

GREAT OPPORTUNITIES OFFERED SETTLERS IN KLAMATH

By M. L. Allison.

If there were no other resources in the Klamath section save the agricultural interest, which embraces 200,000 acres of farming land that is being reclaimed by the federal government, by a system of canals and the draining of the tule marshes, and the great timber which is adjacent and tributary to the Upper Klamath lake—the largest body of fresh water west of the Rocky mountains—and the 80 or 90 miles of navigable rivers and lakes and the practically unlimited water power that can be so cheaply had from the Link and Klamath rivers, it would support a population of 50,000 and make Klamath Falls a city of from 10,000 to 15,000 people.

Again, if the Klamath section had no other resources save its 11,000,000 feet of sugar and yellow pine timber, which is adjacent and tributary to the Upper Klamath lake—the largest body of fresh water west of the Rocky mountains—and the 80 or 90 miles of navigable rivers and lakes and the practically unlimited water power that can be so cheaply had from the Link and Klamath rivers, it would support a population of 50,000 people, and make Klamath Falls a city of from 10,000 to 15,000 people.

Still again, if the Klamath section had no other resources save its great and wonderful but springs, its immense game and fish preserves, its unexcelled resort features, including some of the grandest scenic views of the world, among them the great Crater lake, all of which are now attracting the attention of the world, it would support a population of 50,000 people, and make Klamath Falls a city of from 10,000 to 15,000 people.

The estimates herein made are certainly conservative, and one must conclude that the Klamath basin section, the first railroad has now entered Klamath county, and is being pushed to Klamath Falls as fast as men and money can do it.

SIDELINE STORIES OF GREAT NORTHWEST

BIG PROFIT IN HOGS

Over $570 Netted by Yamhill Farmer From 57 Porkers.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MEMPHISVILLE, Or., Sept. 28.—James Reid, living a short distance east of town, sold a bunch of 57 hogs lately fattened at a cash outlay of $42, receiving for them the sum of $616.87, or a profit of $574.87.

Besides giving the porkers 14 tons of millfeed at $28 a ton, Mr. Reid allowed them to have the run of a 100-acre field of clover early in the season. He then let them have a three-acre clover field, then an eight-acre field of wheat, and later a four-acre patch of peas. The 100-acre field of clover was sowed for seed, the pasturing being a benefit rather than a detriment.

Thus, the hogs used only the product from 15 acres, giving a profit of a little more than $38 an acre net, fair interest on land at a valuation of $400 an acre, after deducting the cost of putting in the crop. The hogs did all the harvesting.

Witness Against Alleged Slayer Object of Indian Hatred.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Klamath Falls, Or., Sept. 28.—"Little John," the old Klamath Indian who is the principal witness for the state in the trial of William Barclay, the half breed charged with the murder of Billy Jacobs, the Alturas horse buyer, Indian friend, and is now under the protection of the authorities, awaiting summons to go to Portland.

A number of Barclay's friends and relatives came to Klamath Falls to see him before he was taken to Portland to appear before the federal grand jury to answer the charge of the murder of Sid Jacobs, the Alturas horse buyer. On their return to the reservation the Indians were very quarrelsome, having secured whiskey, and "Modoc Billy," the father of the Indian boy who was captured with Barclay, attacked "Little John" with a knife. His brother saved the old man, and Modoc Billy, who was implicated in the murder of white settlers during the Modoc war, is being held in jail until after Barclay's trial. "Little John" will also be guarded, as his testimony will convict or free Barclay.

Torturing Animals To Assist Science

Is a Cruel Method to Follow, but It Has Saved Many Human Lives.

Prof. Pawlow, of Russia, was engaged for many years in experiment work, trying to learn the workings of digestion, especially the digestive glands.

He, with able assistants, operated upon dogs, cats, guinea pigs and other animals.

His methods were seemingly painful, but he gave to science a work which won the Nobel prize and made for him an undying fame.

Science penetrated the secrets of nature. Prof. Pawlow saw animals digest food. He analyzed juices from every part of the digestive canal and stomach under all conditions of diet. He spent years of ceaseless study amid the howling and dying beasts, but he won, and science today looks upon him as a great man.

"To do a great right do a little wrong," Shakespeare said, and Prof. Pawlow obeyed this trite saying.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are prepared by the most scientific process. They are produced by modern appliances, and meet the demand of 20th century chemistry.

