thorn left yesterday on a trip through Yellowstone Park.

Mrs. George H. Flanders and her daughters, Miss Carrie and Miss Louise, are at Banff Springs after a visit of several days in Seattle.

Dr. and Mrs. George B. Storey are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a son at their house, 818 Overton street, last Thursday.

Mrs. C. F. Swigert entertained a few friends informally Monday afternoon with a musicale at her home on Willamette Heights.

Miss Mildred Honeyman will leave next week for Poughkeepsie, N. Y., to enter a girls' finishing school.

Miss Enid Rothchild gave a pretty dinner preceding the costume ball at the Breakers last week. The honor guests were six University of Oregon boys who came over from Sand Island—Robin Nelson, Victor Voigt, William Wood, Arthur Van Dusen, Philip Hart and Charles Snow.

Mrs. E. Nelson Wisner entertained a number of friends at the home of her mother, Mrs. William Pratt, on Water street, in Oregon City, Thursday afternoon. The afternoon was pleasantly passed with bridge, and the prize was won by Mrs. Theodore Osmund. Mrs. Wisner was assisted in her duties as hostess by her sister, Miss Cis Barclay Pratt.

The parlor and dining-room were beautifully decorated with flowering bugle vine. The prize for the best score was an unusually large and beautiful bunch of vari-colored sweetpeas.

The Fred Pages are enjoying their annual summer outing at Pelican bay, near the Williamson river. With F. S. Stratton, collector of the port of San Francisco, Mr. Page some years ago leased this place from the Indians and the two families spend their summer in this delightful place, to which they have added many improvements and conveniences.

Another early fall wedding of interest will be that of Miss Miriam Strong, who will be married to Harry S. Sladen Wednesday, September 23, at the First Presbyterian church. Miss Strong is one of the cleverest and most charming young women of Portland society and enjoys wide popularity. She is a Bryn Mawr graduate.

Mrs. Joseph McDonald and her guest, Mrs. H. M. Carlock, gave a fancy dress party for their young friends at Seaside last week which was intensely enjoyed. The prize for the best sustained character went to Miss Dorothy Huber, who appeared as an old maid.

Mrs. E. B. Gaze was hostess at a five hundred party and linen shower Friday for Miss Ethel Merton Hays, whose marriage to Frances Willard Bond of Pendleton will be celebrated Wednesday.

Mrs. John C. Ainsworth is spending the month at Banff in British Columbia. The first of September she will come down to Seattle to attend the horse show and to visit with friends.

Leo Hahn entertained with a launch party at Long Beach, Wednesday. About a dozen of his young friends were taken to Sand Island for a picnic luncheon.

A card from A. B. Steinbach tells of the trip he and his family are enjoying through Switzerland. France and Germany have also been in their itinerary and he lauds particularly the beauties of Tyrol. The "Hoher Lift," or elevator on the Hametschwand in the Alps was a special source of delight to him and he suggests the possibility of such a construction for scaling Portland heights.
