

WHEAT MARKETS TODAY

SELECT STUFF IS IN DEMAND

WHEAT PRICES MOVING HIGHER FOR HARRIMAN

Also Announces a List of Heavyweight Spellbinders for West.

Less Demand for Oriental Dish Causes Small Call for Ducks by Chinese.

Wholemeal market features: Less chop suet; less duck demand. Poor peaches hurt prices. Eggs are quoted firmer. Very dull in chicken market. Watermelons are holding down. Potato market holding rather steady. Hog growers are on the fence. Wheat light to on again.

Less Chop Suet; Smaller Duck Demand.
There is a noticeable decline in the output of chop suet according to Chinese makers and this is affecting the demand for ducks to a great extent. For several years the Chinese have been practically the only buyers of ducks because of their use in chop suet and other Chinese eatables. Of late there has been a decline in the American demand for Chinese cookery and in some of the large eastern cities chop suet has been almost entirely abandoned. Locally the Chinese are holding their own as far as remaining in business is concerned, but they are not so sure of their future as they were a few months ago. Locally the Chinese are holding their own as far as remaining in business is concerned, but they are not so sure of their future as they were a few months ago.

Chicken Demand Is Very Low.
With the trade quite well filled up with supplies there remains a very dull tone in the chicken market along Front street. Receipts continue to be small and they usually are when the market is full, for shippers will always ship when supplies are not wanted. Along the street the vendors are being more and more discouraged. Hens are 13c a pound, but this figure is obtained only once in while. Generally speaking, the value of the market is 12c for fancy hens and 11c for ordinary fowls. Broilers and fryers are likewise dull, the receipts being more numerous than in ordinary chicken. Broilers and fryers are quoted at the street at 14c a pound, with both prices in effect.

Better Quality Helping Local Eggs.
A noticeable increase in quality is shown in late arrivals of local eggs. At the same time there is a corresponding decline in quantity and for that reason prices are in some instances higher. In any event they are more satisfactory and the whole trade is more active. Houses a month ago are not now in effect. There is less demand for eastern stock with the improved local quality.

Hog Growers Are on the Fence.
To pick or not to pick is the topic among the hog growers just now. Many who would like to harvest their crop are not in a position to do so, while some who would like to have the ready cash to pay harvest expense say, "What's the use of any more? Hogs are worth more than harvest expense, even with the present boosting of the shorts, who would thus force the growers to pick? Growers in general cannot see just where the benefits come from exchanging a dollar for 90c.

Poor Peaches Hurt Trade.
With receipts of peaches the heaviest in the history of the market, a considerable portion of the arrivals are of poor quality and this is affecting the sale of best stuff. Many peaches are of the "Sandy" variety, which are green and poorly colored and sales of this class of stock have been made down as low as 80c. Fancy peaches are scarce and the market is holding at 75c to 80c.

Royal Ann Cherries Appear Again.
The season is something of a novelty along Front street. Growers from Meling Bros, who grow them 10 miles from Mount Hood, are now coming in. The cherries are of fine quality, very firm and well colored and found a ready sale at a profit.

Notes of the Trade.
Huckleberries are in heavier supply with the price down to 10c a pound. Watermelons are lower with accumulated holdings. The market is holding at 10c a pound. Half cent extra for crates. Dressed veal market is easier again, although values are not changed. Dressed hogs are firm.

Tomato Supplies are Very Liberal.
With prices ruling steady between 25c and 30c a box.

Market for potatoes is holding rather steady with smaller offerings by producers. For ordinary grades the market is holding at 80c to 85c per hundred pounds.

Front street sells at the following prices. Those who ship are less regular commissions:
