

Mrs. Henry Ladd Corbett, Who Made Her Formal Entry to Portland Society Last Week.

quality is a great favorite with her set. The Metzger supper Thursday was an event in her honor. Thursday afternoon...

The leading horse show of the week and one that served to open the festivities of the week most brilliantly was the tea given by Mrs. W. S. Ladd and Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett Wednesday afternoon...

The tea Wednesday was a beautiful affair. About 500 people called to meet with the hostess, Miss Gretchen Elliot of New York, society favorite there. Mrs. W. S. Ladd was distinguished in black satin, with handsome black and white...

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Metzger were hosts at one of the most beautiful and perfectly appointed suppers of the horseshoe week. Opening night of the horseshoe they entertained eight of their young friends in compliment to Miss Flora Fleischner...

A wedding that was celebrated very quietly and simply, and yet was of interest to many was that of Miss Carlotta Parker and Arthur Honeyman. The service was read by Rev. William G. Elliot Jr. of the Unitarian church...

Miss Lisa Wood returned early in the week, so as to attend the horse show. She has been traveling abroad for a year, and has been greatly missed by the younger set.

Miss Effie Houghton entertained in Mrs. Wesley Ladd's box at the horseshoe Friday afternoon. A luncheon at the home of Mrs. Ladd was given...

Mrs. Edmund B. Gage was another of her charming informal Monday afternoon teas. The guest of honor was Mrs. Demmon of Michigan, mother of Bert Demmon. There were four tables of bridge and Mrs. J. W. Hill was the first prize.

her home presided the horseshoe. Her guests were Mrs. Harry Stinson Sladen, who has just returned from her wedding trip, Mrs. David T. Honeyman, Mrs. David Lewis, Miss Kathleen, Mrs. Miss Hazel Dolph, Miss Alice Strong, Miss Ernestine Felling.

The 1889 costumes ball Wednesday evening for the benefit of the Woman's Exchange opened the horse show week with the most brilliant and beautiful of the evening was the Maypole dance, in which almost 200 participated.

Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd has invitations out for a luncheon to be given next Saturday for Miss Effie Houghton, the fiancée of Marion Dolph.

Mrs. J. G. Guild left Thursday for San Francisco to attend her mother, Mrs. Van Winkle, who is ill.

Dr. A. A. Morrison went to Medford last week and will go to California for a month before returning.

Mrs. Charles Dierke entertained with a luncheon of six covers yesterday afternoon.

Blaine R. Smith will leave tomorrow morning for an extended trip east.

Nicholas Holsappel and Miss Stella Daniel were married at 1140 Clay street, Wednesday, by Rev. J. Bowersox. The bride was attended by Miss Irene M. Kelly and Miss Grace D. Whitaker. A small reception followed at the home of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Ed O. Daniel, where refreshments were served.

Miss Claire Houghton entertained yesterday afternoon with tea in Mrs. Wesley Ladd's box in compliment to Miss Monroe of New Orleans, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ford.

Miss Lisa Wood returned early in the week, so as to attend the horse show. She has been traveling abroad for a year, and has been greatly missed by the younger set.

Miss Effie Houghton entertained in Mrs. Wesley Ladd's box at the horseshoe Friday afternoon. A luncheon at the home of Mrs. Ladd was given...

and a pleasant evening was spent. In a few weeks they will be at home to their friends in their new residence on Clay street.

A quiet wedding was celebrated Wednesday evening, at 367 Meigs street, when Ruth L. the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Anderson, was united in marriage with P. M. Heimbacher, of the congregation of the Highland Congregational church performed the ring ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Heimbacher will reside at 1242 Williams avenue.

Don't you know when the Chicago packers gave a banquet this past week it was the baron of beef that took the front rank and was carried in with honor by waiters costumed in old English liver.

What are you going to give honor to Oregon pig pork these days? You can't find anything to overreach its goodness. Join the many thousands of Portland folks who eat Smith's pig pork sausage at 12 1/2c per pound every day.

Fish at Smith's is the town talk. It's so fresh, so different from what you have been picking up at other places. We have tons of it arriving on every boat from the Columbia river.

People looking for Smith's Market on Alder street must be sure to avoid the markets on both sides of Smith's—they are not ours and do not carry Smith's pure, fresh Oregon meats.

WEDDING AND VISITING CARDS W. G. SMITH & CO. WASHINGTON BUILDING

(Continued on Page Three.)

