

BRATTLE SALVAGES EDWARDS

Tells Judge Wife Was Enjoying Various Beers When Another Woman Appears, and Then Comes Fight, Cops, Judge, Fine and Now Divorcee.

"Divorce Friday" at the circuit court ground five badly mated pairs out of the divorce mill this morning with Judge Gastenbein handing out the decrees.

That his wife is given to the throat for malt was the allegation of A. E. Edwards, who testified that his wife, Florence Edwards, met a "gentleman" friend on the street recently who escorted her to a saloon at Third and Pine streets where she proceeded to have a "high old time" when another woman interfered and a fist fight followed. Both were arrested and fined $10 in the police court. He was freed.

COURT-MARTIAL FOR FIGHTING BOB'S SON

(United Press Leased Wire.) Manila, P. I., Oct. 2.—Lieutenant Frank T. Evans, son of "Fighting Bob" Evans, will face court-martial on board the battleship Wisconsin upon three charges—of being absent from his post of duty while officer of the deck, of using profane and disrespectful language to the superior officer, and of intoxication.

Lieutenant Charles Burt of the battleship Georgia will be tried on the charge of "conduct unbecoming a gentleman and an officer." It is understood that a number of charges are pending against younger officers and men of the fleet, following the indulgence in heavy drinking at the Australian

CREW LET SHIP DRIFT ASHORE

Schooner Ivy Was Lost Through Trick of Discontented Sailors.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Nome, Alaska, Oct. 2.—The captain and crew of the Schooner Ivy are here today preparing to go back to San Francisco, after the loss of their vessel near Point Barrow last month.

The men arrived here on the schooner Volant yesterday, telling the story of the loss of the Ivy.

The sailors on the schooner were responsible for the loss of the vessel according to the captain, but they preferred to see the vessel go ashore than work under him.

They accomplished their desire by a silent mutiny. The Ivy was caught in an ice pack and the sailors remained silent and let the vessel drift on the beach while the captain slept.

INDIAN SIGN FOR SPINAL DISEASE

New York Physician Claims to Have Cure-All for Locomotor Ataxia.

(United Press Leased Wire.) New York, Oct. 2.—Surgeons here today are discussing a remarkable paper read before the Academy of Medicine last night by Dr. Le Grand N. Denslow, in which he stated that locomotor ataxia can be positively cured. The disease has been a puzzle to nerve specialists for years and the assertion by Dr. Denslow that the disease is curable by a simple method has excited keen interest.

Dr. Denslow says that in every case that he has treated for the past four years he discovered lesions along the urinary tract and that the treatment of these lesions resulted in their disappearance and the cure of the disease. The doctor said that he had never missed a cure in the past four years.

REGULARS IN CAMP IN CALIFORNIA

Camp Atascadero, Cal., Oct. 2.—Repelling attacks of imaginary enemies, storming outposts in which unseen foes were supposed to have a stronghold, the regulars carried on another campaign of practical warfare here today. The drills were conducted on a line similar to that carried out yesterday. The soldiers exhibited great interest in the maneuvers and while no official reports were made early today, it is understood that the trials are proving very gratifying.

Reports which are being received here today indicate that the national guard throughout the state is preparing to leave for their camp and will begin arriving Sunday. Early in the week 2,000 of the militia should be in camp and bloodless battles will begin.

FIX RATES FOR BIG CONVENTIONS HERE

Excursion rates for the National Baptist convention and the National Retail Grocers' convention, which are to be held in Portland next summer will be fixed at the meeting of the Transcontinental Passenger association in Chicago next week. John M. Scott, assistant general manager of the Harriman lines will leave tonight for Chicago to attend the meeting and to secure good rates for Portland. Rates for the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition will be fixed at the same time.

THE PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN OF 1796

The third presidential election in the United States was the first campaign characterized by anything like a strict party contest. Dissensions at home and perils brought on by the French revolution abroad, engendered almost continuous internal dispute through Washington's second administration. The development and expansion of political parties was the logical result and made inevitable a party struggle for the choice of his successor. Jefferson, who had retired from the department of state in 1793, was the natural leader of the Republicans, while John Adams, who was then completing his second term as vice president, was the most available Federalist candidate.

Still was there no party machinery for nominating party tickets and it therefore became a matter for common agreement and consent. Accordingly Jefferson was joined with Aaron Burr, a New York politician of prominence and ability, as the Republican ticket, while Adams was joined with Thomas Pinckney, now honored as the negotiator of the Spanish treaty, as the Federalist candidate.

It is interesting to note in this connection that the party name of Republicans applied to the Jeffersonian ticket was not the same party name which applies today to the ticket of Mr. Taft. On the contrary, the descendants of the Jeffersonian party are Democrats rather than Republicans.

It must be borne in mind at this point that the constitution now provided

PEACE MAKERS ARE ORGANIZED

Would Spread Pleasing Doctrine of Harmony Over Civilized World.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Berkeley, Cal., Oct. 2.—With Berkeley as the prospective headquarters for the Pacific coast in the movement that is holding the interest of the entire civilized world a society has been organized here to propagate the doctrine of universal peace.

The society started with a membership of 40 which list includes many prominent educators, clergy, bankers and business men. J. J. Jessup was appointed temporary secretary and an executive committee consisting of Rev. E. L. Parsons, pastor of St. Mark's Episcopal church; A. W. Naylor, president of the First National bank, and Mrs. Maria Freeman Gray, who is a member of five other peace societies in the United States, was appointed today to effect more complete organization.

The preliminary organization was brought about through the efforts of Robert C. Root, the Pacific coast representative of the American Peace society. Root's salary is paid by Andrew Carnegie.

The Kansas-Oklahoma oil field took the lead for production in 1907, pushing

STOP DRINKING!

It was formerly customary for the habitual drinker to take the pledge regularly, sometimes once a year, and sometimes in every fit of remorse that followed his debauches, and then—break it. But now it is gradually dawning on the world that pledges do not stop drunkenness. When a man takes a pledge voluntarily, he expects to keep it. Every man expects to keep his word and every broken pledge costs the drunkard many a heartache. But he cannot help it. He fights as long as he can, then succumbs to the craving. The nervous system of the habitual drinker is diseased and he must have treatment that will cure this condition.

Orrine is sold under a positive guarantee to cure the drink habit or the money will be refunded. No other treatment for the liquor habit is sold under such a liberal guarantee.

Orrine is prepared in two forms: No. 1 a powder, perfectly tasteless and colorless, which can be given secretly in any food or drink. Orrine No. 2 is in pill form, for those who wish to be cured of the habit, and it should be taken by every one who swears off.

No matter which form of Orrine is used the guarantee is the same. The price of Orrine is $1.00 per box, mailed in plain sealed wrapper upon receipt of price. Write for free booklet on "How to Cure Drunkenness" (mailed in plain sealed envelope), by The Orrine Co., Washington, D. C. Orrine is sold by Woodward, Clarke & Co., distributors.

"The thing that goes the farthest Toward making life worth while; That costs the least and does the most Is just a pleasant smile. It's full of wealth and goodness, too, With hearty kindness blent; It's worth a million dollars, And doesn't cost a cent."
