MARINERS UNABLE TO SOLVE WRECKAGE MYSTERY

POPE LONGS ONLY TO BE SARTO AGAIN

Glory of the Pontificate Is Less to His Holiness Than the Peace and Quiet Which Are the Due of Declining Years.

Bishop Burke Discloses the Pontiff's Fear That His Days Will Be Short Under the Burden He Now Bears—Alarm at Vatican.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Rome, Sept. 3.—Expressing great fears that he has not much longer to live and that the burdens of the church are becoming too much for him to bear, Pope Pius X today, in an interview with Bishop Burke of Albany, N. Y., declared that he is filled with an unconquerable desire to return to private life in his old home at Venice where he may spend his declining years in quiet rest.

BOER WAR HERO WITH HARRIMAN

Major Burnham, Famous British Scout, Guest at Pelican Lodge.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Klamath Falls, Or., Sept. 3.—Harriman leaves Pelican Lodge tomorrow on his trip to the several Oregon cities which he has promised to visit between this city and Portland. He will return in a week, meeting the rest of his party at Weeds, from whence he will return to New York.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Klamath Falls, Or., Sept. 3.—Klamath Falls has been entertaining a noted scout of the British army without being aware of the prominence of its guest. With the Harriman party came Major Burnham. While no member of the party spoke of the major's prominence, it is now learned that he is England's most famous scout, one who was high renown during the Boer war, and especially in the Sudan after the Boer war, where he was captured with two others, but escaped through the lines, bringing a rescuing party to save his companions. Major Burnham is an American by birth, but has spent most of his time in the English army. He accompanied the Harriman boys on their hunting trip, but left last week via Seattle to rejoin the army.

WIFE OF BROKER COMMITS SUICIDE

Mrs. Myrian F. Colfelt Surprises Paris Colony by Taking Own Life.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Paris, Sept. 3.—A sensational attempt at suicide was made by Mrs. Myrian F. Colfelt, wife of T. H. Colfelt, the wealthy New York broker, last night. She shot herself three times shortly after midnight. Mrs. Colfelt is in a hospital. It is feared she cannot recover. It is reported that she was dissatisfied over her husband's troubles. She was alone in her hotel apartment when she fired the shot. She was unconscious when attendants reached her.

MATT JACKSON IS TILLAMOOK ROBBER

(United Press Leased Wire.) Chico, Cal., Sept. 3.—Matt Jackson, who is under arrest here on the charge of holding up 15 lumbermen, with the aid of an accomplice in a single night, was identified by the federal authorities today as A. Carlson, who is charged with robbing the Tillamook stage in Oregon on July 2. It is understood that he will be indicted by the federal grand jury at Portland. The theory has been advanced that Jackson, or Carlson, may have killed his partner, who helped him in holding up the 15 men here. The authorities claim to have evidence indicating this. It is known that bloody overalls were found in his possession after the crime. They procured several hundred dollars from their victims, over which they may have had a fight, it is suggested.

NO ONE TO BLAME FOR BOY'S DEATH

Wire Carrying 60,000 Volts, Uninsulated, Electrocutes Youth Standing on Fire-escape of Building, but Responsibility Is Shifted.

Coroner's Jury Unable to Agree on Whom to Censure—Verdict of Accidental Electrocutation—Exposed Wires.

Sixty thousand volts of electricity, enough to kill almost a regiment, are carried along North Twelfth street 30 inches from the fire escape on the Aldon Candy company building that a fireman climbing the outer ladder could scarcely squeeze inside them, and so near the landing that anyone leaning over the railing may inadvertently touch them and be killed.

John Haisig, a 16-year-old boy employed in the candy factory, leaned over the railing at noon Tuesday. Death came almost instantly. Responsibility for the death of the boy is divided between the electric company, the owners of the building, the fire department and the building inspector apparently, yet the coroner's jury could not agree as to where to lay the blame. Three jurors wished to censure the electric company, while three declared the boy himself was to blame, as he had been told to keep off the fire escape, though the danger of the wires was not known to the factory management and never explained to the employees.

