GORE ADDRESSES LARGE GATHERING

Blind Senator Tells San Francisco What He Thinks of Republicanism.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, Sept. 30. — Senator Thomas P. Gore, "the blind statesman from Oklahoma," left here today for Reno, Nev., where he will open the Bryan campaign tonight. He started the Democratic campaign here last night at a big meeting in Dreamland pavilion. Gore held the audience for over two hours.

Dressed in negligee attire, free and easy and even bluff at times in his speech, Senator Gore's address was an appeal to the workingman. It was far from an orthodox campaign harangue.

The speaker created great enthusiasm when he declared against the immigration of aliens, which his listeners took to mean orientals.

"Strangers and aliens who can have no possible affinity with us should be met at our seashore with the imperious command of the national government, 'Thus far shalt thou come and no farther,'" he declared.

Senator Gore called upon all people who value their rights to oppose the reelection of Speaker Cannon of the house of representatives.

"Democracy opposes the centralization of political and industrial power," said the speaker. "Both are equally dangerous and destructive of the rights of the people. The Republican party favors both. Which will you have?"

Senator Gore said the Republican party is an "unlawful combination in restraint of trade."

CAPTAIN OF BENGAL WAITS FOR INQUIRY

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Berkeley, Cal., Sept. 30.—Although he would not deny that the wreck of the Star of Bengal on the treacherous reef of the Coronation Island, off the southeast coast of Alaska, 10 days ago, might not have been averted by the tugs Hattie Gage and Kayak, Captain Nicholas Wagner of the lost ship, who has returned to his home here, declines to discuss the matter. The wreck will probably be officially investigated and Captain Wagner will then give his version of the disastrous wreck which cost the lives of 111 men.

Other survivors of the wreck are loud in their denunciation of the actions of the captains of the two tugs, claiming that their own log books will convict them of wilfully abandoning the Bengal and leaving her crew to their fate. When the bark began to drift toward the rocks, they claim, the two tugs not only cut loose, but steamed away and did not return for 36 hours.

MUST POSTPONE FLEET RECEPTION

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Washington, Sept. 30.—"The visit of the fleet to Manila is for business, not pleasure. There will be no plans considered for entertainment until the business of the fleet is finished."

In this statement Secretary Victor H. Metcalf of the navy settles the question. It means that receptions planned on the first and second visits of the American battleships, October 1 and October 31, must be postponed. The receptions, if any are held, will be after the second arrival of the fleet.

On arrival, in two squadrons, the vessels will coal at Cavite and then proceed to hold target practice before anything in the way of festivities can be participated in by the officers and men aboard the vessels.

The fleet will start for the Atlantic coast December 7.

TO TEST VALIDITY OF PRIMARY LAW

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 30.—Judge W. W. Zent of the superior court of Adams, Benton and Franklin counties has instituted proceedings to test the validity of the primary law, and through his counsel will make application to the supreme court for a writ of mandate directing the state canvassing board and the secretary of state to declare no nomination of the judiciary in the district in which he is a candidate.

Judge Zent alleges in his application that the ballots submitted to the voters of the district were void because of uncertainty, for the reason that his opponent failed to specify, in filing his declaration of candidacy, whether he desired nomination for the long or the short term.

Leaves for Washington.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)

Salem, Or., Sept. 30.—Railroad Commissioner Clyde B. Aitcheson left yesterday for Washington, D. C., where he will represent the Oregon railroad commission at the meeting of the National Association of Railway Commissioners, which will be assembled at Washington from October 6 to 10.

Torturing Animals To Assist Science

Is a Cruel Method to Follow, but It Has Saved Many Human Lives.

Prof. Pawlow, of Russia, was engaged for many years in experimental work, trying to learn the workings of digestion, especially the digestive glands.

He, with able assistants, operated upon dogs, cats, guinea pigs and other animals.

His methods were seemingly painful, but he gave to science a work which won the Nobel prize and made for him an undying fame.

Science penetrated the secrets of nature. Prof. Pawlow saw animals digest food. He analyzed juices from every part of the digestive canal and stomach under all conditions of digestion. He spent years of ceaseless study amid the howling and dying beasts, but he won, and science today looks upon him as a great man.

