the state league an effort will probably be made to induce Danny Shay to remain in Stockton and take charge of the local ball club. Initiative in the report sent out yesterday from Los Angeles to the effect that he is slated to manage the new league club at Colton, Calif. says Shay has a sixth interest in the new club at Los Angeles and while it haven't closed a deal with them it is understood among the stockholders that I will take the management of the team if I get them together last winter when I was in Los Angeles.

They want me to pick up a team and will probably do so. I don't know what part of the club and still not identified with it as a player. I will go down and see them soon.

This spring I may ease up with the national baseball commission and was declared a free lance. I am free to sign where I choose. At any rate, I'm not now tied up for next season."