They give man the means to correct his indigestion of stomach and digestive organs.

They enrich the blood, give nature the juices and fluids she lacks, stop the formation of noxious gases and the fermentation of food. They neutralize powerful acids and alkalies, which irritate and devour the stomach. They prevent and relieve bowel and intestinal trouble and soothe the nerves.

They should be used after every meal, whether one has dyspepsia and stomach trouble or the stomach be naturally healthy. By their use one may eat all hours and whatever one desires and they help the system digest or throw off such food. They are thoroughly meritorious as their tremendous sale and popularity illustrate.

Every drug store has them for sale, price 50c per package. If you would like to test their merits free, send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail without cost. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

MONEY FOR INDIANS

$52,500 to Be Distributed on the Klamath Reservation.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Klamath Falls, Or., Sept. 28.—Every man, woman and child on the Klamath Indian reservation is to receive $52.50 within the next 10 days. This represents the distribution of $52,500 interest now due, and 10 per cent of the principal of a sum placed to their credit several years ago, paid for lands which belonged to the Indians and which the government appropriated.

This is the money received for the land set aside for the building of irrigation ditches, purchase of cattle, etc., and $50,000 was placed on interest for them at 5 per cent. Seventeen thousand five hundred dollars interest is now due them and the Indians, in addition, asked for 10 per cent of the principal.

PAYMENT IN LABOR

Klamath Project Irrigators May Bid on Ditch Construction.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Klamath Falls, Or., Sept. 28.—Landowners on the Klamath project can now bid on sections of ditch laterals to be dug this fall. Payment will be made in certificates, which can be applied on the payment of water rates. These certificates are negotiable, and can be converted into cash at a small discount, if the land-owner does not desire to apply some on his water payments.

This is a new feature introduced by the reclamation service to promote harmony and to aid the farmer in paying for his water.

PLEA OF MERCY TO DODGE LAW

and Henry McGinn. There is a possibility that Senator Gearin will also assist in the defense.

The most interesting development of the morning, and perhaps the most important is the discovery by the lawyers for the merchants that the saloons and liquor interests will not protest so much as they have in the past. Those liquor dealers who have hoped that the popular indignation at their closing of all saloons would react in their favor will be disappointed. There is an entirely distinct statute referring to the closing of saloons on Sunday, and was under this section that the saloons were closed by order of the last district attorney.

This section—1974—was passed in 1854, and states that liquor is not to be given away or sold or otherwise disposed of in any retail house on Sunday.

The section now under fire is 1945, and was passed in 1864. It states that no business is to be conducted on Sunday in any houses excepting those specified.

It is the fact that certain exceptions are made to the rule that the lawyers for the merchants base their hopes upon. They say it is class legislation and in violation of section 29 or article 1 of the state constitution, reading: "No law shall be passed granting any citizen or class of citizens privileges or immunities which upon the same terms, shall not equally belong to all citizens."

Ball Game Act of Charity.

Along the mercy and necessity plea, the lawyers are pushing to the decision in the courts of Detroit, Mich., where Justice Stein, on September 19, ruled that a ball game on Sunday was a necessity and an act of charity. The tobaccoists hold that if a ball game is a necessity, so is a Sunday smoke, and that they are performing an act of charity when they sell the smoker his customary half dozen cigars, his box of cigarettes, his package of tobacco on Sunday.

The police started out on their rounds yesterday, they began by arresting every violator of the law they could find. Nearly all tobacco stores were open, as were the drug and fruit stores. Pool rooms quite generally displayed their signs. The diligent bluecoats had 50

ANKENY WILL NOT CONTINUE HIS FIGHT

Seattle, Sept. 28.—A special from Walla Walla to a Seattle paper says: United States Senator Levi Ankeny has no intention of continuing his fight for senator before the next legislature and has never given any intimation that he had such an intention.

The closest political friends Senator Ankeny has on the west side declared at the conclusion of the primary fight that Senator Ankeny could do nothing but adhere to his previous pledge. It develops now that Senator Ankeny had no intention of doing anything but keep his word.

Senator Ankeny stated during the recent visit of Seattle business men Walla Walla that he would not carry his fight into the legislature.

The British admiralty began experimenting with submarine boats in Plymouth harbor in 1774.
