

WILBUR WRIGHT DEEPLY GRIEVED

Greatly Depressed Over Accident to His Brother and Lieutenant Selfridge.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 Lemona, France, Sept. 18.—Wilbur Wright locked himself in his aeroplane shed today and is greatly depressed over the accident to his brother, Orville, in America, yesterday, and is distressed at the death of Lieutenant Selfridge, who was killed in the collapsed aeroplane.
 Wilbur said that he was too deeply grieved to make any statement whatever and would say nothing regarding the accident.
 He has postponed indefinitely all rights which he had scheduled and for the present will not attempt any further experiments.
 There is great regret at the accident throughout France and Wilbur has received countless messages of sympathy. It is feared that the great advance in aerial navigation made by the Wrights will be given a great setback and that the confidence of the nations in this mode of air travel will be weakened.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 Washington, Sept. 18.—That Lieutenant Thomas E. Selfridge's greatest ambition was to fly with Orville Wright in his aeroplane and had not his heart upon it, is the statement made today by Harbort Lathrop, the globe trotter who was a close friend and adviser of the San Francisco boy who lost his life in the wreck of the world's greatest flying machine here yesterday.
 Lieutenant Selfridge was a man in the full sense of the term. He was as clear through as the sun, and as feisty and died like a man at his post.

BOY WILL HAVE TO STAND TRIAL

Frisco Coroner Holds Edward Oswald Responsible for Auto Accident.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 San Francisco, Sept. 18.—It is probable that Edward Oswald, a youth aged 15, will have to stand trial for manslaughter for having run over and killed Lewis Barlow, aged 10, while Oswald was driving an automobile.
 The Oswald boy was driving an automobile belonging to the Contra Costa Cannery company, and after he had run over his victim he stopped to learn the nature of the boy's injuries. He was later arrested and put in a detention home.
 The coroner's jury last night returned a verdict declaring that the Barlow boy's death was due to Oswald's carelessness and placing him as incompetent to run a machine.

OREGON TEACHER'S TEXT BOOK ADOPTED

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
 Roseburg, Or., Sept. 18.—Miss Florence Aiken, a teacher in the Roseburg public schools, is the author of a new text book for the primary grades in public schools. The title is "A First Book in Phonics." The book has been adopted by the state for use in the primary grades of the public schools. It is also under advisement in several other states and will doubtless be adopted throughout the country. The books are being printed by Atkinson, Mentzer & Grover, Chicago, publishers of the Art Literature primers. The publishers say that this is the first work they have ever had presented and accepted within an hour.
 Miss Aiken, whose home is in Salem, is a native of Oregon, and has been engaged in the primary work in different schools in southern Oregon for the past six years.

KISSED POLICEMAN FOR SAVING LIFE

(United Press Leased Wire.)
 Montro, Cal., Sept. 18.—Although Patrick H. Herlitz is a policeman of San Francisco, he is brave enough to perform his official duties, he is avoiding his acquaintances here today, because of a reward he received yesterday for saving the life of Miss Elizabeth Moor, a pretty music teacher of Quervilla. To show her appreciation of her rescuer's brave act, she kissed him in full view of those who had witnessed the policeman's heroic action. Herlitz considers himself amply rewarded.
 Miss Moor was canoeing on Russian river, a short distance from where Herlitz was fishing, from a bridge, when a gale overturned the craft. Wasting no time, the policeman jumped into the stream and carried the half-drowned woman to the shore.

OYSTER GROWING MAY BE COOS BAY INDUSTRY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
 University of Oregon, Eugene, Sept. 18.—"Coos Bay will have oysters for the market inside of four years," was the statement of A. R. Sweetser, state biologist, and head of the biology department at the university, after his return from Coos Bay. "We have planted an experiment bed of the Olympia oyster and if they prove satisfactory in their growth, Coos Bay will have a new industry which will mean thousands of dollars revenue annually."
 Professor Sweetser says that oysters were once plentiful along the coast and around Coos Bay, but for some cause they have disappeared. Tons of shells along the beaches substantiate his claim, according to his statement. When the success of the experimental bed is demonstrated other places along the coast will be planted out.
 Professor Sweetser and Mr. Howard, also of the biological department, have spent a large part of the summer on Coos Bay. They state that the chief difficulty with the oyster experiment will be that poachers will attempt to rob the beds in the bay, making it difficult to get conclusive results.

Death Roll of the Northwest

Mrs. Mary Caruthers.
 (Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
 Canby, Or., Sept. 17.—Mrs. Mary Caruthers, 62 years, an early pioneer of Oregon, died at her home here yesterday morning from the effects of a paralytic stroke received last June.
 Mrs. Caruthers was born at Burlington, Iowa, and crossed the plains in an ox train in '47, settling with her parents near Albany. She afterwards moved to The Dalles and lived for a number of years in Grant county, where she was married to Louis Caruthers, who died a number of years ago. She located at Canby 19 years ago. Four sons survive, Ira, Reed, Spray, Or. Henry Williams, Forest; James, William, Hinton, and Victor Caruthers of Canby. Two sisters and five brothers are also living.
 Mrs. Caruthers was buried at Woodland, Wash. Messrs. Scott and Moore, Woodland, Albany, Morgan and Otho Ward, Lone Rock, and Milton Ward of Winatchee, Wash.

Mrs. Perlina Estes.
 (Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
 Baker City, Or., Sept. 17.—Mrs. Perlina Estes, wife of H. W. Estes, died at the family home at 2444 Church street in this city Tuesday morning of a heart ailment.
 By the death of Mrs. Estes Baker county loses one of its real pioneers—an early settler who had aided materially in building the great state of Oregon.
 Perlina Hackleman was born in Burlington, Iowa. In 1853 with her parents she moved across the plains and located at Albany.
 In 1857 she was married to H. W. Estes, who is an eastern Oregon pioneer and who survives her.

Mrs. Mary Garrett.
 (Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
 Brownsville, Or., Sept. 17.—Mrs. Mary Garrett, 74 years, wife of John A. Garrett, died at her home here Monday. She was a well-known and highly respected pioneer woman. She was born in Pennsylvania and came to Oregon in 1851. She was married to John A. Garrett in 1852. Beside her husband the following children survive: Mrs. Lottie Kirk, Brownsville; Hiram Heising, Spokane, Wash.; Frank Heising, Buxton, Idaho; Mrs. Helen Long, Yakima, Wash.; Charles W. Garrett, Gardfield, Wash.; Mrs. Abbie Cole, Crawfordville, Or.; Melvin Garrett, Marion, and Thomas J. and James O. Garrett, Brownsville.

Monroe S. Hubble.
 (Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
 Hubble, 50 years, a well-known Eugene drayman, died at his home in this city yesterday afternoon of a heart ailment. He had been suffering for several months of tuberculosis of the spine. He was born in Lincoln county, Kentucky, and came to Eugene from Illinois in 1848, residing here since. He leaves a wife and three children: Mrs. Arthur Merrill, Speer, Ill.; Mrs. James Grant

NOBODY TELLS ALL ABOUT THE SUIE LAW
 The Suielaw number of Nobody's Magazine, published in Eugene monthly by the Commercial club, "providing the treasury permits," is out—out—out strong, clear, a write-up of Oregon, Italy and Florence, Or. Or, that is, Florence, Italy, is mentioned in a way. And that there are lots of other good away and funny things about Lane county, too. There is a whole lot, just about enough to make a person want more, of the Suielaw climate, the Suielaw timber and river and fruit, raising and the like of that.