"To do a great right do a little wrong" Shakespeare said, and Prof. Pawlow obeyed this trite saying.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are prepared by the most scientific process. They are produced by modern appliances, and meet the demand of 20th century chemistry.

They give man the means to correct his infirmities of stomach and digestive organs.

They enrich the blood, give nature the juices and fluids she lacks, stop the formation of noxious gases and the fermentation of food. They neutralize powerful acids and alkalies, which irritate and devour the stomach. They prevent and relieve bowel and intestinal trouble and soothe the nerves.

They should be used after every meal, whether one has dyspepsia and stomach trouble or the stomach be naturally healthy. By their use one may eat at all hours and whatever one desires and they help the system digest or throw off such food. They are thoroughly meritorious as their tremendous sale and popularity illustrate.

Every drug store has them for sale, price 50c per package. If you would like to test their merits free, send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail without cost. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

CANNON THORN IN THEIR SIDE

Republican Committeemen Forced to Take Cognizance of His Unpopularity.

By John E. Lathrop.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—The Republican committee has been forced to take cognizance of the fight on Speaker Cannon. Allegations were made that the speaker's tour through the middle west had injured the Republican cause. Such statements were so assiduously circulated that the Republican committee issued an official proclamation of faith in "Uncle Joe" Cannon's potency as a political drawing card, and to vouch for the assertion that his travels have strengthened the Republican cause.

It is probable that the majority of the leaders of that party do not approve of this official seal thus put on the house record of Speaker Cannon. If there be one fact which is patent this year it is that Mr. Cannon is unpopular, and that at least outside his own district, perhaps in that, too, his name is anathema to the voters.

Regarding Mr. Cannon and the undeniably obnoxious character of his operations in the house, many persons in all likelihood have only a hazy notion of how he exercises his czarlike powers. They know that it is the general knowledge that in some manner he does it, but they read stories of his personal popularity, his bluff heartiness, and his virility which cause a considerable number to admire him.

The simple truth is (and I speak from personal observations around the national capitol building) that while many like "Uncle Joe" personally, they regard him officially as tyrannical, dictatorial, vindictive, splenetic and revengeful to a degree.

He Is Merciless.

Towards men who opopse him he is merciless, remorseless, savage. This is the personal opinion of most of the Republican members whom I have heard express themselves, but they always lay on the command: "Regard this as confidential, as it would ruin me if 'Uncle Joe' heard it."

I have in mind a particular instance, at the beginning of the last session of congress, when, sent by a newspaper editor to interview two members on a certain subject on which there had been full, free discussion in their home districts, they refused to speak for publication, saying:

"Committee assignments haven't been made yet; what do you think we'd get if we said anything about that matter now?"

These members were Republicans. Throughout that entire session they maintained that frightened attitude, fearful to talk openly on any theme on which the speaker had taken a stand or seemed likely to take a stand.

Last session the bill to appropriate money for the Seattle, (Wash.) Alaska and Yukon exposition came before congress. It passed the senate, and, coming to the house, was referred to the proper committee on industrial arts and expositions, of which Congressman Gardner of Massachusetts is chairman.

This committee held hearings, manifested friendship to the bill, and its early reporting favorably was expected by all who were concerned.

Made Him Angry.

Coincidentally, Republican leaders in the state of Washington, wherein Seattle is located, took ground on the presidential nomination against Speaker Cannon. It angered Mr. Cannon, who forthwith arbitrarily withdrew the Seattle exposition bill from the regularly constituted expositions committee, and referred it to the ways and means committee, of which Sereno E. Payne of New York, one of the chief standpatters, is chairman.

A gasp of astonishment went through the house when this was done. It was utterly unprecedented; the function of the ways and means committee is solely to draft bills affecting the raising of revenues. It was no more designed to consider exposition bills than a plow is to be used by dentists in extracting teeth.

This action was characteristic of the dictatorial methods of the speaker and it could not be argued by him as often attempted that his censorship and assumption of illegitimate authority are warranted by the designed powers of a speakership. These incidents could be multiplied into hundreds. As a matter of fact, around the house lobbies and cloakrooms these things are common talk among both Republicans and Democrats.

Moral—Elect a Democratic house and president and cure these abuses.

