

ROUSING WILL

Indications in Josephine Point to the Commoner—La Grande Bank Failure Will Convert Many to the Democratic Ranks.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Grants Pass, Oct. 17.—That the majority of votes cast at the coming national election in Josephine county will be for William J. Bryan is quite evident by the trend of affairs political in this county during the past few weeks. Though Josephine is supposed to be one of the Republican counties of the state, it regularly elects Democrats to the important offices, both locally and for the legislature. The Bryan and Kern club of this city and county can count almost as many followers from the Republican ranks as from the Democratic.

1,500 OR MORE FOR BRYAN AND KERN IN UNION

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
La Grande, Or., Oct. 17.—"Will Union county remain Republican in November?" A great many of the Republicans are of the opinion that it will, and that the legendary 600 majority will vote solidly for Taft and Sherman.

THUGS USE HALL BELL TO DECOY

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Walla Walla, Wash., Oct. 17.—Called out to answer the hall bell, Enoch Emerick was knocked down by two men in a lodging-house last night and robbed of about $22. The men hid behind some curtains and struck Emerick from behind.

Brilliant Wedding.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
New York, Oct. 17.—A brilliant wedding of particular interest in naval circles took place in the church of the Heavenly Rest this afternoon, when Miss Harriet Ogden Deen, daughter of Mrs. Roger W. Gardner, became the bride of Lieutenant Commander Roger Welles, U. S. N., executive officer of the battleship New Hampshire. Many prominent naval officers were included in the brilliant company that filled the church. The Rev. Herbert Shipman, pastor of the church, officiated. The bride had as her attendant, Miss Wood Holmes of Atlanta, Miss Florence Spear of New York, Miss Carolyn Wales of Hartford, and Miss Florence Reynolds of Milwaukee. The church ceremony was followed by a large reception at the Hotel Manhattan.

HOT CAMPAIGN BANKER LEAVES FOR CARLSBAD

It Means Getting a Sight of About Every Bird in the United States and Reporting on What He Is Doing When Seen—The Farmers' Interest.

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.
(Copyright, 1908, by Frederic J. Haskin.)
Washington, Oct. 17.—Do you know that insects are injuring the crops in this country to the extent of $50,000,000 yearly and that noxious weeds double this amount in expense to the farmer, and that it is only by means of birds that these insects and weeds can be destroyed and that the birds of this country are being killed faster than they can breed? These are the facts that the country is facing just now. They are extremely important facts. Because of this it seems urgent that a comprehensive bird survey of the country be made to determine how many birds of each species exist, what species is in danger of becoming extinct, and what means may be employed to protect and preserve all birds.

It will mean, first of all, an immense plan of education. To the majority of the country the birds are not known. Things that might be wondrously destroyed as a pest, or so zealously hunted because at some time or other they were found on the crops, are being exterminated. By means of careful study and at endless expense and pains the biologist is endeavoring to determine the value of agriculture has secured evidence that proves beyond doubt that without birds to police the upper air and the crops, orchards and gardens free from small rodents and insects and destroy the weed seeds, the nation would be a failure and distressing poverty be the portion of the people.

People Must Support Societies.
Belated efforts are being made to save the birds, but the work must be bigger, more comprehensive, further reaching. More and more land is being scooped up by corporations on hands of the farmer every year, the crops are increasing with phenomenal bounds, and the depleted bird population, working toiling and not being able to do its share in helping the farmer. To protect these birds, to encourage their rapid increase and prevent their being slaughtered in many localities should become one of the earliest duties of the progressive farmer. The president has already set aside 23 bird reserves, and the National Association of Audubon Societies has secured the enactment of a model bird law in 32 states; the biological survey of the department of agriculture has a branch in charge of game preservation; the American Ornithologists' union, the Bird Protective societies and the Audubon societies of American sportsmen are protesting against the wanton destruction of birds. Yet only a beginning has been made. It remains for the mass of people to take the matter in hand.

Birds' Work Shown by Science.

How many birds are there in the United States? No one knows. Yet, going from Labrador to Texas, from Florida to the Yellowstone, Frank M. Chapman, ornithologist of the American Museum of Natural History, has just finished eight years' work, traveling 63,000 miles in collecting specimens and making studies of birds of America for the museum. Next he will make an attempt at a census. The biological survey has recently made a survey of Colorado and parts of New Mexico and California.

HEAVY RAINFALL HELPS MILLMEN

Record Log Drives Made on Willamette, McKenzie and Umpqua.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Eugene, Or., Oct. 17.—The rise in the Willamette and McKenzie rivers occasioned by the hard rains of the week enabled the Booth-Kelly Lumber company to safely land at the mills at Springfield and Coburg 18,000,000 feet of logs in two days' time, but it required the entire river force of the company to accomplish the feat. They worked night and day, for the reason that the rise in the river was so rapid that it was feared a great many logs would be lost down stream. The work was done by the use of a fleet of 24 hours and the Willamette even higher.

500,000 FEET BROUGHT DOWN TO WINCHESTER

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Roseburg, Or., Oct. 17.—The recent heavy rains raised the Umpqua river about four feet and enabled the large logging crews to bring down about 500,000 feet of logs to Winchester to the Kendall Bros. mill. This drive was started early last spring, but the low water caused them to remain in the river all summer.

