OUT-OF-TOWN ITEMS

One of the most prominent social functions given in Chehalis during the year was the informal reception given by Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Coffman at their home on St. Helens avenue Thursday evening to celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. A number of those who attended the wooden wedding anniversary of the couple 20 years ago were present to offer congratulations. Mr. Coffman is the president of the banking firm of Coffman, Dobson & Co. of Chehalis, and one of the well known financiers of the state. He is also well known politically throughout the southwestern part of the state, though he never held any state office. He is one of the pioneers of that section, and settled in Chehalis in 1884. He first came west in 1883 to Tacoma, where he was cashier of the Merchants' National bank, and in August, 1884, he opened the doors of his banking house, which has been in continuous business ever since. It is one of the strongest banking institutions on the coast, and did not close a day during the late financial flurry, but paid out money for every check that was presented.

At the home of the bride's father, at Kalama, Wash., last Sunday, E. Wayland Gaither, son of Colonel and Mrs. Beal Gaither, was married to Miss Ada Albina Kalahan, youngest daughter of Judge C. Kalahan. The bride wore a light blue tailored suit and a white picture hat. She carried Bride's roses and maiden hair ferns. The Kalahan home had been made into a fairyland of flowers and ferns. The dining room, where dainty refreshments were served, was resplendent in autumn tints, intermingled with Oregon grape. The parlor was in white and green. At the hour of high noon Miss Bertha Kirby played the wedding march, and the bridal party took its place beneath an archway of beautiful white flowers and ferns, from which was suspended a marriage bell fashioned from the same flowers. The Rev. Frank McCoughrey performed the ring service. About 50 guests were present. Miss Amelia Johnson of Kelso caught the bride's bouquet.

Mrs. Gaither was born at the family home, on Lewis river, but has spent most of her life in Kalama, where she received her education. Mr. Gaither is a southerner, who went several years ago to Toledo, Or. About five years ago he came to Kalama, where he has become well known in social, fraternal and business circles. He is a city councilman of Kalama, and the nominee of the Democratic party for county clerk of Cowlitz county. For the past two years he has been secretary of the Democratic central committee, and he is a prominent lodge man.

After a short tour of Portland and valley towns Mr. and Mrs. Gaither will return to Kalama to reside.

Wednesday evening one of the prettiest weddings of the season was celebrated in Forest Grove when Dr. Arthur C. Boggess of Pacific university and Miss Ina V. Gould were united in marriage, at the First Methodist church by Rev. Hiram Gould.

Promptly at 6:30 the bride and attendants entered the chancel to the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march, played by Mark Bump of Hillsboro. The bride was becomingly gowned in white silk mull and carried a bouquet of Bride roses. She was attended by Miss Eleanor Satchwell of Newberg, maid of honor, and her bridesmaids were the Misses Eva Carlyle and Edna Mills. The groomsmen were Ralph Abraham, Charles Ward and W. E. Gwynn. The church was appropriately decorated with autumn leaves and roses.

Dr. Boggess is the head of the history department of Pacific university. He has been there three years increasing in favor both with faculty and students. He is a graduate of the University of Illinois, and took his graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania.

Miss Gould has resided in Forest Grove for several years, during which time she has been teaching in the public school there, where she is a popular and efficient instructor. The church was crowded with friends, including the faculty and students of the university. Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of Rev. and Mrs. Gould, where a wedding supper was served. Dr. Boggess has just completed a handsome bungalow in Forest Grove.

WAR ON TUBERCULOSIS.

Methods Used in the Campaign of Education in New York.

From the Review of Reviews.

Were a war in the United States to take off every year 150,000 persons we would be horrified beyond measure. Yet this is the estimate of the American loss from tuberculosis.

A feature of the state campaign has been a kind of tuberculosis revival meeting, a mass meeting at which the citizens are stimulated by speakers of experience and wide reputation to an awakened social conscience.

Recently the New York committee distributed among the Italian tenement house population 10,000 colored pictures of a canal in Venice. On the borders of the hanging picture are printed simple instructions about the care and prevention of the disease.

Only five years ago the committee on the prevention of tuberculosis of the Charity Organization society of the city of New York was appointed. What has this committee done?

The handbook and the directory of organizations, sanatoria and hospitals for the treatment of tuberculosis in the United States not only have been of great assistance to pioneers in tuberculosis work but have had a direct influence in forming public opinion and creating a general interest in preventive measures all over the country. The "don't "card, which in simple language gives suggestions regarding the prevention of tuberculosis, has become a standard form of literature for general didactic use. Its circulation has literally run up into the millions.

Lectures on tuberculosis, mainly stereopticon, given during the five years under the auspices of the committee, have reached an audience of some 150,000 persons. The traveling tuberculosis exhibition, containing models, photographs, charts, etc., has been shown in many places in New York City to probably half a million people.

In the summer of 1907 the committee resurrected for day camp purposes an old city ferryboat, and proved in one summer that at relatively small cost increased weight, good color and a lasting appreciation of fresh air and cleanliness can be gained by consumptive "stay at homes."

Especially important has been the establishment of 10 special tuberculosis clinics and the organization of a system of distinct dispensaries, which prevent overlapping and duplication of effort and look toward the ultimate dispensary control of tuberculosis.

Making Blood Oranges.

In St. Petersburg a young girl eating a blood orange raised a cry and began to spit blood. She had swallowed the broken point of the needle of an injection syringe. It was removed and was found still to contain a certain quantity of red aniline dye.

When the remainder of the packet of oranges was examined it was discovered that they had all been injected with a solution of saccharine and red aniline coloring; this process has long been known to give ordinary oranges the appearance of blood oranges. Such frauds should be the subject of rigorous prosecution.
