

"EILIGHTEN PUBLIC ON TRUST EVILS" -- BRAN SIX COUNTIES AT THE DALLES

Nebraskan Says He Proposes to Keep Question Before People—Democratic Platform, Declares Private Monopoly Indefensible and Intolerable.

By John E. Lathrop.
Chicago, Oct. 6.—It is asserted to be that Mr. Bryan proposes to keep the question before the people which is raised by the two platform expressions of the two parties on the trusts.

The Republican platform declares for "control of corporations having power and opportunity to effect monopoly."
The Democratic platform: "Private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable."
Mr. Bryan has asked his opponent to declare himself on this subject, citing that the record of the governing powers of his party shows that their design is to legalize combinations in restraint of trade. In this connection, the Hepburn bill is also brought out as additional evidence that the platform expression is not merely a chance product, but a part of the program upon which constant work has been done for some time.

The Hepburn Bill.
The Hepburn bill was drafted according to the views of some of the members of the Civic Federation, among them J. Pierpont Morgan and President Roosevelt.

It is related and taken with the Republican platform plank on the subject, and regarded by Mr. Bryan as clear bringing up the issue in concrete form, as to the status of the trusts.

The position of the Democrats, as set forth to me by the leaders, is that the attitude of the opposition constitutes a menace to the future industrial and economic system of the country, proposing as they do to legalize trusts.

Those leaders cite the historic stand taken by civilized society in America and Europe against combinations in restraint of trade, and that from the common law came to us the fundamental principle that such throttling of competition is injurious to the people; that our entire body of federal and state law is predicated on the assumption that competition is beneficial, and that all attempts to destroy it must be fought as of society's enemies.

Authoritatively, then, the following analysis may be regarded as officially the position of Mr. Bryan and his followers on the trust evil:

"Raw material, manufacturing, coal or commercial energy, banking or business lifeblood, distribution or transportation, labor's market controlled by the trusts, would be the condition were the Republican party's proposal carried out to legalize trusts and merely control them. Then would smaller concerns be commercially crushed by industrial and competition as an active principle be only a thing remembered.

It is argued that the trust of necessity faces, prices arbitrarily, not in response to the law of supply and demand, which heretofore has been universally accepted as the very fundamental of our social system.

It is expected that this issue will necessitate the withdrawal by Republican speakers sent out from the national committee's headquarters here. Mr. Bryan's position is brought out in a position that it is regarded as certain that it will be treated by his opponents, and Judge Taft will have to answer Mr. Bryan's interrogatories.

Not Anxious to Debate.
I have excellent authority for the assertion that the Republican managers have decided to keep away from the matter, knowing since their convention that they made a proposal which has not appealed to the electorate of the nation.

It is noticeable, too, that the rejection of Senator La Follette's plank at the Chicago convention has not operated to advantage the party. La Follette has an immense personal following in Wisconsin, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, both the Dakotas, Minnesota, Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, Washington, Oregon and California.

Every plank proposed by La Follette was voted down in the resolutions committee, and then, when offered in open caucus, was defeated by a vote running from 8 to 1 up to 20 to 1.

It is regarded as essential that all orators who go to those states explain before the popular La Follette was reformed, while such pro-trust men as George W. Perkins, partner of J. Pierpont Morgan, were welcomed at the sessions of the platform committee.

Personally, I know that Mr. Perkins came to see that the resolutions explained were "right," and the product turned out seems to prove that Mr. Perkins' confidence in Senator La Follette's were determining causes in the deliberations of the committee.

Defeat of Long.
Defeat of Senator Long of Kansas and of Governor O. M. Donnell of Oregon, both of whom La Follette campaigned, is taken as indication that La Follette retains his hold on the people's confidence and equally it is estimated by the politicians that the Chicago convention's rejection of every La Follette proposal was welcomed at the Republican disadvantage in the states wherein the Wisconsin man is so strong.

In the states mentioned, anti-La Folletteism and pro-trust expression by the Republican leaders are regarded by politicians as salient and discounting chances for Taft's election. Whether or not sufficiently to defeat him, remains to be indicated later in the fight. At this time, the advantage remains with the Democrats, considering it from a national point of view.

Big Feature Event Here This Week Is a Special Sale

Curtains, Portieres, Couch Covers

In purchasing our regular stocks of Curtains and Draperies this season we were given many opportunities to purchase manufacturers' small lots and sample lots at remarkably low prices—in fact prices that barely paid for the material, let alone the cost of manufacturing. In very nearly every instance we made the purchase, and so it is that we are enabled to organize such an important sale of curtains and draperies as on this occasion. Involved in this sale are curtains and draperies of various kinds—imported and domestic—in several grades—to be had at various prices, but all prices are bargain figures. The styles are new and desirable from every point of view. There is going to be a great rush for these values, so don't lose any time in coming.

Lace Curtains, Special Values

AT 95¢ PAIR—White Scotch Lace Curtains, 42 inches wide and 2 3/4 yards long; a large assortment of new designs to choose from.

Brooklyn Judge Refuses to Keep Divorce Parties Out of Papers.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
New York, Oct. 6.—Parties to divorce suits are not anxious to have their cases set for hearing before Justice Aspinwall of the Brooklyn supreme bench. Justice Aspinwall yesterday refused to seal the papers in the divorce suit of E. Bartol Hall Jr., a wealthy man, against his wife. The sealing of the papers was asked for on the ground that while the co-respondent, Rev. Benjamin Denham, former pastor of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre of Christ in this city, had eloped with Mrs. Hall, "he had a good reputation otherwise in the eyes of the community." "I am not in favor of sealing papers in these suits," said Justice Aspinwall. "I am in favor of full publicity in all court proceedings. It is an outrage that millionaires can have their divorce papers sealed from the public, while people of small means cannot."

The attorney begged for the ruling, saying that Rev. Denham was still preaching in Missouri and might be held up to disgrace by glowing newspapers if the story became known. "I hope," said the court, "that the preacher will get all the disgrace and publicity that is coming to him. The newspapers do a glorious job in a case of this kind. It is a public duty for the newspapers to advertise the disgrace of lawbreakers. The fear of being written up in the newspaper is more potent in the prevention of crime than the fear of the court. I shall seal no papers while I am sitting on this bench."
