NEWS FORECAST OF COMING WEEK

Presidential Candidates in Middle West—Two Big Conventions.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Washington, Sept. 26.—The middle west will be the political arena of the coming week. William J. Bryan, the Democratic candidate for president, will spend the greater part of the week in that section and Mr. Taft, the Republican nominee, will be heard at various places in the Dakotas, Iowa, Nebraska, Colorado and Kansas.

James S. Sherman, the Republican candidate for vice-president, will begin a Western tour at Chicago on Monday, when he will speak under the auspices of the Hamilton club. John W. Kern, the Democratic candidate for vice-president, will begin the week in northern Ohio. On Wednesday he is scheduled to speak at the Michigan Democratic convention in Saginaw. Thence he will start on an extensive southern trip, beginning his engagements at Birmingham Friday and speaking at Macon the following day.

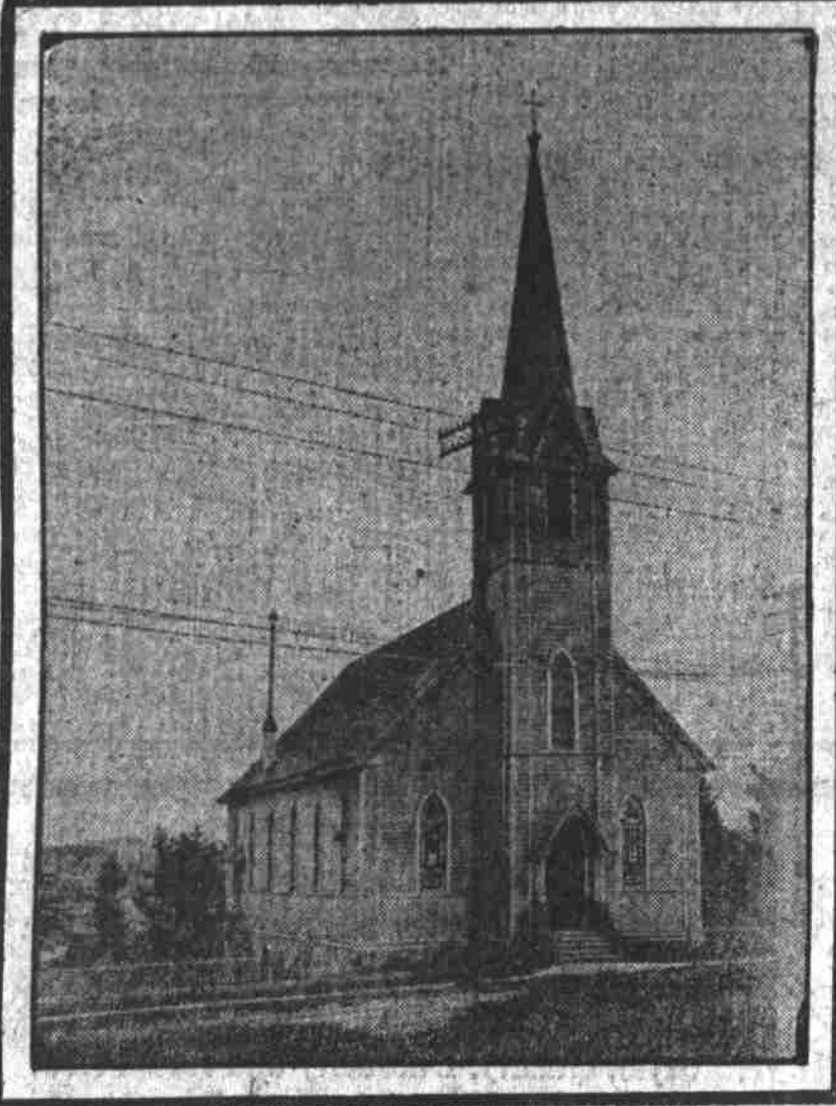

During the week the Democrats and Republicans of Michigan will hold their state conventions to ratify the results of the recent primaries and to adopt platforms. The Democrats will meet at Saginaw Wednesday and the Republicans will meet a day earlier in Detroit. State tickets will be nominated in Massachusetts by both parties. The Republicans will name Lieutenant-Governor Draper for governor and the only contest will be over the nomination for lieutenant governor, for which place there are three aspirants. The indications are that State Senator James H. Vane will be the Democratic candidate for governor.

Many eminent scientists of America and Europe will be heard at the international tuberculosis congress in session on this city. The Atlantic battleship fleet is due to reach Manila Thursday. Recent advices from the Philippine capital tell of elaborate arrangements made there for the entertainment of the officers and men of the fleet.

