COLONEL J. C. KIRKPATRICK LOOKS LIKE KING EDWARD

Colonel John C. Kirkpatrick, vice-president and manager of the Palace Hotel company of San Francisco, the man who looks like King Edward, and owner of Charley D., who is to start in the Country club races Wednesday, is at the Oregon hotel, this being his first visit to Portland in 10 years.

Colonel Kirkpatrick wears the King Edward style of beard and his build is very similar to that of the ruler. Last year the hotel man was in Europe and dispatches were sent to this country that Colonel Kirkpatrick had attracted much attention wherever he went, which was true, thousands taking him for the king of England.

One of the stories which was played up with great effect in San Francisco was to the effect that the colonel had ridden through the streets of London and had been cheered by the thousands along the thoroughfares who thought he was the king. And further, the story stated, Colonel Kirkpatrick played his part well and bowed and seemed pleased to be so honored.

"That was a mighty good story," Colonel Kirkpatrick said this morning, "and I guess it was read by, you might say, millions of persons in this country.

"But there was only one thing the matter with the story. And that was that it wasn't true.

"When the dispatches were being sent out from London about the people bowing to me and taking me for King Edward I was at Carlsbad.

"I have often wondered what King Edward himself thought of the stories as they were printed."

Colonel Kirkpatrick was manager of the Palace hotel when it was destroyed by fire and he will manage the new structure which is now going up in its stead and which is to be one of the finest hotels in the world. And one of the largest as well.

"The ground cost $3,000,000 and the building now under way will cost something like $3,500,000 more," Colonel Kirkpatrick said this morning. "We figure that furnishing the hotel will cost in the neighborhood of $500,000 which, including everything, will have made the hotel cost more than $7,000,000. There are to be 635 rooms. An annex, which will likely be built later, will give us 200 rooms more."

"Charley D." starts in the races Wednesday. After seeing his horse start the colonel will return to San Francisco that evening. Colonel Kirkpatrick was in Salem all of last week.

PUSH CLUB OBJECTS TO JAP ACTING AS POSTMASTER

That there are enough Americans in the city of Portland to conduct this city's postoffice business was the decision of the North Albina Push club which met last ninght in a hall at Mississippi avenue and Killingsworth street.

The fact that a Japanese is allowed to conduct a postal substation in this city met with unanimous disapproval and it is hoped by members of the club that the United East Side clubs will join in the action taken last night.

The club indorsed the revision of the city charter and is in favor of having the new set of city laws drawn up in such a way that it will provide for a lighting plant to be owned by the city. They think that the city should improve and take care of its streets, the expenditures to be paid out of the general fund.

The club is in favor of doing away with politics in city elections and indorsed the plan of placing the name of a candidate on the ballot after his petition had been signed by 25 freeholders and that the name of no political party be placed after that of the candidate.

It is thought by members of the club that such a provision would remove the fear of political doom on the part of office holders and consequently give the people better administrations.

The substation in question is at Third and Couch streets and a Japanese was allowed to take charge by the department some time ago after a petition had been sent in by the Japanese. The purpose of the department officials in permitting a Japanese to be in charge was to relieve the main office of being put to considerable inconvenience by the Japanese who could not speak English. In making out money orders and transacting other business with the postoffice the majority of the Japanese of Portland go to the office at Third and Couch. Some time ago there was a protest against the substation being in the hands of a Japanese and the protests were sent to Washington. The department officials, however, refused to interfere with the present arrangements.

JUVENILE COURT WORK INCREASES

The annual report of the juvenile court, just issued in book form under the direction of Judge Gantenbein, shows that 786 delinquents were brought into the court by citation during 12 months. That boys are much naughtier than girls seems to be proved by the fact that 610 boys were on the carpet and only 175 girls.

The ages of 14 and 15 are apparently the most dangerous in the development of criminal tendencies, for there were 233 offenders of those ages. One hundred and one were 16, 95 were 17, 183 wer from 11 to 13, and 174 were 10 years or under. Larceny was the charge in the greatest number of cases, the total of this class being 142. Eighty-eight wer charged with immorality, 71 with incorrigibility, 44 with smoking cigarettes, 24 with truancy and 31 with assault and battery. Forty girls were sent to the house of the Good Shepherd, 25 boys to the reform school, 26 wer sent to charitable institutions and 55 were awarded to individuals.