Shift Responsibility. Seldom has testimony before any coroner's jury shown a more remarkable state of affairs than that given at the inquest held in the Dunning, McEneaney & Gibbings chapel at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It proves conclusively the necessity for centralized authority in looking after the public safety. As it is, practically every one concerned with the electric company is responsible for the boy's death to the others equally implicated. Because the deadly wires are the property of the electric company it is probable that it will be asked to pay damages. Attorney H. C. King represented the boy's father at the inquest.

RESULTS

Mrs. A. Carson lost a package of photographs and immediately had recourse to the famous Lost and Found column of The Oregon Journal last Sunday. Early Monday morning the photographs were returned to The Journal office by C. E. Nelson, 1009 Congress street, a Journal reader who saw the advertisement.

The Journal gives superior results because it reaches the homes of the masses and the classes alike. It is the newspaper with the largest bona fide home circulation. It excels in home news and is regarded to faithfully by the housewife. The women are the great buyers of household commodities and The Journal being their favorite newspaper, is the most profitable medium for the Portland retailers, as their daily announcements are carried into the homes just at the right time—in the evening when the purchasing public is at leisure and liberty to study the store bargains. It pays handsomely to be in The Journal, and no merchant can afford to be out of it for a day.

DUCKEYE HATCHET INHUMED

Taft and Foraker Speak From Same Platform, Exchanging Personal Compliments and Political Pledges of Import.

Significant Variance Remains Between Their Definitions of Campaign's Issue—Taft's Friends Say Ohio Is Safe.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Middle Bass Island, Sept. 3.—Taft's friends and advisers here today interpret the meeting between the presidential candidate and Senator Foraker at the Toledo club last evening as a complete surrender on the part of Foraker. They say it means the senator will make no further effort to oppose Taft in Ohio, and this belief is particularly pleasing to them, as the opposition of Foraker was one of the troublesome complications in the campaign. Taft men call attention to the fact that Foraker, in his speech said: "I am for Taft, while Taft in his remarks did not say that he was for Foraker, or anyone else, as a matter of fact. The supposed surrender of Foraker is the talk of the camp here today, except when Taft is present. He has refused consistently to discuss the incident in any way. Taft went fishing again today and on Monday will go to Sandusky to make his Labor Day address."

What the Antagonists Said. The complimentary interchange between Taft and Foraker at the Lyceum theatre, Toledo, late yesterday afternoon, contained the following passages: "It is a pleasure," said Taft, "for me to be here with Senator Foraker, because he is a man of high character and a good deal of risk in putting a man of 35 on the bench of the superior court of Cincinnati. We are about to enter, or rather have entered, a great oratorical campaign. It is a pleasure to think that we are going to stand in the campaign shoulder to shoulder, with the full strength of the Republican party."

According to Taft the issue is, "whether the voters of the country will give their endorsement to the Roosevelt policies and the deeds of the Republican party or turn to the Democratic party with its untied promises." Foraker fell far short of this in his view that the issue was whether the administration of public affairs in this country shall be turned over to the Democratic party with Mr. Bryan at its head, or shall be continued in the hands of the Republican party.

Greek Miner Killed at Ely. Ely, Nev., Sept. 3.—The dead body of P. Radnovich, a Greek miner, was taken today from the shaft of the Vellon mine of the Nevada Consolidated property here. He was killed by a cave-in last night in one of the lower levels. No others were injured.

Smelter Trust Now in the Secure Possession of the Rockefeller's. New York, Sept. 3.—Financial circles today are excited over the fact revealed yesterday that the American Smelting & Refining company, which next to the standard oil and steel trust, is the largest concern in the United States, is under the domination of the Rockefeller's. The Guggenheim interests that have developed the great trust will be left in active control, but the Rockefeller's will hold the majority of the stock.

Governor Appoints Delegate. Salem, Or., Sept. 3.—Clara Bewick Colby, editor and publisher of the Woman's Tribune of Tremont, place has been appointed a delegate to the international congress on moral education to be held in London, England, from September 25 to 28. The governor's commission was issued yesterday, and mailed to Mrs. Colby in England, where she is at this time.