The assembling of the Danish parliament on Monday will attract international attention owing to the complicated political situation there as a result of the disclosures of the extensive frauds committed by M. Alberti, the ex-minister of justice.

A number of financiers and other men of national prominence will address the annual convention of the American Bankers' association, which will meet in Denver on Tuesday. Other important conventions of the week will be the National Irrigation congress at Albuquerque, the convention of the League of American Municipalities at Omaha, and the annual meeting of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers at Saratoga.

A. Heaton Robertson, who has been named by the Democrats for governor of Connecticut, is a native of New Haven and has always made his home in that city. He served several terms in the general assembly, and for eight years was a judge of the probate court. Four years ago he was the unsuccessful nominee of the Democrats for governor.

Social Assembly Hall, Church of Sacred Heart.

The Sacred Heart church and school were first established about thirteen years ago. Rev. L. Buchholzer was its first pastor, and upon his resignation, the Very Rev. Prior Adelhelm, O. S. B., of Mt. Angel took charge of the small concern. There were in all some seven or eight Catholic families within its boundaries. The Rev. Father Anselm, noted as a philologist and all-around scholar, succeeded the aforementioned missionary. Rev. Father William, the present procurator general of Mt. Angel, began to build the present church, but his presence became very urgent at Mt. Angel, where he was to assume charge and shape the agricultural department of the monastery. He was succeeded by Rev. Father Berthold Durrer, who was pastor during two years, whereupon he became a necessity for the spiritual guidance of the brotherhood at Mt. Angel to which he returned. The present pastor of this parish, Rev. Father Gregory, succeeded him, and has now held that position five years. During this time the parish increased in its membership, so that the Sacred Heart parishioners are proud to look at their success and progress. They have now a neat church, a splendid school, a spacious and attractive hall that seats some 500 people, and a roomy residence. The school is well patronized, and all the grades, including the first year of the high school curriculum, are most efficiently taught by the Benedictine Sisters. Latin and German are also taught. The school has had several promising graduates. Father Gregory is the principal of the school. Non-Catholic children of good moral standing are most welcome in this school.

EZRA MEEKER SAYS WALNUTS ARE COMING OREGON CROP

"If I were a young man I'd go right out and get me some Oregon land and plant walnut trees on it," said Ezra Meeker this morning. The man who retraced the Oregon trail has just come back from visiting the walnut orchards and is full of advice for the young man who wants to become independent by tilling Oregon soil. "It's the best thing this country affords for a young fellow," said Mr. Meeker. "I visited an orchard near McMinnville the other day and it was a wonder to me. I've become an enthusiast over walnuts. The man whose place I visited is taking out his pruning trees and other fruit trees and planting walnuts. He finds them less trouble and less expense than prunes, the chances of damage are less and he's got more when the crop is harvested. He told me he shipped a carload of walnuts to New York last year and got 18 cents a pound for them. It costs one cent a pound to harvest them. He expects to get nearly as good a crop this year. "Of course, you can't stick the trees helter-skelter in the ground and let them grow, but they are less trouble than other orchard trees and the time is coming when they will be grown over all of Oregon. The demand will increase as the supply increases. They are a staple product. Mr. Meeker with his ox team and migrant wagon has been at the Salem and McMinnville fair. He will leave next week for Vancouver, B. C., where the exposition starts Monday and will spend a week with his outfit in British Columbia.

Low Colonist Rates Via the Canadian Pacific.

During September and October the Canadian Pacific has on sale very low colonist rates from eastern points to Portland. Tickets can be prepaid and delivery arranged by telegraph. For rates and full particulars apply at local office or address F. R. Johnson, G. A. P. D., Portland.

The Republican Business Men's association will hold a monster parade for Taft and Sherman in New York city on the Saturday night before election.

PRESS COMMENT ON CAMPAIGN

G. O. P. Papers Sniff at Oil Scent—Reliance on Blind Voters.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Experienced politicians of both parties admit that before Roosevelt got into the fight Bryan had a strong lead and that the Republican leaders were so desperate that they were compelled to call on the president to save Taft.

The Journal says: "Suppose the oil trust is found to have contributed a large sum to the Republican campaign fund. What course must be pursued? Would Mr. Roosevelt demand the retirement of Judge Taft from the contest? If not, what other course could consistently be followed?"

"The statement is unequivocally made in dispatches this morning from New York that in the campaign of 1904 H. H. Rogers and John D. Archbold contributed $100,000 to the Republican war chest. Roosevelt is said to have ordered this money to his donors, directing a violent letter to Cortelyou. But this money was kept and used.

"Later in the campaign another and larger donation was asked. Mr. Rogers refused. It was then that Mr. Roosevelt made his now famous request to his 'practical' friend, Mr. Harriman, which brought in $250,000.