A larger number of delinquent and dependent children have been brought before the court than during any previous year, the total number being 786, as compared with 614 for the year preceding. The jurisdiction of the court was, however, enlarged by the act of May 24, 1907, so as to include children between 16 and 18 years of age. One hundred and ninety-six were 16 or 17 years of age, hence the number under 16 shows a slight decrease as compared with last year's report, and about 20 per cent decrease compared with the first year's work.

An increasing number of cases have been disposed of by letters of warning to parents whose children have violated a city ordinance for the first time or have committed some trivial offense. Three hundred and ninety six of these letters were sent out during the year ending June 10, 1908, and 85 cases were investigated without being brought into court.

WRANGLE OVER FIRE HYDRANTS

While Mayor Lane takes the responsibility for the delay of the city in accepting the hydrants delivered last May by the Ludlow company, he holds the chief of the fire department responsible to him for the misunderstanding that has arisen. The mayor said this morning that Chief Campbell came to him at the time the hydrants were delivered and told him that the Ludlow company refused to help in making the tests.

Dr. Lane says it looked reasonable to him that the company should be made to assist the fire department in testing the hydrants furnished by them. He thought if the company did not care to aid the city they should be in no hurry to receive payment for the goods, so he told the chief to make the company "come through," supporing that they were required by their contract to do so.

The mayor now says that he was mistaken. The company had fulfilled its contract, he says he now learns, when they delivered the hydrants. That Chief Campbell did not know this is why the mayor holds the head of the fire department accountable for the delay.

Upon being questioned as to why the contractors were not paid for their hydrants which have been accepted and are now being used by the city, the mayor replied that he did not know.

Upon inquiry at the water office it was learned that the water board is waiting for the fire department to notify them officially that the hydrants have been accepted before payment is made.

The fire chief says that he has reported to the water department after each test made and notified that department whenever any of the tested hydrants have been accepted. Mr. Campbell says he thinks that should be enough notification. Speaking of the matter he said:

"We have accepted all of the hydrants now but 32, which are being repaired at the Union Iron works, and two that were sent east. The water board has been notified of the acceptance of these, and it is up to them to pay for them. They made the contract, and we have nothing whatever to do with it other than to pass upon the quality of the hydrants.

"If the water board wants me to make any further notifications than I have already made, they should ask me to do so. I think they are fully cognizant that I have accepted the hydrants which the city is now installing because these are being put in under the orders of the water board.

"I don't know that the Ludlw company has completed its contract yet either. By their agreement with the city they guarantee such hydrant. As 24 of the hydrants have not as yet been accepted by me, I do not see that the company has up to this time fulfilled the terms of the contract."

TWO SLAIN BY NEGRO MANIAC

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Washington, Sept. 22.—Becoming suddenly possessed of a mania for blood, Andrew Lightfoot, a negro patient at St. Elizabeth's asylum for the insane, killed Millie Folin, an inmate of the institution, and Patrick Maloney, overseer of the grounds, and severely wounded Miss Della Robinson, an inmate.

The maniac felled his victims with a steel crowbar. After knocking them down he escaped to a swamp.

Guards surrounded the swamp and the negro was captured after having been shot in the leg.

He had been a patient at the hospital for eight years and was regarded as harmless.

WALLOWA IS NOW ON THE RAILROAD MAP

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Wallowa, Or., Sept. 22.—The first passenger train over the Joseph extension of the O. R. & N. arrived at this city a few minutes after 12 o'clock Sunday noon. The 15 coaches composing the train carried 1,500 people from La Grande and Elgin.

Between 1,500 and 2,000 local people had gathered at the improvised depot in this city and greeted the train with the firing of anvils, the blasting of powder charges and the music of several brass bands.

The visitors and townspeople gathered at the picnic grounds near this city where lunch baskets were opened and a free dinner served to all the guests.

