"ADONIS" NAGLE PUZZLES LOCALS

Errors Contribute to Portland's Defeat—Johnson's Triple Scores Two.

Oh, the gang behind Adonis. For the fourth time put it on us; Socked us in the solar plexus; Did a few antics and made us see us; Gassed the bunch in a dead sure way.

"Adonis" Nagle, that tall, handsome chap with the moon-kissed locks, and his teammates administered defeat to the Beavers for the fourth time last night.

Two hits were made in the Portland scoring inning and two in the following one. Outside of these the Beavers never got a semblance of a hit from young Mr. Nagle. It was as complete a defeat as any of the previous ones.

Errors entered largely into the run-getting of the Angels. All told, Portland made six, while Nagle was given countless support. Graney pitched good ball for five innings, but three hits being made on him.

The visitors began scoring in the third inning. Easterly was hit by a pitched ball, Nagle sacrificed, Bernard reached first on Johnson's error and Easterly scored when Madden threw wild to third to catch him.

In the fourth inning Wheeler walked, reached second when Johnson fumbled Smith's grounder and scored along with Jud Smith on Easterly's hit. In the fifth Oakes singled and reached third on errors. Oakes registered on Wheeler's hit across third. The last run came in the eighth inning on singles by Wheeler and Smith. Easterly sacrificed to Easterly scored Wheeler.

This is the story of Portland's pair of runs: Casey singled and Cooney walked, both being brought in on Johnson's three-bagger to center.

PORTLAND PLAYERS ON STANFORD TEAM

Koerner, Ganong and Holman at College—Regret Fenton's Absence.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Stanford University, Cal., Sept. 5.—At the opening of college Wednesday there was much disappointment among the student body when they learned that K. L. Fenton, the veteran athlete, was not to register in the university this fall.

However, the north will be well represented when Coach Presley calls out the men for the first practice on Saturday afternoon. Ex-Captain Koerner of Portland will again be in his suit. His appearance on the campus was welcomed as he had not expected to re-enter this year. He will prove a valuable man in his old position in the team.

The veteran backs, J. R. Holman and C. F. Ganong, both of Portland, have registered for the east where he will enter in holding down their old positions on the big team. H. E. Reed, the 1910 champion of Portland, who made such a fine showing at the game last year, will not enter this fall but is expected back to his old place on the track team next semester.

FIGHTERS RESTING FOR GREAT BATTLES

Indications Point to Record Crowds at Frisco's Big Fight Carnival.

San Francisco, Sept. 5.—The odds on both the Gans-Nelson and the Atell-Moran fights which are scheduled for next Wednesday and next Monday respectively, are today 10 to 6 1/2 with Atell and Nelson on the long ends.

The fight fans expect the odds on the Atell-Moran fight to remain stationary notwithstanding the fact that Charlie Moran, manager of Owen Moran, arrived last night from New York and straightway placed $1,000 on Moran this morning.

Moran was not in his gymnasium today. His trainer, Tiv Krailing, persuaded him to omit boxing and do just little road work. He will put on the gloves for the last time tomorrow afternoon so that some of his admirers can see him box before the fight. Tomorrow night his camp will be abandoned.

Gans and Nelson both did a little boxing today, but this is the last time they will do any real work. Both are scheduled for final boxing exhibitions Sunday afternoon, but the work will not be heavy. Indications today point to record crowds at both fights.

WHO OWNS CHASE IS QUESTION NOW

Former Coast Players in Winning Games Yesterday—Garrett Wanted.

(United Press Leased Wire.) San Francisco, Sept. 5.—Who owns Hal Chase? This is the question that is worrying the magnates of the state baseball league today. It is easy to tell who owns that portion of Chase that belongs to the organized baseball. He belongs to the state league. But when he decides to play in an outlaw league, what then? Is an outlaw league bound by the same tenets as organized baseball?

Stockton says no. San Jose says yes. Therein lies a fight. San Jose put in a vigorous protest against Chase's playing with Stockton, at a meeting of the state league magnates last night. Moreing of Stockton claims Chase was released to him by wire from San Jose. San Jose claims ownership of Chase's outlaw baseball soul and denies he was ever released.

It was decided last night not to drop Oakland and San Francisco from the league for the balance of the season as had been planned.

Since the Beavers have been trounced so badly in the first four games of the series, the fans are anxiously awaiting the advent of little Jess Garrett into the game. They pin their hopes on the Texan to stem the tide of defeat. Garrett has not been against the Angels, and Manager McCredie will probably send him to the firing line this afternoon.

Frank Arralanes, the Mexican twirler, who recently went from the California league to Boston, showed his class yesterday by holding Philadelphia down to one hit and one run. Pat Donohue, the old Portland backstop, caught Arralanes. Boston is using Donohue quite frequently now.

Another battery well known on the coast triumphed yesterday, when young Walter Johnson and Charlie Street went out New York, 3 to 0. Johnson is the former Weiser, Idaho, "phenom," who went from the sage brush to the junior big league without a stop. Street formerly caught for San Francisco, and more recently distinguished himself by catching a baseball dropped from the top of Washington monument, a distance of 550 feet.

DALES FOOTBALL TEAM STRONG ONE

Veterans Will Add Strength to Eleven—Crack Baseball Team Disbands.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) The Dales, Or., Sept. 4.—The Dales Commercial and Athletic club baseball team has disbanded for the season, on account of not being able to secure any more games. The season has been quite a successful one and there were many good games played, principally with Portland teams. Prospects for next year are for a better season than this year.

The athletic club will this year take the football team under its wing, and this will give the boys the use of the new showers and baths which were installed this spring. Max Cohen is captain, and the team will start practice within a short time. It is expected that Multnomah will come down here some time in October. The Agricultural college team from Corvallis and the Chemawa Indian team will also probably play here. Many of the old Dales players who played last year will be in the ranks again this year and many of the veterans who have not played for several years will also do mole.

Prospects are that the football team this year will be better than the teams of previous years.

AUTO MANIACS WILL RUN DESPERATE RACE

Barney Oldfield and John J. Ryan Sweep Aside All Track Rules.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 5.—One week from tomorrow is the date fixed for the wildest, craziest, most desperate automobile race ever seen. The scene of the contest probably will be the Latonia race track, though this has not been decided definitely. The drivers will be Barney Oldfield, the well-known turf racer, and John J. Ryan, a noted turf player.

The contest will be absolutely unique in the history of automobile racing. No errors and no mistakes will be allowed of the drivers. The drivers will be them away. The man who finishes first will win the race. No cognizance will be taken of fouls, accidents or anything else which may happen on the track. If Oldfield wants to cut across in front of Ryan he may do so, and if Ryan has and that of his opponent. The race will be equal privileges. The contest, in fact, the two races are the most nerve, also the most luck.

The match is the result of an argument in which the two racers became bitter enemies. The race will be a contest of three-mile heats, the winner of each heat taking the race and a side bet of $2,500. The cars to be used are exact duplicates.