"The Standard Oil bogey seems almost omnipresent in American politics. It would hardly be surprising even to learn that it had contributed to the independence party."

The News says: "Mr. Roosevelt should ask himself

CABINET MEN OUT FOR TAFT

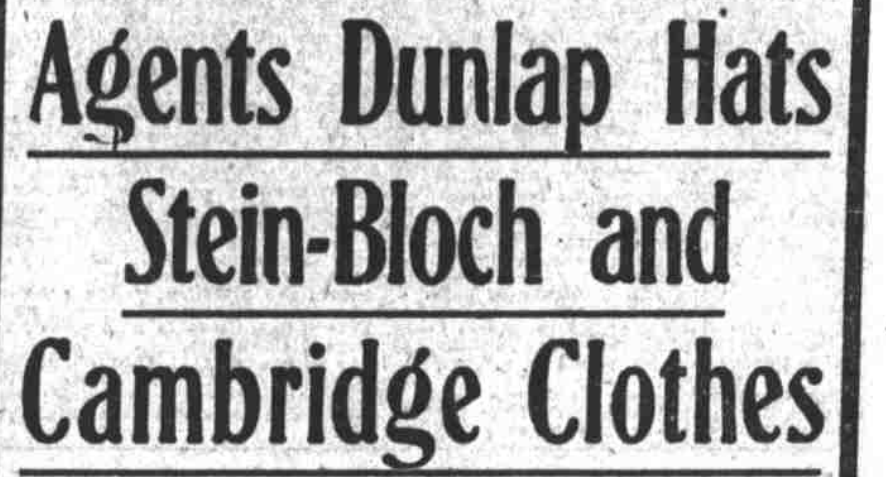

(United Press Leased Wire.) Chicago, Sept. 26.—It was announced today that Secretary of the Interior Garfield will take the stump for Taft and will speak in Indiana on a three-day trip to begin October 1. Garfield, who has been intimately connected with the affairs of the campaign, is expected to put in some heavy blows for the Republican candidate in the doubtful state of Indiana, where much of the contest is now centering.

It was announced also that Secretary of Agriculture Wilson and Attorney-General Bonaparte have offered their services to the national committee and are willing to take the stump for Taft.

Democrats of Ohio have completed elaborate arrangements for the opening of their state campaign, which is to take place in Mansfield on September 25. An attendance of marching clubs and other visitors from all over the state is expected. John W. Kern, candidate for vice-president, will speak and the other chief orators will be Judson Harmon of Cincinnati, nominee for governor and former Governor James E. Campbell of Hamilton, endorsed by the state convention for United States senator.

Agents Dunlap Hats Stein-Bloch and Cambridge Clothes

You're going to buy some clothes this fall and we're going to sell some. It's our business to see that the clothes we have to sell are the kind that are the best for you to buy; and having done that, to let you know they're ready; and that's what we are doing here.

In choosing the clothes for our customers to wear this fall, we find nothing to equal the new products of The Stein-Bloch Co. and Cambridge Clothes. No concern making clothes, so far as we know, maintains a higher standard of excellence. Their fabrics are invariably all wool and they handle their materials in the most careful and thorough manner possible.

They seem to feel, as we do, a sense of moral responsibility to you, who may wear the clothes, that your confidence shall not in the slightest particular fail of being justified by the results you get.

When you see them you will realize that ready made is really the sane and sensible way to buy clothes and that this is the place. The new suits for fall are in a great variety of colors and patterns. Browns and greens are prominent features. Coats have high broad shoulders, long roll lapel, form tracing and box backs; plain and patch pockets, some with plaits, some with buttoned flaps with or without cuffs.

Trousers vary from extreme peg top, narrowed at the instep, to more conservative lines.

We fit anybody, especially men who think they must have made to measure clothes. We make a special feature of young men's clothes.

Suits $20 to $45
Overcoats—A full line of new models in many patterns; raincoats; top coats and auto coats, $18.00 to $40.00.

THIRD BRIDGE IS COMPLETED OVER GULCH

Steel and Concrete Bridge at Union Avenue. The new steel and concrete bridge over Sullivan gulch at Union ave., which has just been completed, makes the third steel-concrete viaduct spanning Sullivan gulch to be erected during the past year. The others are at Grand avenue and at East Twenty-eighth ave. The bridge at Union avenue is a steel structure with both ends resting on a concrete foundation, while all of the steel columns supporting the bridge are embedded in concrete pillars. It is an exact duplicate of the Grand avenue bridge and was constructed at a cost of about $20,000. Within a short time, or as soon as the truck connections can be made, the Union avenue cars that come in and go out of the city over the Burnside bridge will also the Grand avenue route and resume the old route over Union avenue.