"RED SPECIAL" OUT OF FUNDS

Socialists Will Make Effort to Keep Debs' Train Running.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

New York, Sept. 30.—In an effort to keep the "red special," with Eugene V. Debs, on the track, members of the Socialist party here are making a determined effort to replenish the campaign fund of the Socialist party. An appeal from their presidential candidate was received yesterday stating that unless funds were forthcoming at once the special train on which he is traveling could not be brought east.

"The eastern trip, up to election day, must be made," Debs says in his appeal. "It would be a humiliation to the Socialist party to confess to the world that it had started a train and could not carry it to its destination. One thing is certain, and that is that if my colleagues and I are of any value at all as campaigners and propagandists, the special train multiplies that value 20 times over. There will be no chance to make any further appeal. If the train is to continue till the close of the campaign, the money will have to come quickly."

NOTED INDIAN CHIEF GOES DOWN AT SEA

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Port Townsend, Wash., Sept. 30.—A report received here from Neah Bay tells of the almost certain loss at sea of Chief Peter, one of the best known of the Makah Indians, at the Makaha reservation, near Cape Flattery. The chief left his home 16 days ago in a canoe on a fishing trip into the waters of the Straits of Juan de Fuca, near the entrance to the ocean. His failure to return caused a search to be made without success. The crew of the new life saving station at Waadah island was called upon for aid and after searching the waters along Vancouver island found the chief's canoe floating and partially filled with water. He was one of the oldest of the Makah tribe.

Historic Event Commemorated.

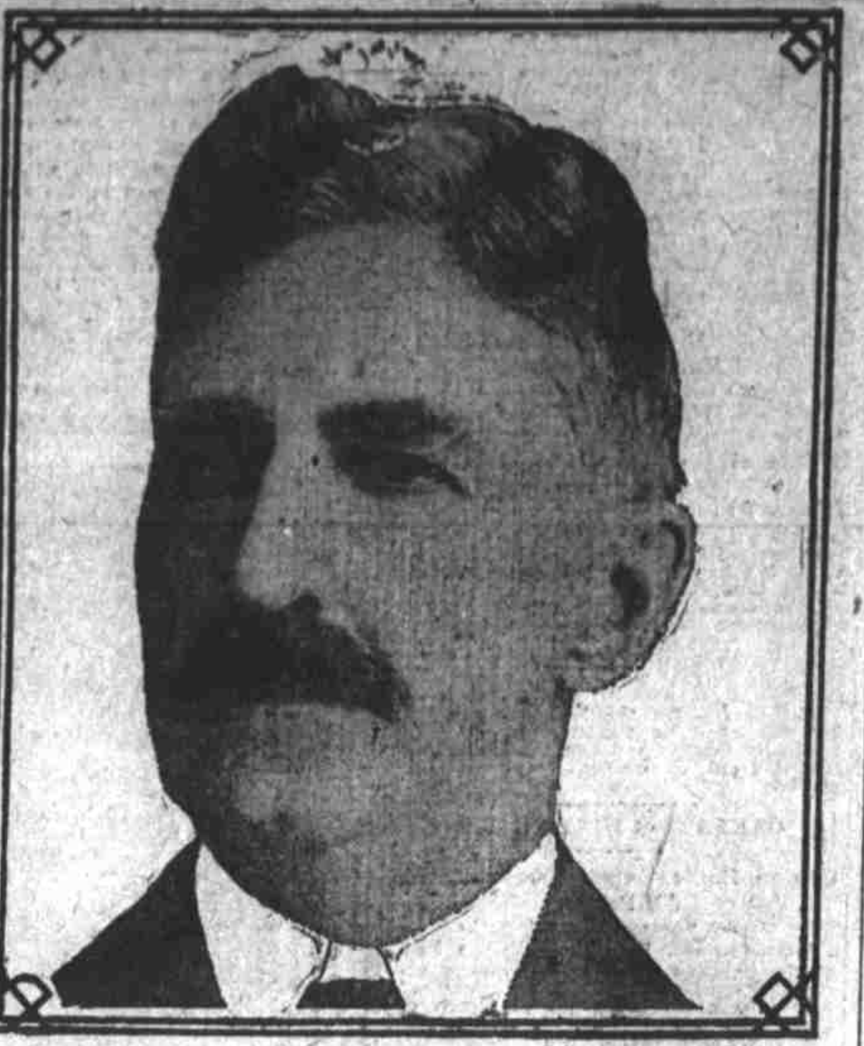
(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Bridgeton, N. J., Sept. 30.—Many persons of prominence, including representatives of the various patriotic and historical societies of New Jersey, assembled today at Greenwich, in Cumberland county, for the dedication of a $1,500 monument erected to commemorate the burning of the British tea taken from the frigate Greyhound in 1774. Governor Fort, former Governor Stokes and Professor Warren Sheppard delivered the principal addresses at the exercises.