Later there were speeches and music. Leonard Couch of Wallowa, delivered the address of welcome and was responded to by J. D. Slater of La Grande. The crowd was by far the largest ever gathered at a celebration in this city. No accidents marred the pleasures of the day.

THREE CITIES TO HAVE ELECTRICITY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Pendleton, Or., Sept. 22.—A company was formed here yesterday whose purpose is to furnish electric light for Hermiston, Echo and Umatilla. Work has already started on actual construction on two power ditches just west of Hermiston. The drainage of water from thegovernment and two private reclamation projects will be utilized to develop 500 horsepower. The water will be dumped back into the river so as not to interfere with projects below. J. T. Hinkle, a member of the company, says two plants will be in operation before next summer. Other members of the firm are O. D. Teal, H. G. and Ross Newport.

STONE THROWER CONFESSES GUILT

All doubt as to the guilt of Ralph Kadderly, the boy who sent a sungshot through a Mount Scott car at Myrtle Park and narrowly missed the head of a woman passenger, has been removed by his confession to Bailiff Courtney, who acted as guard in taking the boy to Salem. He stoutly denied his guilt when he was tried and his mother, thoroughly convinced that he was innocent, arounsed the court house by her hysterical screams when he was ordered sent to the reform school.

Damage to Roof.

A still alarm sent engine No. 15 to 470 Davenport street, Portland Heights, early this morning, to put out a fire which had caught the woodwork around a chimney and caused damage of $10.

NEW INDUSTRY FOR ST. HELENS

Columbia Contract Company Will Begin Operations on Large Scale.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

St. Helens, Or., Sept. 22.—The city council last night passed a resolution agreeing to adopt an ordinance vacating a number of streets in the south part of town in favor of the Columbia Contract company, which has taken an option upon 17 blocks of land, and is said to be awaiting this favorable action before beginning operations here on a large scale. The blocks optioned are solid rock from grass roots to the center of the earth, so far as known, and the company will start a quarry here and furnish rock for its big contracts. It will probably employ 400 men.

The St. Helens Quarry company, which has lately increased its plant, is employing about 100 men, and there are about 75 block makers additional employed in this immediate neighborhood, furnishing Belgian blocks and material for the manufacture of concrete for Portland's streets.

More buildings have been erected in St. Helens during the current year than for any previous 10 years in the town's history. At present, in addition to quite a number of good residences, the Columbia county bank is putting up a two story stone building for its own and office occupancy, and G. D. Gilson has a 22 room hotel under way, the lower story of which will be used for a bakery and restaurant.

CHINESE CAUGHT STEALING JUICE

One would imagine that "juice" would be about the hardest thing in the world to steal. Fact is that electricity is about the easiest thing with which many Portland orientals make their getaway. Two arrests for this offense were made today.

T. Hayakawa, a Japanese restaurant proprietor at 3½ North Second street, was found to have eight electric lights in his place. The officials of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company had T. etc., arrested.

He made a connection with a big live wire just as slick as any ell you ever saw. And there was light. And it didn't cost T. Hay, etc., a cent. Now it is likely to cost T. Hay, etc., a good deal.

The boss of a hop joint at 189 Second is also to the bad today, although not as much so as the Japanese. This is a Chinese opium den, so the police say, and even in spite of all the exotic dreams they had to have a light now and then. This was to roll the pills by, it seems. Buy the light! Say not. One fellow stretched himself. "I own the electric light company," he said, drowsily; "just hook your wires to mine any old place."

And the Chinaman did. Last night he was caught—caught right in the act.

Although not arrested, nor is his name known, the police have a warrant for his arrest. And whether a "John" is caught or not, he will not be in his accustomed place this night, rolling his accustomed pill. Because "John" is scared.

YOUNG INVALID LOST TO SEARCHING MOTHER

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Maxon of Lewiston, Idaho, are worried over their failure to hear from Mrs. Maxon's son, Alton W. Walker, and fear that he has disappeared. Mr. Walker, so Mr. Maxon writes, was ill in the hospital at Eugene on the 7th and from there wrote his mother that he was scarcely able to get to the postoffice for his mail and the doctor told him to leave the hospital, presumably from lack of funds, and that he would not live six months. His mother wired him to return home at once and on the 10th he wired that he was coming and to send money to Portland.