ARGENTINA INCREASES EXPORTS AND IMPORTS

(United Press Leased Wire.) Buenos Aires, Sept. 3.—Commercial returns show a notable increase in the trade of the republic. The importations in the first six months of the present year amount to $1,900,000, being an increase of $100,000 gold, while the exportations were $2,200,000, an increase of $1,000,000 over the parallel season of last year, and greater than ever before in the history of the nation.

EXPRESS RATE REDUCTION.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Klamath Falls, Or., Sept. 3.—A reduction in express rates to and from Klamath Falls has been ordered, but on account of an error in filing the schedule with the interstate commerce commission, the change will not go into effect until October 1.

CHARLES ROBERTS SINKS RAPIDLY

Victim of Board Walk, Atlantic City, Shooting Growing Weaker.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 3.—It is reported today that the condition of Charles Roberts, the Baltimore merchant who was shot by an unknown assailant on the board walk here over a week ago, is precarious and that there is now less hope of his recovery than at any time since the shooting occurred. Rumors are current today that the man has made an automobile statement, but that he is unable to walk.

DEMOCRACY WITH LABOR PLANS TO BEAT UNCLE JOE

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Leaders of the Democratic forces, with labor union allies, are planning a Waterloo for Uncle Joe Cannon in his campaign for reelection to congress. Labor day has been set for the firing of the first gun. Orators, the best that can be secured, will be sent into his district to urge the reelection of H. C. Bell, Cannon's opponent, and admittedly a strong man. He was assistant attorney-general under Cleveland.

WAS SHIP ASHORE OFF PT. ARENA?

Steamer Kilburn Reports and Fifield Did Not Leave Bandon Until Last Evening—Drift Found by Life Savers.

Two Horses From Unknown Vessel That Lost Way in Fog Reported to Have Swam Ashore at the Point—Nothing Definite.

The passenger steamer Kilburn arrived at Eureka today and reported passing Point Arena at 10:15 o'clock last night. The captain said he saw nothing to indicate a wreck and he heard the first news of it on his arrival here. He said it was very foggy, however, and the Kilburn could not have seen the wrecked ship. It is believed here that the wrecked ship is some sailing vessel bound south. The Fifield, a steam schooner, did not leave Bandon until last evening at 7:30 o'clock, and could not have been so far south.

Point Arena, Cal., Sept. 3.—(By Telephone to San Francisco.)—After searching all night long in the heavy fog for a steam schooner which was wrecked off this place last evening, Captain John Stitt of the life saving station and his crew returned at 7 o'clock this morning, having found no trace of the missing craft other than a great amount of lumber which is floating about the point. The fog is still heavy and the strange vessel may have gone down with all on board.

MRS. FIELD JR. AGAIN WEDDED

Widow of Son of Late Chicago Multi-Millionaire Marries. (United Press Leased Wire.) London, Sept. 3.—Mrs. Marshall Field Jr., widow of the son of the Chicago merchant king, was married in the registry office here today to Malcolm A. Drummond, the second son of the late Edgar A. Drummond. The greatest efforts were made to keep the wedding secret. The two sons of the bride were present at the ceremony. The only other attendants were Craik Wadsworth, one of the secretaries of the American embassy, and the Duke of Westminster. There were no other witnesses except those required by law. Wadsworth acted as best man.

Drummond is prominent in the upper circles of society in London and is connected with several titled families. His most intimate friends are the Marquis of Westminster, who has known the bride nine years, and was well acquainted with her late husband.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—The announcement of the wedding in London of Mrs. Marshall Field Jr. came as a great surprise today. Her son Marshall Field III, who now is 15 years old, and Henry, 12, are the heirs to the great Field estate, estimated at $100,000,000. She is the daughter of Henry H. Field, the millionaire brewer of this city. Marshall Field Jr. shot and killed himself while cleaning a pistol at his home here three years ago. Immediately after the funeral his widow went to England with her two sons. She has revisited this city a few times since then. After the ceremony the couple left for an automobile honeymoon trip. It is expected that the next of the marriage will be a great disappointment to King Edward, who has been trying to woo Mrs. Field. She has been married to Mrs. Field to Prince Fyodor, an impossible relative. The attachment between Mrs. Field and Drummond had been well concealed and was suspected by very few of their friends.