THE TRANS-MISSISSIPPI CONGRESS NEXT MONTH



J. B. Case, president of the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress.

San Francisco, Sept. .—Every state in the Union is vitally interested in the Trans-Mississippi Commercial congress, which is to be held here October 6 to 14. The object of this commercial congress is along the line of the meeting held last spring at the direction of President Roosevelt for all the governors of the various states. While this is, strictly speaking, a western movement, every state is to be represented. It is the free forum of the western states. Each state is entitled to representation as follows:

The governor of each state and territory may appoint 10 delegates and not more than 20 delegates to represent the state. The mayor of each city one delegate and one additional delegate for each 5,000 inhabitants, provided, however, that no city shall have more than 10 delegates. Each county may appoint one delegate through its executive officer. Each business organization one delegate and one additional delegate for every 50 members, provided, however, that no such business organization shall have more than 10 delegates.

The meeting this year will be of exceptional interest because of the subjects before the body to be discussed. These include "Irrigation and Drainage," "River and Harbor Improvements," "Statehood," "Parcels Post and Postal Banks," "Trans-Pacific Trade," "Closer Relations With the Latin Republics," "Public Ownership of Utilities," "Panama and the Canal," "Railway Interstate Commerce" and other equally important subjects.

A special committee has been appointed to thrash out the material dealing with the conservation of natural resources. Another committee deals with the inland waterways. The one topic absolutely prohibited is political questions. This being election year it was feared that politics might enter into this to a considerable extent and the president, J. B. Case, has definitely put his foot down on any such movement. Nothing bearing on political questions will be allowed before this congress.

The meeting will be of special interest at this time because it is the first convention to be held in this city since the earthquake. The governors of 30 states have already appointed delegates and most of them will be here. One or two of the members of the presidents cabined will attend and E. H. Harriman will make one of the principal addresses. Delegates will be here from Alaska and Hawaii.

The Trans-Mississippi Commercial congress is backed by some of the strongest men in the country. Its history dates back to the first season at Galveston, Texas, in 1891. W. M. Fishback of Arkansas was its first president. Since then meetings have been held annually and presidents elected. Among the prominent men who have been at the head of the Trans-Mississippi Commercial congress are: William Jennings Bryan, David R. Francis of Missouri, Colonel Loveland of California, George A. McConnell of Idaho, E. O. Standard of Mississippi, John Henry Smith of Utah and other equally prominent men.

The enthusiasm aroused over the country is due to a large extent to the energy and ability of its president, J. B. Case, and its secretary, Arthur F. Francis.

JAPS UNDERSELL COAST LUMBERMEN

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, Sept. 30.—Because the Japanese lumber merchants in Manchuria have been able to sell railroad ties cheaper here than the American lumbermen can, Taft will lose several thousand votes in Mendocino county, according to Congressman Duncan McKinlay, who is here after a campaign trip through the northern county. McKinlay says that several thousand men have been put to work in the lumbering country of the coast because the Japanese have captured the tie market. A higher tariff on lumber would remedy this alleged condition, according to McKinlay.

Wisconsin D. A. R.

Fort Atkinson, Wis., Sept. 30.—Fort Atkinson, which was the scene of several stirring events during the Black Hawk war and possesses several other claims to historic distinction, has the honor of entertaining for two days the annual state conference of the Wisconsin chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The gathering was formally opened today with delegates in attendance from the local chapters throughout the state. The Fort Atkinson branch of the society has provided elaborate entertainment for the visiting women.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and A FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