The ticket and money were wired to Portland at once, but the young man has not been heard of since.

Mr. and Mrs. Maxon ask that any one who has any information about Mr. Walker will let them know at once, as they fear he is dead or stranded. They say that letters from his mother, all of which have C. C. Maxon on the envelope, could easily identify him.

TIME FOR ANOTHER SCRAP IN HONDURAS

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, Sept. 22.—Amapala, Honduras, is under martial law, according to news brought by the United States cruiser Milwaukee, which is coaling here today, following her arrival from Central American water. While there have been no disturbances for several weeks, government troops are in readiness to quell any uprising of the natives of the interior, which may come at any time. The revolutionary force in Honduras is reported to number about 1,500.

NORMAN E. MACK DENIES REPORT

No Money Has Ever Been Received by Democrats From Taggart.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

New York, Sept. 22.—Norman E. Mack, chairman of the Democratic national committee, today sent a telegram to President Roosevelt denying the truth of the statement reported to have been made in an interview between President Roosevelt and Timothy L. Woodruff, Republican state chairman, and published in a newspaper here. The story stated that the president thought it looked queer that a large sum of money should turn up in the Democratic treasury immediately after the appointment of Governor C. N. Haskell as the national treasurer, particularly because it had been announced previously that the treasury was empty.

Mack denied that any money had been received from Thomas Taggart, former national chairman, or from any one connected with the last campaign.

MISS ASQUITH IN GRAVEST DANGER

(United Press Leased Wire.)

London, Sept. 22.—Miss Violet Asquith, daughter of the premier, is lying dangerously ill at Strain castle in Scotland after being found unconscious on the brink of a high cliff. Deepest mystery surrounds her case and nothing can be learned of the misfortune which befell her.

Miss Asquith strolled out to the cliff Saturday. When she did not return at night her friends became alarmed and after an all night search she was found unconscious.

The particularly strong ways and means committee will make the work of financing the next festival comparatively easy, it is believed, but in order to get an early start the work of soliciting subscriptions will be begun next week. The headquarters of the association will still remain in the Swetland building, fifth floor.

LYNCHED NEGRO SURVIVES ROPE

(United Press Leased Wire.)

El Paso, Texas, Sept. 22.—Leaving George Clark, a negro, hanging to a tree thinking he was dead, a mob dispersed last night, but this morning it was found in some mysterious manner Clark had managed to fight death all night and was alive.

When he was discovered dangling at the end of the rope the negro was immediately cut down and hurried to jail. A second mob is gathering.

Clark is accused of shooting Constable W. H. Taylor, who attempted to arrest him at Shero.

OLD MAN IS RUN DOWN BY AN AUTO

Martin Feeney, a laborer, 60 years old was run down by an automobile numbered 149 Oregon, and listed as belonging to Covey & Riddle, at Second and Burnside streets at 11 o'clock this morning and sustained painful cuts and bruises about the head and face. One of his hands was severely cut and he complained of internal injuries. The injured man was removed to a near-by saloon and was afterwards taken to St. Vincent's hospital by a Red Cross ambulance.

It was denied at H. M. Covey's, successor to Covey & Riddle, that the automobile belonged to them, and the explanation made that the license tag No. 149, was one that has probably been loaned from that place and not returned.

FINAL REPORT IN M'DONNELL ESTATE

As administrator of the partnership estate of John T. McDonnell, in the firm of McAllen & McDonnell, D. McAllen has made his final report to the county court, showing that from January 1 to September 14 he received in cash $125,149.30 and expended $120,690.58, leaving a balance of $4,458.72. Besides this, property belonging to McDonnell's estate has been sold for not less than $50,000, and there is in addition real estate valued at $20,000.

H. Claussenius and Joseph Wagner, administrators of the estate of B. Gaken, in their final report show that they have realised $21,850.41 on the assets of the estate, and have paid out $7,508.65, leaving $14,347.76 to be distributed to the heirs.

G. O. P. BEST OF IT THREE TO ONE

Republicans flocked in to register at the county clerk's office this morning in the ratio of three to one as compared with the Democrats, making a much better showing for their party than on yesterday, when the books were first opened. This morning there were 72 Republicans and 7 Democrats. Yesterday there were 38 Republicans and 20 Democrats.

Yesterday nine of the registrations went into the scattering list, and this morning seven were added to the minor parties or were classed as independents. This made a total of 103 new voters registered at noon today.

The county clerk's office is open to the voters from 8 in the morning to 5 in the afternoon each day. Naturalized citizens or those who want to vote on their first papers must bring their papers with them.

GUESTS ACCUSE HOTEL MANAGER

Two Women Say He Held Letter of Credit and Much Real Cash.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, Sept. 22.—Suspected of having robbed two guests of the Hotel Balboa, of which he was manager up to a few days ago, of a letter of credit and money to the value of more than $2,300, John M. Parker was arrested last night as he was preparing to leave the city. On his person were found $305 in money and a diamond pin that was afterward identified as the property of Sylvian Newman, a local saloonman.

Parker took the management of the Hotel Balboa several months ago. C. W. Allen, president of the hotel company, discharged Parker a few days ago. Following his dismissal Miss Annie Buckley and Miss Adele Gould, recent arrivals, asked for a letter of credit of $1,000 and money amounting to over $1,300, which they claim to have left with Parker for safe keeping. The money and letter were not to be found in the safe.

DEATH BLOCKS TRIAL TWICE

Three times tried, three times taken under advisement by the judge who heard the testimony, and twice left unfinished by the death of the judge, is the strange history of two cases heard by Judge Bronaugh in the circuit court yesterday.

First the cases were heard by Judge Sears. Before he decided them death removed him from the bench. So a new start was taken, and they were again tried, this time before Judge Fraser. He did not decide them at once, and before he was ready to announce his judgment he was called by death.

A third start was taken by the persevering litigants, and the cases fell to Judge Bronaugh. He probably will decide them before the end of the present week, and thus avoid any danger that the superstitious might attach to the strange fatality that has followed the previous trials.

The cases in question are those of the state ex rel against the guardian of Charles H. Pike and the estate of Henry Holtgrieve. Holtgrieve was the guardian for the Pike heirs and the suit involves the payment of interest claimed by the heirs on money of theirs that was allowed to lay in the bank by Holtgrieve, and also on sums paid out without authorization of court. The total sum involved is less than $1,000.

TRUSTEE DOLPH SUES RECEIVER

In pursuance of authority granted by Judge Wolverton in the United States court on September 19, Chester V. Dolph, as trustee in bankruptcy of the Art Furniture Manufacturing company, has begun suit in the circuit court against M. L. Beach, receiver of the concern, and the Merchants' Saving & Trust company, asking the court to set aside an execution and sale heretofore ordered and to require Beach to surrender all assets of the company in his possession.

This action is the result of a long series of litigation in which charges of fraud and collusion have been freely made. Dolph asserts that H. L. Chapin, president of the Art Furniture concern, committed a fraud on the corporation in October, 1907, when he executed a note and mortgage to the Merchants' Savings & Trust company for $5,175 in return for a surrender of his stock. He asserts that a like fraud was committed in giving a note for $937 to Robert Andrews, which was by him assigned to the Merchants' Savings & Trust.

Dolph alleges that Beach was named as receiver at the instance of the trust company and that through collusion the circuit court was induced to order the sale of the property under the mortgages. After the execution had been issued the sale was stopped by an order from Judge Wolverton and Dolph's present suit is designed to undo all that Beach has done as receiver in the circuit court proceedings.

UNDERWRITERS CUT INSURANCE RAISE

Portland merchants and property owners will lose nothing because of the additional 25 cents aded to fire insurance premiums by the fire underwriters' association some months ago because of the alleged dangerous condition of light and power wires in the downtown district. The underwriters' association removed the 25 cents embargo today, and declared they would not collect the money for the previous months because the abuse they complained of had been remedied.

