THE AMERICAN WOOL GROWER'S UNION

According to Statement of Francis S. Monnett—Losses in Ohio From Sales Will Run Yearly Over One Million Dollars.

By John E. Lathrop.
Chicago, Ill., Oct. 10.—That 201,000,000 pounds of wool were imported last year, the most in the history of the country; that under reciprocity authorizations of the law most of this wool is handled by the detriment of American wool growers, and that the wool trust reaps the major portion of the benefit of the wool law, are assertions made to the Board of American Wool Growers by Francis S. Monnett, trustee of the Standard Oil and other combinations in restraint of trade.

Corporate records: The American Wool-growers' union has a total of $1,000,000 common and preferred stock; the common has risen in value since November, 1907, 100 per cent; the preferred has risen 50 per cent in the same period.
If I had as much evidence as this and as much as was obtainable in a murder trial, I could convict a preacher, and no court would give him a new trial.

UNCLE SAM'S RAPIDLY DEVELOPING ISOLATED LOWER ROGUE COUNTRY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Grants Pass, Or., Oct. 10.—As a result of the boost given it this past summer by the United States government, through the forest service, Curry county and the lower Rogue river country is enjoying the most rapid development in that section's history.
New mining districts are being opened, important mineral discoveries made, new towns laid out, new dairies and farming districts settled and new gold producers added to the list of placer mines.

Construction crew on the trail. The work has been tedious and expensive, as a great portion of the high way was blasted out of solid rock. A cable suspension bridge was hung across the river about ten miles below Calico. This structure is of 180-foot span and is hung by a heavy steel cable. It is seven feet wide and will support pack trains as well as men, horses and mules.
The speaker told of the struggles of the comparatively new denomination to get a foothold on the coast and was glowing tribute to Dr. T. L. Elliot, who was Portland's first Unitarian minister.

Entertainment for Visitors.

Music will be furnished at the exhibitions each day and a committee is arranging for entertainment in the evenings. To provide accommodations for the visitors many Hood residents are planning to convert their homes into temporary hotels and a special committee has been appointed to look after the city's guests.

STAR KING'S GREAT WORK.