NAVIGATION CLOSES ON UPPER YUKON

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Skagway, Oct. 17.—Navigation was closed, so far as the White Pass was concerned, when the steamer Casca and White Horse arrived today from New York with 400 passengers, many of them from Fairbanks and other lower Yukon river points. Ice is running in the Yukon and the cold snows are likely to close the river. With the closing of navigation the winter season of mail stages started in this country. The stages will not have any great trail difficulty, for the ground is very hard and smooth.

Conservatives, on Radical Platform, Seek to Oust Liberals.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 17.—A campaign that is almost without precedent in the annals of Canadian politics for bitterness and intensity is now raging with full force from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Nominations for parliament will be made Monday and the general election will take place one week later.

The issues of the campaign are federal rather than provincial. The Conservative party seeks power on a broad platform, which, briefly, includes honest appropriation and expenditure of public money, appointment of public officials by merit only, more effective provisions to punish bribery and fraud in elections, the publication of expenditures by political organizations, civil service reform or the appointment of civil servants by the independent commission, senate reform, more rigid inspection of immigrants, non-partisan management of the public lands, the establishment of a thorough system of education, a public utilities commission to control corporations operating public utilities, better postal facilities, a protective tariff, imperial preference, and to permit of independent rights and free rural mail delivery.

How a Bird Survey is Made.

A complete bird survey would entail the most careful and minute work ever undertaken by the government. Audubon in his studies tramped for years, going from Labrador to Texas, from Florida to the Yellowstone. Frank M. Chapman, ornithologist of the American Museum of Natural History, has just finished eight years' work, traveling 63,000 miles in collecting specimens and making studies of birds of America for the museum. Next he will make an attempt at a census. The biological survey has recently made a survey of Colorado and parts of New Mexico and California.

THE Tenth Canadian Parliament.

The Tenth Canadian parliament, elected to office four years ago and dissolved last year, is now being re-elected. It consists of 214 members, 149 Liberals and 74 Conservatives. The new parliament will consist of 221 members. Strange as it may seem, when it is considered that Sir Wilfrid Laurier first became premier, in 1896, that Canadian manufacturing has been so enormously developed, and that the public interests have been conserved. As an offset to the Conservative party, the government recently announced a free rural mail delivery to 50 per cent of the farmers of Canada, and the appointment of an independent civil service commission which will have control of all appointments and promotions in the service.

JAPS EXULT OVER ENDING OF BOYCOTT

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Seattle, Oct. 17.—Advices brought by officers and passengers of the Kaga Maru, which has arrived from Japan, confirm earlier reports of the abandonment of the Chinese boycott. The offerings of freight at China ports were the first that had been made Nippon Yusen Kaisha vessels for several months.

It Means Getting a Sight of About Every Bird in the United States and Reporting on What He Is Doing When Seen—The Farmers' Interest.

Our representative in Detroit writes as follows: "Dr. Ide gives favorable reports on a patient 75 years old, and Dr. Henry has an almost pronounced cure in a case of Bright's 66 years of age, and also reports another patient with an acute case of Bright's as getting better daily."

The case of Mrs. D. O. Johnson, 168 Jones street, Detroit, who was swollen almost to the bursting point with dropsy, and whose death was looked upon as better as time goes on, is a fine mind this is one of the most marvelous recoveries.

Charles F. May of the May Printing House took me to the Citizens Savings Bank and introduced me to one of its directors, a man largely identified with Detroit's manufacturing interests. He has Bright's Disease and the usual verdict had been rendered. I found that he was already on Fulton's Renal Compound and that it had taken hold and was beginning to help.

"He heard of it in a curious way. He was on the cars in the interior, and in conversation with the acquaintance told him he had Bright's Disease. The conductor heard it as he was passing and said: 'Excuse me, but I had Bright's Disease, too, and badly, but got well.' On being asked what had cured him he replied: 'It was made out of California and is called Fulton's Renal Compound.'"

"The banker is going to Carlsbad and taking the treatment with him."

"This morning I was called to speak with a Mr. Vaughn, whose father, a very prominent man, is given up with Bright's Disease, too, and badly, but got well. On being asked what had cured him he replied: 'It was made out of California and is called Fulton's Renal Compound.'"

"There are numbers of other cases of which I will write you when time permits."

ORIGINAL TOPY PASSES AWAY

Mrs. George C. Howard First Played the Part, and Played It Long.
(United Press Leased Wire.)
Boston, Oct. 17.—Actors are preparing to hold special services in honor of Mrs. George C. Howard, famous as the original Topsy of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," who died yesterday at her home in Cambridge at the age of 79.

Her maiden name was Caroline E. Fox, and she first appeared on the stage playing Charles Cordelia, in Edgewood Forest, Charles Kemble and other leading actors.

The married George C. Howard in 1844. He was the first man to produce "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in dramatic form, and Mrs. Howard played the original Topsy, opposite Charles Cordelia, was the original Eve and her husband the original St. Claire. Mrs. Howard continued to play Topsy until 1887, when her husband died.