It was claimed by the underwriters that the light and power company distributed power for buildings and commercial purposes and for the trolley cars from the same generator, and it was claimed that the uneven distribution of current was a constant cause of danger. Some time ago the light and power company announced that the desired changes in the system had been made, but tests by the underwriters failed to satisfy them until last night, when the thorough tests were made by Professor Cory of the University of California, consulting engineer of the underwriters, and the system was found to be satisfactory.

CITY MAY CARE FOR DRIVER'S FAMILY

Mayor Lane has asked the council to investigate the circumstances surrounding the case of J. Bates, the driver of a wood wagon, who was injured near the Albina pumping station while working for the Banfield-Veasey company. In a letter he saws that Bates has a large family to support and that it may be the duty of the city to take care of him. Bates is in St. Vincent's hospital suffering from paralysis.

Wind Up Business.

The Harriman lines superintendents of motive power, who have been holding their semi-annual meeting in Portland, completed their sessions this morning and will leave for their homes this evening. There were about 40 superintendents of motive power and master mechanics in attendance at the meeting and they came from nearly every state west of the Mississippi river. The business of the meeting has consisted mainly of technical metters such as the fixing of common standards.

Freight Service to Salem.

Freight service between Portland and Salem was begun today on the Oregon Electric line and daily freight trains will be run by the road in the future. The arrival of the first consignment of box and flat cars ordered by the road made the inauguration of a daily freight service possible. The freight depot at Water and Jefferson streets is now open for freight.

LID GOES ON WITH A SLAM

Moving Picture Show Men Notified by Police to Close Up Sunday—May Keep Open as Theatres—Few Businesses Are Exempt.

Having been called upon by District Attorney Cameron to enforce every provision of the Sunday closing law, Chief Gritzmacher is preparing to do so with a vengeance.

The proprietors of the moving picture shows are being notified to keep their doors shut next Sunday, but as the chief learned today they are paying a license to the city as theatres it is probable that this portion of his order will be remanded and the nickelodions allowed to give performances on Sunday.

"Is this to be the permanent order of things?" District Attorney Cameron was asked today.

"Well, it is the law," was his reply.

The district attorney declares that frequent complaints have been made to him because the pool rooms were allowed to remain open on Sunday, and that it was on account of these complaints that he wrote the letter to Chief Gritzmacher.

The only lines of business exempted by law from the Sunday closing statutes are theatres (a special amendment) drug stores, doctors' offices, livery stables, butchers and bakers.

All cigar stores, boot black stands, confectionery stores not serving lunches, pool and billiard-rooms and bolwing alleys are therefore being told by the patrolmen to maintain closed doors next Sunday on pain of the proprietors being arrested.

Chief Gritzmacher is doubtful about the legality of closing one or two on this list, but is notifying them in advance to close, believing that it is better to remand the order than to allow too short a time for preparation.

District Attorney Cameron was questioned as to cigars being sold in drug stores on Sunday, but evaded this by saying that very few cigar stores clear a profit on Sunday.

As Sunday is the last day of baseball this season, it is probable that no attempt, as at first contemplated, will be made by the authorities to stop the game. District Attorney Cameron intimates that he will not prosecute, and under the circumstances it is not probable that Chief of Police Gritzmacher will make any arrests.

Sheriff Gets Letter.

Sheriff Stevens said today that he had received a letter from District Attorney Cameron calling attention to the sweeping provisions of the Sunday closing law, similar to the letter sent to the chief of police.

The sheriff said that he will act in enforcing the law by serving all warrants that are placed in his hands. Asked if he would send out some of his sleuths in the country districts to detect violations of the law, he said that was a matter that he has not considered.

"Suppose some one telephones you that a country storekeeper is selling cigars on Sunday" was asked.

"In that case I will ask the man that telephones to come in and make complaint, and then I will serve the warrant," he answered.

Two Ribs Broken.

Andrew Devlin, a laborer at the Inman-Poulsen Lumber company's mill, was struck by a sling carrying several large timbers while loading a vessel lying at the mill dock this morning. Two ribs were broken. He was removed to his home at East Second and Flanders by a Holman ambulance.

Many a young girl has been helped over this critical period, and been prepared for a healthy womanhood by
