

NORTH END'S SALOONS ARE BEING WIPED OUT

Proprietors See Their Business Ended If City Attorney's Interpretation of Ordinance Does Not Give a Loop-Hole—Few Licenses Renewed.

"I have no other option under the laws of the city than to close each and every saloon the license of which is not renewed on or before October 10,"—City Auditor A. L. Barber.

Passage of the women exclusion act by the council and its enforcement at the same time with that of the north end exclusion of Mayor Lane has resulted in what is believed will be a wholesale reduction of the number of saloons in Portland.

Scores of the liquor resorts of the region tributary to the morally taboed district have depended almost wholly for existence upon the trade of female patrons. The double blow which has fallen is more than most of these will be able to bear up under unless some means of evading the reform ordinance is hit upon.

As a consequence of the indecision under which the proprietors of these places are fretting, the city treasury is quite likely to feel a vacancy in the niche usually filled up every three months by the license fees due from the saloons.

Very Few Renew Licenses.

There are 434 licensed saloons in the city and up to date only 134 of these have renewed their licenses. The licenses have been renewed before this date. There yet remain but two days in which the saloon men can get their licenses for the ensuing quarter. After October 10 all licenses not renewed are by the laws void and no new licenses can be issued in their place. The limit for saloons is already in excess of the ratio of 1 to every 500 population provided for by law, and consequently whenever one of the licenses runs out that saloon is out of business for good, and the outlook at present indicates that a large number will go out by this route.

Want Law Interpreted.

The keepers of places affected by the exclusion ordinance have been begging the city attorney's office daily for an interpretation of the law that will permit them to cater to the trade of women.

Difference a Word Means.

While it was not the intent of the ordinance to prevent places like the Hof-Brau from selling liquor to women, according to an attorney who assisted in drafting the exclusion ordinance, a strict interpretation of the terms of the measure certainly puts this and other well known saloons in that class. For if the Hof-Brau is a saloon women are shut out and if it is a restaurant the provision against "L's" and alcoves brings it under the new law.

Deputy City Attorney Grant is of the opinion that this ordinance will be very hard to enforce, as he doubts whether convictions can be had from any jury that might be selected to pass upon a case, and only a respectable woman who should go into a respectable grill room and there be served with a glass of beer, for instance.

For the instruction of the executive department of the city the city attorney has issued the following interpretation of the reform ordinance:

What Ordinance Means.

"Ordinance No. 18400 is violated if any licensed liquor dealer, or the owner or proprietor of such saloon, or any drinking shop, or place where intoxicating liquors are kept for sale or sold at retail or served, either by himself or by any servant, employe or agent, shall suffer or permit any female person to enter such place for the purpose of drinking or buying any intoxicating liquors, or to remain or

WEBB GOES TO CALIFORNIA SOON

Must Stand Trial in San Francisco for Setting Out Forest Fires.

Louis R. Webb, indicted by a federal grand jury in California on a charge of having set fire to timber within a forest reserve in the northern part of the state, submitted to the order of removal in the United States district court yesterday.

Bail Remains $5,000.

Webb, who was arrested 10 days ago, has with him in the Multnomah county jail in default of $5,000. This morning Webb's attorney requested that the amount of reduced to $1,000. United States Attorney John McCourt opposed the motion, owing to the seriousness of the charge. Mr. McCourt said that the bond had been decided upon by a United States commissioner at Grants Pass, who was familiar with the case in every particular, and that on this account he thought the amount was not excessive. This morning Webb was released on bail.

When Restaurants Exempt.

"The provisions of the ordinance do not apply to an open and public restaurant or dining room, having a floor space of more than 400 square feet and in which there are no receptacles or obstructions to a complete view of the interior from any part thereof. Such dining room must be open and public, that is, it must be open to the public patronage. It must contain more than 400 square feet of floor space, and it must be so constructed and furnished that the entire room is open to view from every part thereof. A guest eating his meal should have a complete view of the interior of the entire room. Liquors cannot be served in restaurants or dining rooms with 'L's' or alcoves which are obscured from view from any part of the interior. Screens, curtains, high backed seats and other obstructions to view must be removed from such places. The ordinance relates to restaurants, and not to places where only male guests are served.

