BANKRUPT STOCK
Bought at 40 Cents on the Dollar for a City Store.
The manager of the "Ideal" and "I. X. L." clothing companies, after a visit of one month to the eastern trading centers, has returned to Portland. His phenomenal purchase in New York City of a mammoth stock of clothing at 40c on the dollar, which was made for the season but not for Portland. It was made for a big eastern house. It was forced to the wall during the worst of the panic. This stock will open the eyes of every shopper and merchant in this city when thrown on the market the last of this month. Mr. Lauterstein had exceptional good fortune in capturing a large stock of shoes in Boston at 40c on the dollar, which will enable him to sell shoes during his coming sale at prices that will cause more than a little comment. Mr. Lauterstein says conditions are rapidly improving in the east and that if his trip had been made 10 days later he would never have been able to procure a stock of the best merchandise at bankrupt prices. Some busy days are predicted by Mr. Lauterstein for his stores at the corner of Third and Davis when his fall sale starts the latter part of next week.

BANKRUPT STOCK SALE

Extra Salesmen Wanted
Experience unnecessary, Goods will sell themselves

Mr. J. Lauterstein returns from the East with a lucky purchase of a Bankrupt Stock of Clothing, Gents' Furnishings and Shoes, amounting to $19,850.00, which he bought at 40c on the dollar. This entire stock will be slaughtered at a great sacrifice, which means a big saving to the public, as the stock must be sold out at once. It will pay anyone to walk a little out of their way and investigate this sale; as

RESTED UP BY BEATING WIFE

Alleging that her husband forged her name to checks aggregating $285 and that for several years he has been in the habit of coming home intoxicated, threatening the life of herself and children, Mrs. Elizabeth Welter is suing for a divorce in the circuit court. The husband, J. N. Welter, is contesting the suit.

Welter denies practically all of the allegations of his beautiful wife, to the extent of questioning the date of their marriage. They were married, according to the complaint, in May, 1895, and have two children, aged 8 and 6, beside two other children of a former marriage of Mrs. Welter.
Mrs. Welter alleges that it has been the constant habit of her spouse during recent years to come home from his work at the Terminal yards in a state of intoxication, and upon arriving would set about to beat her unmercifully, sometimes leaving black and blue marks which remained for two weeks if she interfered if it was his habit to turn on her, she says, and he often threatened to shoot her.
The wife alleges that some time ago Welter forged her name to several checks aggregating $285, and that in order to avoid any humiliating circumstances or disgrace any of the family she raised the money and paid them. Welter earned but $15 a month, she says, and the greater part of that sum was spent for liquor.
Welter says that for a time after their marriage Mrs. Welter conducted a grocery store, and that after he had spent 13 or 14 hours working in the Terminal yards he would come home and deliver the groceries in a wheelbarrow. He says he is ready and willing to support and care for his wife, so he has in the past. The case is on trial before Judge Cleland.

MINISTERS DEBATE ON TAX OF BACHELORS AND WOMEN'S VOTES

The White Temple was comfortably filled last night with the admirers of Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher, Dr. Clarence True Wilson and Fred Butler, who together gave an entertainment which delighted their audience. It was primarily a concert by Mr. Butler, the revival base singer, and a humorous debate was interposed by Dr. Brougher and Wilson for the delectation of the crowd.

Mr. Butler was in his usual voice and sang some excellent numbers with E. E. Courson accompanying him. He has a strong voice especially adapted to church work.
The debate kept the audience laughing most of the time though Dr. Wilson is so in earnest on the subject that he treated it seriously while Dr. Brougher did not attempt to meet him on his own ground. The question was "Resolved: That old bachelors should be taxed and old maids and other women paying taxes should be allowed to vote." Dr. Brougher was the first speaker and gave many clever points that were the source of amusement. Dr. Wilson followed and made a strong point of the woman's part in life as an idealist and a complement to man's existence. He quoted Napoleon in his famous saying of his army that they could not have reserve forces if they used them, and said the case of women was similar; she was the reserve force that incited man to action but if she were dragged into the maelstrom of politics she would lose her power. He held, too, that bachelorhood is luxury and that it is against the principles of the government to tax luxuries. After the interest of seeing the rebuttal was given and Dr. Brougher closed his speech by saying that Dr. Wilson's argument could be divided into seven heads, but it made him think of wearing seven pins in the walls; you could see the heads but not the pins. A standing vote was finally taken and through error 61 and 71% were over 100 voting on each side and Dr. Wilson won by a small majority. This was in five days long in 1908.
