

BABY STOCKING FULL OF GOLD

Dying Miner, From Portland, Appeals to Big-Hearted Alaskans.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Seattle, Sept. 11.—No finer instance of the open-hearted charity of the mining camp has ever come to my notice than that of the 'Baby Stocking Fund,' to which the miners of Fairbanks have been contributing their hard-earned gold," said Ed R. Novak, representative of the Washington Rubber company, who returned Tuesday evening on the steamer Senator from his annual tour through Alaska.

"The story of the fund is one that is well calculated to rouse the sympathies of the miners. It seems that a young fellow from Portland came into camp some time ago, but had a streak of bad luck and was injured in a mine, dying a few days later. Before he went he told his partner of his wife and child in Portland, and showed him a baby stocking, which he said his little daughter had given to him on parting, telling him to bring it back to her full of gold from the wonderful country to which he was going.

"I hoped that I wouldn't have to disappoint her," he said ruefully at the last.

"After his death his partner took the stocking and the story to the Fairbanks News, and the day the item was printed the office was deluged with contributions from those who wanted to help all the miners who were in trouble. Finally the amount reached a total of more than $2,500, and the gold was then packed into the stocking and sent to the mother in Portland by the United States marshal of the district. I saw her telegram of thanks before I left the camp.

"I think that instance and many others that could be related, disprove entirely the statement recently published in an Oregon paper that there are thousands of destitute people in Alaska and that great suffering is resulting. When I was in Dawson, the daily paper commented on the fact that the first tramp had been discovered in town. I know from personal knowledge that the fellow was given money and helped along to the next stage in his journey. If a man is in good health he can always earn enough to support himself, and if he is sick he is always taken care of. I don't believe there is any suffering in the country at this time."

WHAT PANAMANS CALLS A SHOWER

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Washington, Sept. 11.—Four and one-half inches of rainfall in one hour and 1.15 inches in 10 minutes is remarkable, but this is what was recorded in Panama one day last month, according to an official report made today. The natives called the downpour a shower, but it is admitted to be the heaviest that has been recorded on the isthmus since the American occupation. The "shower" began about noon and lasted until 9:45 p. m., but the heaviest precipitation was during the afternoon. Between 2:30 and 5:30, 7.26 inches of rain fell.

A part of the roadbed of the Panama railroad was washed away and the main pipe line of the Union Oil company was broken. Fortunately the precipitation was greatest where little or no excavation is in progress and work on the canal proceeded as usual, the day after the storm.

MATRIMONY ON SCIENTIFIC PLAN

Kansas Professor Says College Must Be Established to Teach It.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Topeka, Kan., Sept. 11.—Educators are interested in the declaration made by Professor W. Blackmar of Kansas university that a college of matrimony must be established to prevent degeneracy of the race. He also declared that the time was coming when such a course would be offered in the public schools.

The purpose of the school would be to teach men and women what they ought to know about married life and would be intended as a preventive of the many unhappy marriages now recorded.

Professor Blackmar advocated a strict physical and mental examination of all applicants for marriage licenses and said persons afflicted with pulmonary and mental diseases or other dangerous maladies should not be allowed to marry. Careful selection and mating he declared necessary to prevent an increase of insanity, epilepsy and criminality.

LOCKJAW CURED BUT BY WHAT?

New York, Sept. 11.—Surgeons of St. John's hospital, Brooklyn, are puzzled over the strange case of 15-year-old Allan Kollock of Woodhaven, Long Island, who, under their care, has completely recovered from an attack of tetanus. Two treatments were given young Kollock and the surgeons do not know which one saved the lad's life.

One of Kollock's toes became crushed some time ago and although the wound healed rapidly it became infected and on the eighth day after the accident the boy's jaws became locked while he was seated at dinner. He was hurried to the hospital, but before he arrived there spasms set in and his body became rigid.

A 25 per cent solution of sodium chloride was first injected into the spinal column in the hope of reducing the spasms. The boy sank rapidly for 16 hours but lived and this treatment was discontinued. For the five days following he was given injections of anti-tetanus serum and anesthetics to relieve the pain. On the sixth day he was pronounced out of danger and today was pronounced cured.

The surgeons are in a quandary as to whether the sodium chloride treatment saved the boy's life or whether his recovery was due to the anti-tetanus serum.

New York, Sept. 11.—August Belmont, the capitalist, who returned from Europe today, reported that American securities have been steadily improving abroad. The return of confidence, Belmont said, had resulted in the strengthening of the confidence of Europe in American securities, which was tottering. The European market for American securities was keeping pace with the improved market in New York, he said.

COFFEE

If poor coffee is so good, how good do you think good coffee is?
Your grocer returns your money if you don't like Schilling's Best: we pay him.

This is a bona fide sale, the equal of which has never been known on the Pacific coast. It is an actual fact and we court proof to the contrary, that the clothes we are making for $17.50 have been regularly sold by us and others in Portland for as high as $40. Furthermore, they are worth that price. Perhaps, now, you can appreciate the value we are offering at $17.50.

SIXTEEN YEARS IN PORTLAND

And we are going to remain here for the balance of our days. Portland has been good to us, and this special sale is a slight return for the courtesies. No packing up and moving away in a couple of weeks.

NEVER FAILED OR HAD A FIRE

The reputation of the Columbia Woolen Mills Company is second to none in the northwest for honesty, fair and square dealing, and the character of clothes they make for the price they ask. We don't have to burn up.

PAY 100 CENTS ON THE DOLLAR

There never was a time since this company was organized that it has not paid its bills in full when due, and made itself worthy of credit if desired. Not only has it never had any difficulty with its creditors, but has always delivered the goods to its customers.

NO HURRY-UP SALE TO RAISE CASH

Permanent business is what we are after. We never went to Seattle, Spokane or San Francisco to open temporary quarters for the purpose of raising money to pay back accounts. We live here, and will back every statement we make.

COLUMBIA SUITS MADE IN PORTLAND

We have the biggest tailor shop in the northwest. Every suit ordered from us is made in Portland by Portland tailors. Visitors will be shown through our fine manufacturing plant at any time. We invite you cordially. Portland people have a reputation for buying Portland-manufactured goods. That's why Columbia Clothes prevail.

We are selling our regular $30 and $35 Scotch and English effect Suits—500 of them—for $17.50 apiece. We are not making a nickle on them. You know us well enough to be certain that when we advertise a $30 or $35 suit for $17.50, we are actually doing it, and we are. The young or middle aged man who wants a tailor-made suit now has the opportunity of a lifetime. It comes pretty near getting something for nothing.