Penalty Two-Year Term.

The penalty for the conviction on this charge is a sentence of two years at hard labor or to pay a fine of $5,000, or both.

THE KU KLUX KLAN APPEAR ON STAGE

"The Clansman" pictures the days when courage, self-sacrifice and heroic deeds are the factors that held the South in bondage after the war. The first time in the history of the drama the Ku Klux Klan are shown upon the stage, habited in armor, mounted, and their weird ritual is performed before the awed spectator. In order to give realism to these scenes a troop of trained cavalry horses is carried on tour. With these and other sensational elements "The Clansman" cannot fail to duplicate its success of the last three seasons when it pays its initial visit to the Hellig, October 18, 17 and 18.

BEWARE OF SCHEMER WITH DISHES OFFER

People generally are warned against a man who represents himself to be a representative of The Journal subscription department and who promises a set of dishes as a premium for subscriptions. During the state fair at Salem this man defrauded numerous people out of money by promising to send them The Journal for a limited time together with a set of dishes as a premium. From these people he collected 50 cents each. The man has no connection with The Journal and is not known to its circulation department. He has recently been operating in Portland.

CURES ECZEMA QUICKLY

New Drug, Poslam, Now Obtainable in Small Quantities. Since its discovery one year ago the new drug, poslam, has successfully cured thousands of chronic cases of eczema and other distressing skin affections. Heretofore poslam has been dispensed solely for the benefit of eczema patients in large jars sufficient for a month's treatment. This was found to be an inconvenience to many thousands who use it for minor skin troubles, such as pimples, blackheads, herpes, acne, and scalp, complexion blemishes, itching feet, piles, etc., which require but a small quantity to cure. To overcome this, and in response to urgent appeals, the dispensers of poslam have been obliged to adopt, in addition to the regular two-dollar package, a special fifty-cent size, which in future may be found on sale at the Skidmore Drug Co. and other leading drug stores in Portland, or may be ordered direct from the Emergency Laboratories, No. 33 West 25th street, New York City. In all eczema cases poslam stops itching with first application, and proceeds to heal immediately; chronic cases being cured in two weeks. In less serious skin troubles, results are seen after an overnight application.

Samples for experimental purposes may still be had, free of charge, by writing to the laboratories for them.

SUES TO RECOVER LODGING HOUSE

Charging that an insolvent man gave her a note on an insolvent company with insolvent security to pay for her $2,000 rooming-house, Ellen Hayslip has begun suit in the circuit court against L. Pewtherer. The latter is the proprietor of "The Beaver" at 301 1/2 First street, which the plaintiff formerly conducted.

The complaint alleges that Pewtherer represented that he owned several rooming-houses and was well to do, but had no ready money with which to purchase the Hayslip house. Finally he agreed to give her a note for one year for $1,500 and to assume a mortgage of $25 if she would pay the rent and assign the lease to him. She says she did this and he assigned to her a certificate of stock of Keaton's Rural Directory & Circular Letter company as security for the note, representing that it was worth $1,500.

September 20, the plaintiff alleged, she discovered that instead of a personal note he had given her a note signed by the Keaton company. She says she has also found that this company is insolvent and that Pewtherer himself is in the same fix. She asks the court to compel him to reassign the lease to her and to retain him from disposing of any of the property.

NEW EXPRESS RULING MAKES MUCH-WORRIED DRUMMERS ROAR

You can't get your packages from the express companies now unless you sign for them yourself. This is a new order. The system is practically the same as that of the postal department in the case of registered letters. Owing to the new ruling the traveling men have probably been put to greater inconvenience than any other class of business men. Traveling men are always having samples and various other kinds of packages sent to their hotels in the different cities. Heretofore the express companies would deliver them. A clerk would sign and the bundle would be there when the traveler arrived. But now the express companies refuse to turn over the packages to the clerks and return them to the office until the traveler or the one to whom they are addressed comes along. In the past packages were taken to the houses of people to whom they were addressed and if the addressee didn't happen to be at home some other member of the family could sign for the shipment. But now if the person isn't there the package is returned to the office until such a time when the addressee may be found, so as to sign for his own belongings. The new order was brought about, it seems, by packages going astray now and then in the past and when no one could be held responsible for the loss.