IF YOU should step up gently to every friend you met in the day and ask him confidentially what is his favorite piece of meat, let me assure you that nine out of 10 will whisper, "a fine juicy beefsteak."

FRANK L. SMITH MEAT COMPANY "FIGHTING THE BEEF TRUST" Six Markets

222 Alder Street, bet. First and Second. 512 Williams Avenue. 791 Mississippi Avenue. Corner Fifth and Main Sts., Oregon City 12th, bet. Bond and Commercial, Astoria 233 Taylor Street (Uniontown), Astoria

100 SAMPLE SUITS

Monday morning we place on sale 100 Sample Suits at less than regular wholesale prices. Every garment is strictly up-to-date—in style—cut by expert man-tailors and finished throughout in the best possible way.

Advertisement for Gage Bros. Chicago, featuring various clothing items like Kid Gloves, Gray Blankets, Silk Umbrellas, American Prints, Flannel Gowns, and Huck Towels, with prices and descriptions.

THE WEEK has been one of delightful diversion. Beginning with the Ladd tea Wednesday afternoon, and continuing through the evening and the horse show, there has not been a quiet moment. Society is tired out and ready for a little rest, but it is happy. For never have any prettier affairs been given in Portland than were incident upon the horse show. Never have handsome costumes been worn and never has Portland appeared more gay.

Everyone was delighted with the easy informality of this year's show that replaced the rigid formality of last year's. The promenade arranged behind the boxes was a scene of perpetual motion. People were invited to meet visiting strangers in other boxes. Congratulations on blue ribbons won were carried in person to the boxes immediately after the awards. Miss Bernice Baker, who is probably the most beautiful rider ever seen in Portland, elicited storms of applause every time she appeared in the ring, mounted or in her trap. When she withdrew to the Almsworth box she was no less the center of attention for her charming manner, her pliant beauty and her graceful ways won her many admirers. There was a good deal of disappointment that Miss Laddlaw of Spokane did not ride for her horses and her manager C. handling the reins and the whip have fought forth a good deal of comment. The Laddlaw were the guests of P. S. McGrath in his box the first night.

John Barrett, director general of the bureau of American republics, was a prominent acquisition to the horse show crowd and was an eagerly sought-after guest. The "considines" had a box of their own and were there at each perform-ance and wore stunning gowns. Mrs. Considine has beautiful diamonds. Her two daughters were pretty, simple frocks. The gowns worn at the horse show were beautiful and showed much variety, but on opening night there was the finest display of fashion. The styles this year are particularly adapted to just such showy places as horse shows. The beautiful evening gowns, with long, graceful lines, were always with long coats or capes; the huge hair, with gorgeous plumes drooping over the shoulders, with sweeping skirts and birds of paradise, and the exquisite gowns with delicate ruffles and fringes of chrys and net, and the gorgeous colors worn this year, give the most beautiful effects. Opening night was consequently a display of light and color. A list of the horseholders and their guests was published the following day.

Among the most striking gowns worn that night were these: Mrs. T. B. Wilson wore a beautiful shade of chrys and net, and the gorgeous colors worn this year, give the most beautiful effects. Opening night was consequently a display of light and color. A list of the horseholders and their guests was published the following day.

Mrs. L. Allen Lewis wore a stunning gown of white and blue, with a large plume and a white hat with lavender accents. Her ornaments were diamonds. Mrs. W. A. With was distinguished in a gown of white silk, with a large plume and a white hat with lavender accents. Her ornaments were diamonds.

Mrs. M. J. Wilson wore a stunning gown of white and blue, with a large plume and a white hat with lavender accents. Her ornaments were diamonds. Mrs. W. A. With was distinguished in a gown of white silk, with a large plume and a white hat with lavender accents. Her ornaments were diamonds.

Mrs. M. J. Wilson wore a stunning gown of white and blue, with a large plume and a white hat with lavender accents. Her ornaments were diamonds. Mrs. W. A. With was distinguished in a gown of white silk, with a large plume and a white hat with lavender accents. Her ornaments were diamonds.

Mrs. M. J. Wilson wore a stunning gown of white and blue, with a large plume and a white hat with lavender accents. Her ornaments were diamonds. Mrs. W. A. With was distinguished in a gown of white silk, with a large plume and a white hat with lavender accents. Her ornaments were diamonds.