

CRITTENDEN PIT IN MRS. WAYMIRE'S BAIL

Believed to Have Furnished Money Also to Keep Radding Temporarily Out of Jail. Old-Time Friendship for Woman Bankrupts Him.

Because of an old time friendship for a woman, the rock crusher of R. F. Crittenden across the river from the Rock Island club is shut down and Crittenden himself is without funds, according to a story he is said to have told a well known real estate dealer of this city. Crittenden says that he put up the $750 bail money for Mrs. Waymire.

The mystery of who set the woman free by advancing the bonds for her release is cleared up, if the story told by Crittenden is true, and the man to whom he told it has no reason to believe anything else but the truth.

The matter came to the knowledge of the real estate man first a short time after the Waymire-Radding arrests. Crittenden called at the office and is said to have requested a loan of $1,250 on his rock crusher, saying he had put up all his available cash to bail Mrs. Waymire out of prison. He did this, he said, merely because he used to know the woman in Joplin, Mo., where they were both born and raised.

From the fact that Crittenden asked for $1,750, it is thought that he put up the cash for Radding as well, although he disclaimed any acquaintance with Radding when seeking for the loan.

The real estate dealer to whom Crittenden went sent out an engineer to look at the crusher to see if it was sufficient security for the amount he wanted on the loan. The report of the engineer showed that there were already other liens on the crusher, so the loan was refused Crittenden. Shortly afterwards he went into bankruptcy, presumably because he had not the requisite

FOUND HUSBAND'S RAZOR IN HER BED

When Mrs. Ray Thompson found a razor in the bed where she was sleeping she did not like the idea, and she questioned her husband as to the reason for it. She says he made answer, "I am good and tired of you, and that is why I mean to use the razor." For this and because of other unpleasant incidents she has begun suit for divorce.

Frank J. Thompson, the husband, is now serving a 15-months term in the county jail on a larceny charge. Mrs. Thompson says the razor incident took place three days before their only child was born, last spring. She alleges that her husband is a notorious bad character and says it is impossible to live with him. He began to curse her and use bad language two weeks after their marriage, she says. The marriage took place in Portland on June 9, 1907.

Charging that her husband knocked her down and kicked a chair from under her when she was standing on it, Mrs. Nellie M. Hawkins has sued George H. Hawkins for divorce. They were married in Minneapolis, Minn., in March, 1901. Numerous acts of cruelty are alleged by the wife.

NEWLYWEDS BARELY ESCAPE SPENDING NIGHT IN CITY JAIL

A bride and groom narrowly escaped sleeping in the city jail last night. Though ordinarily Frank J. Hennessy, deputy district attorney, has the resemblance to a ray of sunshine, yet he looked like a whole sun in himself to the young pair when he bustled himself in their behalf and was used to get out of custody for the night.

Jacob Johnson, a young teamster, is a comrade with a warrant for the arrest of both Mr. and Mrs. Johnson. They were charged by A. D. Herr with larceny.

Patrolman Leavens brought them to the police station, where they declared to Sergeant Cole that they had never heard of any person by the name of A. D. Herr. Hennessy happened into the station, and as the warrant had been issued by the district attorney's office, though not by Hennessy, the matter was laid before him. Johnson said so clearly that Hennessy, the matter was laid before him. Johnson said so clearly that Hennessy, the matter was laid before him.

INSANE MAN SUMMONS SHERIFF; HIS REWARD A BERTH IN JAIL

Hiram S. Naylor little thought that he would land behind the bars in the county jail yesterday afternoon when he called up Sheriff Stevens by telephone to inform him that there was trouble at the Naylor home. But that was what happened.

"Come over here quick," said Naylor to the sheriff, over the phone. "There is some trouble at 210 Seventh street, and we want the sheriff."

Sheriff Stevens and Deputy Beatty hot-footed to the scene of disturbance, and soon learned that Naylor was the chief disturber. His wife, Mrs. Jane Naylor, informed the officers that she believed her husband was insane, probably from the use of liquor and drugs, and others substantiated her story. He had made threats against her, and the neighbors thought him dangerous.

MAN WHO FOUND TRACY'S BODY GETS OUTLAW'S MURDEROUS GUN

The gun of Tracy, the outlaw and escaped prisoner from the Oregon penitentiary, has been surrendered to Mourne Smith of Spokane, the man who found Tracy lying dead in the wheat field after he had terrorized the Pacific northwest for weeks and had killed several members of the various posses that pursued him.

When Smith found Tracy lying dead with the gun beside him, he took the gun and carried it away. But it was wanted by the state authorities as evidence, and Smith has not been able to get it.

Today, however, Mr. Tichenor, general organizer of the Woodmen of the World, went to the penitentiary with papers from Mr. Smith and succeeded in getting possession of the gun. He will leave for Spokane tomorrow night to deliver it to Mr. Smith. The delivery will be the occasion of a banquet tendered Mr. Smith by the Second Washington Spanish-American war veterans. Mr. Smith having been a member of that regiment, and Mr. Tichenor a member of the Sixth California volunteers. It is expected that there will be 500 present at the banquet.

RECORD TRIP IS MADE TO FAMED RENDEZVOUS OF MODOC INDIANS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Klamath Falls, Or., Sept. 5.—Captain O. C. Applegate of this city, Will G. Steele and A. J. Wells, who are here in the interest of a coast magazine, and Judge F. J. Willets made a record trip to the historic lava beds in northern California last week. They left here one afternoon and returned the next evening, accomplishing the trip in the quickest time ever made.

From Merrill the party went by launch, and with Captain Applegate, who was an Indian scout and secretary of the peace commission during the Modoc war, to guide them, they visited the famous old Indian Captain Jack's stronghold, as well as the scene of the massacre of General Canby, and the caves and ledges in which the Modoc Indians hid themselves.
